THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Soon will the turkey gobbler his soft quietus make. To decorate the festive Thanksgiving roast or bake. And soon the sky of winter will unsift the fleecy flake. White as the winsome lassie will meander forth to skate. Yes, gastronomical reader, it will soon be time to pick the purple proudest, but eminently social and highly respectable turkey. This haughty bird is entitled to considerable deference on account of its many social qualities and as an unobjectionable medium for the transmission of thanks. The man who invented roast turkey should be given a vote of thanks, but in the absence of any memorial it may be of some consolation to his memory to know that it, the turkey, is forever enshrined in the gastric regions of his grateful but dyspeptic countrymen. About this season of the year it is generally considered proper for the society hard to reel of some heart foam on the subject of the beautiful snow. But the reader is spared, and no flowers, if you please. It is about time also, that the young man who sports ear warmers and knickerbockers should look up on the winter horizon, but even his occupation seems to be gone. The past week, however, has been particularly active in its variety of social doings, the roster of which will be found below: Mrs. Capt. Clifford and family are domiciled with Col. Allen. Maj. E. W. Bell and wife are registered at the Merchants hotel. Gov. J. M. Rusk and party, of Wisconsin, are at the Merchants. H. W. Osborne and wife have taken apartments at the Merchants. Mr. Geo. W. Walsh left on Friday for St. Louis on a professional trip. Mrs. J. B. Cook returned yesterday from a visit with friends in the East. Mr. J. E. Tening and family, have taken apartments at No. 240, Fort street. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mathews have taken apartments at the Windsor for the winter. Mrs. Captain T. H. Hathaway is at the Merchants. Her husband is expected to-day. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Purple have gone to house-keeping on Jackson street near Pearl. Miss Ada Murphy left for St. Louis Thursday evening to visit her friend, Miss Stoner. Last Friday evening Prof. Evans inaugurated a select class in the study of the "German." Major McKenzie and wife and daughter of Rock Island, arrived at the Metropolitan last week. Mr. J. L. Forepaugh and family left the Metropolitan on the 16th inst. to occupy their new home. The Evening Star social club gave a successful party and dance at College hall last Friday evening. Citizen J. J. Duarge, who has been on the military survey at Glendive, returned to the city last Friday. Miss Edith Lightbourn returned last week from a pleasant visit to her father's farm in Stevens county. Mr. Chas. M. French, the lightning keyboard manipulator at the Windsor, has gone to Chicago on a two weeks' vacation. Mr. A. A. Cratsenburg and wife, formerly of Madison, are at the Windsor hotel. They will leave St. Paul their future home. Col. McLeod and family, Mrs. McLeod and Miss Drever, of Winnipeg are on a visit of pleasure and sight-seeing in St. Paul. Dr. H. Hutchinson and wife returned last week from a visit to Winnipeg. They have taken rooms at the Metropolitan hotel. Miss Minnie Theobald, of Pleasant avenue, entertained a large company of friends with matchless grace last Friday evening. Miss Josephine Mason, daughter of Hon. James M. Mason, of Cleveland, is the guest of Gen. McLaren's family on Iglehart street. Lieut. Gov. Gilman and wife, of St. Cloud, are at the Merchants. They have engaged rooms for the coming session of the legislature. Mrs. C. W. Hanson and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Dugan have taken possession of their new home, corner of Marshall avenue and Arundel street. Mr. and Mrs. James L. McAfee, advertising manager of the Globe, returned Friday from a delightful visit with their friends in the east. Mrs. Hamilton and son, of Syracuse, New York, are guests at the Merchants. Mrs. Hamilton is the sister of Hon. Jas. Lawrence, of Washburn. Mr. F. M. Tower, wife and child, arrived from the west last week and are at the Windsor. Mr. Tower is connected with the government survey. Lieut. James Brennan and Lieut. H. G. Sichel, of the Seventh cavalry, are among those who respond to the refreshment tattoo at the Metropolitan.

