

Daily Globe

BY H. P. HALL. NO. 17 WABASH STREET, ST. PAUL. Official Paper of the City of St. Paul.

Terms of Subscription for the Daily Globe. By carrier (7 papers per week) 70 cents per month.

THE SUNDAY GLOBE. By mail the SUNDAY GLOBE will be one dollar per year.

THE WEEKLY GLOBE. The WEEKLY GLOBE is a mammoth sheet, exactly double the size of the Daily. It is just the paper for the farmer, containing in addition to all the current news, choice miscellany, agricultural matter, market reports, etc.

Postage prepaid by the publisher on all editions. All mail subscriptions payable invariably in advance.

Daily Globe Advertising Rates. Fourth Page 5 cents per line for first insertion.

Third Page 5 cents per line for first week. All subsequent insertions 3 cents per line.

Reading Matter Notices, First, Second and Fourth Pages, 25 cents per line. "Special Local," Second Page, 15 cents per line.

ST. PAUL, SATURDAY, NOV. 23, 1878.

We regret to learn that ill health compels C. B. Tyler, Esq., editor of the New Ulm Herald, to suspend his paper.

The St. Paul post office, acting under instructions from Washington, refuses to receive three-cent coins in payment for postage stamps.

The capture of Angell, the Pullman Palace car defaulter, in Portugal, ought to be a warning to those who contemplate imitating his example.

THREE or four columns daily in each of the New York papers, largely devoted to advancing theories as to the whereabouts of Stewart's bones, have failed to attract their place of concealment.

THE assurance of Le Nord, the Russian organ at Brussels, that England and Russia are on amicable terms, is almost too good to be true.

COMPTROLLER KNOX is very solicitous, in case of the abolition of the national bank currency, that its place will be occupied by State bank notes.

THE term of Dr. Linderman, the director of the mint, will expire next month, and it is generally understood that he will not be re-appointed.

GEN. SHERMAN, it is said, is in favor of the appointment of Gen. Johnston as chairman of the House committee on military affairs.

COME to think of it, there were some pretty big steals in South Carolina. Patterson stole the money, Moses stole himself rich and into the penitentiary.

IN Wisconsin, New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Illinois there was a majority against the Republican party.

TWO of the Peruvian cabinet ministers have resigned under a cloud, one of them being the minister of finance.

THEY say in New York that Tilden has not yet abandoned hope of securing the Presidential nomination in 1880.

hopeless, and the money he spends in establishing papers might as well be thrown in the Hudson river.

THEY are raising a row in a New York temperance society—there are such organizations in New York, incredible though it may seem—simply because a lady said Francis Murphy cared more for money-getting than for the good of the cause.

IF the insurance companies shall be compelled to pay every cent of their policies on the life of Col. Dwight, it may teach their managers a useful lesson.

THE Washburn politician who edits the St. Cloud Journal-Press, says that it is "nonsense" to contest Washburn's seat.

THE distinguished politician who edits the St. Cloud Journal-Press, says that it is "nonsense" to contest Washburn's seat.

SO far as merely giving the seat to Mr. Donnelly, the matter is of small consequence. The vital question is whether the popular will shall be stifled and overthrown by the corrupt use of money.

WE weigh our words when we say that Wm. D. Washburn is more justly entitled to a seat in the penitentiary than a seat in Congress.

THE accomplishment of this task is the object of a contest. If such shameless practices as were used by Mr. Washburn are allowed to be honored instead of rebuked, the voice of the people can never be heard.

THE partitions who choose to ally themselves with Washburn will simply go down to infamy with him.

IT gives us genuine pleasure to be able to say that one head of a department under the present administration has a conception of his duty to the people and a sincere desire to cut down expenses to the lowest possible limit.

IT is an innovation upon governmental usage that will never become popular as long as the Republican party remains in power.

THEY say in New York that Tilden has not yet abandoned hope of securing the Presidential nomination in 1880.

