The complaint is entitled "Lowell C. Jones, plaintiff vs. L. M. Englehardt and Charles Lundberg, doing business as the Chicago Museum company, and Fred J. Englehardt, defendant." The allegations are that the plaintiff has rendered the defendants services as lecturer for a period of thirty-four weeks for which he was to be paid the sum of $18 per week, that a balance of $271.68 is now due and remains unpaid. Whereupon the plaintiff demands judgment. The effects are in the hands of the sheriff.

YESTERDAY'S CONFLAGRATION.

A $26,000 blaze on Washington Avenue South, yesterday—The Flames Confined to Wooden Buildings—The Losses and Insurance.

About 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in a wooden building owned by R. Rees, on Washington avenue, opposite the Union depot. The building was occupied by A. Esmann as a clothing and furnishing store. Before the flames could be extinguished by the fire department, which did prompt and good work, the two adjoining wooden structures, as well as the building in which the fire originated, were badly burned, while the first was totally destroyed.

THE LOSSES.

Mr. Rees places his loss at $600 and had no insurance.

The Bernam Brothers estimate their loss upon stock and furniture at about $8,000. Some think this is a high figure, however, as the stock is of greater portion of it was only damaged by smoke and not, as is generally supposed, by the flames, which did not burn the stock insured for $4,900.

A. Bernam, who lived in the second story of the building, lost all of his household effects.

The next building on the east was also a two-story frame, and was owned by Mrs. Christine Johnson, and occupied by Greenwald & Weiss as a clothing store, and the front of the second story by Dr. Jordan as an office, while Mrs. Johnson lived in the rear of the building.

Mrs. Johnson's loss she places at $1,200, with no insurance.

Greenwald & Weiss, who carried a $12,000 stock, estimate their loss at fully $10,000, on which there was only $3,900 insurance.

Dr. Jordan's loss upon furniture, fixtures and instruments will reach $300, upon which there was no insurance.

The third building was owned and occupied by Pfingshaupt & Redden on the ground floor as a cigar, fruit and confectionery store, while Mr. Pfingshaupt lived in the second story.

The loss upon the building is estimated at $2,000, while the loss upon the stock will reach $5,000. They carried a pretty heavy stock, but a deal of it was removed without damage. Mr. Pfingshaupt lost about $500 on household effects. They had an aggregated insurance of $3,500.

The roof of the next adjoining building, owned by S. B. Sanborn, was probably damaged by the amount of $300, fully covered by insurance.

Mrs. Bjerkness occupied the second story, and her loss upon household goods will amount to about $200, with no insurance.

The origin of the fire is supposed to be the effect of a defective flue, as usual.

Mr. Pfingshaupt had a narrow escape. The fire was well under way when discovered, and a tank of kerosene exploded and spread flames about the building. They made their way to the street without having time to secure any clothing.

SATTERLEE'S SUNDAY TALK.

Sunday's Meeting of the Temperance Reform Club.

The regular Sunday afternoon meeting of the Temperance Reform club was held in Harrison hall Sunday. The choir contributed several excellent musical selections, after which Chaplain W. W. Satterlee delivered his usual address, taking the question of license for his subject. He said "license is another term for permission. No man has any right to sell liquor to a man over twenty-one years of age. No man has any right to sell liquor on Monday, or Tuesday, or Wednesday or any other day. We have no more right to kill men by selling them alcoholic beverages than we have to kill them with arsenic or by shooting them. The rum seller goes to the city government and says I want to go into the business of poisoning men and I want you to lease me the right to do it. And for $100 he gets this right."

It is just as black and damnable a crime to license men to kill their fellow men by selling them poison as it would be to license men to go about killing with powder and ball. What we complain of in the license law is the right it confers on certain persons to poison men on six days in the week, or men over twenty-one years of age. There is no reason why the people should be protected on one day of the week and not on the other six, or why the man over twenty-one years of age should not have the same benefit of the same laws as his younger brothers.

