

CITY GLOBULES.

The War Eagle arrived yesterday with an immense freight, and left for St. Louis in the afternoon. A special meeting of the board of education will be held at 8 o'clock this evening. Business of importance. Owing to the League entertainment at Pfeiffer's hall to-night the Knights of St. Paul will postpone their drill until next Monday evening at 8 o'clock p. m. at Armory hall. The fire department library association desire to acknowledge the receipt of a contribution of miscellaneous books of E. L. Frey and of old volumes of Harper's Monthly to complete sets from Mr. D. D. Merrill. Dr. Palmer has returned to St. Paul, and has brought with him a complete English dog cart and two thoroughbred English race horses, which he drives tandem. He will give an exhibition on Bridge square to-night at 7 o'clock. J. N. Gebhart, who was formerly the proprietor of the Rising Sun hotel, on Rosabel street, is now the proprietor of the saloon on the corner of Exchange and Wabash streets, known as the Capital saloon, where he would like to see his old friends. Saturday afternoon two of the street car drivers had a disagreement and argued the matter rather warmly. Yesterday morning the two met again on Fifth street and commenced anew the argument which resulted in a lively engagement between the two gentlemen. Nothing serious. Major Bond has issued an order to the officers of the first battalion of the N. G. S. M. to assemble for theoretical instruction at the armory of a company on the evening of the 25th inst. The battalion will assemble at 7 o'clock at Market hall in full uniform Thursday evening the 27th inst. More settlers arrived yesterday, and as they could not be sent forward on the St. Paul & Manitoba line, most of them, together with those who were here before, camped down in the Union depot. That building was a humming hive all day yesterday and is likely to continue for several days as the people who are coming cannot get sent forward until the water in and around St. Vincent has disappeared. Horace Sibley, Esq., of the Sibley Fire Engine Manufacturing company, was in the city yesterday, on his return home from a business trip to Winnipeg. Mr. Sibley spent several days in Winnipeg, and considers it the most remarkable town on this continent—everything in the way of "novelty" has ever before, and it is a mighty proud town this side of the "big pond" he has not visited at some time. The Great Western Band. This well-known musical organization will appear at the Athenaeum this evening in a concert and ball for its own benefit. The object of this concert and ball is to aid in raising money towards paying for the new uniforms which have been ordered for the band, and which have arrived. These uniforms will be worn to-night at the concert for the first time. This is the first time this organization has ever come before the public for a benefit, and it is thought is anything in St. Paul that is deserving of assistance, it is this same Great Western Band. It is the nucleus and substance of the best music we have in the city. For about twenty years its leader, Mr. George Schertz, has labored as no other man has, in the cause of public music, and it is through his efforts and those of the "Old Guard" who have stood by him in all his labors, that we have to-day an efficient organization capable of giving a reasonably fair interpretation of the best music of the best composers, both in brass and string. The programme for the evening was published in full yesterday. The band will give two selections of brass, while the orchestra will furnish several selections, one of which will be the ever fresh and charming William Tell overture. Mr. Buckalew will furnish two songs, while Mr. Muelenbruch, an accomplished violinist that we have ever had in St. Paul, will give a violin solo by Viennese. The programme is a very excellent one, and among the other good things, there is a soprano duet by Miss Schonarth and Miss H. Peir. After the concert there will be a ball. It is to be held at the Athenaeum, and will be equal to the merits of the entertainment.

The Death of Mrs. Nininger. Yesterday Mrs. Catherine K. Nininger, wife of the late John Nininger, died at the Metropolitan hotel, St. Paul. The death was not wholly unexpected, as the deceased had been ill for some time, but the immediate cause of her death is not known. Mrs. Nininger was born January 26, 1825, and was married in 1843 to the late John Nininger. She came to St. Paul in 1853, but returned to the east. In 1856 she moved with her husband to St. Paul, with a view of making this city their permanent place of residence. Since that time the family has lived here most of the time, though during the past ten years Mrs. Nininger has resided mostly in Europe. The deceased was the youngest sister of Hon. Alex. Ramsey, and leaves three children, A. Ramsey Nininger, and two daughters. Mrs. Nininger was in some respects a remarkable lady. She was possessed of unusually excellent conversational powers, and was universally attracted to herself wherever she appeared. She also had the power of drawing to herself the attention of distinguished people, both in this country and Europe. As the precise character of the disease which caused her death is not known, at her own request, a post-mortem examination will be made for the purpose of ascertaining. The funeral will take place from Christ church at 2:30 to-morrow afternoon.

Honest Worth Come to Rest. The funeral of Richard Bralley, Esq., of West St. Paul, yesterday afternoon, was largely attended both by his old associates and his neighbors. The peaceful death joyfully in his coffin, looking as natural as life, while Rev. Mr. Mitchell delivered a very excellent and impressive sermon, setting forth that this was not all of life; that on struggles and troubles there were necessary for the formation of a character beyond the grave; that in three days the spiritual body would assimilate with angels, of degrees of worth in consonance with the worth of the departed husband, father and friend; and that in Mr. Bralley's life, the world had been a gainer by the salutary influence he had left behind him. A large number of the employees of the Pioneer Press office were in attendance in a body, while the pall bearers were all Mr. Bralley's late associates while in life. Mrs. Newson and Mr. Clum, who were first to employ Mr. Bralley in 1854, and Messrs. Wheelock and Driscoll, with whom Mr. Bralley had worked after he left the old Times office—for twenty-one years—were also in attendance. Everything was simple, earnest, sincere.

Forbidden Fruit. The Chicago Evening Journal of the 11th, speaking of Robson and Crane in "Forbidden Fruit," says: Robson and Crane received a very warm reception upon their reappearance in this city last evening at Haverly's theater. The house was packed. The play was "Forbidden Fruit," by Dion Boucicault, which is not unknown to theatrical-goers. Calo Davis (Robson) is a young lawyer whose relations with his beautiful wife (Miss Waters) have never been marred by cause of jealousy or neglect. Sergeant Buster (Crane) is straight enough when under his wife's (Miss Waters) protection, but once out of her reach he tries to have a good time, and does not object to some younger lady than Mrs. Buster sharing it with him. The Sergeant induces Calo Davis, just for a night to give his wife the slip and go to Cremona, where there should be supper for four, including two young ladies to be invited for their amusement. The arranging for the supper, and the ensuing vigilance of their wives, give rise to many humorous scenes. Captain Derringer (Mr. Lipman), the brother of Mrs. Dove, arrives from India, and finding her alone, suggests that they go to Cremona for the evening and have supper. This brings all the parties to same place. They get into the wrong rooms and there are discoveries, awkward positions, comical explanations and a successful covering up by Dove of the real object of his presence in the city.