ing on a special train from the east. They have engaged apartments at the Merchants. Miss Thompson, of Dubuque, who has been the guest of Miss Haugh, of Twelfth street, left for her home last week having enjoyed a very pleasant visit. To allay the fears of a number of relatives and friends, we are authorized to announce that Mr. Geo. Squires will not sing a ballad at the next dramatic. Glory has settled upon the house of Lamprey, and Uri L. has an heir in the male line, which causes great rejoicing. It's a modest little twelve pounder. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Lawrence, of Washburn; Capt. and Mrs. A. Griggs and Geo. H. Walsh, wife and daughter, of Grand Forks, are all at the Merchants. Gen. John Gibbon and wife, and the Misses Gibbon are domiciled at the Metropolitan. The ladies will remain in St. Paul during the general's absence. Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Drake have returned from their bridal tour and are the guests of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bigelow, of College avenue. On Thursday evening next at the Athenaeum the St. Paul Dramatic club will perform the comedies of "Faint Heart never won Fair Lady," and "Ruth's Romance." The Crusaders' society has arranged for another reception to be given on Wednesday evening next at their hall, Sixth and Washburn streets. A pleasant time is assured which will be found below: Miss Sarah Stees, of Grand avenue, entertained a large company of friends last Tuesday evening. It was the general impression that the young hostess did the honors most agreeably. Mr. A. E. Ferti, cashier of the Second National bank, is obtaining considerable renown as an amateur photographer. His best effort is a handsome picture of the Washburn street bridge. There is a rumor in society circles that at the urgent request of a number of his gentleman friends, Mr. Lightner has consented to allow his flute to be sold at auction for the benefit of a deserving charity. The late train on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway between this city and Minneapolis, leaving St. Paul at 10:45 o'clock in the evening is a great factor in the promotion of friendly intercourse and social feeling. The crystal wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hoxsie, of Pleasant avenue, was celebrated in a charming manner last Monday evening. A large number of friends were entertained by the worthy couple, and the crystal gifts were numerous and handsome. The birthday anniversary of Mr. A. Sternberg was celebrated in a pleasant manner by himself and friends last Thursday evening. He was surprised by a delegation of friends, who called at his residence, Ninth and Robert streets, and a delightful time ensued. Judge W. H. Comstock and wife, of Utica, N. Y., and Col. W. Smith, of Manchester, N. H., two commissioners lately appointed to examine a recently finished feeder of the Northern Pacific railroad, were the guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Westlake, of Spruce street. Prominent among the nuptial events of the near future will be the marriage on Wednesday afternoon the 29th inst., of Mr. Theodore Leopold Schurmeier, of Lindeke, Warner & Schurmeier, and Miss Caroline E. Gotzian, the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Gotzian. The Once a Week parties at Sherman hall, are becoming more popular than ever. The reception and dance on Wednesday evening was one of the most successful and joyous social events ever given in St. Paul. The hall was crowded with members, and specially invited friends only, and a more agreeable time could not be imagined. The formal opening of the Womens' Relief and Industrial society, the building of which is on Ninth street, between Robert and Jackson streets, will take place about Dec. 1, on which occasion an attractive display of women's handwork will be offered. A class in embroidery will be started under the direction of Miss Willrich. The dramatic Scandinavian society of St. Paul gave a comedy in Minneapolis last week, which met with great success. On the 24th inst., the same society will give a similar entertainment in St. Paul at Pfeiffer's hall. The persons who will take part in it are: Miss Hestrop, Miss Salden, Miss Peterson, Miss Giesdahl, Mr. Halback, Mr. Hestrop and Mr. Harberg. One of the pleasantest events of the season occurred last Wednesday evening at the residence of Mrs. L. Stubbs, 147 East Eighth street, it being her birthday anniversary given by her friends, numbering about forty. Music was furnished by the Great Western band. The guests separated at an early hour in the morning, highly pleased with their night's entertainment. Mr. F. A. Anderson, telegraph operator, was to-day married to Miss Jennie Ottis, of Hudson, Wis. Mr. Anderson is assistant chief of the Northwestern Telegraph company for several years, and when the Western Union company took charge of the Northwestern