AMUSEMENTS.

Grand Offers All Charlie Chaplin Tonight.

A decidedly novel program is offered the patrons of the Grand tonight in an entire program made up of Chas. Chaplin pictures. There will be four of his comedies, not the newest subjects, but brand new prints of his four greatest successes. You may go to the Grand any time between the hours of 7 and 10:30, as the program will be continuous. This should be a great treat for those who like this well known comedian and the prices will be the usual 5 and 10 cent scale.

On the Paramount program for Monday is offered one of Oliver Morosco's greatest film successes in "Kilmeny," which just closed a good run at Ziegfeld theatre, Chicago. Not only an extra good picture in point of interest, staging and photography, but "Kilmeny" features a new and delightful film star, Lenore Ulrich, who headed the recent big stage success, "The Bird of Paradise." She is undoubtedly destined to be as popular as Marguerite Clark and Mary Pickford, as she is of that type of actress—beautiful, spirited and dainty. "Kilmeny" is guaranteed to be an unusual good subject, a romantic story of a gypsy girl, a child of the woods, transplanted to the city. The cast also includes Herbert Standing, William Desmond and Myrtle Stedman.—Advertisement.

Orpheum Theatre Tonight.
The Box Office Attraction Co. presents The Seeds of Jealousy. In this modern version of King Cophetua and the beggar maid, Hardin, a young banker, married a beautiful street singer. After a period of blissful married life, a series of occurrences make each of the young pair suspect the other of unfaithfulness. The climax comes at a masquerade ball where by a strange coincidence, Hardin and his wife wear costumes that are exact duplicates of those worn by two other guests. Complications follow which increase the mutual jealousy and distrust of the young couple and as a result, the wife secretly leaves her home. Needless to say, this tangled skein of circumstance is unraveled and the happy conclusion is all that could be desired.

We have secured the services of Mr. Frank Loewenstein at the piano and have installed a new instrument for his use.
Don't forget that Thursday, September 2 is the first chapter of the great serial photo play ever produced, "The Diamond From the Sky." See it at the Orpheum.
Special Sunday music, Dan Agne, violinist; F. W. Loewenstein, pianist, in a musical program that will please you.—Advertisement.

Colosial Theatre.

ELECTRIC ROAD ADVANCE STEADY

H. W. Knight, Builder of Jefferson City-Keokuk Interurban Here Last Night, Gives Encouragement.

TO HOLD BIG MEETINGS

Shelbina Will be Division Point—Weather Has Been Favorable on Southern Section of Road.

A big meeting in the interest of the Keokuk-Jefferson City interurban at Shelbina, will be held in the near future, according to H. W. Knight, builder of this road, who was in Keokuk last night. Mr. Knight is waiting for some of the local fairs and chautauques to come to a close before he holds many meetings this fall. Shelbina will be one of the division points on the road.

The work is progressing in satisfactory manner. Mr. Knight stated. South of Shelbina there has been exceptional progress made. There has been little rain compared to the general wet conditions encountered, and the work has been pushed along.

Crops in this vicinity have been of the best, Mr. Knight said. Corn has been in good condition, and oats, likewise. Other crops have been of the best.

Mr. Knight does not anticipate any difficulties in the matter of using certain bridges and tracks. The Missouri utility board fixes the rental for such usages. Out of Keokuk he will have no difficulty so far as he can see now.

This road will be a big freight carrying road. Mr. Knight predicts, and points out the immense amount of freight business as contrasted with the passenger business in the last year, as shown by the government reports. It will serve a country rich in freight carrying possibilities.

BISHOP'S CONDITION IS QUITE SERIOUS

Preliminary Stages of Septic Poisoning Sets in and Gives Worry to the Doctor.

[United Press Leased Wire Service] WINONA, Minn., Aug. 28.—Bishop Patrick R. Heffron, shot by Father Lesches yesterday, when the latter became frenzied over the loss of his parish, was admitted in a serious condition tonight. Physicians who dressed the noted prelate's wounds late this afternoon, found evidences of preliminary stages of septic poisoning. They expressed hope that action to prevent blood poisoning and been taken in time, but they refused to pronounce Bishop Heffron out of danger.

At first they were unable to account for the inflammation that had set in. Then they learned today for the first time, that Bishop Heffron, after receiving the wounds, completed a mass, he was saying and then dragged himself, stumbling and halting many times to the door of the room where Father Lesches had barricaded himself and pleaded with the latter in an effort to calm him to return. It was this effort, the doctors believe, that irritated the wounds internally.

