

KNOCKED OVER AN EMBANKMENT

Albert Armstrong Suffers Injuries When Struck by Automobile on Lake Shore Drive Last Evening.

RETURN FROM QUARRY

George Boyd of Cantrill, Iowa, Drives into Overland Garage Plate Glass Window—O. W. Sandberg Injured.

Albert Armstrong, colored, of 1222 Franklin street, while driving a horse and buggy home from the McManus and Tucker quarry, where he is employed, was last evening struck by an automobile, driven by parties as yet unknown, and rather severely injured. The horse and buggy were knocked over the embankment near the Harrison and Dietz ice house on the Lake shore drive.

Today Armstrong has been trying to get out of the automobile it was that struck him. He contemplates some kind of action, as he refused to accept a purse made up by the occupants of the automobile.

Armstrong suffered a sprained right shoulder and received a bad cut over his right eye. His injuries were treated by Dr. Frank Brown. The horse was slightly injured but the buggy was a total wreck.

Armstrong was in both the superior court and County Attorney McManus' office today. He stated that he was driving home from work last evening and had turned out to the edge of the road by the ice house to get out of the way of an approaching automobile. A second car was coming just behind. Armstrong declared that he was as far out as it was possible to get and that one of the automobiles struck him.

The cars stopped and Armstrong was offered $13, which was taken up on the spot. This he refused, and said that he recognized one of the men as Mr. Huff who lived on Morgan street between Eleventh and Twelfth streets. This party is not listed in the city directory. When Armstrong refused the money, the autoists continued on their way and the injured man led his horse back to town, leaving the demolished buggy where it was struck.

Breaks Plate Glass Window. When George Boyd, of Cantrill, Iowa, was driving into the Overland garage at 1 o'clock today, he took hold of the brake to slow the car up. The brake, however, was broken. The momentary shock was enough to allow the car to strike the front of the building. The glass in the door and one of the large plate glass windows were broken. Boyd's radiator and fenders were smashed and the fenders on a car inside of the garage were broken by a piece of the falling glass. Those in the car besides the driver, were his brother, W. H. Boyd and wife, and Mrs. and Mrs. W. W. Drew, all of Cantrill.

Seven Stitches. When J. F. Elder's automobile struck a culvert on the road between Montrose and Mount Claire yesterday, O. W. Sandberg, who was riding in it, was thrown upwards and his forehead struck the top of the car. A bad cut was inflicted and seven stitches had to be taken. Mr. Sandberg was able to be about today, however.

AMUSEMENTS.

Howe's Travel Festival. If you miss seeing the California expositions either by making the transcontinental journey, or the splendid equivalent of viewing them via Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival at the Grand Wednesday matinee and night, you will miss what is indeed the opportunity of a lifetime. To travel to these expositions while remaining at home may seem contradictory. Yet that is exactly the privilege that local amusement patrons may enjoy via Lyman H. Howe's Travel Festival.

Continuing that a comparatively small percentage of the nation's citizens could find the opportunity to make the long journey to the Pacific coast expositions, Mr. Howe is bringing them here so that everyone will have the pleasure of viewing them at infinitesimal expense, and in the perfect ease of a comfortable theatre chair without the exhaustion and fatigue brought on by tramping all day and day after day. Visions of new and supreme beauty and wonderment are unfolded by Mr. Howe's films that are beyond the dreams of the most vivid imagination. For these expositions are truly on a scale of magnificence befitting the tremendous achievement they celebrate.—Advertisement.

Mary Pickford at the Grand Tomorrow. It is a well known fact that Paramount pictures are the best pictures in the world, they are produced by the best producers, featuring the most famous stars of the legitimate stage as well as of the silent drama, they are produced from the most successful stage productions and popular novels and are shown in the largest and best theatres throughout the United States. The Paramount organization, system and service is the most efficient in the film industry. Paramount has spared no expense in attaining this exclusive position. The Paramount trade mark is a guarantee to the patrons of the Grand of the highest quality.

The Paramount star, Mary Pickford, is without doubt the highest salaried and most popular moving picture star in the world. Among her long list of successes, possibly none are more popular than "In the Bishop's Carriage," an interesting combination of the thrilling incidents of the book and dramatic episodes of the play. "In the Bishop's Carriage" is the offering at the Grand tomorrow and Friday, matinee at four, night at seven, eight and nine fifteen.—Advertisement.

The Prince of Tonight. Girls, in all their variations, in all their possibilities, in all their probabilities and in all their charming attitudes, appear incessantly in "The Prince of Tonight," in the tuneful musical fantasy coming to the Grand for matinee and night next Saturday. So much comment is being evoked by the beauty and activity of the chorus in this attraction that these girls are in a fair way to become known as the best chorus ever seen with a touring company. "The Prince of Tonight" is by the well known trio, Adams, Gordon and Howard, authors of "The Goddess of Liberty," "The Honey-moon Trail," "The Stabron Cinderella," "The Flower of the Ranch" and "The Time, the Place and the Girl," which have all proven great successes. It depicts the adventures of Jim Sutherland, a wandering college youth without funds, who woos a rich girl he meets at Palm Beach, while enacting the position of life saver and swimming instructor at the hotel "Breakers."—Advertisement.

At the Orpheum Tonight. The New Adventures of "The Master Touch," two parts, featuring Max Fisman, Lolita Robertson and Burr McIntosh, supported by an able cast. Violet and Fanny Warden, whose father's ruin and death have been caused by a criminal clique of financiers, are being aided by Wallingford and Daw to recover a part of the stolen funds. J. D. Prine is the next name on the list to be led to the sacrificial stake.

Violet and Fanny learn from Qualey, a discharged employe of Prine's, that Prine and his associate bankers have $350,000 in bad loans for which they may be sent to jail. They relay this information to Wallingford and Blackie Daw. Wallingford goes to the crooked bankers and, telling them they are wise to their game, offer to take over the bankers' bad loans for a consideration of $100,000. The frightened bankers gladly agree to this, and J. Rufus takes over their debts, receives $100,000 and immediately proceeds to double-cross the pirates.

J. Rufus has speculated $5,000 in lot next to Prine's general store on Main street, and has thousands of skunks shipped to him, for use, he