was appointed night chief. He left that position about a year ago, and is now doing the "act" at the Pioneer Press, "79" to Dad. Ye ancient Methodist meeting house which lieth on ye corner of two highways, called Ninth and Jackson streets, was the scene on Thursday evening, of an Old Folks' concert. The programme was a jewel of quaintness, and the costumes were both rich and odd. The singing under the direction of Prof. Priem, was excellently rendered and very much enjoyed by the audience. It is understood the fine entertainment will be repeated. Miss Geist, the "cello artist, with Miss Austin, Miss Hawkins and Mr. Tarbox, returned Thursday from their trip to Fairbairn and other cities where they gave concerts to very large audiences which were highly pleased. The same party will go out again on Thursday next to Duluth where they will give a concert on Thursday night, after which they will go to St. Cloud, Brainerd and Fargo. The Evening Stars gave a delightful hop last Friday evening at College hall. It was attended by one of the largest and most elegant crowd of ladies and gentlemen that ever assembled together in the city at a club party. This club is well known in our adjoining cities for giving great satisfaction to all its patrons. They will give their next hop Friday evening, Dec. 1. Music by the Great Union band. All ladies and gentlemen who attended the last hop are cordially invited to do so again. The Stars still shine. "The Miss Leira Austin Musical and Literary Party" played Tuesday night, last at Fairbairn to over 600 people, including the entire Shattuck Military school, also St. Mary's school. Enthusiasm was high and the entertainment was pronounced a grand success. Miss Hawkins shattered the hearts of the Shattuck boys by her charming rendition of "No Sir." Although there are but nine numbers on the programme the applause was so great that the young ladies were compelled to give eighteen numbers. The party go to Duluth 23d, Brainerd 24th, Fargo 25th, and Fergus Falls 27th. It is not known just when they will appear in St. Paul, much of the success of the party is due to the efficient management of Messrs. Tarbox & Wilkes. Last Thursday evening the Clayman club gave their first reception and hop of the season at Sherman hall, their friends to the number of 250 or more participating. The poetry of motion was kept up until 3 o'clock the next morning when the party dispersed, well pleased with the generous hospitality of the "Clays" and resolving not to miss it next, which, however, will not take place until next February. The Clayman club was organized for literary and debating purposes over four years ago, and it has been of inestimable good to its members. It is very seldom the boys give a hop, probably twice a year, but when they do the energetic ladies come to the front and give their friends an entertainment not often accorded them. The present officers of the society and to whom much of its success is due are as follows: President, Chas. A. Lang; vice president, J. C. Robertson; secretary, H. J. Nolte; treasurer, D. I. Douvan; critic, W. H. Doyle. Last Friday evening the Ladies' Aid society of the First Methodist church gave a very pleasant entertainment. It consisted of a supper and concert, and was a novelty in its way. The supper was all that could be desired and fully sustained the high reputation of the ladies who prepared and served it. The concert commenced at 8 o'clock and lasted until about 9, being sandwiched between the serving of the gastronomic feast. Prof. S. G. Titcomb and Mr. John P. Williams were the featured of the concert, the former performing several piano solos with great skill and effect, and the latter contributing three extremely excellent bass songs. Mr. Duncan gave a baritone song most admirably, and a quartet consisting of Messrs. Hanson, Hemmenway, Duncan and Williams embellished the programme with a number of well rendered pieces. Mr. Hawks was also quite successful as a recitationist. The ladies understand entertaining most admirably. The X. L. society of Plymouth church, met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Higbie on Ninth street, last Tuesday evening, and the spacious mansion was filled to overflowing. The feature of this society is to cultivate a spirit of literary progress, and the idea is developed in the most pleasant and practicable manner. On the occasion of the last meeting, all were made to feel at home by the cordiality of the gracious host and hostess. The entertainment began with music by Miss Humphrey, who acquitted herself in a very creditable manner. Then followed a paper on