"Oh, for another blizzard," said all Third street, as one man, yesterday, all because a woman came along with a hand organ. But it was a very bad organ, which would be worth a fortune to the woman if people would pay her for moving on according to their feelings.

The case of Julia D. Ashton against Horace Thompson and others, in which suit was commenced for an accounting as ward and minor, was resumed in district court chambers before Judge Simons yesterday forenoon. The entire case was taken up with arguments by counsel.

Dr. C. H. Boardman, of this city, has published a warning against funerals in cases of death from contagious diseases. It is supposable that he refers especially to the custom of viewing the body and to the assembly of attendants at the funeral in an infected room or house.

Mr. Julius Weil, the popular salesman at Ullman's hall and fur store on Jackson street will leave for New York next Monday, where he will engage in business with his brother. He has gained a host of friends in St. Paul, and the announcement of his departure will be received with regret.

A telegram was received by police authorities last night from Chief of Police Woodard, of Hastings, notifying them to be on the look out for a horse thief. The stealer occurred Monday night somewhere in Wisconsin, and the thief, with a sorrel mare and bay horse, is headed toward St. Paul.

The Railroad Gazette reports that the earnings of the following named railroad companies in 1879 exceeded those of 1878 by the percentages annexed: Chicago, St. Paul & Minneapolis, 24.1; Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, 18.4; Minneapolis & St. Louis, 16.3; Chicago & Northern, 7.5; St. Paul & Sioux City, 3.01. Judge Benbow Reynolds, of Crookston, delivered an argument yesterday in behalf of the settlers along the St. Vincent extension of the St. Paul & Pacific railroad before the commission, consisting of Gov. Pillsbury, Attorney General Wilson and Clerk of the Court Nichols. Col. Murray presented the answering argument on behalf of the railroad company.

At the time of the burning of Dr. Stejn's barn a silver watch belonging to a man in his employ was missed, and it was supposed had been burned up. Yesterday, however, Officer Shields, receiving information from some source to the contrary, found the watch in the possession of a boy named Andrew Stejn, who lives in Aurora avenue. The watch was restored to its owner.

Col. Jno. L. Merriam and the heirs of the Jirat Hewitt estate have united in presenting to Macalester college thirty acres of land on the north side of University avenue, near the crossing of Snelling avenue, about half a mile beyond the driving park. The gift is conditional on the erection of college buildings and making other improvements which the college corporation will begin this year by the erection of a building for the medical department.

Prof. Lyman's Entertainment. The following is the programme selected by Prof. Lyman for the entertainment Thursday night at the Opera House for the benefit of the High school library. The numbers are entirely new to the St. Paul public:

- Seibert's Orchestra. (a.) Doom of Claudius and Cynthia. Thompson. (b.) Love in a Basket. Mosley. Prof. Walter C. Lyman. Seibert's Orchestra. (c.) Asleep at the Switch. Hoey. (d.) Too Late for the Train. Burdette. Scene from "Ingomar, the Barbarian." Trans. Prof. Walter C. Lyman. PART II. Seibert's Orchestra. (a.) The Spanish Dance. Waller. (b.) The Wolves. Trowbridge. (c.) Lecture to Married Men. Jerrild. Prof. Walter C. Lyman. Seibert's Orchestra. (a.) The Last Flower. Faringham. (b.) The Bewitched Clock. Anon. Miss Ida Flower. Seibert's Orchestra. (a.) The Closest Scene from "Hamlet." Shakapere. (b.) European Guides. Twaen. Prof. Walter C. Lyman. Seibert's Orchestra. The Opera House.

The second performance of "Rosdale" by the Murray Metropolitan company at the Opera House, last evening, was no less successful than the first. All of the actors were in excellent spirits, and delineated their several characters in a manner to elicit the warmest commendation. Few performances have passed off more smoothly on the stage of the Opera House, and the painstaking labors of this company to please their too meagre audiences are deserving of the highest commendation.

To-night the company will appear in their great specialty of "Pygmalion and Galatea," to be followed by the ever popular farce of "Toodles." We hope to see a crowded house.

STEAMBOAT SETTLEMENT.

An Accounting Ordered by Judge Brill in the Long Pending Case of Kountz vs. Wilder and Charles.

A decision was rendered by Judge Brill, on yesterday, in the case of Connie Jones and Katie P. Kountz against A. H. Wilder and John H. Charles, being an action for an accounting and dissolution of partnership.

During the years 1877 and 1878 the parties to the action were engaged in operating three steamboats, the active management of which was in charge of the defendants, who owned a 6-10 and 8-10 interest in two of the boats, the plaintiffs owning a 4-10 interest in the other, it being agreed that, for the interest of all parties, the boats should be managed nominally with the title to the boats; at the close of navigation in 1877 the parties had an accounting, the business of the year following not yet being fully adjusted, the claim being set up by plaintiffs that they did not receive a just and fair proportion of the profits, as entitled to by their several interests.

