MEETING OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION LAST NIGHT.

The Pupils Examined for the High School - List of Those Who "Passed" - The Superintendent's Annual Report.

The board of education held their regular monthly meeting last evening at their office, Odd Fellows block.

At the roll call all the members answered to their names excepting inspectors Kerr, Gullen and Withey.

Before reading the minutes Mr. Sweeney moved that "all the nastiness connected with Dr. Deane be omitted."

That portion of the minutes referring to the late investigation was accordingly not read.

After the minutes were read and approved the superintendent read his report, showing the number of pupils on the roll for June to be 3,092, and average attendance 2,898. The report also showed that 31 pupils had passed according to the regulations of the board for the examination for admittance to the high school, and 19 who had attained the general average, but who had fallen below the average of 65 in some one subject.

Mr. Merriam moved that those who had obtained the general average and only failed in one subject be admitted to the high school.

A discussion ensued. Dr. Sweeney and Mr. Benz opposing any such motion, Mr. Benz stating that he was told by teachers of the high school that out of some twenty admitted last year, not more than four were to be admitted. Dr. Sweeney said admitting pupils of low average in any subject, lowered the standing of the school.

Mr. Burlington said that he was opposed to the method of examination pursued, and always had been. He had addressed the board before on the subject, but they had thought it wise not to act upon his suggestion. It was not fair to the pupils to have an examination test, after a long and severe term of hard work, and besides an examination a pupil gets excited and nervous, and in consequence the quickest and most sensible fail. It also gives use to a system of "stufing" very nervous and objectionable. He had known principals of grammar schools to spend the hours out of school, early and late in "stufing" certain pupils in order to secure a large average of "passed." He thought quarterly examinations in connection with the usual monthly averages a better plan, and if an entrance examination was insisted on, the pupils should be understanding should be taken into consideration. He thought, too, that the failure of a pupil in one subject to reach the minimum standing should not disqualify for the high school. There are pupils, and generally the smartest pupils, who find it impossible, perhaps, to master one particular study, while they might be brilliant in all others. He thought that those who had failed in one subject only, and who had done so well in all others, should at least be permitted another examination.

Dr. Sweeney moved that the superintendent instruct the nineteen pupils who had failed in one subject, and report to the board.

Mr. Merriam moved as an amendment that the nineteen pupils be admitted to the high school after a further examination by the superintendent in the subject in which they had been found deficient.

Several members of the board expressed the opinion that to object to these pupils and place them in the high school, would either leave school or go back to a lower grade and study for a year, would be unjust. Mr. Merriam's motion was carried.

The superintendent's report showed that 116 suspensions had been made during the year. They were mostly suspensions by teachers, made according to rule and were all reinstated after appearing before the superintendent. The suspensions, the report said, circulated that the superintendent had arbitrarily suspended and dismissed pupils were false.

The superintendent was credited with having made 150 visits to the schools in the year. The high school had 31 examinations, the first 202 pupils were examined and 109 averaged 75 per cent. and over; at the second 190 were examined and 110 passed, and at the third 176 were examined and 103 passed, including the graduating class.

Below is a list of those who are entitled to admittance to the high school, the figures showing the standard, the maximum being 100.

Table with columns for names and scores. Includes Harry Lott, Emma Deering, Emma Menard, etc.

The number examined at the Jefferson school was 19; 6 passed; at the Madison, 31 were examined; 7 passed and 8 to be re-examined. At the Neil school 5 were examined and 2 passed.

At the Lincoln, 26 were examined and passed; at the Franklin school, 26 were examined; 15 passed and 5 to be re-examined.

After the superintendent's report was read, the board adjourned to Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

THROUGH FLOUR TRAINS.

The Arrangements to be Continued Regularly and Permanently. As before intimated in the GLOBE, St. Paul and Minneapolis have just received a visit from Messrs. Richard Henderson and John E. Earle, of the Anchor line of ocean steamships.

Mr. Earle was the originator of the idea of a fast freight train from Minnesota to the seaboard, making direct connections with the ocean steamships he represents, and bringing St. Paul and Minneapolis within fifteen or sixteen days of Liverpool and Glasgow markets.

CITY GLOBULES.

There were no civil cases adjudicated upon yesterday in the municipal court. The common council committee on fire department was in session last evening auditing bills.

The county committee on claims and on public buildings held meetings yesterday, transacting the usual formal business.

That Alhambra band nuisance was again inaugurated last evening in all its discordance, and should be incontinentally quelled.

A lady had her pocket picked yesterday of a purse containing $20 while she was in attendance at the delivery window of the postoffice.

The weather put an effectual stopper upon the Rice park concert last evening, only one number being performed when the rain descended.

David Burke was had up yesterday in the municipal court, for violating the hack ordinance, and had his case continued until Wednesday next.

A couple of suspected crooks got themselves in the toils of Officer Gibbons yesterday morning, and were fired out of the city on the first trains for divers destinations.

