WITH OUR CHURCHES

Sunday was a great day in our churches, as all the pulpits were filled by visiting ministers. At the Corinthian Baptist church, Rev. Fishback, D. D. of Topeka, Kans., preached in the morning, in the afternoon, Rev. G. C. Mason of Monmouth, Ill., and in the evening Rev. J. D. Rouse of Evansville, Ind., and at each service the choir rendered excellent music.

The meetings at the A. M. E. church were well attended, and the choir under the supervision of Geo. I. Holt.

Maple Street Baptist church, Rev. B. W. Johnson, D. B. of Lincoln Neb., preached in the morning and Rev. Fishback preached at night. A good sized audience greeted the ministers. Mr. B. H. Hunter had his choir out in force.

Union Congregational church, Rev. J. C. Coleman of Oil City, Penn. pastor of the A. M. E. church there preached in the morning; his sermon was fine and well received. In the afternoon (Men's League) Chas. Stewart the Associated Press Correspondent delivered one of the best common sense and plain addresses ever heard in the city, he told of the real need of men and women of our race; he showed our weakness and short comings. It was a masterful appeal to true manhood and womanhood. He is very witty and funny appearing on the platform, but the wisdom and good advice is what catch the thoughtful man and held the audience for hour and half. Rev. J. C. Coleman spoke a few minutes about his North-western Association, he implored our people to go out west and take claims.

Burns' M. E. church, Rev. O. A. Johnson pastor, was well attended all day.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANS WIN IN IOWA.

One of the most strenuous campaigns ever inaugurated in a party was the factional fight this year in Iowa with Gov. Cummins leader of the Progressives and the united effort of the machine leaders and railroad organizations called stand-patters. The progressives won a complete victory electing everything they wanted except perhaps one man. It was as we had predicted, a great Cummins victory. The republican standard bearers are as follows:
For Gov. Albert B. Cummins of Des Moines; Lieu. Gov. Warren Garst of Conn Rapids; Sec'y, W. C. Hayward of Davenport; Auditor, B. F. Carroll of Bloomfield; Atty. Gen., H. W. Byers of Harlan; for Supt. of Public Inst., J. F. Riggs; for Supreme Court reporter, John C. Crockett; for Clerk of Supreme Court, W. W. Cornwall; for Judges of Supreme Court, Emil McClain and J. C. Sherwin; for Railroad Commissioners, W. L. Eaton and Colonel D. J. Palmer.

The Negro in the Congregational Churches of America

By Abraham Lincoln DeMond, pastor First Congregational church, Buxton, Iowa.

Congregationalists began the first systematic effort for the education of the Negro. Their first school was opened on the 17th of September, 1861, at Hampton, Va. The importance of that fact was to be seen at a later day. That school was the first day school opened among the colored people, and it developed into Hampton Institute of which Booker T. Washington is a graduate. Two schools were opened at Norfolk, Va., Beaufort, and Hilton Head, S. C., and representative of our denomination took up the work as the way opened elsewhere. The National Association of Congregational churches met in Boston in the year 1865, and recommended that the churches raise $250,000 for work among the freedmen. District secretaries were appointed at Chicago, Cincinnati and Boston and collecting agents were sent out among the churches. More than the stated amount was raised. By the year 1870 there were 533 teachers employed.

Fisk University, founded January 8, 1866, was the first Congregational College established for the higher education of Negroes. Among its long list of graduates today we find such names as Mrs. Booker T. Washington, Dr. W. E. B. DuBoise and Rev. George W. Moore, which amply justify the faith of its founders in the possibilities of the Negro. After this followed Talladega college in Alabama, Tougaloo University in Mississippi, Straight University in Louisiana, Tillotson college in Texas, Howard University in Washington, D. C., and many other graded and common schools in other parts of the South.

The work of organizing churches followed naturally after the planting of the schools. The pastors of these churches were mostly white Congregational ministers from the North who ministered faithfully to the people and did a work that made present conditions possible. Some of them have gone out of the work and some have passed from this world, but they have left pleasant memories among those with whom and for whom they labored. The work of church planting in the South, for many reasons grew much more rapidly than in the North, where some of our people worshiped in the white Congregational churches. In the South, the Congregationalists represented to the eyes of the people the great free North out of which came all good things, the teachers and preachers were men and women whose personal efforts counted for much in winning those whose confidence in the Yankee was as sincere as the faith of a child. Also they were in the midst of thousands of colored people, which gave them ultimate opportunity for succeeding in their mission.

