ST. PAUL, FRIDAY, NOV. 11, 1881.

The New York Herald thinks a generation hence will be soon enough for Dakota to aspire to stately.

We have not heard of Grant and Conkling walking arm and arm in anybody's interest since the New York election.

GERMAN politicians are found to be much less excited over Bismarck's threatened resignation than if they did not believe the chancellor was up to one of his old tricks.

The nation is sorely afflicted with politics and politicians, but the worst dose is the candidacy of Private Dalzell, of Ohio, for postmaster of the house of representatives.

Mr. Astor, the young millionaire, was not elected to congress. The question he is now wrestling with is whether or not he got $40,000 worth of fun out of the canvass. If not, he is a loser.

ALTHOUGH congress does not meet until December the president's message may be expected early next week. Several enterprising Washington correspondents are engaged in getting it up.

GEORGE H. SPENCER, formerly carpet-bag senator from Alabama, insists that he would not take any office from the president. Decent people will hope, all the same, that none will be offered him.

PROPHET FOOTE, chairman of the Republican county committee, has risen and stepped on the Nova Scotia genius who presides over the nondescript, bolting Republican morning newspaper in this city. Prophet Foote defends the loyalty of the committee to the entire ticket, but avers that they were limited as to means. This is surprising, in view of the publication in the Globe of the assessment roll so kindly furnished by the prospect. It was supposed that that publication would shame the delinquents into prompt payment, and if he will now supply the Globe with another list showing who failed to respond, we will gladly hold them up to the reprobation and contempt of mankind.

This quarrel among the Republican rosters brings to light the treacherous and venal course of the Nova Scotia printing office. That office printed the regular Republican ticket, and then deliberately proceeded to counterfeit them for every one and any one who desired split tickets. In all reputable printing offices, it is a matter of honor to keep the regular ticket inviolate, no matter what political party it may represent. For years the P. P. has persistently counterfeited the regular Republican ticket whenever it secured the job of printing them. This, of course, makes lively business for their job department, as any one desiring split tickets, would give their orders to the concern which could make the counterfeit the most exact. Parties desiring to circulate counterfeit money would willingly pay a handsome figure, if the original engravers would give them impressions from the genuine plate. The chairman of the Republican county committee demonstrated his veracity when he employed a professional counterfeiter to print his tickets. He will obtain wisdom by experience.

LIKELY TO ESCAPE. The decision of Judge Cox, at Washington, yesterday, in throwing the Star Route cases out of court, is, apparently, the beginning of the end of the prosecution of these public thieves. This result is not unexpected. It is in accordance with the general rule in the prosecution of prominent Republicans, who have been notoriously guilty in robbing the government. In fact there is such a lax condition of morals in this country, that stealing from the government is not considered disreputable. Whenever a man is accused of public theft he has plenty of sympathizers and defenders. This is especially the case if his stealing has been on a large scale. There is no question that the overwhelming popular sentiment in Washington is in favor of the Star route thieves. The gang of speculators used their ill-gotten gains to buy Indiana at the October election last year, and thus secured the salvation of the Republican party and perpetuated it in power another four years. It would be ungrateful if the people at Washington, who are chiefly supported at government expense, should not feel a sympathy even with thieves, when the continuance of their own sustenance was the direct result of the judicious use of the means secured by the robbers.

The statement that the court room was filled yesterday with the friends of the accused, and the gang were heartily congratulated upon their discharge, is simply confirmatory proof of the statement just made. They were not congratulated upon their innocence, as demonstrated by their acquittal, but upon their escape, by a technicality, from a trial which was sure to prove their overwhelming guilt. There will probably be some show made of an effort to prosecute the thieves further, but it is not likely to amount to anything decisive. The door for their escape was opened wide yesterday, and the public can rest assured that they will walk off happy.

THE THINKNIGHTS CONCERT. The concert given at Sherman hall last evening by Mr. Julius Thinkham was not so largely attended as it deserved. Nevertheless the concert was an excellent one for amateurs, and gave abundant satisfaction. The opening quartette, overture to Abu Hassan, by Mr. Thinkham and the Masters Jensen, were numbered in admirable style. Mr. Thinkham played first violin and the Masters Jensen second violin, cello and bass. Handel's "Honor and Arms" was sung by Mr. Chas. DeLacy in such manner as to call for a loud recall. The succeeding violin solo, "Wien's Adieu," "Lagade," was executed by Mr. Thinkham in a highly artistic manner. His fingering was exquisite and delicate. Mrs. Matthews' song, "The Last Chord," was rendered in good style. The lady has a powerful contralto voice, though her tendency to flat in some notes. The remainder of the selections were excellent, more especially the last number, a duet by Mrs. Matthews and Mr. DeLacy. Mr. S. G. Baldwin presided at the piano with consummate skill.

CHRIST CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT. An entertainment of unusual excellence took place at the Athenaeum last evening for the benefit of Christ church. It consisted of tableaux, recitations and musical selections. Mrs. Lamprey, Miss Newington and Mr. Morton furnished the vocal selections, which were rendered with consummate skill, while Miss Austin, a reader of rare accomplishments, gave readings of choice selections, which were satisfactory to those present. The entertainment closed with refreshments and a promenade concert.

