

CITY GLOBULES.

The small pox patient is convalescent. The United States circuit court has adjourned to the 5th inst., at 11 A. M. The city employees were paid their June ducats yesterday, amounting to $7,000.

The young son of Sheriff Richter, who died Wednesday, was buried yesterday morning.

The committee on fire department held a meeting last evening for transaction of routine business.

The men employed on the Seventh street sewer, under contract with Patrick Butler, struck yesterday for $1.75 per day. They had been receiving $1.50.

George Cass was before hizzoner yesterday for the first time. He had been laid out with bug juice, and looked repentant. He received a five day sentence.

The collections from the sale of internal revenue stamps and licenses in the second district for the year ending June 30th, amounted to $329,013.51.

A fistful encounter took place in Rice park last night between two young men named Frank Donovan and James Webb. They were run in by Officer Bremer.

There were four brides and grooms on the Gem City on her upward trip. It was noticed that the honeymoon on the Gem gave great satisfaction to the honey birds.

A railroad man named Daniel Holland was found lying on West Third street last night, stupid drunk. He was brought to the tower by Sargeant Walsh and Officer Bremer.

The old fire ladders and their friends are expecting to have no absentees at their meeting Monday in the annual patriotic celebration of the Pioneer Hook and Ladder company.

John Hennessy, a storekeeper at Fort Snelling, was before Commissioner Cardozo yesterday, charged with selling tobacco without paying the special tax. He gave $200 bail for his appearance.

Joe Sullivan and Frank Tapinka quarreled about some wood in the Sixth ward and the latter got his shins barked. He had Sullivan arrested and yesterday he was fined ten shillings. He paid and left in peace.

In publishing the list of teachers of the public schools yesterday, the names of Miss Agnes Gunnip and Miss Taylor of the Adams school were inadvertently omitted. They are efficient and very worthy teachers.

The funeral of Miss Annie Hepler, whose untimely end was due to consumption, took place at the Church of the Assumption yesterday forenoon. The remains were followed to the grave by a large number of mourning friends.

A stranger whose name could not be learned, while waiting for the 8:05 train last evening, left his valise in the depot of the Chicago & Milwaukee road, while he stepped out to see a man. On his return the valise had disappeared.

At a special meeting of the land league Thursday night, the treasurer, Capt. Bell, reported the receipt of $69.59 from Treasurer Manning, of the Kandiyohi branch of the league. Arrangements are progressing nicely for the demonstration by the league on the Fourth.

Jonathan Edwards, trustee, commenced suit in the district court yesterday, against John Farrington, Margaret E. Culver and others, to foreclose a mortgage of $30,000 in favor of the Equitable Trust company, of New London, Conn. The mortgage dates from 1872.

A teamster named John Mitchell, was before the court yesterday charged with reckless driving on Robert street. Officer Nugent testified that he had run his team onto the sidewalk and almost knocked several persons down. He was fined $20 or twenty days in the cooler.

He wore a cherry-colored necktie and his jet black hair pulled like a pack of wildcats for a whisky sour. He gave the name of Boyd, and was dressed in the bezzaric style of the typical sport. Having been laid out with the elegant booze, he was taxed five dollars, and paid the coin.

Detective O'Connor returned here last evening from Stillwater, from an unsuccessful search for the photographic rapist, whose heinous crime was reported in the GLOBE yesterday. The unnatural fiend got wind of the fact that he was wanted, and had left for parts unknown. Hopes are entertained, however, of his arrest.

Upon the arrival of the Gem City last night a drunken Swede named Peterson complained to the police that he had been robbed of his watch while sleeping. A colored man named Jackson was arrested on suspicion, but as he has hitherto borne a blameless character, and as no proof of the robbery could be found, it is probable that he is not the right party.

About dark last evening a lady named Mrs. Cordello entered Lutz's drug store, corner of Sixth and Washburn streets, leaving a baby carter on the sidewalk. After a few minutes absence she returned, and the carriage was gone. About the same time a woman was seen going out St. Peter street with a carriage answering to the one stolen.

Mr. H. L. Hineckly, of White Bear lake, has leased the bathing house and feet of pleasure boats, at Lake Shore station, to Capt. Peterson, whose long and successful experience with boats upon White Bear lake—preceded by years of sailing upon the ocean—is sufficient guaranty for the safety of the pleasure seeking public, while the closest attention is given to their comfort.

Active preparations are being made for the resumption of work on the frontier military posts. Among the arrivals in St. Paul yesterday were Mr. A. H. Fitch, superintendent of the work on the new post on the Mussellsell, and Messrs. Joseph Hedding and J. R. Patch, who are to complete the work at Fort Assiniboine. They will leave for their respective posts in a few days.