After alluding to the testimony in the case, the court concludes his decision as follows: "As a conclusion it is determined that plaintiffs are entitled to two-fifths of the net profits arising from said business of operating said steamboats, General Meade and Penin, and one-fifth of the net profits arising from operating said steamboat Fontenelle, for the years 1877 and 1878.

That defendants ought to account to plaintiffs concerning said business, and to pay over to them the amount of said net profits remaining unpaid, if any there be.

Let an accounting be had before the court or a referee to be appointed. Final judgment to be reserved until the account is adjusted.

The St. Paul & Chicago Short Line. Frequent mention has been made in exchanges of preliminary surveys being made for a railway through the river counties of Wisconsin between St. Paul and La Crosse.

The Winona Republican of Monday evening gives the following latest information on the subject: "As it has been somewhat of a mystery who represent or compose the St. Paul & Chicago Short Line Railroad company direct application was made to St. Paul, and for further information regarding the search. In Fountain City the opinion prevails among the leading business men that the St. Paul & Sioux City road, and probably some other roads that want an Eastern outlet, are engaged in the survey. It is also understood from good authority that St. Paul capitalists are doing it.

Said a business man in Fountain City to the Republican reporter: "No doubt the Sioux City road has an interest in it, or at least some of its officers, as Mr. Stickney, the president of that company, was the first one through here looking up the route. They have for some time had agents along the route contracting for right of way. The entire line is in Alma for several weeks making abstracts of all the land through which the road is surveyed."

The Mr. Stickney mentioned is undoubtedly A. B. Stickney, late superintendent of the St. Paul, Stillwater & Taylors Falls railroad, who retired from that position when his road passed into possession of the St. Paul & Sioux City company. Mr. Stickney is absent from the city, so direct and correct information is lacking, but the Globe is prepared to believe that the present era of railroad building will not pass before St. Paul has more and improved railroad connections with the East and South.

German Roman Catholic Life Insurance Association. The above named association of Minnesota met in Assumption church, this city, yesterday afternoon, with George Mitsch, Sr., in the chair, and the subordinate associations represented as follows:

The laws of the association were amended in some respects, several new local associations were recognized and admitted to the State association, and satisfactory reports were received from the officers. The association appears to be in a flourishing condition, its benefits is a life insurance on the cheapest safe plan, without requiring membership in other societies recommending it to a considerable proportion of the people who desire moderate insurance at moderate rates.

THE GLOBE HOROSCOPE.

As it Casts its Light on the Chicago Market. [Special Telegram to the Globe.]

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Cables firm. Our market opened steady but the absence of outside orders demoralized the trade. The fact is the tailors after the gang are like the child that sat down on the hot stove, they don't want any of it. You could almost hire some of our boys to cut a throat or scuttle a ship, so mad are they. What's the use if poor fellows following capital, they are always sure to get the hot end of the poker. Curb 1.24 1/2 for March. Corn opened steady, but the crowd have made up their minds that it is only hog feed anyhow, so it is sicker than a pig. Curb 33 1/2.

Provisions were struck with dry rot this afternoon. There is no reason on top of God's green earth why this valuable article of human food should be so depressed. We have always contended that Parcell and Dillon's advent would cause a demand for this product, but it looks now as if they were playing every day as Friday on us. Curb $12.83 1/2 for March. Lard $7.60. The Jews have got us.

Reed's Gilt Edge Tonic stimulates the digestive organs and adds tone and strength to the stomach. The Fire Alarm Last Evening. About 9 o'clock, last evening, the employees in Ferdinand Haack's barber shop saw flames flashing up in Henry S. Haas' clothing house, on the opposite side of Third street, No. 22. Running across the street, they saw that the flames were making dangerous headway, and, bursting in the door, and bringing water in pails, quickly put out the fire. The store had been closed, and Mr. Haas and his employees retired from it only five minutes before. The fire started under the rear shelving, near the office desk, among a lot of pasteboard boxes, holding paper collars and other inflammable stuff. It may have started from a match or cigar carelessly dropped, or from a mouse or rat's experiment at eating matches. The damage done amounts to only a few dollars. The fire department was called out, and responded very quickly, but, thanks to the barbers, had nothing to do.

Reed's Gilt Edge Tonic purifies the blood, restores the appetite and stimulates the digestion. DIED. HASKELL.—In St. Paul, on January 19, Mrs. Jane Haskell, aged 67 years. Funeral services at the New Jerusalem church, on Thursday, January 23, at 11 A. M.
