

Daily Globe

BY H. P. HALL. NO. 17, WASHINGTON STREET, ST. PAUL. Terms of Subscription to the Daily Globe...

THE SUNDAY GLOBE. The Globe will be furnished every day in the week to city subscribers at 85 cents per month or $10 per year.

THE WEEKLY GLOBE. The Weekly Globe is a mammoth sheet, exactly double the size of the Daily. It is just the paper for the freeholder, containing in addition to all the current news...

Daily Globe Advertising Rates. Fourth Page 5 cents per line every insertion. Third Page 6 cents per line for the first week.

ST. PAUL, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5, 1878. "I was Hayes," said Bob Ingersoll, recently, "I would never hold a seat by fraud."

BON INGERSOLL does not share with his fellow Republicans the fear that he will have "a h— of a time" in this country as a result of the electoral injury.

THE DEFICIENCY bill just reported to the House contains items amounting to over $850,000 for naval outlays.

STANLEY MATTHEWS, says a Washington correspondent, "is very much depressed by Anderson's disclosures, as he has not been in politics long enough to get used to newspaper scandal."

"So far the Potter drag-net has enveloped only the most diminutive game," says the Pioneer Press. Of course, Hayes is a minnow.

SENATOR HAMLIN again failed in his attempt to re-enact the franking privilege on Monday, for which the country have to thank the Democratic Senators.

"In view of existing political complications, the President will not leave Washington" to keep his engagement at Evansville, Ind., on the 4th of July.

"What is the meaning of this ominous silence?" Hayes has not made a statement nor has John Sherman demurred an investigation since last Friday.

It is thought that the exposure of Stanley Matthews has cost him the seat on the supreme bench shortly to be made vacant by the retirement of Judge Swaine.

Those who still pretend to believe that Freebooter Sherman still retains a spark of decency, say he might have given an emphatic denial of the authenticity of his letter to Weber and Anderson.

CHARLES NORDDY, one of the fairest as well as one of the ablest of the Washington correspondents, no doubt reflects the opinions of a large number of the best people at the capital when he writes regarding Anderson's testimony.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

The Minnesota Tribune accuses the Globe of unfairness, because it published editorially the bungling report of Sherman's letter as sent by the Associated Press.

page was closed. Perhaps it would be as well for the Tribune to accuse the Associated Press of unfairness for sending a mangled copy of the letter, though that organization is not in the habit of doing the Republican party an unkind turn.

THE DIPLOMATIC GAME OF CHESS. The eyes of the world will now be turned in the direction of the European congress of nations, which will meet at Berlin on the 13th of the present month to discuss the provisions of the treaty of San Stefano.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

The mistake that Russia has made, and that will probably prove of serious injury to her cause, has been her attempt to ignore the provisions of the treaty of Paris, and to ratify a treaty with a fallen foe without consultation with the other signatories of the treaty.

him to the adoption of means the most desirable to attain the summit of his ambition. Lincoln gathered about him as his confidential advisers and appointed to offices of trust men whom the country had reason to believe were honest, patriotic and capable.

His successor has surrounded himself with men whose only recommendation is that they are skilled and have been successful as political tricksters, and has appointed as our representatives abroad the creatures who, as his agents, performed the dirty work and were parties to the infamous crime of placing him in the highest office in the land.

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

Does it not look, in view of this state of facts, that the heroes who lie buried at Gettysburg, and on every Southern battle field, have indeed died in vain, and that a government of the people by the people and for the people has perished for the earth?

THE ORPHANS. What the Protestant Orphan Asylum is Doing for the Unfortunates—A Review of Thirteen Years' Labor.

The annual meeting for the election of a board of managers for the Protestant Orphan Asylum, for the year ending May 29th, at the parlors of the House of Hope church, reared in the minds of the following named ladies: Mrs. A. H. Wilder.

Mrs. E. F. Drake. Mrs. G. P. Jacobs. Mrs. M. C. Hamilton. Mrs. S. B. McNeill. Mrs. A. G. Foster. Mrs. D. R. Noyes. Mrs. M. C. Hamilton. Mrs. S. B. McNeill. Mrs. A. G. Foster. Mrs. D. R. Noyes.

SECRETARY'S 18TH ANNUAL REPORT. President—Mrs. Horace Thompson. Treasurer—Mrs. E. F. Drake. Secretary—Mrs. C. W. Griggs.

PROTESTANT ORPHAN ASYLUM. May 1878. The first step was taken towards the organization of a society for the care of Protestant orphans in the city of St. Paul.

NEW OFFICIALS. The Council yesterday did what the people expected and desired in electing Wm. Dawson Mayor. Mr. Dawson has had many years experience in the city government.

ENGLISH GRAIN MARKET. Growing Crop Prospects Decidedly Unfavorable. But notwithstanding, the enormous shipments from America send the prices down from one to two shillings.

LONDON, June 4.—The Mark Lane Express says by the most reliable observers it can scarcely be said that the state of the wheat and barley on low lying land is other than extremely critical.

RELIGIOUS SERVICE. The church of the Holy Trinity, St. Paul, held a religious service on Sabbath afternoon at the asylum, at which a large number of the children and their friends were present.

THE HEALTH OF THE CHILDREN. The health of the children has been generally good, no severe sickness has befallen any of the children during the year.

OUR FIRST BEQUEST. A short time since, and the circumstances attending it are so touching a nature that they deserve our notice.

THE BUILDING HAS BEEN REPAIRED. The building has been repaired and painted, and is now ready for occupancy.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

THE COMMITTEE ON EXPENDITURES. The committee on expenditures, in their report, have shown that the amount expended during the year was $15,000.

Stoves and hardware. Furniture and crockery. New roof, painting and repairs. Insurance. Patron's salary. Teacher's salary. Other services. Interest on property account. Cash in bank.