Rembrandt, the man and his times, by Mr. Sumwalt. He sketched the life of the great painter, and gave a most interesting resume of the events of his time. Prof. Wilrich rendered a solo in fine manner, after which Mrs. C. E. Fanning read a carefully prepared and interesting paper on the pictures of Rembrandt. Miss Strong, a talented young elocutionist, gave an original recitation entitled "The Lovers," which demonstrated her great natural gifts as a speaker and mimic. The evening closed with music. Invitations, superbly printed on cream card board with gold edge, have been issued for the second annual reception of the Brotherhood of Telegraphers, to take place in Sherman hall, on Friday evening the 15th of December. The arrangements are in the hands of intelligent and competent gentlemen, and it is expected that this will be one of the finest social events of the year. A feature of the event will be two lines of wires running to the hall and the hall will be decorated in a manner both beautiful and unique, something Oriental being promised. The association intend a cordial invitation to all operators residing in Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota and the Northwest. Prof. Snow, recently of Swain's dancing academy, Chicago, and now connected with a musical establishment of that city, has decided to give a series of club dances, the season of which will be inaugurated at College hall next Tuesday evening. The idea he has adopted is to give instruction in new dances from 9 to 10 o'clock, after which a regular dancing programme will be given from 10 p. m. until 1 o'clock a. m. A large class has already been formed and the scheme is looked upon with great favor. Applications for membership will be passed upon by a committee of three members. Among the new dances introduced and taught by Prof. Snow are the following: Montibello quadrille, New Idea Lancers, Prairie Queen, La Fashion, Waltz

Lancers, Minnet, La Favorite, Waltz Quadrille, Diagonal Glide Waltz, Waltz du Temps, Newport Waltz, Emerald, Newport Glide, La Rhusee and others. THE GREAT ELEPHANT SWIM. Barnum, the great showman, lives at Bridgeport, Conn., and there keeps the winter headquarters of the elephants and other beasts which make up his mighty menagerie. The other day he took a notion to give his elephants a swim. So he marched about twenty of them down to the margin of the water of Long Island Sound, this being his whole stock of elephants with the exception of the gigantic Jumbo. This Jumbo is a very expensive beast, half elephant and half mastodon, and it was judged best not to let him run the risk of catching cold, or of injuring himself. So he staid at home while the other elephants went off to play in the water. What a sight it was! Ten thousand Contentment people stood on the shore and applauded. The veteran showman himself sat in a pavilion and laughed like a school boy as he watched the gambols of the sportive beasts. They at once struck out for water deep enough to cover them. They played like kids, and the big ones tossed the little ones around like puppies. They performed all sorts of gigantic gymnastic feats. Two elephants would go for a smaller one and duck him under the water. Then several of them would fill their trunks with water and squirt it at each other like playful children in the surf. Two of the largest elephants took a notion to swim out into the sound, as if they meant to go to sea and return no more. But they were recalled by the voice of their keeper, which they promptly obeyed. For about two hours the Bridgeport people enjoyed such a best show as had never before been seen, either there or anywhere else. When called to come to the shore, the beasts obeyed very reluctantly, performing all sorts of capers. One muscular elephant wound his trunk around one of the posts supporting the platform which extends out from the bathing pavilion over the water of the sound. He was about to pull this post up, the effect of which would have been to give a large party of people an unexpected bath. His keeper told him to stop it. With the aid of a boy caught in the act of stealing jam from his mother's pantry, the beast let go of the post, tucked his trunk under his left fore leg, and ambled ashore. The strength of an elephant is something to be greatly admired for the joy it brings with it. Strength and joy go hand in hand, and it is not natural for one to be found without the other. Many an emaciated man has longed for the muscular power of an elephant, even though if he had it, he might be at a loss to know what to do with as much surplus strength as it would give him. In his native