Mr. Satterlee went on to protest against high license, which he said was "instead of a step toward prohibition, a step the other way."

Contrasting the high and low-toned saloons, he continued: "The worst place in this city, the place that is scattering the most death and destruction through our city, is the Nicollet house saloon." [Loud applause.]

He concluded, "we will make no compromise on high license or anything else, but we will stand up and fight until we have driven the rum traffic out of the city, out of the county, out of the state, and out of the country," and sat down amid a storm of applause.

Mr. Geo. W. Penman was the next speaker, and said that he could not favor city license either high or low. That the man who paid $1,000 for the privilege to sell was as bad as the man who paid only $50. The object of high license is to take the business out of the hands of the many and place it in the hands of the few." He concluded by stating the condition and operation of the license law in the cities of New York and London.

G. S. Haseltine, an individual who said he was a prohibitionist in theory but not in practice, then took up the time of the

GETTING TO WORK.

The Prohibitionists Hold a Meeting and Prepare for Active Service.

Pursuant to a call of the C. A. A. C. several members of that body, a delegation from the W. C. T. U., and some of the pastors of the city assembled in Harrison hall yesterday to perfect arrangements for the circulation of the petition to be presented to the legislature during the present session. The petition, which was published in the GLOBE some time ago reads as follows:

To the Legislature of the State of Minnesota:

We, the undersigned legal voters of the senatorial district, county of Hennepin, do hereby petition your honorable body to submit to the people of this state, for their approval or rejection, an amendment to our constitution, which shall, in express terms, prohibit the manufacture or sale, or keeping for sale as a beverage, any kind of intoxicating liquors, including distilled, fermented or vinous, and that such an amendment be submitted to the people at an special election, to be held on the fourth Tuesday in June, 1884, for that purpose. And your petitioners will ever pray.

There is also another petition prepared for the signatures of ladies and minors over fourteen years of age in which the words "non-voters are substituted for "legal voters."

After some discussion the city was divided into districts and workers placed in charge of them as follows:

First Ward—Rev. Robert Forbes.

Second Ward—Rev. M. D. Shntzer.

Third Ward—J. M. Durnham.

Fourth Ward—Miss Henderson and the W. C. T. U.

Fifth Ward—W. W. Satterlee.

Sixth Ward—First and second precincts, E. S. Abbott; third and fourth precincts, J. G. Seiter and Rev. Jackson.

These men are empowered to select sub-workers who will circulate the petitions and obtain signatures thereto. The pastors of all the churches of the city will also be provided with petitions and requested to circulate them among their respective congregations.

The returns are to be made about the 20th inst.

It having been alleged by the Evening Sentinel that Mrs. Mable Wood, who died yesterday evening of small-pox was an employe and inmate of the Theatre Comique, Manager Brown wishes to deny that statement through the columns of the GLOBE. Mrs. Wood was not and has never been employed in the theatre, nor was any of the company in association with her during her illness.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The sub-committee of the house judiciary committee having charge of the bill for the regulation of telegraph and cable companies, this morning heard Peck, secretary of the Mutual Union, in explanation of the hardship to which his company is subjected by reason of the refusal of the Western Union to receive dispatches on the same condition as it receives them from private citizens. Mr. Peck cited the circumstances occurring in the Chicago offices of his company in which dispatches left for points not reached by the Mutual Union had to be returned to the sender and by him carried to the Western Union. The committee decided to give the Western Union telegraph company an opportunity to be heard.

The supreme court of the United States today decided that the act of the legislature of West Virginia passed Dec. 15, 1863, authorizing the city of Parkersburg to issue its bonds for the purpose of tendering them to persons engaged in manufacturing invalid chairs, and the bonds issued under it are void as against the city.

Judge Smeal rendered a decision in the Dixon case. He held that Dixon was not to appear before the grand jury to answer for abetment in violation of section 5400, revised statutes, in regard to juries. He was given till to-morrow to renew bail. On account of a sick juror proceedings in the star route case
