IOWA MEN FAVOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Of Interest to Women

By Winona Evans Reeves.

That Suffrage Should Win in Iowa is the Statement Made by Many Prominent Men of This State.

WORKING TO THAT END

Representatives and Party Men All Feel That Universal Suffrage Should be Result of the Primary.

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 11.—That suffrage should win and is going to win in Iowa is the opinion of scores of the leading men of the state. The offers of support coming from every corner of the state are most encouraging, because they demonstrate beyond a doubt the truth of the claims made by the suffragists that a large majority of the prominent men in every walk of life in the state are supporters of suffrage. Here are a few of the offers of cooperation received by the Iowa Men's League for Women Suffrage in the last ten days, so that the voters may judge for themselves:

Hon. Robert Bruce, Rolfe, representative—I am for woman suffrage, voted for it in the house of representatives and expect to vote for it at the polls. If the rest of the state is in as good shape as the northeast part of Pocahontas county, we have nothing to fear.

Dr. Edwin A. Schell, Mt. Pleasant, president Iowa Wesleyan college—You can count on me doing everything possible in the way of suffrage for women. I am one of its staunch adherents.

Hon. Leslie E. Francis, Spirit Lake, senator—I shall refer to the suffrage question and endorse the proposed amendment.

W. H. Rodgers, Albia, president United Mine Workers, district thirteen—Our organization is a strong advocate for woman suffrage and I would be pleased to assist in any way that I can.

Hon. N. E. Kendall, Albia—I shall be glad to co-operate in any way which may be deemed expedient to promote the cause of universal suffrage.

Hon. O. P. Myers, Newton—I am very much interested in the equal suffrage movement.

Hon. C. H. Clark, Albia, representative—I have been of the opinion that equal suffrage is the only true and fair way in which to grant suffrage. I intend to assist all I can in the cause.

Hon. John T. Clarkson, Albia, senator—it will afford me great pleasure to co-operate in any way I possibly can in the suffrage campaign.

W. D. Jameson, Shenandoah, postmaster—My heart is thoroughly with you in this work of organizing for the equal suffrage fight.

Hon. John F. Ream, Oskaloosa, senator—it will be a pleasure to give all possible assistance to the woman suffrage movement.

Representative W. H. Cochrane, Corning—I have a very friendly feeling towards the suffrage movement.

Hon. G. A. Kenderdine, Toledo—I am prepared to co-operate in every way possible in the suffrage movement.

Hon. L. J. Dickinson, Algona—I am a believer in woman suffrage and will support the same with my vote and incidentally by my influence.

Representative L. Shaeffer, Mystic—I am fully convinced that the cause of woman suffrage should prevail.

Senator H. C. White, Garrison—I am doing what I can to further the cause.

Representative E. K. Greene, Reinbeck—I am willing to do most anything that is within reason for the cause of equal suffrage.

Required for Health and Beauty. It is surprising that it is necessary to repeat again and again that the health and beauty of the skin require that the blood shall be pure. If the arteries of the skin receive impure blood, pimples and blotches appear, and the individual suffers from humors. Powders and other external applications are sometimes used for these affections, but will never have the desired effect while the causes of impure blood remain.

The indications are very clear that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, removing pimples and blotches, and giving health and beauty to the skin. It gives tone to all the organs and builds up the whole system. Insist on having Hood's Sarsaparilla when you ask for it. Don't take anything else.—Advertisement.

JURY CASE WILL BE HEARD TUESDAY

O'Neill vs. National Traveler's Association is First Case Scheduled for That Day.

When the petit jury comes Tuesday morning in the district court, the case of O'Neill vs. the National Traveler's association is the first case scheduled for trial. It is expected that this case will be tried this week. Court adjourned at noon yesterday until Monday noon when Judge Hamilton will return.

Plaintiff in the suit of Graham vs. the board of supervisors wants appeal from supervisors dismissed and arguments on this motion were heard yesterday in the district court.