THE LEGITIMATE RESULTS. A Change in Public Sentiments in Washington as to the Electoral Inquiry—Views of Prominent Public Men.

There has been a revolution in public sentiment. The investigation is no longer derided. The story of Anderson is no longer understood in all its dramatic completeness, because the poor Sunday newspapers have not had enough enterprise to reproduce it.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

Every one anxiously awaits the arrival of the Sunday New York papers, which come on Monday morning; but the broad effect of the Anderson story is established upon the mind of nearly every man whose opinions are worth having, although public men in general are chary of expressing opinions for publication until they have the full testimony before them.

production, and will be established by other witnesses. The testimony of Anderson is looked upon as opening a wide field of investigation, and as the names of a large number of persons have been used, they will undoubtedly be called to explain their connection with the matter.

The feeling in regard to Stanley Matthews' connection with the frauds, even among Republicans, is that of amazement at his stupidity, if nothing else. The evidence, they say, clearly establishes the fact that he was in possession of guilty knowledge of frauds that had been perpetrated in Louisiana, and that unless he expiates himself the Senate will be in duty bound to expel him.

"THREE CARD MONTE." The Tricksters Still Telling Truths About Each Other. Disgraceful. [Lanesborough Journal.] The third district middle is disgraceful.

Horrible Thought for Washburn. [Red Wing Republican.] What if he win by a device? But, what if, notwithstanding the device, he fails to win?

It looks to an outsider as though Minneapolis intended to rule or ruin the Republican roost for that district.

More Brains. [Carver County Free Press.] If Minnesota wants to assume her proper position in the galaxy of States, she must send more brains to Congress.

Snooking. [Todd County Argus.] However strong a man may be in favor of Washburn's receiving the nomination, he cannot but condemn the sneaking, fraudulent movements made by his friends.

Frantic Efforts. [Fergus Falls Journal.] The excitement in this congressional district is settling down, and the action of the committee is generally sustained, notwithstanding the frantic efforts of the Powers and Majaw Wilson.

Bar's O' Money. [Anoka Sun and Republican.] Major Wilson is abroad in the district looking after Dr. Stewart's interests. He does not state whether he carries that "bar's o' money" with him or not to corrupt the unfettered sentiments of the country press.

Certainly. [Howard Lake Advocate.] It has become a usual thing for either St. Paul or Minneapolis politicians to manipulate the calling of district conventions, to suit their own ends, which is done regardless of the convenience or wishes of the people of the rural districts.

Benominate Steer. [Stillwater Lumberman.] The attempt to manufacture sympathy for Dr. Stewart is absurd. No one has attacked him. He is fairly credited with all the strength he has exhibited, and the Republican press of the district has taken no position inconsistent with a hearty support of our present congressman, should he be re-nominated.

Doc First and Knute Next. [Stevens County Tribune.] We would strongly favor Hon. Knute Nelson as our second choice, but so long as there is the least possibility of re-electing Dr. Stewart, we being convinced that he is entitled to the position, will favor his reelection. Nelson is a man who would take a forward place in the ranks of our legislators.

Dr. D'Unger Gets Back on Dr. Williams. To the Editor of the Globe: Dear Sir: I see by your issue of Saturday that "T. D. Williams, M. D.," is still alive and is full of the desire to avoid or mislead the public in regard to the various rumors that are being spread in connection with the case of a young man trying to save his father from a drunkard's grave.

In reply to the hundreds of letters I am receiving, I do not imagine their writers to be knaves; hence it is that in answering the one in question—assuredly the effort of a rascal—I wrote as I would have done any honest young man trying to save his father from a drunkard's grave.

The charge and disappointment met with on the part of "T. D. Williams, M. D.," is very plain to me and will be also to the public, when informed that in quoting from the United States Dispensary, page 1,228, "Infusion of Cinchona," he leaves out the very important statement that the infusion is only useful in cases where the full power of the bark (cinchona) is not required.

Dr. Williams, M. D., himself, and who thus desired to get out of me, by trick or fraud, my full method of treating dyspepsia or drunkenness, which method is creating such a stir in Chicago by its success, but he neglected to send you a copy of the letter written me in which he says he wants the medicine to send to his mother in England, to be used by her on his drunken father, &c. Having pity upon him, I put a pint of the remedy at cost—$7.00 per pound. Quinine is $72 per pound—also made from pure bark—and added the very moderate fee of $5—little enough, you must admit, for treating so distinguished a drunkard.

In the municipal court the case of Albright against Wm. Reibe was dismissed on points of law. There is quite a good artist in the city for caricatures. There are specimens of his skill almost every day in the window of King & Seymour's drug store.

The case of the State of Minnesota, ex rel, Marion Yorks vs. Wm. Gorrie, et al, was taken up yesterday, Honor C. Eiler, referee. It will take until noon to-day to get in all the evidence.

The case of Geo. Sutton against the city, was tried in the district court, yesterday before a struck jury and is not furnished at this writing. The criminal calendar will be moved to-day.

The opera of the Doctor of Alcantara was produced last evening before a select audience, and reflected credit upon the cast and the orchestra. It will be repeated this evening, and who who want to have a good laugh should be there.

Mike Holland got 25 days on the street for drunkenness, and went to work breaking stone like a little man. The chief has taken a new departure in the handling of city prisoners, and in the future they can take their choice of being confined in the city prison on bread and water or work on the street.

A. B. Easton of the Gazette, was somewhat startled yesterday when informed that Cole's circus had busted, and as he went down Main street you could hear him utter: "I don't bite on that again." Never mind, fierce content that the first man that has been taken in by a circus, you expect to—two times, afternoon and evening.

The public schools will close Friday, June 7th