and uncivilized state, the elephant is far more vigorous than in a state of captivity. Civilization, with all its blessings, brings also its curses of enfeebling and debilitation, from over-work and unwholesome and irregular feeding, as well as from improper sleeping. In a civilized state, even elephants have to be braced up with tonics. When a man is broken down either from over-civilization or from any other cause, the first and best thing to do with him is to build him up so that he will be strong and hearty again. He must be ironed out, not with flat-irons, nor yet with fetters of iron, nor yet with the sharp irons of tribulation which enters into men's souls. He must be provided with iron for his blood, and there is no such good way of putting iron into the blood as by the aid of Brown's Iron Bitters. The public are finding out the true value of this most efficient medicine. It is not one of the whisky-and-rum sort of bitters to which tonsors resort for temporary stimulus. There is not a drop of any of those poisonous elements in it, which make up that class of bitters. Pure unadulterated and free from all noxious effects, Brown's Iron Bitters vitalizes the blood, strengthens the muscles, tones the nerves and renews human vigor. The man who suffers from debility, prostration or languor when he can procure Brown's Iron Bitters is not particularly wise. PERSONAL. Hon. P. Sawyer, of Wisconsin, returned to St. Paul yesterday from a trip to Lake Superior. H. W. Payne, postmaster of Milwaukee, was among those who interviewed Dr. Day yesterday. Hon. O. M. Towner, of Larimore, the successful candidate on the independent ticket for the legislature, arrived in the city last evening. Mr. E. C. Bailey, of Bradford, Pa., has accepted a responsible position in the Boston office of a leading house, and will undoubtedly prove a valuable acquisition to the firm. The "Pool Lines" are sick. Notwithstanding their frantic efforts, fully two-thirds of the travelers bound east take the "Great Albert Lea Route." Ostrich Tips. THE SOCIAL WORLD. (Continued from page 2) ... THE GREAT ELEPHANT SWIM. (Continued from page 2) ... AMUSEMENTS. From an amusement standpoint the week just closed in St. Paul has been comparatively uneventful, and the patrons of the drama have had but one choice between staying at home and patronizing the season of light comedy as presented by the Harri's Comedy company. The Opera house was packed but one night during the week, that being upon the occasion of Col. Ingersoll's lecture on Monday night, and judging from the immense audience which assembled to hear the platitudes of the intellectual harlequin a great many people in St. Paul were anxious to know what they must do to be saved. Of Mrs. Partington and the company that supported Mr. Fostele, who so admirably illustrated the character of the widow, the Globe has already spoken. As a drama there is nothing in Mrs. Partington that calls for mention, and it can hardly be said to have a plot. To compensate for this, however, there are several very amusing and absurd situations, the evolution of which never fail to create a hearty laugh. The play does not aim to take the tony on the score of faultless or classical construction, aspiring only to fulfill the laudable mission of providing an evening's mirthful and innocent entertainment. The matinee performance yesterday afternoon drew out a large audience of ladies and from the constant ripple of laughter, the play was most immensely relished. The engagement closed last night, the attendance being only fair. The sacred concert given by the cathedral choir under the supervision of Prof. Wm. Manner, last Tuesday evening, was one of the most artistic and enjoyable musical events thus far of the season. The attendance was large and from whatever view considered the event was a most pronounced and happy success. THE BOSTON IDEALS. Wherever the Boston Ideal Opera company has appeared critics have pronounced it the best English opera organization in America, and this judgment has received the unqualified endorsement of the public, for the Ideals receive the largest patronage of any attraction in the long list of amusements. The company concluded its season last year with an engagement of one week at the Globe theater, Boston, and the receipts were upwards of $10,000; but even these extraordinary figures were not in excess of those reached at the Grand Opera house, Chicago, where the Ideals closed a brief season last night. Such patronage would not of itself be a sure indication of the exceeding excellence of the "Ideal" performances, were it not taken in conjunction with the