NEARING THE CRISIS.

FEVERISH CONDITION OF AFFAIRS AT ALBANY.

Hasty Adjournment of the Joint Convention by a Combination of Stalwarts and Democrats—Consternation in the Half-Breed Ranks from the Desertion of Two of Their Following—Grant Unbosoms Himself as to His Idea of Senatorial Courtesy—The Stalwart Ex-Senators Return to Albany in Good Humor, and Apparently Well Satisfied With the Situation.

The Balloting. ALBANY, June 20.—Joint convention held for the short term: Jacobs.....34 Lapham.....16 Kerns.....23 Crowley.....1 Whelker.....24 Folger.....1 Cornell.....3 Bradley.....1 No choice.

Ballot for the long term: Senate. Dewey.....37 Cornell.....6 Kerns.....23 Crowley.....1 Platt.....21 Folger.....1 No choice. Adjourned.

Grant, Conkling, Platt.

NEW YORK, June 20.—General Grant and ex-Senators Conkling and Platt, left the hotel about 10 o'clock this morning, and proceeded down town on business. Conkling's friends state his presence would not be required in Albany for the present, and he will thus be afforded an opportunity for attending to some legal business in this city, for which he has been retained. Gen. Grant's departure was almost unnoticed, and he appeared desirous to escape observation. A few stalwarts called on Conkling before he left the hotel, and it was decided that the balloting to elect the capitol would be postponed until the usual day to-morrow morning. Conkling has utilized his leisure the past three days in compiling the evidence furnished him in connection with the bribery investigation. It was remarked by one who called to see Conkling that not since the commencement of the Senatorial contest has he appeared so cheerful. Contrary to his usual custom he passed through the halls and corridors of the hotel and mingled freely with the guests and entertained his visitors without any ceremony. The general impression was that but for the bribery revelations this would be the last week of the session, as an adjournment will soon become desirable to all factions.

Hasty Adjournment.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A dispatch from Albany to the Post says: After the first Platt ballot Senator Braman moved to adjourn. On this the yeas and nays were called. The Conkling men and Hamilton and Mr. Tuttle voted with the Democrats the motion was carried 53 to 41. A hasty canvass before the adjournment showed that if another ballot had been taken five votes would have been gained for Dewey, and the third ballot would have probably elected him.

WHEELER'S SCHEME.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Post's Albany special says: Vice President Wheeler remarked to-day that the only way out of the present difficulty is to elect as a Senator any man Conkling might name. Ex-Senators Conkling and Platt left this evening for Albany.

BEFORE THE GRAND JURY.

ALBANY, June 20.—Judge Van Alstyne, in charging the grand jury, called attention to the recent charges of legislative bribery.

Grant and Garfield.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A reporter of the Times last evening saw ex-President Grant in his apartments at the Fifth avenue hotel and asked him whether, while in Mexico, he received a letter from President Garfield in relation to the rupture between Conkling and Platt and the administration. Gen. Grant said he did receive President Garfield's letter in reply to one sent by him to the President, in which the latter expressed his views upon the position of Conkling and Platt toward the administration as he now maintains. His opinion on that matter has undergone no change. He was on a steamer about to leave the harbor of Veracruz, and he handed him the President's letter. This letter, he said, was in his desk in his office down town. His time has been so much occupied since his arrival in this city, that he was unable to reply to it, as it certainly required acknowledgment. It was certainly a most polite and friendly letter. He said he intends to reply to it at length as it deserved to be treated. The general point to be made in the paper is that the center of the matter and said he had already begun his answer to the President.

When asked whether he was willing to give the President's letter for publication, he said he did not care for the publication of anything that part to do. As his attention was called to that of a Washington dispatch which read that the President would decline the two letters for publication unless the consent of General Grant was obtained, he said: "The President has my free and full permission to publish them," adding: "My letter to him was not marked confidential, and he is at perfect liberty to give it to the press."

The general said the letters would explain themselves, and that nothing further was necessary to be said upon that point. He thought when the charge was publicly made that he was inconsistent in the manner in which he had acted in the matter. It was time for him to say something on that subject. The statement had been paraded in some of the papers that he did not recognize such things as Senatorial courtesy at the time of the appointment of Wm. T. Simmons as collector of the port of Boston was agitated. That, said the general, was unsupported by the facts. Charles Sumner and Geo. Boutwell were the Senators from Massachusetts at that time. During his first term as President, Mr. Boutwell was secretary of the treasury. He had long known and admired Boutwell and when that gentleman became one of the cabinet officers the strong friendship which had existed was more closely cemented and a positive affection for each other was engendered. He had the greatest respect for Boutwell's opinion. He knew him to be a man of marked ability.