CHARITY, SWEET CHARITY.

How the Society for the Poor Develops Fraud—A Bogus Example. ST. PAUL, Nov. 21, 1878.—Appeals for aid in behalf of suffering humanity, when made in the proper manner and spirit, are commended.

THE last session of the Forty-fifth Congress will assemble a week from next Monday. Beyond their assuage of the next appropriation bills it is not probable that much legislation will be attempted.

IT is now evident that, with the exception of the navy department, all of the departments will ask for a large increase of appropriations over last year.

IT will be seen that this far in the pretended conversation, the pretended applicant for covering for his nether extremity has addressed the committee in English, with each of his sentences grammatically constructed.

IT is quite probable that the change of Mr. Hayes' Southern policy will form the basis of some attempted legislation.

THE alleged outrages at the South have been magnified to frightful proportions, and the subject is still being "worked up" with a view to effect upon Congress.

THE alleged outrages at the South have been magnified to frightful proportions, and the subject is still being "worked up" with a view to effect upon Congress.

THE alleged outrages at the South have been magnified to frightful proportions, and the subject is still being "worked up" with a view to effect upon Congress.

THE alleged outrages at the South have been magnified to frightful proportions, and the subject is still being "worked up" with a view to effect upon Congress.

THE alleged outrages at the South have been magnified to frightful proportions, and the subject is still being "worked up" with a view to effect upon Congress.

THE alleged outrages at the South have been magnified to frightful proportions, and the subject is still being "worked up" with a view to effect upon Congress.

THE alleged outrages at the South have been magnified to frightful proportions, and the subject is still being "worked up" with a view to effect upon Congress.

THE alleged outrages at the South have been magnified to frightful proportions, and the subject is still being "worked up" with a view to effect upon Congress.

STILLWATER NEWS.

Wheat receipts light. Price 73c, 67c and 54c. The State of Minnesota vs. Mrs. Cummings, occupied yesterday's session of the district court.

SIX hundred sacks of wheat for the Stillwater flour mills, and 200 barrels of flour for New York, came down yesterday on the Knapp.

THE Stillwater & Taylors road yesterday shipped 700 barrels of flour, seven car loads of piles and four car loads of lumber, and received five car loads of merchandise.

Capt. Hayes, of the G. B. Knapp, has contracted with the members of the blue ribbon movement, in Osceola and Taylors Falls, to give them an excursion to St. Paul the 25th of December.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Snake River dam was held Thursday, Nov. 21, at the office of Charles Wilson.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

On motion of Mr. Durant, a committee of three was appointed by the stockholders to secure a lease of the ground upon which the dam is built from the owners.

OUTRAGED BY TRAMPS.

A Young Girl at South Elgin, Ill., Brutally Treated and Nearly Murdered by Tramps. [Elgin Special (Nov. 19) to Chicago Tribune.]

A dastardly crime was perpetrated last night near the village of South Elgin, formerly known as Clintonville, on the farm of John Reinert, four and a half miles south of this city.

Three tramps seized the person of Miss Angie Reinert, a comely maid of 18, as she stepped out of the house about half past 6, it being extremely dark, and her parents being absent at the barn, some distance away, and while one of the miscreants held her throat with a grip like a vise, and choked her fearfully, another hellion quickly slipped a plaster over her mouth, which she fast, and almost strangled her.

The poor victim, weakened by the light and partial strangulation, was hastily carried several rods from the house by the tramps into the orchard, where they deliberately proceeded to outrage her person.

Two of them had accomplished their diabolical designs, and just as the third one was making preparations to complete the work, the younger brother in the house, having been aroused at unexpected absence of Angie, came forth, and called to her in loud voices, and also gave an alarm to the parents, which frightened the tramps away.

The father hastened to the scene, and, upon searching for the missing girl, found her nearly dead, and brought her to the house. It is stated that when the miscreants took the alarm they tore the plaster from the girl's mouth before departing, else she could have lived but a few moments longer, as she was exhausted from the fright, and the tramps were not so far from the house as to be able to escape.