THE TWENTY-THIRD ANNIVERSARY. A Pleasant Occasion for the St. Paul Turnovers. The St. Paul Turnovers celebrated the twenty-third anniversary of its organization at its hall, southwest corner of Seventh and Franklin streets, last evening. In honor of the occasion the friends of the society, in sufficient numbers to fill the hall to its utmost capacity, were in attendance. The exercises were inaugurated by a calisthenic exhibition by pupils and members of the society, under the direction of President B. W. Boenisch, the several features of which were carefully and judiciously executed, and winning for the different performers enthusiastic recognition. These exercises concluded, President Boenisch delivered the anniversary address, in which he briefly reviewed the history of the St. Paul society, and also of the order in the United States, the statistics showing steady progress, and especially during the last year. Mr. Boenisch spoke with great earnestness, and his remarks were enthusiastically applauded. Frequent intervals of the exercises were concluded with dancing, which was continued until the small hours of the morning. The present officers of the society are: President, B. W. Boenisch; vice president, Moritz Albrecht; secretary, Otto Bauer; treasurer, J. C. Haupt. The society made the first night Wednesday in each month, and the gymnasium every Tuesday and Friday.

Trouble in the J.erson Family. And now it is Mary Jefferson who seeks the consolation of the divorce court. Mary says in her complaint that for thirteen years she has been the faithful and loving wife of Thomas.

That about three years ago Thomas came to St. Paul from the blue grass region of Kentucky to acquire a fortune. The society met in position in one of the (faro) banks of this city. Mary, in the confidence of her husband's freshness, remained at home until last spring, when rumor reached her that her Thomas was unfaithful.

Arriving in St. Paul last April, she discovered her husband in flagrante delicto with one Emma Brown, with whom, for more than one year prior, he had been living in open adultery, contrary to the peace and good order of the community, and in violation of the statutes for such cases made and provided. The enticing Emma had vacated the premises, Thomas, indignant that his Eden of bliss should thus be invaded by his lawful spouse, broke a chair over her head and departed himself as a brute. The long suffering but faithful Mary, grieved at such a display, yesterday laid the facts before her attorney, J. N. Rogers, who immediately brought action for absolute divorce with the right to resume her maiden name.

Big Real Estate Transaction. CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—At Crown Point, Lake county, Indiana, to-day one of the largest real estate transfers ever made in this section was recorded. Mrs. Carolina Forsyth and her husband, Jacob Forsyth, signed a warranty deed to an 8,000 acre tract of land owned by them, located at Sheffels Id., Lake county, and bordering on the Illinois line at the foot of Lake Michigan, and about fourteen miles from Chicago. This is where the new city of East Chicago is to be located, and is also the terminal point of the B-H line railroad. Forsyth receives $1,000,000 for his property and $533,334 was paid to-day. The rest comes due in one, two, three, four and five years, in equal installments. He made his deed to Wm. W. Greene, of New Jersey, who immediately gave a warranty deed to the East Chicago Improvement company; consideration, $3,000,000. This company has recently formed a coalition with the Belt Line company. The capital stock of the combined companies is $12,000,000, and is already subscribed in full. Alexander and Greene, of New York, are the financial agents of the enterprise. The intention is to found a great city on this site which is admirably adapted to the purpose.

SENATOR PETERSON IN THE CHAIR.

The first bill that provoked discussion was that of Senator Tiffany, to abolish the Farmers' board of trade.

Senator D. Buck favored the repeal of the law, and said if there was one first-class humbug in the state it was the Farmers' board of trade. It had never been of any practical benefit, and the money it cost the state was thrown away. He made this statement upon the word of one of the members of the board. If the friends of the board could point to one single benefit which the state had benefited, he would be with them.

Senator Powers was inclined to agree with Senator Buck. He had never yet heard of it being of any benefit to the state. Subsequently he was asked by the senators present, that it be laid over for further investigation.

Senator Adams, at some length, gave a history of how the board came into existence, and argued in favor of its continued existence.

A lengthy running debate ensued, participating in which the senators present, the result of which was, that the bill was laid aside without action.

The other bills on general orders for consideration, were mostly of a local character, and were rapidly disposed of without much debate, when the committee rose and the senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The house did an excellent day's work yesterday. The members settled down to business early in the day, and continued at it during both the forenoon and afternoon sessions. The net results were the passage of thirty-nine bills, most of them purely of local nature. The only discussion worthy of mention took place on the bills giving railroads the right of way over swamp lands, and regulating the personal liability of stockholders in manufacturing corporations. A brief summary of the debate is given below. The members, wearied with the day's labors, took a rest about 6 o'clock till 10 this morning.

Defining the liability of stockholders in manufacturing and mechanical corporations. Yeas 49, nays 27.

There was an animated discussion on the bill granting the right of way to railroads over the swamp lands of the state. Mr. Wilson vehemently denounced the bill as one of the most unwise and unprofitable that could be passed by the legislature. He was richly opposed to it and all bills of that class. This bill was designed to assist the Northern Pacific, one of the wealthiest corporations in the world, and would not secure the construction of a single mile of road, sooner than it would be built without the grant.
