KING CAUCUS.

THE REPUBLICANS FIX UP THE

Nomination of Officers for Both Houses-The Leading Places Captured by Lucky Ones Without Opposition-Huge Scramble Among the Little Fish--The Opportunity for an Unusual Amount of Swearing, as Those Who Were "Left" are Numerous.

The GLOBE publishes this morning the biographical table of the members of the Legislature, and adds thereto the Republican caucus nominees for officers to be elected to-day. This makes the biographical record complete.

Setting Up the Pins.

All day yesterday the legislative clans were gathering, and the buttonhole work was lively in the extreme. On Sunday all contests for prominent positions were abandoned for Speaker, and yesterday Mr. Benson withdrew, leaving Gilman clear track for that place. While the rush was great for positions, the interest was comparatively light owing to the fact that no prominent place was disputed.

The Republicans held their caucuses at the capitol last evening, each branch meeting in their respective halls. their respective halls.

The Democrats look on with the usual complacency of the minority purty and let the molasses run. They will probably hold a caucus this morning, though no call has been issued. The demand for positions on that side not being heavy the Democratic caucus, if held will be a simple affair.

There was a fair crowd in point of numbers at the capitol last evening, but no excitement, and below will be found the proceedings of the Senate Caucus.

The Senate caucus was called to order by A. E. Rice. C. D. Gilfillan was elected chairman and A. C. Wedge secretary. Senator Rice moved a call of the roll of Senators elect. Carried. The roll having been called twenty Senators

The House Caucus. The caucus of the Republican members of the House of Representatives was held in Representative Hall, at the capitol, last evening, at 7:30 o'clock, every member wearing the Republican party label was present, together with a large number of interested candidates and a few spectators, who cooped themselves up in the little aerial alcove over the entrance, denominated by courtesy a gallery. For an hour there was confusion, and the candidates were busily engaged in button-holing the members and urging their claims for political preferment. They were a busy set and not ill-looking, although they could not be called positively engaging. For the most part they were rather uncouth than otherwise, not defi-cient in cheek. There were a few old stagers among them, but the majority were making their first appearance in politics—taking their first lessons in wire-pulling. Those who were fortunate in securing prizes displayed their gratification with profuse hand-shaking, and an adjournment with a few of their friends to a convenient dispensary of an amber fluid that is currently supposed to cheer but not inebrishortly afterwards betook themselves sorrowfully to their respective hasheries with the firm determination to take the swearing train this morning for home. One gentleman at the close of the caucus publicly thanked those who had Altogether the canvass was a very tame affair, with scarcely interest enough in it to keep the spectators awake, and long before it was concluded the so-called gallery was bare of ocnarts.

Washington, Jan. 6 .- Senator Thurman this afternoon prepared a letter addressed to the Columbus, O., banquet committee saying it will not be in his power to attend the Democratic celebration the 8th inst., as he is beginning to recover from a severe cold and cannot but recognize the fact it would be most imprudent for him in such extremely cold weather to make a trip. He offers a few reflections upon the toast, "The Jackson Democracy," the theme upon which he was appointed to speak, and confines himself solely to that subject.

At any rate, several of these authorized agents made a business to first look at the GLOBE, then look up Mr. Rogers. Finding him, several new claims were committed to his charge for collection. He was asked to collect. Their vision wasn't powerful enough to sight anything through the depth of attachments already plas-tered on the visible and invisible stock, may-be he could get a focus on something. Yesterday morning the focus was centered on some goods spirited away by Chambers. The process was comparatively easy, experience coming into WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 .- A decision was rendered this afternoon by the United States supreme court on the case of Geo. Reynolds vs. the United States brought here by appeal from the supreme court of Utah. This case involves the whole question of polygamy in the territories, and the constitutionality of the laws passed by Congress for its suppression. Rey-nolds was indicted by the grand jury for con-tracting a bigamous marriage. He was tried in the third judicial court of Utah and found in the third judicial court of Utah and found guilty. He appealed to the supreme court of the Territory, and finally to this court, which now affirms the judgment of the lower tribunal, and declares that Congress had the power to pass laws prohibiting polygamous marriages in Utah, that such laws are constitutional.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS.

No. 32. United States, appellant, vs. the Union Pacific railroad company et al. Appeal and was originally brought by the attorney general in the circuit court of the United States for the district of Connecticut, in obedience to the requirements of the fourth section of the act of Congress approved March 3d, 1877. Its main purpose was to protect the mortgage se curity and other suits of the United State arising out of the latter's relation with the rail road corporation. The defendants interposed a demurrer, which was sustained by the circuit court, and the bill of complainant's was dismissed upon that decree, and the case brought to this court. It is here held that the court of justice is not called on to inquire into the held. the court of justice is not called on to inquire into the balance of benefits and favors between parties to such controversy, as this, but into their respective rights as established by the law found in their contracts and recognized by established principles of equity. Governed by this rule, and by the intention of Congress in passing the law under which the suit was brought, this court holds that no case for relief is made out by the hill, of complaint and lief is made out by the bill of complaint, and the decree of the circuit court dismissing it is accordingly affirmed.
