IRELAND'S PROBLEM.

WORK OF SUPPRESSING THE LEAGUE STILL IN PROGRESS.

The English Government Continues its Vigorous Measures—Members in England to be Arrested—Doors of the League Office Closed—Eviction in Progress—Mob Revenge—An Appeal to the Pope.

IRELAND. LAND LEAGUERS PANIC. LONDON, Oct. 21.—A Dublin correspondent says the Land League officials were seized with a panic when the proclamation against the league became known. It is believed the government intends to make arrest of all the members of the League in England. The greatest consternation prevails among those directly or indirectly associated with the league. One hundred thousand copies of the United Ireland have been distributed throughout the country with a cartoon of atrocious character on the government and premier.

REPUBLICANS OF THE ELEVENTH N. Y. DISTRICT NOMINATED A. J. ASTOR FOR CONGRESS. LEAGUE OFFICE CLOSED—A MOB. DUBLIN, Oct. 21.—The clergy generally approve Archbishop Croke's letter protesting against the manifesto of the Land League. The Home Manufacturers association passed resolutions of sympathy with Parnell and other imprisoned Leaguers. The land commission transacted considerable business today.

THE LAND LEAGUE OFFICES HAVE BEEN FINALLY CLOSED. The Dublin offices have been finally closed. The Leaguers are posted in the neighborhood of Boyle, county Roscommon, threatening death to tenants paying rent. The military and police evicted several of Coling Harmon's tenants in Boyle today. The mob after held an indignation meeting, and wrecked the property belonging to the Leaguers.

VISITS TO PARNELL, KELLY, DILLON, SEAN, BRENNAN, and Kettle are prohibited for one week. Parnell will be removed to the county prison. The United Ireland, organ of the Land League, advises holders of bank of Ireland notes to demand gold, to create a run upon the bank. It is expected the office and paper will be seized.

THERE HAVE BEEN TWO ARRESTS UNDER THE COERCION ACT, near Londonderry, Londonderry, Great Britain. Catholics to obtain strong and clear condemnation of Land League manifestos from the pope. It is believed Cardinal Jacobini, papal secretary of state, has already informed inquirers of the pope's attitude.

IN ENGLAND. LONDON, Oct. 21.—Five hundred policemen are in Downing street ready for action in case of any disturbance at the meeting of the Leaguers in Trafalgar square. The secretary of the Land League of Great Britain telegraphed Egan in Paris not to come to Hyde Park Sunday, as he might be arrested. A Dublin correspondent says the Land League has collapsed and it is only a matter of time before the Leaguers will be dispersed.

STILL RECALTRANT. Despite the government proclamation against the Land League, Rev. Herold Rytell, Parnell's candidate in the recent election in Tyrone, left Belfast this morning to attend the indignation meeting of the Parnery branch. Detectives took the same train.

EMANUEL ETINGER, under sentence of death for murder, died in jail yesterday, at Middleburg, Pa. The rolling mills at Dayton and Cincinnati, Ohio, have brought men from the East to take the place of strikers, but after getting there the men refuse to work.

THE NEW YORK MEDICAL RECORD, to-day, will publish an editorial upon Guitau's mental condition, expressing the opinion that he cannot be considered responsible. While E. P. Ferry and wife were out horseback riding near Park City, Utah, yesterday, Mrs. Ferry's horse fell and rolled over crushing her so that she died while being brought in. Mr. Ferry is a brother of Senator Henry, of Michigan.

SAMUEL NOE, a brutal wife beater near Greenville, Ill., whipped his wife unmercifully, after which she took refuge at a neighbors. The following day she was murdered by her husband at the wash tub. He stabbed her three times with a dirk and then escaped towards the river.

Gen. Johnson at St. Peter. [St. Peter Tribune, Oct. 19.] Gen. R. W. Johnson, of St. Paul, the Democratic candidate for governor, addressed the citizens of St. Peter on Monday evening, at Randall's hall. His principal subject was the bond question. He claims the bonds are out, and that the supreme court has decided that they are valid, and as we have a chance to settle at fifty cents on a dollar, the opportunity should be improved. He stated that he had addressed a letter to Gen. Hubbard, asking him to go with him and address the people, but Gen. Hubbard declined, and he further declined to express himself on the bond question, although he had been asked to do so. Mr. Johnson referred to Hubbard's connection with the state prison ring, and of course made it as unfavorable for Hubbard as he could. A bonfire was lighted in the streets for the amusement of the small boys.