The bishop's temperature at one time today reached 99. His sister, a trained nurse, Mrs. Theresa Malloy, of Minneapolis, is attending him. Father Lesches was taken to court today. His hearing was set for Friday.

DISTURBER V GOES TO BOTTOM OF LAKE

Pugh's $25,000 Hydroplane on Initial Trial, Meets With Mishap on Lake Michigan.

[United Press Leased Wire Service] CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—While Commodore Jim Pugh's crack $25,000 hydroplane, Disturber V was going at a forty-five mile clip on her maiden trip on Lake Michigan today, a rowboat darted across its path. The speedboat swerved, turned completely over, and plunged to the bottom of the lake at the foot of Randolph street, with its driver and mechanic, Ned Simmons and Michael Mazinski.

Both extricated themselves and rose to the surface. They were taken to a hospital and revived. The boat tonight lies at the bottom of the lake. Pugh watched the accident from the Disturber IV, holder of the world's speed record.

The Disturber V was the fifth of a succession of boats built by Pugh. It had been designed specially for the American speedboat championship races, September 7 to 15 and was looked upon as a winner. Its speed capacity was estimated at seventy miles an hour.

Simmons, though he knew his boat would upset, turned her when he saw the row boat, which contained several persons. As they arose to the surface, Commodore Pugh drove the Disturber IV to the scene and helped drag Simmons and his assistant from the water.

An effort will be made to raise the boat and have it ready for the championships September 7 to 15.

WRIGHT IS TIRED OF BUSINESS LIFE LODGE TO PICNIC ON SEPTEMBER 9

Wishes to Retire and Devote His Time to Research Work in Aviation.

[United Press Leased Wire Service] DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 28.—Orville Wright, premier aviator and aeroplane inventor, has decided to retire as a manufacturer of flying machines and devote his time to scientific research work, but is not contemplating an immediate withdrawal from the field. In an interview tonight he said: "I cannot say now how soon this change will be made, or give any details of why, or how it will be made. I never was especially interested in the business end of aviation. I am not averse to making money out of the business, but that is not what I have been keenly striving for. My patent litigation is going favorably both in the United States and abroad. The court of appeals has sustained the decision of the lower courts in every instance and there is little further work along those lines. I have not gone into the war game as other aeroplane manufacturers have. The chief trouble has been in getting a high powered motor that is reliable. People who have jumped into the war game are not getting any joy out of it."

Wright stated that there is no immediate prospect of his selling. The local plant though negotiations had been on for some time with an agent representing western interests. He declares that the story concerning the probable purchase of the Dayton factory by the German government is untrue.

Seven Under Arrest

[United Press Leased Wire Service] NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The arrest late this afternoon of Richard Meyer, lighter captain, in connection with wholesale sugar thefts from vessels in port and on suspicion of complicity in various waterfront fires, brings the total number of arrests in this connection up to seven. Nominally the men are charged with stealing sugar valued at $2,000 from William Klipp, of Yonkers.

Actually the police are chiefly interested in evidence that seems to identify the seven under arrest with the placing of bombs on vessels sailing from New York and with the fires on the steamships Knutstorf, Cragside and Bankdale. One theory, that the men are German agents, is substantiated by the fact that three of them are of German parentage, but one is French and the other Belgian.

Odd Fellows Will Have Their Annual Fish Fry at Waver a Week From Thursday.

Judges on Vacations

[United Press Leased Wire Service] CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Cook county was judgeless—or nearly so today. Assistant State Attorney Frank Johnston, Jr., for two days has been trying to find a jurist who will try the bribery charges against ex-Police Captain John J. Halpin, who recently was granted a change of venue by Judge Thomson. Here's what Prosecutor Johnston's search developed to-day:

Twenty-four out of twenty-five judges are enjoying summer resort life on their annual vacations. Five hundred prisoners, scores of them boys, Prosecutor Johnston learned, are in the county jail awaiting trial.

The grand jury yesterday handed down findings declaring the county jail "is unfit for human habitation."

Men Must Wait a Year

[United Press Leased Wire Service] NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The National Retail Jewellers' association was able to decide by ballot that women should vote, but after thrashing through the subject for a week, adjourned tonight without having determined whether or not men should wear wrist watches.