In 1860 St. Paul's church at New Iberia, La., and the church at Corpus Christi, Texas, were organized, the two earliest children of our denomination among the Negroes south of Mason and Dixon's line.

AN EXCELLENT SESSION

Knights and Daughters of Tabor Hold Grand Session in Des Moines This Week.

That the colored man is striving to work out his destiny in this country is very clearly shown by the representative men and women who attended the eleventh grand session of Knights and Daughters of Tabor, which met in this city Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Nearly one hundred delegates were in attendance.

Ed Roberson, Chief of K. of T. The above cut is Mr. Edward Roberson of Keokuk, who was re-elected last week in our city at the annual state meeting of the Knights of Tabor.

The grand session was opened in the Odd Fellows hall, Sixth and Walnut streets, with Sir Ed. Roberson of Keokuk presiding. The opening consisted of ritualistic services, witnessed only by members of the order. Several grand officers were absent and the vacancy was temporarily filled through appointment of District Grand Mentor. The day was spent in routine business.

Madison and was born in Chariton county, Mo., and received a common school education while on her father's farm. After graduating from High School she taught school several years. Later she came to Ft. Madison where she has been actively engaged in church and society work. She is a teacher in Sunday School, an officer in the B. Y. P. U. and assistant organist.

In the evening the doors were thrown open and the public made welcome. A number of visitors were introduced. The feature of the session was the welcome address by Mayor George Mattern. He assured the delegates that the citizens of Des Moines were pleased to welcome to the city the Sir Knights and Daughters, who had for their object the moral and intellectual uplift of the people.

He also offered some good practical advice to the members of the race. Sir J. J. Edwards represented the local lodge; his speech was historical. Chief Mentor Sir Rev. J. C. Reid of Ft. Madison responded. Dt. H. Posten, W. H. Cook, Dt. Ella Roberson also made eloquent responses. Chief Mentor Henry of the local Temple presided with dignity. Chief Preceptress, M. E. Dixon of Keokuk, Chief State Recorder Lucille Holmes of Ft. Madison and Chief Grand Treasurer Dt. Nettie Davis made excellent reports of past work.

Wednesday evening the Chief Orator Rev. J. C. Reid, preached the annual sermon at St. Paul's A. M. E. church. It was a masterly effort.

Thursday the Vice Preceptress, Dt. Addie Johnson of Buxton, who represented the largest Tabernacle in the district, instructed the lodge in signs in the different degrees; others by appointment of Chief Preceptress Dixon did likewise. Thursday, reported of various committees and election of officers. A grand street parade of the Knights and Daughters took place at 2 o'clock p. m., fifteen carriages were in line filled with the daughters—the Knights afoot headed by the Postoffice band. Mason of Monmouth, Ill., Dr. Arlington Wilson, Kansas City, Kans., Rev. Wm. P. Brooks, financial secretary of Western College, Macon, Mo., Rev. J. C. Reid Ft. Madison, Chas. Summer Diarrhoea in Children.

During the hot weather of the summer months the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. O. Stockland, Pastor of the First M. E. church, Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summer disorders in children." Sold by all druggists.

A Bunch of "Big Days"

Program for a Week of "Best Days" at the Iowa State Fair This Year.

The elimination of the "one big day" idea as a feature of modern fairs is something in which the management of the Iowa State Fair has taken the lead. It used to be that an effort was made to bunch everything to get a record breaking crowd on one day; but now the plan is to diversify and spread out the program so that beginning with Monday each succeeding day will be a "best day" for visitors. In fact the Monday program, which includes the flight of the Knabenshue airship over the State capitol, is the best of the week. Now that the annual attendance has run up to about 200,000 distribution of the crowds has become a necessity, and the fairs have so that few are satisfied with one or two days sight seeing. The encouragement given to camping parties has done much to get rid of the one day idea.

The horse and cattle entries, which must all be in the hands of Secretary Simpson by August 1, indicate that the fair this year will be the biggest ever.

The amusement program—races, music, fireworks, vaudeville etc.—will this year excel anything ever seen.

"Make Hay While the Sun Shines."
There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. For sale by all druggists.