J. M. Gage has filed an answer to that filed by his wife Dillie Gage. She asks for $2,500 alimony and the court ordered Gage to pay $25 alimony. All of the amount has not been paid.

The other afternoon at the Birth of a Nation we sat beside a very delightful southern woman, a Kentuckian, a woman whom we had never seen before and even now do not know her name. We were so pleased that accident should have made the number of her seat 7 and ours 8 because cause it was as if we had seen the picture with a dual personality. She had her little boy with her, a child perhaps six years old, and her conversation with that little boy is what made us see the picture as it registered itself on the retina of southern eyes. We learned that she was born in Kentucky and that the little boy loved horses because his grandfather raised fine horses. This woman's grandfathers on both sides had fought for the southern confederacy and had lost their lives in the civil war. It didn't take a very discerning mind to see that that little boy knew all about the lost cause and he kept track of that picture every minute. Now and then he'd say, "Yes, mother, but where are the confederate soldiers." In the great battle scene every time the confederate flag came up to that stone wall she clapped and cheered, and every time old glory flashed across the screen we clapped and cheered, but we met on common ground and both cheered Lincoln. When the raiders went through that lovely old southern home, she said to the little boy, "Can't you see, son, what they are doing?"

There isn't any doubt in the world but that 'The Birth of a Nation' is a southern picture, but it isn't going to do any harm to the north, the victorious side in the war, neither is it going to stir up any strife, but it is going to do this—it will make the northern people get the viewpoint of the southerners in a more graphic way than a hundred printed volumes would do. And so as the last strains of 'The Star Spangled Banner' died out and we said good bye, not one conviction of ours had been changed, but we looked into her face and understood her viewpoint better for having seen 'The Birth of a Nation.'

Some one in speaking of the number who have "gone forward" at the Seville tabernacle within the last two weeks, said: "A lot of tokens to children." Newcomb once told on a communion day at the First Westminster Presbyterian church, when there were no grown people joining the church, only four little boys stood before the altar. This is the story as Dr. Newcomb told it: One Friday night up in the highlands of Scotland, an old Presbyterian elder came home from the preparatory service at the kirk, down hearted and discouraged. The good wife said to him: "Did none ask for tokens tonight?" "You know in Scotland when one wishes to join the church, they appear before the minister and the elders, and if they pass the examination as to their beliefs and convictions they receive "a token," which they present on Sunday morning at communion. So when the wife said: "Did none ask for tokens tonight?" the old elder said: "None but a wee little boy." But the name of that boy was David Livingstone.

AUTO AND STREET CAR IN COLLISION

Chauffeur of D. B. Hamill's Machine Was Blinded by Sun and Did Not See Approaching Car.

An automobile belonging to D. B. Hamill, driven by John Henderson, a colored chauffeur in Mr. Hamill's employ, and containing Mrs. Louise Hamill and Mrs. James H. Noble, collided with a park bound street car at the intersection of Thirteenth street and Leighton avenue Friday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Smith Hamill had just left the car at 1223 Leighton avenue, and the driver had proceeded up Leighton to Thirteenth street. He made a short turn into that thoroughfare, and apparently not aware of the approaching car, which was slowing up to discharge passengers, ran into the front end of it.

The front of the automobile was damaged to some extent, the lights broken and the radiator damaged. No one in the car was injured. Henderson stated that the setting sun blinded his eyes and because of this was unable to see the car. Passengers on the street car say that the motorman, J. K. McBride, sounded the bell at the approach of the automobile.

The Shadows. Dr. Frank Crane: Sorrow comes to everyone. And well for the soul that understands that the beauty and richness of life lie in its shadows! When the day comes that your soul is of age, when you have arrived at last at wisdom, then you will be thankful for every robust fate gave you, for with the stripes of destiny you are healed. Disappointment, disillusion, betrayal, pain, failure—every one of them is but a part of that dead manure the great gardener has been digging in about your soul, that some day the lilies of majesty may bloom in you. It is the shadows that make us human. It is well to be happy, but it is better to be human.
