WHERE THE SINEWS OF WAR COME FROM

It has always been well understood that the Republicans relied upon hard cash to carry their elections, but it is not always that the public have been favored with the assessment sheet, showing their resources. The Republicans have frequently failed to print this, and probably did not wish to trespass upon a Democratic journal to obtain an audience. The GLOBE, however, cheerfully gives place to this model Republican document, vouching for its genuineness. It is as follows.

Table with 2 columns: Name and Amount. Includes Walter H. Sandborn, Col. A. K. Kieffer, Gen. Manager, etc.

Total $730. In order to be true to history we have given it verbatim in every respect, including the heading of the sheet containing the figures. It is appropriate that it should be on the letter head of the Hall Insurance company, of which Col. Kieffer is manager, and to which he gives his time while waiting day pay from the county.

It will be noticed that the custom house officials are called upon for only $10 each, while business houses of men not in politics are bled to the tune of $25 to $50. Possibly when they see the inequality in the list as published in the GLOBE, they will kick. But for our kindness in printing this, the different victims would be in ignorance of the payments of others as they make the levy without notifying parties of the amounts others are called upon to pay. The GLOBE tenders its thanks to the Republican committee for the document, and it trusts the victims will tender their thanks to the GLOBE.

POLITICAL MEETINGS

General R. W. Johnson. Democratic candidate for governor, will address his fellow citizens upon the issues of the present campaign at 7:30 p. m. as follows:

Moorehead, Wednesday, October 27. Crookston, Thursday, October 27. Ferguson Falls, Friday, October 28. Grand Rapids, Saturday, October 29. St. Cloud, Monday, October 30. Wadena, Tuesday, November 1. Hastings, Wednesday, November 2. Grand Rapids, Thursday, November 3. Willmar, Friday, November 4. Minneapolis, Saturday, November 5. St. Paul, Monday, November 7. Court Commissioner - J. S. HALL. Accommodations for the above meetings.

Wm. Crooks, Chairman Democratic State Central Committee.

The new Secretary of the Treasury is a Wall street man. So was Sherman. So was Windom. Wall street's interests are well cared for.

GRANT speaks a good word for Tyrner. In view of Grant's past relations with rascally officials his espousal of Tyrner's cause ought to satisfy everybody that the latter is guilty of all charged against him and probably more too.

JUDGE KEY, ex-Postmaster General, is said to have "entire confidence in the honesty of Tyrner and Brady." Judge Key would do well to keep quiet. He was an unsophisticated old granny and was used like putty by the whole postal route ring. It was during his term of office that the star routes grew and flourished at their greatest, and had he remained in office they probably never would have been exposed.

Five hundred and fifty-three gallons of bay rum at one time at $3.50 per gallon, for the nice young men in the treasury department! Among the kind pervade all the departments of this government, to say nothing of other government transactions running up into the millions. Some day (when there is a change of administration) there will be a flood of light thrown upon Republican bookkeeping and the world will be astounded.

A DUMB CANDIDATE. It is rare that so singular and cowardly a position is presented to the public as that occupied by Gen. Hubbard, the Republican nominee for Governor. He was placed upon a platform which is utterly silent upon the only vital issue of the campaign, and upon that issue he maintains the dumbness of an oyster. His opponent, Gen. Johnson, addressed him a polite note, inviting him to a joint discussion, and in case he did not wish to go upon the stump, he was, at least, requested to define his position on the bond question. To this he did not even have the courage to reply directly, but he called and delivered a verbal declination to Gen. Johnson. So far as the public debate was concerned that was settled by this action, but we are still in the dark as to his views on the bond question. He seems to be desirous of remaining an unknown quantity in the politics of the State. Whether he is for or against the payment of the bonds no one knows. In one section of the State he is claimed as a repudiator and in another in favor of honesty. In fact he seems to desire the double-headed position. It is a display of moral cowardice which we did not expect in Gen. Hubbard.

ASHAMFUL EVIL. To persons ordinarily familiar with public affairs, and particularly those having some knowledge of the methods in vogue at Washington, it is not surprising that the government printing office is shown to be an extensive assignation house. This is more or less the case with all the departments where females are employed. Scandals like that just now involving the printing office have from time to time burst forth, but it is well enough known that the half nor a tenth of the truth has ever been made public. It is reasonable to suppose that by far the greater part of the evil in this respect has been kept concealed. How great it really is can only be imagined from what has occasionally leaked out.

The entire eradication of this gross offense is obviously to be brought about in one way, namely, by the exclusion of females from the government service. In many instances this would work grievous hardship, even as to a large number, probably worthy women, of the offices engaged in the honest and public offices pure and honest, and it seems too great a wrong to them to visit upon their heads the sins of their wayward sisters. So the matter stands, and so it has stood for years. The problem is not new. All that can be done is to ferret out the guilty individuals and dismiss them. This can be done if the heads of the departments set themselves about it earnestly and vigorously. When the heads are themselves culpable, as is too often the case, nothing can be done and nothing will be.

ROUTINE REPORT

The leading feature in the senate yesterday was the continuation of the bond debate. A vote was taken for United States senator, but that was settled by the caucus last week, and it was consequently merely machine work to make the record for Windom. Debate was finally closed on the bond question, and the bill recommended to pass by 29 to 9.