A decision was rendered by Judge Brill yesterday in the case of H. L. Dousman against H. P. Rugg et al., administrators of the estate of George Culver, deceased. The case was brought on an appeal from the judgment of the probate court. Judge Brill affirms the decision of the probate court and holds that plaintiff is entitled to recover $86 and no other portion of the claim.

Two days ago a loaded car on the Northern Pacific railroad was broken into in the vicinity of Brainerd, and robbed of a considerable quantity of goods. The suspected parties were promptly arrested at Brainerd, and incarcerated in the county jail. There are supposed to be several persons at Duluth who would be valuable as witnesses, and Major Brackett started for that point last evening to hunt them up.

A horse attached to a wagon and owned by Spangenberg, the butcher, took fright on St. Peter, near Tenth street, yesterday and ran away. It run the gamut of street cars and wagons until Sixth street was reached, when the colt turned down and got on to Washburn street. Running out Washburn he came to grief at Seventh street, where the rig collided with a wagon load of brick. The damage was slight.

The Minnesota firework's manufactory, located in the Sixth ward, have made arrangements for the largest and most brilliant display of fireworks ever given in the city, on the evening of the Fourth. The display will be made from the hill at the head of Washburn street, commencing about 8 o'clock and continuing from two to three hours, and introducing some of the most artistic and elaborate designs ever seen in this section.

The Great Show To-Day. Readers of the GLOBE scarcely need to be reminded that this is "circus day." This is literally true, as the street parade begins at 8 A. M., followed by forenoon, afternoon and evening entertainments. Each entertainment will be entirely complete, and will repay any one desiring to witness arenic displays. Forepaugh has the champion tent show of the country, and will command immense patronage.

HERE'S YOUR MUTTON.

The Canadian Trip of R. C. Glenn, and What Came of It. R. C. Glenn, of the firm of McIntosh & Co., an account of whose departure for Canada appeared in a former issue of the GLOBE, returned to St. Paul yesterday, having enjoyed a most successful and pleasant visit. He passed several weeks with his aged parents, after an absence of many years. Aside from the visit to his friends, his trip was highly successful from a business standpoint, one object of his trip being to purchase sheep for his enterprising firm in this city.

As a result of his efforts in this direction, four cars of extra fine mutton will arrive here on or about the 3th inst. They will average about 130 pounds each, and are without doubt, the choicest lot of sheep ever forwarded to this city.

The enterprise of McIntosh & Co., in thus supplying the market of St. Paul with the finest mutton in America, is something that should be liberally encouraged. Should the experiment prove successful it may lead to a new departure in trade.

The Hero of the Collision at Bingham Lake. One of the modest young men of the GLOBE, accidentally meeting at the Metropolitan last evening the Duke of Athole, who had yesterday morning in night clothes at Bingham station, forthwith introduced himself to that gentleman as a seeker of information. His grace was evidently somewhat familiar with the order to which our modest young man belongs, and bore the introduction with commendable and good-natured politeness.

The animated interrogation point inquired whether the duke had not met with an adventure on his journey from Omaha to St. Paul (as described clearly in the West, and after his wife, a healthy, happy laugh, acknowledged that he had. "Did you see the account of it in the evening papers?" proceeded the inquirer. "Did they have it?" was the answer, "Dumme, that's too bad. I hoped, you know, the papers wouldn't have it." "Did they have it correctly?" persisted the querist. "Oh, yes, I suppose so. It is a wonder we weren't all killed, you know. The platform of the coach was smashed up, and the front of the locomotive seemed to be all wrecked. I jumped off to look at the wreck, you know, and while I was looking at it the train moved off. I tried to catch on to the coach, but missed it, you know, and then I was left."

And he laughed again, heartily, at thought of how his wife, a healthy, happy laugh, acknowledged that he had. "Did you see the account of it in the evening papers?" proceeded the inquirer. "Did they have it?" was the answer, "Dumme, that's too bad. I hoped, you know, the papers wouldn't have it." "Did they have it correctly?" persisted the querist. "Oh, yes, I suppose so. It is a wonder we weren't all killed, you know. The platform of the coach was smashed up, and the front of the locomotive seemed to be all wrecked. I jumped off to look at the wreck, you know, and while I was looking at it the train moved off. I tried to catch on to the coach, but missed it, you know, and then I was left."

The duke is an English blonde, of medium size, in age appearing not far advanced in the thirties, and in dress, manner and speech is a gentleman free of extravagance or non-sense. He is here on his way to Winnipeg for a tour in the West, and after his visit to Winnipeg intends to return at once to England. The GLOBE's modest young man hopes he will never meet with an accident more serious than occurred to him at Bingham Lake yesterday morning.

Joe Sullivan and Frank Tapinka quarreled about some wood in the Sixth ward and the latter got his shins barked. He had Sullivan arrested and yesterday he was fined ten shillings. He paid and left in peace.