Confirmation at Le Sueur. [Le Sueur News, Oct. 19.] Confirmation services were held at the Catholic church here last Sunday. About eighty children were confirmed by Bishop Ireland. The ceremony was quite impressive, and was witnessed by a large audience. After the sacrament the Bishop addressed some very practical and sensible remarks to those present, and wound up with as able a plea for temperance as we have heard in many a day. The bishop is an earnest and able advocate of prohibition, and urged his auditors to abstain from that which intoxicates. We learn that upwards of seventy of his congregation took the pledge at the close of the meeting.

Communists in Council. CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The national congress of the revolutionary party of American socialists met at Turner hall this morning, quite a numerous attendance from all parts of the country, but after organization adjourned till afternoon. GUITEAU'S CHANGES.

His Lawyer Trying to Prove His Insanity—Difficulty of Securing Testimony—The Question of Jurisdiction.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Dr. McDonald, medical superintendent of the New York city asylum for insane, having written Scoville, counsel for Guitau, says, I was surprised to find my name given in an affidavit in Guitau's case as that of one expert witness by whom you expect to prove the insanity of your client, and for money to defray my expenses you made application.

Scoville, in the course of his reply said: "I came into the case only a few days ago without knowledge of a single person in the cast whom I might call as expert on insanity in the family. Believing, myself, in the insanity of the prisoner, I determined, if necessary, to act upon the presumption that any competent expert in such cases upon full investigation would sustain my position.

Unknown persons, entire strangers to me, desiring that a full and fair trial should be had upon this question, have written me several letters, suggesting the names of several experts. Such a letter was received by me, signed "A Friend," dated September 30, suggesting the names of yourself and Dr. Fitch, with assurance "they would not hurt my case." Your letter states I have asked you to pay such expenses. It is true I have made application to one individual whose high position and reported wealth led me to hope he would aid me. No answer has yet been received to that letter nor have I received a dollar from any source.

If I had means to pay you or any expert I would ask the attendance in Washington before the trial, and careful investigation of the case. Due preparation for trial, on my part, can only be made in that manner, but I have not money to pay for such services. The only course open to me is to summon such experts as I can hear of at a venture and under the law require their attendance in the trial until all the facts are developed, and then depend on their conscientious regard for truth and justice to relate their convictions uninfluenced by popular clamor.

GUITEAU'S WITNESSES AND LAWYERS. In the supreme court, Judge Cox rendered a decision, upon the application of Scoville, counsel for Guitau, for an order of court allowing fees and expenses to defendant's witnesses. The judge held it was clearly in the discretion of the court to allow expenses for a reasonable number of witnesses, the same to be paid in the same manner as government witnesses, and that he would decide in chambers as to the number of witnesses to be allowed. Upon a question of assignment of counsel to assist the defense, the judge stated that he would defer the matter until after consulting with Scoville.

Scoville, Guitau's counsel, is causing some excitement in political circles, because of an avowed intention to make the most of the political aspects of the assassination. He is reported as saying yesterday: "There is more of politics in the case than most people imagine. I intend that everything connected with the case shall be developed, and I shall have a stalwart to help me if he might antagonize the cause. If it is necessary I shall not hesitate to bring out the connection of Conking with the inception of the crime. The stalwart witness, named Scott, who has repeatedly been placed where it belongs if I can secure the result." The opinion is very general here that Judge Cox will decide that there is no jurisdiction and says that the circuit court of the district has decided in that way in two similar cases.

Mr. Merrick also remarked that he could not see how Judge Cox, as it has been stated he intended to, could have the question of jurisdiction disposed of before the trial of the case commenced. "For," said he, "the prisoner has pleaded not guilty as he had a perfect right to do and I cannot see how the judge can require him to change the issue thus. It is a mistake to suppose that there is no jurisdiction and says that the circuit court of the district has decided in that way in two similar cases.

GUITEAU'S WITNESSES. In the criminal court to-day Justice Cox, in granting the motion of Scoville, Guitau's counsel, for an allowance to defray expenses for bringing defendant's witnesses here, said: "This court, as I learn from my brethren here, has decided that the power now invoked, and which seems clearly to be conveyed by the general and comprehensive terms of the statute. The only doubt which I have felt on this subject grew out of the ruling of the United States supreme court in the case of Page vs. Burns, 15th Otto, Justice Cox then reviewed the case of Page vs. Burns in detail, and after comparing it with the present case, said in conclusion they were decided in the same way, and he was therefore of the opinion that the ruling of the supreme court in form was not decisive of the question involved in the latter. He would grant the petitioner's motion for allowance, leaving the number of witnesses to be fixed hereafter.

