FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

A Suit Against the Northern Pacific-Gov. Dayis' Plea-A Heavy Verdict Against About a year ago Mr. Alex Wilson, a foreman for Mr. Dalrymple in his large farming operations, was seriously injured on the Northern Pacific railroad, near Fargo. A misplaced switch threw the car in which Mr. Wilson was passenger from the track, and he was thrown out of the car door, breaking his arm in two places and being a cripple for life. He brought suit against the company for $10,000 damages, and the case came to trial be-fore Judge Wilkin in the district court yesterday. Gov. Davis appeared as countries tiff, and made a most forcible and telling pleatiff, and made a most forcible and telling pleatiff.

day. Gov. Dayls appeared as course day. Gov. Dayls appeared as the telling plea. Among other things he said:

What is a railroad? Have any of you ever attempted to shed from your mind the film of use and habit and to grasp in any completeness the conception of that prodigious organization? For use and habit have so obscured our very senses that we seldom pause to observe even that most wonderful trophy which man has won from the forces of nature. It is as little thought of by us as the force of gravitation which moves our world in its course and yet it course our daily life at a thousand points of contact.

Contact.

It is a great organization of machinery for the profit of men. That machinery is the most powerful which man has ever created or dreaded, for slow though tis, it rises in fearful insurrection at the slightest relaxation of vigilance. The men who own and oparate it should be skilled and careful in direct propertion to the destructive power of the instrument by which they work careful in direct propertion to the destructive power of the instrument by which they work and by which they profit.

It is not an engine set up in one place, dangerous only to its owner and his servants, special and solitary in its function and which can be shunned. It is a vast world over-spreading force which transports armics, which transplants nations, which conquers famine by pouring the products of prolific lands into the very mouth of hunger, which carries the pestilence thousands of miles in a week and at the same time marshal upon the scene of death the angels of charity and cure. It has annihilated the pangs of separation. It has made the wings of the morning useless to the criminal for it bears with him to the uttermost parts of the sea, the law, as his constant shadow. It has made great empires as folid as little states were once, for it has cancelled distances and has clamped together in its unbreakable iron bands great people in cancelled distances and has clamped together in its unbreakable iron bands great people in unity, over areas so vast as to make the ancient empires merely of parochial dimensions. It has opened a sluice through the continent through which are poured the activities and riches of the populous Atlantic, and of all the nations which bask upon its shores with the solemn and vast Pacific. All this power it has simply that it may be privileged to carry property and persons safely from place to place.

Equally is it supreme over the minor details of personal, individual life. It creates the neighborhood relation between distant places. It brightens and keeps strong the family tie between those who are separated widely. It gives effective scope to the charities of the world when a great city is disastrously burned or submerged. It is the master hand which touches all the keys and strings of our material, daily life. We confide in it. We pay tribute to it. We obey its laws. Awake, we abanden our free agency to it for miles and for thousands of miles. We do not in our homes enter more confidingly into the dusky and brooding dominions of sleep than we do when we make our beds upon the bosom of this monstrous power while it traverses the of this monstrous power while it traverses the trails of day and night. All this we do and all this is given to it sim-

It cannot be eft as empires often are, moving under the im-oulse of their constitutional predestination to pulse of their constitutional predestination to the contingencies of the failing health, the nerveless hand, or the dimming eye of one man grown old in ruling. It demands mental vigor and physical strength in their unalterable prime. Accordingly it has been invested with the attributes of corporate immortality. It is too costly and too useful to be subjected to the embarrassments of private enterprise. It has, therefore, been exempted from taxtion and received from the public

CITY GLOBULES.

Conrad Juuls, a prominent merchant at Litch field, has failed. The supreme court adjourned yesterday

Tuesday, June 10. Andrew Lamon got fourteen days, yest for larceny from Charles Fahey.

The water in the river was at a stand vening, at five feet one and a half inches. Frank Scott was fined $25 instead of $50 for selling liquer to Indians at Fisher's Landing. The Lincoln school house tramps now quarter hemselves in the barns in that neighborhood. The assault case of Charles Witherall on John Latderdale has been continued to the 26th instant. The official bonds of E. Burnard and S. V.

Hanft as justices of the peace, were approved by the council, yesterday.