The fair for the Good Shepherds was well patronized last night. It will be kept open Monday and Tuesday, and it is understood that the Opera House on Wednesday.

The Victoria club held a meeting Friday evening when it was resolved to keep the Fourth in right royal style. A car will be chartered and the club will proceed to White Bear, where they anticipate a full day of unalloyed pleasure.

The handsome chair at the fair is to be voted to the most popular Catholic society. The candidates are the Catholic Benevolent society, St. Peter's Benevolent society, St. Mary's (iron clads).

Miss Matilda R. Hatch, granddaughter of Mr. A. T. C. Pierson, quietly passed to the other shore at 11 o'clock on Friday evening, to the intense regret of a wide circle of friends.

The cause of the single blow on the fire alarm gongs, which awoke the fire department early yesterday morning, and which continued its tapping at intervals yesterday forenoon, was found to be a defect in box 38, which was remedied in the afternoon.

E. B. Birge, superintendent of the fire alarm telegraph, returned from Faribault last evening, where he has been repairing the engine disabled in the late fire in that city. He will return to the place of repair, and the engine over to the Faribault fire department on Tuesday as sound as a dollar.

A meeting of the stockholders of the new German paper, the Democrat, was held last evening. The outlook was shown to be very encouraging, one canvasser alone having secured 130 subscribers in one week's work.

Nic. Pottgreiser, Jr., yesterday erected a sign in front of his establishment on Washabaw street, which is the most gorgeous affair of its class in the city, and has attracted much attention. It is of the Gamin style of architecture, and is the work of a local artist in that line.

Michael Ross, who was arrested late on Friday night by Sergeant Clark in the Sixth ward, yesterday appeared in the municipal court, charged with drunkenness. He was committed for seven days, but his fine of $3 and costs was subsequently paid by the superintendent of the gas works, in which establishment he is employed.

Yesterday afternoon, John Murphy and J. Young marched into Doyle's saloon on Minnesota street. After liquoring up they could not liquidate, so Doyle took the hat of one of the impudicous couple as surety for his pay.

In turn, they walked off with a chair, took it to the street, and there offered it for sale. Here Officer Gibbons stepped in and walked them off to Judge Flint, before whom they were arraigned on a charge of larceny, but the charge would not hold water and the prisoners were discharged.

Early this week Prof. E. Woolcott will arrive in this city with the Edison speaking phonograph, universally acknowledged to be the miracle of the nineteenth century, which he will exhibit for some days. The instruments were made and approved by Mr. Edison himself, and the opportunity should not be lost to see this talking wonder, which barks like a dog, crows like a rooster, meows like a cat, bleats like a sheep, grunts like a hog, caws like a crow, whistles like a canary, sings like a prima donna, and will talk like a human being, enunciating and pronouncing every word perfectly in every known language.

St. Paul is going to have at least one touch of a genuine Fourth of July. Owing to the strenuous exertions of W. D. Rogers, there will be a magnificent pyrotechnic display at the head of Washabaw street, and the display of the day named, which is believed will exceed all previous efforts in that direction.

Among the fireworks will be a life-sized figure of a Minuteman, a large balloon, a rocket which will send forth an explosion in mid-air, a sun of glory, army and navy emblems, wheels of all dimensions, and rockets, etc., without end in variety. There will be a velocipede race before the fireworks are lit, and the winner will be visible from Washabaw, St. Peter, Rice and Robert streets.

The East has long arrogated to itself the whole culture of the country, but the West is beginning to assert itself in that direction, meeting its Eastern competitors and oftentimes outgunning them on their own advantage ground.

An instance in point has recently developed the fact that the far Northwest, as represented by St. Paul, can pluck the honors offered in the East for art, culture and skill. At the recent exhibition of a large balloon, which was sent by Cooper institute, New York, the two highest prizes for decorative art and ornamental design were accorded to two Western ladies, Miss Jones, of Chicago, who won the first premium, and Miss Annie Wood, of this city, who carried off the second. St. Paul has reason to be proud of Miss Wood and of her success.

There will be few pleasanter attractions on the Fourth than the grand excursion to Lake Minnetonka, to be gotten up under the auspices of the C. A. and to which a cordial invitation is extended to all members thereof, to delegates and sailors, and to their friends.

Delegates, in addition to that from this city, have promised to attend from Minneapolis, Newport, Cottage Grove, Shakopee and Stillwater. It is needless to enlarge upon the attractions of the lake, upon the banks of which few things are more enjoyable than a basket picnic, such as the one in question will be. Much enthusiasm has already been developed by the affair, and a large number are anticipated. Round trip fare from St. Paul, $1.05, with ample accommodations for all.

$2.50 will buy a boy's genuine Middlesex Flannel Sailor Suit at the Boston, 43 East Third street, St. Paul.

The New No. 8 Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine has a straight needle (the old has not) which is self-setting, (it is not in the old). It has the fast and slow motion, and you will say, after using it, that it is the best machine existing.

RED ROCK.

A "Globe" Reporter Visits the Camp Ground and Tells of What He Saw - Programme for To-Day.