fact that the audiences are invariably made up of the best class of amusement seekers. It was in response to the expressed wish of this class that at the beginning of the present tour the manager of the company, Miss E. H. Ober, decided to drop Olivette from the repertory because the proper presentation of that opera compelled several of the ladies to appear in "tights," and in pursuance of the same policy the players in the "Mascotte" are now to be seen in "abbreviated pantaloons." In its desire to please its patrons the management has not, however, stopped here. During the past summer the chorus and orchestra have been thoroughly reorganized, and considerably enlarged, the membership of the company now numbering fifty-two persons. In the list of principals are to be found the names of eleven people, all of whom have a national reputation as artists of the first rank. Of these Marie Stone, Mary Beebe, Mathilde Phillips, Tom Karl, Herdson Mossell, Myron W. Whitney and W. H. McDonald are graduates of the Italian school, and the other principals are recognized as the best exponents of the American system of vocal culture. But the company's claim to superiority does not rest alone upon its musical ability. An organization including such comedians as Barnabee, Frothingham and MacDonald, and such admirable actresses as Marie Stone and Mary Beebe, may justly challenge comparison for dramatic excellence. It goes without the saying that the "Ideal" season here will be the musical event of the year, and that the several performances will be given to crowded houses is evidenced by the large advance sale of yesterday. Among the novelties of the engagement may be mentioned the Marriage of Figaro, Musketees and Patience, for, although the last named opera has been presented here by different companies, it may safely be predicted that when given by the "Ideals," it will take on new beauties and be something in the nature of a revelation as to the musical possibilities of Gilbert and Sullivan's brightest satire. The Marriage of Figaro has not yet been produced in this country within the last eight years, and indeed it will be a treat to hear the "Ideals" render the beautiful music with which the opera abounds. Varney's Musketees has never been given in St. Paul. It was our pleasure to witness its presentation by the "Ideals" in Chicago one night last week, and the recollection of its bright dialogue, "catchy" music and laughable situations compel us to say that it is one of the most entertaining things in the company's repertory. The following is the list of operas to be given: Tuesday, Fatinitza; Wednesday, matinee, Pirates; Wednesday, Patience; Thursday, Marriage of Figaro; Friday, Musketees; Saturday's Matinee, Bells of Corneville; Saturday, Mascot. THE ATHENAEUM. The dramatic division of the German society will, in compliance with a very general request, again produce Hamlet at the Athenaeum this evening. Mr. Reinan, the eminent guest of the society, will assume the principal character of course, and judging from the sensation he caused at his first performance, the play will be witnessed by a large audience, for whom a rich and extraordinary treat is in store. "Hamlet," with Mr. Reinan in the title role, and the rest of the cast by the full strength of the dramatic division, will be produced at the new Turner hall at Minneapolis, on Sunday, the third proximo. Friends and lovers of the legitimate will be no less delighted there than here, with its almost faultless rendition under these auspices. The concert and ball of the "Ariens," at the Athenaeum last evening, proved a most enjoyable occasion for the large audience present, and the society seems to have been fortunate in securing the services of so accomplished a director and artistic performer as Prof. Hans Saro, who himself to be. Mr. Saro is a valuable acquisition to our city. The grand comic opera of "Czar and Zimmermann" will be repeated for the last time this season, at the Athenaeum on Thanksgiving night, Thursday, the 30th inst. After the opera a grand social "Krauzchen," or petite ball will unite the performers and their friends as long as they may desire. It is in this manner that the German society proposes to celebrate this great national holiday. On next Sunday evening, the German society will produce the German original of what is popularly known on the English stage as "Our Bachelors." Messrs. Reinan, Henner, Dreher and Stern assuming the principal male characters. The play was originally written by that prolific and successful dramatic author, Rodolph Henrich, and was by him named "A Comedy." CHURCH DEVOTIONS.