Postmaster Day sold $28,000 worth of the $10 certificates yesterday, and will have $20,000 nore to dispose of this morning.

A bloody and badly battered tramp found by Chief Weber on Bridge square last night and escorted to the lock-up. Four tramps were captured by the police last night in a vacant house on Summit avenue which is in charge of Thos. Cochran, Jr. Louis Urnott, hailing from Hastings, was arested yesterday for stealing a basket of eggs from S. A. Blomquist's cellar, No. 45 Selby Officer Bahe ran in Nellie Gilbert last night She is a courtes in and being drunk and weigh ing 180 pounds rode up to the station in a wagon. He next had to tackle Tom Sullivan and had a lively job in getting him in.

Moody & Bassett is the title of an inhar nonious firm doing business near the corne of Sixth and Robert streets. They had a row yesterday and were both arrested for disorderly conduct. Bassett gave bail for his appearance to-day and Moody was locked up.

Complaint was made at police headquarters yesterday, that tramps were becoming a damnable nuisance out in the vicinity of Brewster and Viola avenues. Officer Lowell was sent out to abate the nuisance, and did it to the extent or running in two vagrants, and scaring off a score.

A pleasant wedding took place at the Church of the Assumption yesterday forenoon, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. C. W. Brewer the well known artist, and Miss Rosa Koempel of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Valentine, in the presence of a large number of friends.

The GLOBE mentioned some few days ag that Col. Lee, depot quartermaster here, would relieve Capt. C. S. Heintzelman in the building of Fort Assinnaboine, the new post on Milk river. Gen. Terry issued an order to that effect yesterday. Col. Lee will repair to his new station so soon as he arranges for a transfer of

To-morrow evening McKee Rankin and Miss Kitty Blanchard appear in their great specialty "The Danites" at the Opera House. The play is so well known throughout the length and breadth of the country that nothing rut a mere reference to the fact that it is to be played is necessary to secure a large audience. It will be a rich treat, which the citizens of St. Paul should not neglect to take advantage

News was received at military headquarters, yesterday, of the dangerous illness of Gen. George Sykes. Gen. Sykes is stationed at Brownsville, Texas, in command of the Tentieth United States Infantry. Gen. Sykes is well known and highly esteemed in this community, he having been in command at Fort Snelling for several years. The information received at headquarters gives no hopes of Gen. Sykes' recovery. A meeting of the committee on taxes wa held in the auditor's office vesterday afternoon enterprise. It has, therefore, been exempted from taxation and received from the public domain tracts so vast that it runs for hundreds of miles through its own principality. Mean or small capacity cannot govern it, and therefore it is ruled by the ablest men of the age—men who are the very proconsuls of the business world.

All this it has, I repeat, simply that it may convey property and persons in safety from place to place.

The lives of every train load of human freight deced upon the predence and except the mean. allowed, after which the meeting adjourned.

> May 14th Octave Caron, of the town of Wheatland, Rice county, had a light bay mare Wheatland, Rice county, had a light bay mare, 3 years old, stolen from him. Yesterday the matter was placed in the hands of John Patterson who, aided by Jack Voorhees, was successful in tracing the horse into the possession of Dr. Mintzer, to whom it had been sold by Wm. Babcock for $15. Mr. Babcock was then sought out, and being unable to give any reasonable explanation of how he came into possession of the animal, he was arrested and held to await the arrival of Mr. Caron, who has been notified of the recovery and arrest. Mr. Babcock also sold Dr. Mintzer another horse at the same time, supposed to be stolen. He is a bright bay, 7 years old, 15 hands high, and weighs between 1,000 and 1,100 pounds.

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Society for the Relief of the Poor yesterday, the following card of thanks was unanimously passed:

Resolved, That the Society for the Relief of the Poor hereby gratefully acknowledge the receipt of the sum of $250.56 as the net proceeds of the cantata of Queen Esther given at the Opera House in this city on Thursday, Friday and Saturday last. We further desire to express our sincere thanks to Prof. Seager, the director, and to all the ladies, gentlemen and children who so worthily aided in making the entertainment a delightful and satisfactory success, net only to ourselves, but to the large and appreciative audiences who gathered to hear them.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered
