HUBBEIL will have to walk upon his hind legs in the future.

THE off-year has carried the Republican party clean off its legs.

CONKLING and Grant placed themselve out of the race, but it will be out of their power ever to place themselves in it.

ARTHUR is now wandering about New York with his head in his hand like Diogenes with his lantern seeking for some one who has been true to him.

Persons about to marry will do well to take note of a recent decision in Pennsylvania. A secret conveyance made just before marriage is regarded as a fraud on the future wife, and will be set aside.

Folgen showed his shrudness in retaining his office of treasurer. Otherwise he might have had to support himself during the winter like the bears, by sucking his paws. That ceremony has now merely a moral significance with him.

ARTHUR'S medicine bag nas been surrep titiously opened by his secretary. It contains the feather of a magpie, the dried neck of a crane, a check of Jay Gould on Buncom bank, a shark's tooth, and a small bran new whet stone, stamped, "witsharpener."

On Tuesday next there will be a grand beggar's dancs given by the employes at Washington. As many of their dress suits have been pawned to meet the forced levies of the Republican committee, to avoid envy no one will be admitted in that dress. After the dance a committe will be appointed to sue Hubbell for an account

THREE college professors are said to have died by rapture of the gall bag on hearing of Ben. Butler's success. Ben. remarked at some trial, on being told that a witness was a college professor: "Yes, I know, we hung one of them once." Since then, in the minds of all college officers, the difference between Ben. and his Satanic majesty has been but insignificent.

THE New York court of appeals has decided that a wife cannot sue her husband for beating her. The rule of the common law was that a man was not allowed to beat his wife with a stick of unreasonable size, and an unreasonably large stick was a stick larger than the judge's thumb. As the common law still seems to obtain in this country, women will do well to try and secure judges with the smallest pessible thumbs.

THE COURSE OF THOUGHT.

One need not read the papers of the country with more than half an eye to see, that, so far as their evidence is persuasive, the center of gravity of American our eastern papers those of New York city, are allowed by all to show the most marked ability. Yet, how many of them exhibit in their columns either thought or style?

The Herald, of course, devotes its chief energy to maintaining its advertisements. Its only effort to secure intellectual ability was made singularly enough by young Bennett. Hearing that some prominent journalists laughed at his editorials, he made an ejaculatory prayer, and added with fervor that he supposed money would buy them. An offer of a larger salary trans ferred them to his office, and as he supposed, made the purchase of their brains secure. But alas, men cannot be bought. He only carried back the empty shells of their intellects. The spirit which marked their earlier efforts when they wrote from conviction has never reappeared since they have written solely for money.

So, too, the World has become etiolated under the shadow of the great stock brokers' ownership, and the Tribune also though its editor is said to have extricated it by a tour d'amour from the gripe of Jay Gould, still feels its baleful influence. The Evening Post, since the death of Bryant. has never aspired to a higher reputation than that of a correct school mistress There remains the Times and the Sun. It would be foolish to deny that both these papers are conducted with great ability. The former paper is not, however, without grave defects which its English proprietor's contempt for the American people prevents him from cor-recting. Its literary editor from his lack of a common classic education feels a hatred for all scholars, and, from his lack of popular success feels a hatred for the people, and from being obliged always to praise the publications of the large houses that advertise in his paper has lost what independent judgment he possessed. Moreover a large portion of the Sunday Times is made up of a story and shorter articles stolen from English papers and magazines. The articles are well selected. but such a "patent inside," is wholly unworthy of a paper that aspires to be a leader of American thought. There remains the Sun, which is the best edited paper on either side of the ocean. The theory of its editor is that news should be impartially sifted through the trained intellects of specialists, and only the kernels presented to the public. It is this method that makes the cost of running so small a paper so enormous. But the Sun though rapid and deep, is but a small channel for the outflow of the Eastern

Two causes of this are obvious enough dividuality; the other that we are farther away and suffer less from the overshadowing power of English thought, which awes the literary men of the Atlantic coast and frightens them into becoming many interesting to the state of the state One is that the greater freedom of life in 43. EDUCATION AND PANICS.

There were 4,008,907 farms in the United States in the year 1880. Of these 2,984,-306 were occupied by the owners, 322,357 were rented, and 702,244 let on shares. There were 105,000 farms of over 500 acres, 2,728;893 between 50 and 500 acres, and the rest were under 50 acres. From 1870 to 1880 the number of farms increased 60 per cent.

These figures have an important bearing upon that mysterious subject, American panics. It has always greatly puzzled English writers on America to understand why panies in this country should be so much more severe than abroad, and should be followed by seasons of such marvelou prosperity. It is not singular that their explanation of these questions should have little value, since they approach this like all other American subjects without any facts to control their hypotheses. A writer in the Pall Mall Gazette recently gave as a cause that Americans were almost exclusively an agricultura people, and consequently obliged every year to stake their prosperity on th weather's gambling table.

The writer could not have heard of th panic of 1873 which occurred after two most abundant harvests

The truth is the reverse of this writer' statement. America's wide area and great variety of climate and products give he great immunity from injury from failure of crops. No great country has suffered so lit tle from such a cause.

As these statistics prove, a panic is simply the result of the overcrowding of our cities. The producers of food bear too small a proportion to the non-producers. Provisons decrease, manufactures increase. The price of the latter falls below its cost of manufacture and the tide turns. state tickets as followes: California 4,500; The relief from the panic is the exodus Indiana 4,411; Connecticut 6,100; Colorafrom cities to the country. Idlers and do 850; Delaware 572; North Carolina manufacturers become farmers.

The cause of the greater severity of our panics lies in the greater over-crowding of our cities. The cause of this is beyond a question, the wide diffusion of education throughout the whole country. We have no peasantry; all our farmers boys receive a certain degree of education, and they are taught to think themselves at least the equals of their city cousins. The country offers them but scanty amuse ment, and the first aim of almost every country lad is to go to a city. This acfor the rapidity with a few years of proscounts which perity crowd our towns. It is one great cause of that feverish life that pervades all our society and so astonishes every for eigner. It is difficult to see any remedy that can be devised for this evil.

The ways and means committee will meet here next week to endeavor to come to some agreement as to legislation pending before the committee, and to consider the recommendation of the tariff commission, if any recommendation shall be laid before them. It is known that Judge Kelly. chairman of the committee, will insist that bills be reported which will make large reductions on the internal revenue taxation His ultimate object is to abolish the inter-reduction in the custom tariff. The appropriations committee will also meet next week, and one of their members has recently written here that they hope to be able to complete at least four appropriation bills, so that they may be reported to the house at the open ing of the session. Dr. McDonald, the chief of the money order division, is of the opinion that if the bill shall become a law rates will so largely increase the business of the department as to be a large source of revenue to the government. An effort as also to be made to pass the postal currency bill at an early day. There is a very urgent demand for this bill from many quarters. The local butchers are endeavoring to check the sale of Chicago beef as much as possible. One of the means to this end has been to bring suit against those who deal in Chicago dressed beef, on the ground that such dealers are liable to the license tax of $25, which is imposed upon produce dealers. Such a case was tried before the court here to-day. The question is to be immediately taken to the dis trict supreme court on appeal.

COLORADO.

DENVER, Nov. 8 .- The vote of Denver is still incomplete. At 12 o'clock the precincts heard from show heavy Democratic gains. One hundred and fifty-three pre cincts in the state give Grant, dem., a majority of 1,239; Belford, rep., for congress a majority of 1,078. Ex-Senator Chaffee. chairman of the Republican state committee, could not be found at headquarters this morning. Gov. Tabor, rep., does not concede the election of the Democratic governor. He believes the legislature safe, and also the election of Belford to congress. He concedes a majority for Grant dem., for governor; Wallace for congress and the legislature of this county of 800, which formerly gave a heavy Republican majority. The Democratic central com-mittee claim the state by 2,500 to 3,000; the house doubtful; Wallace, dem., for congress, 1,000 majority. They also claim Denver, Nov. 8.—Returns from the state

Hancock gives English, Democrat, 467 majority; Shelby county, English 126 majority, and Marion county Pelle 643 majority. Democratic committee do not concede his election, and claim that the official vote will change the result. In Marion county the Republicans elect the clerk, auditor treasurer, prosecuting attorney and two judges of the superior court.
The Democrats elect sheriff, senator, five representatives, one judge of the supreme court, judge of the criminal court, jointly with Bartholomew county. Five hunred and four voting places in the state show a Republican loss on the state ticket of 8,590; Democratic loss of 2,241, being a net Democratic gain of 6,449, which would indicate a Democratic majority in the state of over 10,000. The above returns covr 36 per cent. of the vote cast at the election of governor two years ago. If the balance of the state yet to hear from contains the same relative decrease as compared with the vote of 1880, it will give a decrease on the Republican vote of 20,890 and on the Democratic vote of 5,200, or an aggregate vote of 26,000 less than the total vote of 1880. Tippecanoe county elects a Republican representative, judge of the supreme court, clerk, sheriff and one county comcommissioner. The Democrats ele t state county commissioner. Orth is defeated for congress by 300 to 500. Indianapolis, Nov. 8.—Returns from 40 towns on the state ticket, which give ever 25 per cent. of the state, show a Democratic gain of 3,941, indicating a Democratic majority for the state ticket of 6,000. This ratio of increase will be increased when the full returns are received from the larger cities. MISSOURI.

St. Louis, Nov. 8 .- John J. O'Neil, Democrat, elected to congress in the Eighth district of this city by a plurality of about 1,600. The Ninth district still undecided as to the long term, but Republicans claim the election of Dr. J. H. McLean for both terms. The successful candidates on the Democratic city ticket have pluralities ranging from about 100 to 8,000, and the two Republicans elected have pluralities of 680 and 692 respectively.

Sr. Louis, Nov. 8 .- A revised table of the returns in the Ninth district gives Broadhead a majority of 79 for the long term, and McLean a majority of 157 for the short term. These figures may be changed by the official vote, and give Mc-Lean the long as well as the short term. Nothing new from the Thirteenth district which is the only other one in the state about which there is any doubt. Democrats claim the election of Judge Rvan over Col. Cloud. Republican, and Hazelton, Greenbacker. This claim is not very strongly combated.

St. Louis, Nov. 8 .- A special from thoroughly well posted men at Springfield Mo., to the Associated Press correspondent here, says the Thirteenth district has certainly gone Democratic, and that Judge Tyon, Democrat, will have fully 500 majority. This will give Missouri a solid Democratic delegation in congress unless the official vote should show that Broadhead is defeated in the Ninth district of this city, which is not very likely.

A dispatch from St. Joseph says full returns from all the counties in the Fourth congressional district give Col. Jas. N. Burns, Democrat, 300 majority.

MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 8 .- Returns up to noon from this state are meager, and do not materially alter the situation. The Second district is claimed by the Democrats by 500 majority, but not conceded. East Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 8 .- Saginaw ounty, with four small towns to hear from, give Bezole 375 majority, and Willett for congress 175 majority over Horr. Horr's majority in the district will reach 750. The Republicans elect a state senator in this county and three of the four members of the lower house.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8—The fuller returns to-day do not change the result on the state ticket. The Republicans lose their governor by 8,000 or 10,000, and carry the rest of the state ticket by equal or a large majority. The legislature is Republican on joint ballot beyond doubt. In congressmen there are extraordinary changes. The Democrats, from present appearances, will carry Maybury in the First district, Eldridge in the Second. Yaple in the Fourth, Houseman in the Fifth, Winans in the Sixth and Carleton in the 7th. The Repbblicans will have the remainder unless the Ninth joines the tampede, from which there are no sufficent detailed returns. This gives a majority of the delegation to the Democrats Official returns may change the result in the Sixth and Seventh districts.
