

NOT GUILTY, PLEA FOR PHIL NICKEL

Arraignment of Saloon Keeper Was Scheduled for This Afternoon in District Court.

RAISE SAME QUESTION

Nickel's Attorney Expects to Bring Up Same Points as in the Habeas Corpus Action.

When Phillip Nickel is arraigned late this afternoon in the district court on the charge of illegal sale of liquor by the grand jury, he will enter a plea of not guilty, and will be released on bond. His case will then be fought out in the district court in the regular manner, instead of through habeas corpus proceedings which were begun last week in the superior court.

Nickel's case will be tried before a jury, and the same questions which were raised in the habeas corpus proceedings are expected to be raised in this hearing. The state will offer the evidence of Krieger and Sheriff Scott to show that Nickel sold the bottle of beer.

If the jury convicts Nickel, an appeal will be taken, and the case may be taken to the supreme court. According to reports received from Waterloo, the high court recently, in a Plymouth county case, refused to hear a case in which plaintiff was bringing action against the board of supervisors which had declared his consent petition insufficient. The district court upheld the supervisors, and the case went to the supreme court. This body refused to hear the case on the ground that since the action was commenced, the legislature had repealed the mulct law.

Legality of Repeal.

In the case at Keokuk and at Davenport, the legality of the repeal is being questioned. The Plymouth case, may, however, show something of the temper of the high court, attorneys here believe, who have read of the case.

The grand jury's action will automatically stop the further proceedings in the habeas corpus case, as was stated in last night's Gate City. Attorney for Nickel expects to make his fight in the district court now.

Divorce is Granted.

A decree of divorce has been granted James Mortimer from Blanche Mortimer.

Indicted Persons Arraigned.

Five who were indicted by the grand jury in its report yesterday afternoon were arraigned late yesterday afternoon. Those who were arraigned were John Lial, charged with carrying concealed weapons; Henry Clay, charged with breaking and entering; William Holmes charged with assault; John Pace and Robert Ryland, charged with malicious mischief. They all stated that they had been indicted under their true names. They will plead later.

Court Adjourns For Funeral.

District court was adjourned this afternoon until four o'clock, out of respect for the late A. E. Maffess.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID SICKNESS

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions, and are responsible for the readiness with which many people contract disease. For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. Get Hood's. No other medicine acts like it.

EXHIBITION AT MCKINLEY SCHOOL

Domestic Science and Manual Training Students Show Public Work They Are Doing in School.

INTERESTING EXHIBITS

Over Five Hundred Have Variety of Objects on Display—School Will be Open Tonight.

Some Keokuk people have a faint idea of what the domestic science and manual training departments of the public schools here are doing. The eyes of many were opened today when the annual exhibition of the work of these two school departments was held in the McKinley school building. Visitors will be admitted again this evening. H. M. McClure is the manual training instructor and Miss Helen G. Packer, the domestic science instructor, and the exhibition is under their direction.

The downstairs of the building is given over to the work of the manual training classes from the seventh grade through the high school and there are hundreds of pieces of work on view in the various departments.

Upstairs the domestic science exhibition delights the eye and the palate at the same time, for the display is of both edibles, daintily prepared by the students, and sewing work. In all, the complete exhibition is one of the most unique and interesting that has ever been held here and all who did not have the opportunity of seeing it today should make a point to pay the McKinley school a visit this evening.

In all there are about five hundred exhibitors from the Keokuk and St. Peter's high schools and from the higher grades of the city schools, including the parochial schools.

Manual Training Work.

In the manual training department one room is given over to wood work. There are 150 articles in this room, among them cabinets, foot stools, taboretts, sewing cabinets, necktie racks, and tables. In another room, cement work is shown. This is a new feature just introduced. Then there are the many beautiful objects which were turned on the lathe, on display in the lathe room. There are also drawings of the beginners and also of the advanced students. The latter display paper models of their drawings. A complete structure of a house, one-fourth size is one of the interesting articles on display. The following is on a card tacked to the house: "Everybody lives in a house. Why not know something about one?"

Things to Eat and Wear.

In the domestic science exhibit, cooking by all classes from the first seventh to the high school, is temptingly displayed. There are also articles of sewing by the various classes, ranging from the copy of certain stitches and patching to articles of clothing, the latter made by the advanced sewing class.

The event was planned for by a committee from the different lodges, and was delightful in every way. I. D. The story that Nellie and I borrowed a baby to claim as our own to gain mother's forgiveness, is false," Uplike said.

Indictments charging conspiracy to kill Furman D. Uplike and his wife, the parents of the prisoners, and their sister, were voted by a Cook county grand jury late yesterday. Preparations for a speedy trial were made by States Attorney Hoyne today.
