SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS.

The calling together of a special session of Congress last week by President Taft to revise the tariff schedules will be watched with more interest than ever before for the Republican party was elected on a platform pledge to reduce the tariff and now the American Congress is in special session for that specific purpose. It was at the beginning of the late President McKinley's first term that he called a special session of Congress to revise the tariff and after a wrangle of 183 days the Dingley Tariff Bill, that we have been under for the past 12 years was the result of that session. We now expect and hope that good results will come from this revision.

OBITUARY.

A Promising Young Man Gone.

Bert Clark beloved son of Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Clark, of Chicago, Ill., died in Durango, Colo., Mar. 6th, 1909, after an illness of a few days, the remains were brought to Chicago and the funeral services were held from the residence of his parents at 3600 Forest avenue Monday March 15th., at 11 a m, Rev. Timothy Reeves, officiated assisted by Revs. D. P. Roberts, A. J. Carey, H. E. Stewart, R. E. Wilson and J. S. Woods. Interment was at Graceland cemetery.
Bert Otis Clark was born in Litchfield, Ill., Oct. 23rd 1883. He died at the age of 25 years 4 months and 11 days. In 1894 his parents moved to Des Moines, where Bert attended the public schools and the East Des Moines High school for three years. In 1900 his parents moved to Sioux City, Ia., where he attended Morningside College for one year. From there they moved to Chicago in 1901, when Bert returned to Des Moines to complete his course in the East Des Moines High school from which he graduated in 1902. He was the only colored boy and was the class historian.
During his last year in High School he contracted a heavy cold which settled on his lungs and from the effect of which he never fully recovered.
After graduating he returned to Chicago where he remained for three years. In 1905 he went to Colorado, on account of failing health, his health began to improve quite rapidly and he took the examination for railway mail clerk and passed with an excellent average. He was soon appointed on the Denver Rio Grande Railway and served in this capacity for a little over two years up to the time of his death. He lived a Godly and exemplary life and was loved by all who knew him. He went not like the quarry slave at night seared by an unforgiving frost, approached his grave like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams.
He leaves a mother, father, three brothers, two sisters and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Farm Employment for Criminals.

Gov. Harris of Ohio believes that criminals can be employed on a farm with advantage to themselves and the state. He proposes that prisoners in the penitentiary who are not confirmed criminals be transferred to the reformatory and put to work on the state farm. "It is the conditions of our cities that breed crime," says the governor. "Most of it can be traced to idleness and drink, and idleness is frequently the cause of drink. There is little drink in the country and practically no idleness. If the young man who had slipped over the bounds of a law were taught scientific farming he would come to like it and escape the associates who carry him down when he returns to the city."

Milk an Intoxicant.

New York City alone consumes annually $40,000,000 quarts of milk. We drink 2,300,000 quarts a day. And this does not include mothers' milk for infants; just cows' milk—watered and unwatered, for both infants and adults. "Milk," says Emerson, "is readily made intoxicating in warm climates simply by agitation. This feature was quickly discovered." Being placed in a skin and swung from the shoulder or over the back, it was agitated by the motion of the hunter, and fermentation was soon well under way. The skin was undoubtedly none too clean, some milk of the previous day being left in it, which would act as a leaven.

LAYMEN MEET.

A great parliament of laymen of the state of Iowa met in Des Moines on the 23-25th inst. Seven hundred men were present it was an inter-denominational movement.
Gov. B. F. Carroll and Bishop T. T. Morrison of Iowa, J. Cambell White of Calcutta, India, Col. Halford of Washington, D. C., J. H. Garrison, of St. Louis, J. M. Springer, of Central Africa, A. L. Warnshius, of China, G. H. Huizinga of India were among the noted speakers. This was a great uprising of men of men of all denominations to go forward together, to win the world for Christ, and to increase the intelligence and interest of men in church work. Every one who attended the meetings went away with a greater desire to be used by God to make the world better. As a race we are continually crying about being kept out of various places, how is it that so many of our people keep themselves from places where they can learn of the greatest of all work, viz, the leading of mankind to Christ. Let us be more and more identified with those who can teach us the things that will make us men and women such as God will be pleased with.

Protective Device.

When a telephone line is electrostatically charged the telephone acts as a condenser. The winding serves as one plate of the condenser, the frame of the receiver as the dielectric and the person who is holding the receiver to his ear as the other plate of the condenser. In order to prevent this condenser from discharging through the person, a German inventor provides a grounded metallic cover for the receiver, the capacity of which is somewhat greater than that of the body.

Danger in a Cold

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Not only pneumonia, but also the infectious diseases such as diphtheria and scarlet fever start with a cold. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases. Take our advice—careless cold while you can.

College Course in Politics.

To Columbia university belongs the credit of offering the first course designed to give students a practical knowledge of the conduct of political affairs. That institution has asked the bureau of municipal research in New York to give the members of the class the benefit of the experience it has derived from the study of the affairs of that city, and the invitation has been accepted. The growing demand for the adoption of the scientific methods of city governments lends support to the view that college men will be in demand in this department of the public service, hence the propriety and usefulness of a university course established on the lines indicated by the innovation at Columbia.

Haitiana a Lazy Lot.

Sydney Brooks, writing to the London Chronicle about Haiti, says the Haitians were the first people in the world to abolish slavery, and Mrs. C. R. Miller, writing in Leslie's Weekly, says of Haiti: "In that little republic, covering about 10,000 square miles, within five days' sail of New York, one may encounter more strange complications and a greater disregard for human life than in the remote countries of the east. Situated in the very heart of the West Indies, where civilization exists in a high degree, Haiti alone has kept her doors closed to progress. She became an independent state more than 100 years ago. Her rich lands were already under cultivation, but the lazy natives allowed the plantations to go to ruin, and forests have grown up instead."

Rare Washington Portrait.

A rare and curious mezzotint portrait of George Washington in the library of the late Lafayette S. Richardson of Lowell, Mass., was auctioned off last year in Boston. It is entitled "George Washington, late president of the United States of America, etc." and was published March 14, 1801, by J. Hinton London. It is a small folio and is colored by hand. It looks as much like George III. as it does the Father of His Country. Baker, who wrote the "Engraved Portraits of Washington," says that only one impression of this mezzotint has come under the notice of the writer. It was in neither the Clarkson nor the Carson sale of Washington portraits.

Insist on Yellow Flour.

Charles Christadoro, an expert on flour and grains, sounds the keynote of the new situation brought about by the bleached flour decision when he says in a communication to the editor commenting on the bleached flour decision: "The housewife will now insist on yellow tinted or creamy flour, and will learn to realize that a natural flour very white can in no manner compare with the creamy or yellow flour in so far as gluten and muscle building values are concerned."
"As from 85 to 90 per cent. of the large flour mills of the country were using this bleaching process, the decision is far-reaching."—National Food Magazine.