Red Rock - now a misnomer - is about the last place one with an eye to the picturesque or to comfort would choose for a camping ground. Situated as it is, on low, flat ground, on the "bottoms" of the Mississippi, it is liable, after heavy rain, to be unaccountably moist. The ground is thickly covered with moss, and the water, which here and there is an oak sapling growth, which lowers the ground so much above its fellows as to appear a veritable king of the forest in comparison.

And if the camping ground at its best has but few charms by way of beautiful scenery, it is not so, in fact, as it is, and yesterday was almost one of these, for the heavy showers in the early morning made everything dreary in the extreme. Later in the day, however, the weather cleared and the sky brightened, and Red Rock was more cheerful in aspect. There were not, however, many visitors, and those who participated in the religious exercises were mostly permanent settlers. It should perhaps here be stated that Red Rock is a kind of hybrid of the Red Rock Camp, for there are many cottages on the ground and permanent stables for the accommodation of teams.

The first thing to attract the notice of a visitor entering from the railroad platform is the admission "No smoking" but that cheering is not objected to, in manifest on all sides, that dirtier and more disgusting habit of the two extending even to the brethren. In the brighter, more cheery weather of the afternoon, the camp yesterday assumed quite a lively appearance. The cottages - some quite substantial frame houses of two stories, were ranged in streets and avenues, and the snowy tents were generally grouped in colonies.

On the outside of the tents were the cooking stove or the camp kettle, around which the busy housewives were "troubled about many things" groups of children scattered about among the slim stems of the young grove, and light shrill voices came floating on the moisture-laden air in short bursts, and at times a deeper, heavier tide of music would break in from the far distance - from the prayer tent where the older folks were engaged in the song of praise. It was stated that the people there yesterday were the permanent population. It is not probably generally known that the greater part of the camping ground has been sold out in lots, and these lots are held by the farmers of the neighborhood, and it is understood that they are to be used for no other purpose than that for which they are now used. The following is a list of those occupying cottages on the ground: J. C. Quinby, D. L. Langstaff, J. F. Testovien, Barney Armstrong, A. D. Davison, Mrs. Inez Blakely, of St. Paul. Minneapolis is represented by E. Moses, A. J. Cobb, C. C. Hurd and J. Lawrence; M. Sweetland and A. Laramy, Cottage Grove; Mr. Salomon, and Mrs. Rose, Newport; J. H. Maycomb, Red Wing; Dr. J. W. Knight, L. W. Rohne, Minneapolis; A. Dockert and a number of persons from various places.

There are on the grounds some seventy tents, arranged, as stated, in groups; there is the Red Wing camp, the Hamilton (Wis.) camp, Prescott (Wis.) camp, Farmington and Lake City camps, and a number of others.

To supply the physical wants of those who wish not to be burdened with household cares there is a large dining and refreshment hall kept by W. Becken, who prepares the appetizing breakfasts of his boarders at the rate of 65 per week. And to administer to the spiritual wants of the immense gathering of people that sometimes assemble on the ground, there are forty-five ministers on the ground, so that there is no fear of death in spiritual food.

It is expected that there will be some 10,000 people on the ground to-day, if it fine. The North Kent and the Kenney will only be between St. Paul and the camp ground over the city of Minneapolis. The Magpie Realty has arranged to serve meals on that point, a restaurant. This is a convenience which all will appreciate. Services will be held as follows:

8 A. M. - Love feast. 10:30 A. M. - Service, with sermon by Rev. H. McDonald, of Boston. 11:30 A. M. - Service, with sermon by Rev. A. P. Mead, of Wisconsin. 8:00 P. M. - Service, with sermon, by Rev. W. Parke, of Castle Rock.

There will be young peoples' and children's meetings during the day.

The Military Headquarters Removal. The order directing the removal of the departmental military headquarters from St. Paul to Fort Snelling, which the laws of the Medes and Persians, "cannot be altered." All the efforts for a postponement of the removal have failed, and the work of transporting the safes, records and office furniture to the fort was commenced last evening, continuing until far into the night and occupying many men and teams. The removal was not by any means completed last night, but the important part was cleared away, the lighter portions being left for Monday, and by sun down to-morrow, the place that has been the headquarters so long will be entirely vacated.

Of course, it is acknowledged that the present accommodations are totally inadequate to meet the demands upon them created by the removal. Additional buildings, however, will be erected, and erected at once, and the general commanding, with the entire departmental staff, will soon be housed within the historic Fort Snelling.

The officers and clerks will continue to reside in St. Paul, going to and from their duties each day, as there is nothing in the order which prevents such an arrangement.

The safes were not got out of the headquarters office and loaded until 2 o'clock this morning. They occupy six trucks, which are to be left standing on Washabaw street until 5 A. M. to-morrow, when they will be conveyed to the fort. This action was necessitated by the fact that it was impossible to have the safes out of the offices while the lighter office furniture was being removed, which will take place on Monday.