From the first, continued the general, Sumner did not callously harshly criticize the conduct of the administration, but at times acted as though he wished to ignore the President altogether. At no time did Sumner consult him on any subject, make a suggestion to him, or enter a protest about anything. The Senator from Massachusetts put himself outside the pale of respect from the administration by his treatment of it. He never personally urged appointment or rejection of any man, but contented himself with wholehearted abuse of the President.

During the general's second term Boutwell was a Senator from Massachusetts. Simmons was urged for the collectorship of the port of Boston, and Sumner at once expressed his opposition to him. A powerful influence was brought to bear to bring about the appointment and confirmation of Simmons. Unnumbered petitions in his favor were sent to the President, and many of the best business men and others of Massachusetts, but there was an element at work that sought his overthrow because he (Simmons), a Republican, as it were, was a candidate for an office that had been held by a man of proud ancestry. Gen. Butler, who at that time said the general was a true and tried Republican, strongly urged the appointment of Simmons. Some of

Time Extended. WASHINGTON, June 20.—The following circular in relation to the continuance of the United States registered bonds of the 5 per cent. funded loan of 1881 has just been issued by the treasury department: In the provisions of circular No. 52, dated May 12, 1881, for the continuance of United States registered bonds of the 5 per cent. funded loan of 1881, the limit of such bonds to be continued was fixed at $350,000,000, the bonds to be accepted in the order of their receipt at the department. The limit was reached the 23d of May the bonds presented being in excess of the amount fixed. While many persons who had notified the department on or before that date of their intention to present their bonds for continuance, and had provided the good faith to carry out their promise, were unable for various reasons to surrender their bonds before the limit was reached, it is the desire of the department to extend to all so far as practicable, an equal opportunity to continue their bonds, and to this end hereby given that United States registered bonds of the 5 per cent. funded loan of 1881, respecting which the department was notified on or before the 23d of May, and which, through no fault or negligence of the owner, failed to reach the department before the limit was reached, will be accepted for continuance if transmitted to this office on or before July next. (Signed) Wm. Windom, Secretary of the Treasury.

TEXAS SHOOTING.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A Marshall, Texas dispatch says a tragedy occurred near there yesterday, resulting in the death of two men. Isaac Henge and Robert Dill had an altercation which led to blows, and at length to a shooting affray in which Henge was killed by Dill. The latter fled to Caudrope's, just over the Louisiana line, whither he was pursued by Sheriff's posse and on length overtook him in the brakes and called upon him to surrender. This he refused to do. The posse then fired on the desperado. Twenty shots were fired, resulting in the instant death of Dill.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., June 20.—Parties attempted to wreck the train on the Housetonia railroad near North Kent this evening by putting a large stone on the track. The engine ran into and sank the stone. A fence rail fastened on the track. Both were discovered in time to prevent disaster.

COLLISION.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The triple-decked excursion boat Grand Republic came in collision to-day with the Norfolk steamer Adelphi and both boats were somewhat damaged. No person injured. Just one year ago to-day the Great Republic ran into and sank the steamer Adelaide in North river, and March 31, last year, the Adelphi was badly damaged by collision.

BLOWN UP BY GIANT POWDER.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Shasta dispatch: The store of Dr. Conkling, at Centerville, was blown up by giant powder at 2 A. M. The building, stock and out-houses were totally wrecked. JUNE TERM.

The United States Court in Progress. The June term of the United States circuit court opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, Judges Geo. W. McCrary and R. R. Nelson presiding. The court-room presented a busy and animated appearance. Representatives of the bar from St. Paul and the State at large, were present in large numbers.

Judging from the unusually large number of cases on the calendar, the present term of court will prove exceedingly active. There are 325 cases on the calendar, about equally divided between law and equity cases. In addition to this, there are four criminal cases. The entire day was taken up with the hearing of motions, most of which came up for continuance. Several cases were dismissed, and a number were stricken from the calendar. All the drive-well cases were continued.

Judge Dickenson Will Continue.

