Haverly's Georgia Minstrels appear at the Opera House next Tuesday and Wednesday night. This minstrel company is the biggest, in all respects on the road. Great in numbers, it is equally immense in talent.

The afternoon trains, yesterday, on the West Wisconsin and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads, both contained a lively sprinkling of emigrants, and the latter, in particular, were the western and northern portions of this State.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Brackett took a boarder to the county jail last night. He brought John Bourke in from Becker county on the charge of selling whisky to Indians. Bourke will have a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Cardozo to-day.

Complaint was made at police headquarters, yesterday, that the boys are making a base ball ground at the intersection of Fort and Mead streets, to the great annoyance of passers-by. The police were directed to bat them away.

About the liveliest place in the city these days is the freight depot of the St. Paul & Pacific railroad. The immense quantity of all kinds of goods passing into that building and from thence into the city, tells the story in part of the rushing business now being done by George Brown, the colored agent who borrowed Dr. Minter's clothes and watch, wherewith to make a dash, was run in by Capt. Clark, yesterday. Brown was found by all doubled up with remorse—had sold the watch and was recovering from a drunk proceeding out of the precinct of the sale. He'll explain before Judge Flint to-day.

Transcript of judgment was filed in the office of the district court yesterday for $14,920.22, in favor of the plaintiffs, in the case of M. Auerbach, of the firm of Auerbach, Finch, Culbertson & Co., vs. Albert Behnke, surviving partner of the late firm of H. Behnke & Brother. The judgment was rendered in Brown county, and is the result of an action for goods sold.

With unparadiseable stupidity, the party who does the scullion work for an alleged twilight luminous, announced on Wednesday, the death of John Schutte, partner in the millinery firm of Schutte & Weiss. Had the party who made the announcement taken the pains to inquire, he would have ascertained that it was Mr. Schutte's father who died, a gentleman who had no connection with the firm whatever.

A local paragraph yesterday morning, did unintentionally injustice to John Rooney, the ex-prosecutor, wherein he was charged with being engaged a street brawl on the corner of Fourth and Minnesota streets, at 6 o'clock. At that time, we are informed, Mr. Rooney was engaged about his business, and the last man to engage in a drunken row. As he was confounded with another man, and the name of Schutte's father who died, a gentleman who had no connection with the firm whatever.

The Grone has made frequent mention of the Jarrett gang of counterfeiters, who were captured at Zumbro Falls, in Wabasha county, on February 27th, and returned to St. Paul to refer to the case again, as yesterday one of the gang, Edwin C. Adams, was released by U. S. Commissioner Cardozo from jail on $1,000 bonds. Adams' father, H. C. Adams, died at the asylum of Rochester, where the sureties. The release of Adams leaves only one of the gang, Sheldon Jarrett, in disgrace. Adams' father, who was made to secure his release on the same conditions as above.

Early yesterday morning Charles Vanderhorck's relatives secured his release from the lock-up, where he had been incarcerated at their solicitation. Vanderhorck, who was released with reasonable with, pleaded with, to abandon his mania for passing bogus checks, and promised some genuine ones if he'd promise to go to Texas first, and return afterwards, as it was He was finally induced to go to Texas—the yow to reform being omitted, somehow, and was conducted to the great bound train, put aboard, and the train pulled out for Texas. Up to the latest date no word has come of his having again jumped the train.

A copy of the revised petition of the Chicago, St. Paul & Minneapolis railroad company, praying for the construction of a property to be used in the construction of the proposed short line railroad between this city and Minneapolis, was filed in the office of the district court yesterday. The property sought to be condemned, comprises a number of lots in what is known as Stinson's and Arlington Hill's additions to St. Paul. NAVIGATION NOTES.

Return of Capt. Holcomb from the Red River—Reportorial Surmises as to the Situation of the Red River Transportation Company.

Capt. E. V. Holcomb, superintendent of the Red River Transportation company, returned yesterday from looking after the company's affairs along the Red River. Soon after Capt. Holcomb's return he was met by a GLOBE reporter, who, of course, asked questions as only a reporter can. But the captain is not a good talker, at least he wasn't yesterday.

It is ascertained, however, that one of the boats of the company was engaged in local business between Fisker's Landing, Grand Forks and Pembina. The Manitoba, as reported by our Winnipeg correspondent, was at that point, but the transfer of the boat into a British bottom, as reported by the correspondent, is not a certainty, at least so the reporter understands. The reporter further surmises, though the captain did not say so, that he expects the Red River Transportation company to run its boats from Winnipeg through to Winnipeg this season just as it has for the last ten years.

As has been before stated, the St. Paul & Pacific company is building a spur track from the St. Vincent terminus, a distance of a mile, to a good landing on the river. This spur track will be completed by the end of the week or first of next, and then the railroad will be in condition to begin delivering freight to boats, and about the same time the boats will be ready to receive it. Undoubtedly Capt. Holcomb knows more about this than the reporter, but, as mentioned above, he was not in a talking humor yesterday, and the reporter, to make this item of news, has been obliged to put cause and effect in juxtaposition, and reason it out, as best he can, and he now gives it for what it is worth.

The Anna, Capt. Jerry Wood, which passed Hastings at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, had a run in type, but she is undoubtedly at the levee this morning.

Short Line Railway Between These Cities.

Dirt has begun to fly lively at several points along the short line road connecting St. Paul and Minneapolis. Larger forces of men and teams will be added each day, and work is being pushed rapidly. This line is a part of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, and is nearly five miles shorter than they have been running, via Mendota and Fort Snelling, and will pass through a region of country in our country unaccustomed to rapid improvement. We regard this short line as a grand enterprise for the people at both ends, and feel sure that it will bring us many other benefits resulting from it, we will see the Meeker Dam Water Power company spring into life, and that before long.
