EDITORIAL RETIREMENT.

Presentation to Capt. Castle Upon His Retirement from the "Dispatch."

The editorial room of the Dispatch office was the scene yesterday afternoon of a delightful presentation, only marred by a feeling of general regret at the circumstance which the testimonial so appropriately signified. The presentation was tendered as a privileges. tribute of esteem to Capt. H. A. Castle, who, after four years of successful service, severed his relations as managing editor of the Dis-patch last evening. At 5 o'clock the empatch last evening. At 5 o'clock the employes of the establishment assembled in the ployes or the establishment assembled in the editorial room, where Capt. Castle had been innocently beguiled, and in behalf of the employes that gentleman was presented with a costly and beautiful bronze.

PRESENTATION SPEECH. The presentation speech was made by Mr.

F. C. Burgess, who spoke as follows: Captain H. A. Castle: It is a pleasing duty devolved upon me by my associates upon this occasion to present you this beautiful bronze. It is but a poor token of the esteem, confidence and respect entertained by the employes of the Dispatch. without distinction of place or position, to one whose genial demeanor and uniform courtesy have endeared him to appropriate the present.

and uniform courtesy have endeared him to every one of us here present.

This is not the time nor the occasion for compliment or laudation. It is one rather for deep-seated sorrow that the relations which have so long bound us, with many of us dating from the first day of your assuming editorial charge of this paper, are now to be severed by your retirement. I can only say that you carry with you the best wishes of us all, who with this slight token of appreciation express our best and sincerest wishes for your future welfare. May success commensurate with your just deserts as a gentleman—a man of bonor—attend you and yours. attend you and yours. THE REJOINDER.

In reply, Capt. Castle, who had been taken by surprise, expressed his feelings as follows:

by surprise, expressed his feelings as follows:

GENTLEMEN: This beautiful token of your respect and esteem is most thankfully accepted. I am so completely surprised at this sudden gathering, that I cannot adequately express my feelings. I can only say that I shall prize the kind words with which it is given, even more highly than the spleudid gift itself—and more highly, even than those words, the sentiments of cordial friendship which I confidently believe lies back of them, in the hearts of each one of you. My relations with all of you, my associates in the publication of the paper, has been most pleasant from the beginning until now, and I shall cherish the recollection of my associations here, refreshed by the contemplation of this visible token, as among the most associations here, refreshed by the contempora-tion of this visible token, as among the most agreeable and satisfactory of my life. I rejoice to carry with me proofs of your confidence and esteem, and only hope I shall hereafter be more worthy of them. Again I thank you.

Contemplation: A beautiful bronze female figure, reclining in half stooping position with elbow resting on back of chair, over which flows a portion of her drapery, over which hows a portion of the dispery, her chin resting upon her partially closed hand while the left falls gracefully upon the knee and holds a taper. Drapery graceful and the expression of face thoroughly suggestive of study and repose. The figure is mounted upon an ebony pedestal.

Both the boats announced to leave St. Paul for St. Louis yesterday were behind time The Josie of the Diamond Joe line came in about 9 o'clock last evening and will leave at an early hour this morning. The mail packet Red Wing, Capt. Hight, delayed by an accident to her wheel by a collision with the Keokuk bridge, is due this morning to leave for St. Louis at noon.

The two St. Croix packets have excursion parties to-day, the Mary Barnes bringing a trip from Hastings to this city and thence on to Fort Snelling, while the G. B. Knapp will take a large party from Stillwater down to Red Wing and return.

A Wor hy Preject.

The members of the police department have devised a laudable means of contributing substantial aid to a deserving and unfortunate associate, Officer James Nugent, whose misfortunes leading to the loss of an arm have already been fully detailed in the GLOBE, Since the fall, encountered at the discharge of Lis duty, Officer Nugent has confirmed invalid. In addition to personal suffering, he encountered other mis fortunes equally lamentable, notable of which was the death of his child. Taking his calamities into consideration the boys made up made up their minds to give him a grand benefit, and the send off will take place at the Opera house next Thursday even-ing. The services of Mr. Dan Sullivan, the German Irish comedian, have been secured, and a rich entertainment is promised. All desiring to perform a worthy act should come to the front.

THE WINE DUTIES. The Economist says Gladstone has intimated he intends to drop from his Budget bill the clauses relating to wine duties. This means that the proposed reduction will not take place at present, and no fresh proposals on the subject can be brought forward be-fore February. Assured of this delay the wine trade will settle down somewhat, but the knowledge that negotiations are still in progress, and that a reduction of duties is probable, will inevitably restrict business: Only a hand-to-m uth trade will be done, and we now see clearly it would have been better if the government had refrained from proposing the reduction until they had some reasonable prospect of the negotiation with France coming to a speedy issue.

Discovery of North America.

A Wall street broker laid a wager one day that Christopher Columbus discovered the continent of North America, and, of course, lost it. It is surprising how many intelligent persons entertain the same error. Knowing that he discovered a number of islands in the western hemisphere, they think he must of necessity have discovered the continent also. They forget that he died in ignor-ance of the grandeur of his achievement, believing Cuba, Terra Firma and other islands he had found, to be remote parts of Asia. Amerigo Vespucci, after whom North and South America is named, did not discover this continent properly, either. The land he discovered lay near the equator, and he, too, was deluded with the notion that it was a portion of Asia. John Cabot was the discoverer of North America (some suppose in May, 1497), which he likewise supposed to belong to the dominions of the Grand Cham. He tailed along the coast for 300 leagues and went ashore. coast for 300 leagues, and went ashore, without finding any human being, although he believed the country to be inhabited. It is remarkable that the three great discoverers of the western world should all have been Italians—Columbus having been born in Genoa, Vespucci in Florence, and Cabot presumably in Ven-ice. The birthplace of Cabot is uncertain, as are his age and the place and time of his death. But the fact that the icense granted him by Henry VII calls him Kabotta, Venetian, would seem to determine the question of his nativity. The discoverers had a sorry fortune. The discoverers had a sorry fortune. Columbus, as we are aware, was treated with the blackest ingratitude by the King of Spain. When officers of the vessel on which he was carried, a prisoner, to Spain offered to remove his chains, imposed upon him by royal order, he replied, "I will wear them as a reminder of the gratitude of princes." He died, as very body knows a predected in extreme everybody knows, neglected, in extreme poverty, of a broken heart. Vespucci had many trials and died poor, and Cabot fell into such obscurity that no one can tell how or when or where he died. Surely the auguries attendant on the
