MCUTCHEON'S FAMOUS CARTOONS
The art of newspaper illustration in its present form is a development of recent years. Newspaper cartoons have become a most popular feature of up-to-date metropolitan newspapers. The unique and "catchy" drawing by John T. McUTCHEON now appearing daily on the front page of The Chicago Record-Herald is one of the many special features of that great paper. McUTCHEON'S prominence in the newspaper world makes newspaper readers generally familiar with his history. He came to Chicago in 1889, when he immediately became identified with the Chicago Record.

THOMAS B. REED.

The death of Hon. Thomas B. Reed formerly of Mainelast Saturday, removes from the American arena one of the greatest statesman, law maker and parliamentarian that this country has yet produced. He was born in period when this country needed strong men that would dare to do right and raised in a school of experience, trained by the hand of the "Plumed Knight." Mr. Reed was easy matter of the situation, he was an apt and ready debator, but not an orator. He was a true friend of the colored race at all times and under all circumstances he was out spoken for their equal rights. He was the author of Modern Eloquence a product rich with the American thought. Civilization has lost one of her bright jewels and our race a loyal friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldon entertained Rev. and Mrs. Spence for dinner Thanksgiving.

The Literary Society was well attended the debate, Resolved that Washington did more for his country than did Lincoln was decided in favor of the affirmative.

CEDAR RAPIDS BUDGETARIAN.

Why don't some one get up a literary society, it is to bad to see so much good talent going to waste.

Those who are saying away from the Sunday School are missing a great and grand treat. Come out to Sunny School all who have not much to do on Sunday.

Several ladies and Rev. Boyd met at Mrs. Raspberry last Tuesday afternoon and formed a club which they call Book-er T. Washington club the officers are Mrs. Clay Brooks, president; Mrs. Lowery, Vice-President; Mrs. Price Secretary Mrs. Raspberry Treasurer, this club is to be an auxiliary to the trustee board.

The Christian Endeavor meetings have been very interesting a grand thing for every church to organize a Christian Endeavor.

The Thanksgiving dinner at the church was success and a nice programme was rendered.

Rev. Ford and wife of Boone was in the Rapids last week visiting friends and relatives. Mrs. Ford who is well known as a preacher, preached Sunday evening, her text being in Revelation, and preached a noble inspiring sermon to a large audience.

WIT AND WISDOM.

The best time to marry is some other time.

Many a man gets groggy over nothing stronger than a pipe dream.

A young girl marries in the hope for the future, the widow to forget the past.

A critic is a moral butcher who will cut into, and cut up, and cut out anything.

There is a lot of incense burned on the altar of love that goes up in smoke.

Tact is the art of making people think they are right when you know that they are all wrong.

I admire the fellow who succeeds in borrowing all that he wants. He has the nerve that converts itself into hard cash.

They say that a giraffe's tongue is long enough to go around a woman's waist, but a woman's tongue will waste even more than that.

Women worship money, but the man who stands for it gathers the foggy incense to himself and smiles a self-satisfied, hard cash smile.

When a woman speaks of her husband as being such a domestic man you can gamble on it that he is always hanging around when he is not wanted, and poking his nose into everything.

When a man proposes to a girl he should be extremely modest. A woman likes to think it a lovely piece of condescension on her part to accept any man, even though she may be dying for him (for his bank account, his auto or his yacht—but what on earth am I talking about, anyhow?)—Kate Thyson Marr.

APHORISMS.

You are not only what you are now; you are everything you have ever been.

Whoever lives entirely in the present does not know the meaning of sympathy.

Your childhood is in you; your youth is in you; every hour of your life is still being lived.

Consider, then, the importance of the present time, which in its turn shall form a part of the future.

Bring back your youth—it is thus you shall understand youth, with its laughter, its rapture, its enthusiasm.

Live again your childhood—it is thus you shall understand the intensity of every childish joy and trouble.

Bring back your hours of trial, the dark hours of suffering, and no one shall come to you in vain for consolation.

Somewhere in your life the experience has been that shall give you a fellow feeling for every happiness, for every sorrow.

Among my fellow men I see too many who are prisoners of the present. They shut themselves out from the past. Now and then the memories force themselves upon them. They sigh and shake their heads and turn away.