Hon. D. A. Dickenson, judge of the Sixth judicial district, who was recently tendered the appointment to the seat on the supreme bench made vacant by the death of Judge Cornell, was in the city yesterday. He was called here on legal business. Being interviewed by a representative of the GLOBE last evening as to his intentions in the premises, Judge Dickenson stated that he had not yet had sufficient time to consider the appointment. He had received the official tender of the position very unexpectedly a few days ago, and had simply acknowledged the receipt of the communication, requesting the privilege of deferring his decision until his arrival in the city. He had not had much opportunity since his arrival to consult with his friends, and while he appreciated the honor sought to be conferred upon him, he was not prepared to say whether he would accept or decline the office. He would say, however, that he had received urgent reasons for an acceptance of the post.

Although Judge Dickenson was non-committal on the subject, the GLOBE feels confident in asserting that the appointment will be accepted, and that within two or three days the official acceptance will be placed in the hands of the governor.

THE GLOBE HOROSCOPE.

As it Casts its Light on the Chicago Markets.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.] CHICAGO, June 20.—Cables quiet and unchanged. Weather rainy and cooler. Wheat opened firm but orders were scarce, and the market closed up dull at the decline. While we don't think it will be permanent. The fact of a good demand for July wheat at advanced prices would indicate some manipulation and I don't believe in being short. Would rather buy on a good decline for a turn. The market is in good shape for an advance with any favoring circumstances. Corn firm and more speculative. Shipments of corn. Oats dull and still being under control of the clique. Receipts good.

Provisions quiet. Pork lower. Lard steady. Receipts of hogs good. Curb prices; July corn, $1.11 1/2; August, same; July corn, 45 1/2 c. Oats, 35 1/2 c. Pork, $13.25. Lard, $10.80.

Attempted Burglary.

Night before last burglars made an ingenious attempt to break into Stiefel's saloon and restaurant, corner of Fourth and Wacouta streets. During the night one of the heavy iron gratings which protects the windows on Wacouta street, was pried from its position and the burglars commenced to cut away the sash. The intention was to remove two of the lights, when "gramme" would have been made easy. They succeeded in cutting away the frame of one light, when they were frightened off by the watchman of Mr. P. H. Kelly. Had they gotten inside they would have met with a warm reception, as the young man who sleeps in the place is armed with a gun that never fails him.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LAND LEAGUE WEAKENING.

LONDON, June 20.—The Dublin correspondent of the Times says the fact is evident that the land league has received a series of heavy blows which are telling upon it, and a more tractable and tolerant spirit is showing itself, as the power of local despots is broken. The strike against payment of rent has checked the leading impetuous intention to adopt such a policy.

END OF THE WORLD.

LONDON, June 20.—Considerable consternation was caused this morning by a slight shock of earthquake, many supposing the prophecy that the world is coming to an end was about to be fulfilled.

AMERICAN FEMINISTS.

LONDON, June 20.—In the house of commons to-day Gladstone, replying to a question of Stanhope, conservative, of which he gave notice the 16th, as to whether representations had been made to the American government in regard to American organizations for committing outrages in England, said he was not aware of what grounds Stanhope had for speaking of preparations in America for outrages in England. There were, he said, intimations to outrages in the newspapers, and, viewing the nature of these intimations the government thought it right to bring the facts to the knowledge of the government of the United States.

LAND BILL.

The house this evening went into committee on the land bill. Healy's amendment to the third clause, doing away with the distinction between present and future tenants, was yesterday, 301 to 50. E. Dyer Gray's amendment that the government should extend the benefits of the bill to the tenants who were in arrears of rent through no fault of their own was carried in the chamber of deputies, the minister of the interior, replying to a question, said the fighting in Marseilles was begun by a number of Italian laborers attacking a party of French workmen. This caused reprisals, and in the ensuing series of affrays, four persons were killed and seventeen wounded. He added that every precaution had been taken to preserve the peace.

VIENNA, June 20.—A serious insurrection is said to be threatening among the tribes in Bocched Cattaro, in consequence of Austria attempting, contrary to promises, to enforce conscription for the Lord Vicer. Resistance is encouraged by numerous returned emigrants from America.

GENERAL FOREIGN.

PARIS, June 20.—In the chamber of deputies, the minister of the interior, replying to a question, said the fighting in Marseilles was begun by a number of Italian laborers attacking a party of French workmen. This caused reprisals, and in the ensuing series of affrays, four persons were killed and seventeen wounded. He added that every precaution had been taken to preserve the peace.

TIRE TALK.

Bonafide Bonner's Talk About Rarus and Edwin Forrest—Serious Accident to Aranza, Lott's $12,000 Purchase.