THE LOST FOUND.

The Missing Balloonists Reach Chippewa Falls, Wis., in Safety—Five Days in a Cranberry Bog without Food—A Hard Trip but Luckily not Fatal.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.] CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Oct. 21.—A Chippewa Falls Times extra of this morning gives the following: "The lost balloonists, Prof. Samuel King and Mr. J. G. Hashagen, who ascended from Chicago on Thursday, the 13th inst., have just reached this city, at 8 a. m., coming from the north and are now at the Times office. They report having landed last Friday at 2:15 p. m. in a swamp in section 9, town 35, range 5 west in the northern part of this county and they wandered four days without food at the desolation they gave themselves at when stopping place of Mr. Bruno Venetie ten miles from the place of their landing who brought them to this place. They effected their landing intentionally, supporting they were near St. Paul, being misled by the Flambeau river which they took for the Mississippi river. Finding out their mistake after it was past remedy they took their way south being guided by a compass, but owing to the over-wooded swamps they had to make so many deviations and circuits that the compass was practically useless, and they wandered four days through one of the worst swamps in the state, in a circuit of about fifteen miles. At the expiration of the fourth day they were fortunately guided to a clearing, where a place from the opposite of the Flambeau, by hearing a cow bell. Mr. V. brought them across the river and on the following day guided them back to their balloon from the subscription they gave him of $500. They put it in a safe to be preserved until winter when they will get it out.

Their course was at first southwest through Illinois, then westward and afterwards north-easterly.

Prof. King and Mr. Hashagen are pleasant gentlemen and entertained a large number of our citizens during the morning with a description of their voyage. They leave on the 4:30 train this afternoon over the Chicago, Chicago & Minneapolis & Omaha railroad for Chicago.

The following has just been received from Chippewa Falls, Wis.: We are all safe. Just off the woods. (Signed) King, Balloonist.

Chippewa Falls is situated on the Chippewa river about 185 miles northwest of Madison, Wis., and is a city of 1,000 people.

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The Daily News has the following from J. G. D. Hashagen, signal observer, who went up in King's balloon: Chippewa Falls, Oct. 21.—The voyagers who took such a hasty flight last Thursday from civilization, felt no such disposition today. If you should see us now dragged, torn, water-soaked and exhausted, you would surely think we loved civilization more than before. Five minutes after leaving terra firma we reached an altitude of 4,300 feet moving southwest. A few minutes later we reached an upper current moving slowly westward, so slowly that we hardly moved. But when a prospect beneath us. We were soon shut out by night and had nothing but myriads of lights twinkling in the distance. We remained there suspended, neither rising nor falling for several hours, but at last a puff of wind from the east, blowing in the morning to west and northwest. While going southwest we remained becalmed about three hours swinging over a small city that, from its location, I judged to be Peoria, Ill.

In passing over Peoria, we passed over Spring Valley, Wis., startling the natives by dragging our drag rope over their roofs, and one ambitious fellow sent a shot after us. We passed over the Platte mounds at 7:15 a. m. We remained for a long time swinging over the Platte mounds, where the balloon, as though anxious to give us a heavenly view, took an upward turn, carrying us 4,000 feet above the strata of clouds, literally burying us in milk for an hour.

At 8 a. m. we passed over Madison, Wis., we came so near the ground that John Hughes, charged with rape, in which the jury disagreed. This speaks well for attention given his cases, in the preparation of papers, hunting up evidence, and skill in managing the prosecution by County Attorney Egan.

In the district court yesterday, the jury returned a verdict of guilty against H. W. Nelson, of the charge of assault with intent to commit rape upon an imbecile child named Moberly, who resides in Little Canada township, some three months ago. The assault was, from the condition of the child, particularly brutal, and his conviction is a matter for congratulation.

Messrs. Muldoon, Whistler and Christol, champion athletes and wrestlers, gave their second exhibition in St. Paul at Pfeiffer's hall, last evening. The hall was well filled, and every part of the programme was enthusiastically applauded. In the "catch-as-catch-can" wrestling match, Whistler hurt his knee quite severely, either spraining it or breaking one of the small bones, and had to retire, Christol taking his place.

The editor of the Rush City Post calls one of the veteran editors of the state "Major General." We thought this was a little too steep, but, on inquiry, learn that T. M. Newson was commissioned captain in the army by President Lincoln, brevetted Major by Andrew Johnson, and then the legislature elected him surveyor general of logs, of St. Louis county—hence "Major General." That's good. But few editors, or even ex-editors, can boast of such blushing honors.