She believes that these men were the same who visited the house during the day looking for food and a place to sleep, with which they were not accommodated.

The residence is near the railroad track, and tramps are numerous at all hours of the day and night.

One of the villains was well dressed, in dark clothes with stripes, black cap, thought to be a stonemason, and had light hair and complexion. The others were darker and poorly dressed, and wore black hats. All wore false whiskers, which almost entirely concealed their true features.

It is thought that had they not been interrupted in their work, the villains would have eventually murdered the girl by strangulation, and carried off her body.

GEN. JOE JOHNSTON.

An Interview with the Virginia Congressman. [Richmond Correspondence Washington Post.]

Late last evening a representative of the Post was accorded an interview by Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, who will represent the metropolitan district of Virginia in the next Congress.

A painful though not serious accident, resulting in a bruised knee, at present confines the general to his modest residence on Grace street, in the city of Richmond; but, aside from this, his memory, three score and ten years have left him straight as an arrow and as full of vitality as many a man of 50 years.

There has been such a cry already raised by the vindictive radicals of the South, that the general is being urged to accept of a nomination for a seat in the United States Senate.

Without any advice at all upon the question, I will venture to say that the attitude of the gentlemen from the Southern States will be such as to disappoint the irreconcilable of the opposition, who have, since already begun an effort to carry a solid North against a solid South.

Without any advice at all upon the question, I will venture to say that the attitude of the gentlemen from the Southern States will be such as to disappoint the irreconcilable of the opposition, who have, since already begun an effort to carry a solid North against a solid South.

Without any advice at all upon the question, I will venture to say that the attitude of the gentlemen from the Southern States will be such as to disappoint the irreconcilable of the opposition, who have, since already begun an effort to carry a solid North against a solid South.

Without any advice at all upon the question, I will venture to say that the attitude of the gentlemen from the Southern States will be such as to disappoint the irreconcilable of the opposition, who have, since already begun an effort to carry a solid North against a solid South.

Without any advice at all upon the question, I will venture to say that the attitude of the gentlemen from the Southern States will be such as to disappoint the irreconcilable of the opposition, who have, since already begun an effort to carry a solid North against a solid South.

RESUMPTION.

Where and How Shall Legal-Tenders Be Redeemed? [Washington Special to Chicago Tribune.]

Inquiries are made among the West whether legal-tenders, and, if not, how it can be claimed that resumption will be completed Jan. 1. It cannot be authoritatively stated to-night that it is the purpose of Secretary Sherman to redeem at all Western and Southern sub-treasuries, but there is the best semi-official authority for the statement that he will execute the clause to the resumption act which requires the redemption of legal-tenders at the office of the assistant-treasurer at New York only, although the law does not prohibit him from redeeming elsewhere. It has been urged by many friends of resumption that

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

RESUMPTION WOULD BE EMPHATICALLY by any restriction, which would make the redemption of legal-tender notes possible in the city of New York alone. These persons insist that the work of redemption will be greatly aided if the assets of the country were authorized to exchange gold for legal-tenders. Persons who within a few days have had repeated conferences with Secretary Sherman say, however, that he is determined to execute the resumption act in every particular, and that he has no discretion except to redeem at the sub-treasury at New York alone. A contrary course, it is claimed, would weaken the government by scattering its resources, and by making it more difficult for combinations to be formed to organize

DISCOURTEOUS DEVELNS.

The Discourteous Manner in Which He Treated Senator Morgan, of Alabama. [Washington Special.]

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.

Senator Morgan, of Alabama, is here. In speaking of his recent letter to Mr. Devens he said that, while Mr. Devens had seen proper to treat a polite and respectful letter from him with affected indifference, Meyer, the district attorney, and Turner, the marshal, upon the advice and suggestion of guilty consciences, had assumed that they were the persons to whom crimes he had committed.