Bombastic Bonner's Brag. NEW YORK, June 20.—Robert Bonner believes that Rarus and Edwin Forrest are made of stuff to beat the best time on record. "If I can get Rarus and Edwin Forrest into a satisfactory condition," Mr. Bonner says, "I may give an exhibition trip in August. I have arranged the details, but either the Prospect or Hartford track will probably be selected, as I do not consider the Fleetwood track fast enough. I think either Edwin Forrest or Rarus ought to beat 2:10, and the former driver of Rarus, Sylvania, thinks he can do it in 2:08. Both horses have trotted in 2:11 1/2 on a three-quarter track, which is considered by sporting men better than 2:10 1/2 on a mile track. You see, on a three-quarter track you go around a circle of twenty-three acres. On the flat track you traverse a circle of forty-two acres. It is easy to understand that in the former case the turns are much more abrupt than in the latter. No half-mile track can be as fast as a three-quarter track, nor can a mile track be as fast as a three-quarter track. A week ago I drove Edwin Forrest to a top wagon, 356 pounds, in 2:22 1/2, and at present he is in better shape than any other horse I've got. I have no doubt that both horses can beat the best records."

[NOTE.—We believe that Mr. Bonner has two of the fastest trotters in the world. This however, is a mere matter of opinion, and so long as Mr. Bonner owns and controls the horses in question, their speed as compared with other horses must remain in doubt. Mr. Bonner ought either to allow his horses to trot under the national rules governing such contests or stop boasting of what they can do. Application of the rules in question do not require him to "gamble" upon the result, but they do so hedge about such contests that a trial made, the general public just where to place each contestant. Against such a verdict, brag counts for nothing, and Mr. Bonner should accept the finding of such a tribunal or stop bragging.]

A Valuable Race Horse Badly Injured.

NEW YORK, June 20.—P. Lorrillard's three-year-old Aranza, for which he paid recently $13,000, was badly injured during transportation from Racoonac, N. J., to the Long Island race-course. The mare's head was severely bruised and it is feared the injury may extend to the brain.

Fell Dead on the Track.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., June 20.—The well-known trotter, Careless, owned by Mr. Bates of Decatur, in this State, fell dead on the track to-day while being exercised. He was a valuable horse, and the loss will fall heavily on his owner.

She was walking on the track on her way home from school. A team attached to a lumber wagon tried to get up some excitement yesterday afternoon, by running away from the lumber yard, Seventh and Minnesota streets. They ran out the lumber street and were captured at Eighth street. The Second Day Adventists are busily engaged at Calhoun Lake in making preparations for their annual camp meeting, which commences June 23. Already several family tents are up, and they expect a large gathering from all parts of the State. Last Sunday the 3-year-old son of ex-Ald. Dries was attacked and bitten by a vicious dog, near the residence of his parents, on Tilton street. The lad's left leg was fearfully lacerated, and sentence of death has been passed on the dog, which is owned by Mr. A. Distel. How have the mighty fallen, mused his zoner yesterday morning, as a degenerate red man stood up for sentence, charged with having been laid out with the laughing water of the pale face. The untutored child of nature was picked up on Jackson street and hauled to the cooler on a drag. He went up for four days. Herbert O'Neil and Allen McDonald, the young men who burglarized Warner's auction store of several suits of clothing, were arrested at the police court yesterday on behalf of Mr. Erwin appeared for the defendants, and after the examination of Mr. Warner, who identified the goods, further examination was waived, and they were held to the grand jury in the sum of $400 each. The case of the State against F. W. Beck with, charged with the larceny of several pocket knives and revolvers from the store of Mayo & Co., was called for hearing yesterday morning. Heard leave for Breckenridge at 8:20 this morning, the former to defend, and the latter to prosecute Daniel Galvin for criminal libel in the March 10 railroad accident at Rothsay station, on the Manitoba road, with which the readers of the GLOBE are familiar. The spirit of his dream in the person of Katie's friend, Robert, who rushed in and fired him out at the muzzle of a gun. Scott kicked, and the trio were arrested. Katie was fined fifty bills, and the men paid $15 each. D. O. Beckwith is either a villain or else he is a misused man in hard luck. He was before the court yesterday on complaint of his wife, on two sisters who were sent up some months ago for having been found in bad company. It was developed yesterday that the girls were trying to lead honest lives, while they were annoyed by the attentions of Beckwith's wife, who was with him and he is as jealous as any. Last week he threatened to kill her because he heard she had been receiving company. The whole business looks fishy. He was sent up for fifteen days and will have to give bonds in the sum of $150.
