OFFICE—No. 8 Washington avenue, opposite Nicollet House. Office hours from 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock p. m.

MINNEAPOLIS GLOBE.

Have you ever dined at the Boston? Try it to-day.

Midnight suppers a specialty at the Comique restaurant.

The plat of Stillman's subdivision of Russell's out lots was filed yesterday.

A ball will be given by the cigar makers of this city in Turner hall this evening.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Josiah Thompson was largely attended yesterday afternoon.

Chas. S. Gilman, the "butter thief," was yesterday sentenced by Judge Lochren to one year and six months hard labor in the state prison.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to T. W. Bennett and Emma Booth, Alexander Anderson and Caroline Anderson, John Lamb and Eugenia Benchelein.

The new Ahern steam fire engine will be tested on Nicollet island Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Among the best of the long list of good things presented at the Comique this week is the sketch of Joe Creamer and Maggie Christie, the musical act of the musical mokes, Howe and Clarke, and the dancing of the old time favorite, Miss Kitty Pinsky.

Following the Thompson case in the district court yesterday was the suit of Cornelius Blake against the Minneapolis Union Railway company to recover damages to the amount of $20,000 for injuries received by falling with a bent of one of the arches of the viaduct, on the 30th of June last.

The Republicans of the Fourth ward are now trying to bluff Williams, the prohibition candidate, from the track in the hope of so defeating Ed. B. Clement, the Democratic nominee.

The Harmonia Singing society will give a banquet in Harmonia hall on Saturday evening, closing the hall. The society will have a fine brick hall erected by Aid. Andrews, on the corner of Washington avenue and Third avenue north.

Complaints against the county jail management are numerous. It will be remembered that about a week ago a negro named Ely died suddenly, while serving a sentence for drunkenness.

Wm. Hanscom, who was arrested at the instance of Dr. C. C. Lyford, charged with obtaining money on false pretenses, in that he sold complaining witness a load of hay upon an old sealer's ticket which showed about two-eighths as many pounds as the load actually contained, was fined $50 by Judge Cooley yesterday.

The idea advanced by the park commission in the event the park bill scheme is defeated this spring there can be no park established for two years to come in an acre.

The Knights Templar of Minnesota will probably make such arrangements at San Francisco, as will result in their being quartered in one place, during the coming convalescence.

my youth and happiness. How I longed to see him. How I yearned to put my head on his breast. My husband became addicted to drink. He abused me. I wrote to my father asking him to let me come home, but the answer that came was 'I do not know you.' My husband died. Homeless and wretched, with my little boy I went into the world. My child died and I bowed down and wept over a pauper's grave. I wrote to my father again, but he answered, 'I do not know you. I turned away from that letter hardened. I embraced sin. I rushed madly into vice. I spurned my teachings. I was time and time again arrested. Now I am here.' Several lawyers rushed forward. A crimson tide flowed from her lips. They leaned her lifeless head back against the chair. The old magistrate had not raised his eyes. "Good God!" said a lawyer, "he is dead." The woman was his daughter.

A DIG BONANZA.

Windom Elected President of a New Mexican Road at a Salary of $25,000 a Year.

Private telegrams from New York tonight state that, at a meeting of the directors and stockholders of the Topolovemp & Pacific Railway company, of Mexico, held in that city this afternoon, ex-Senator William Windom, of Minnesota, was elected president.

His salary, it is understood, will be $25,000 a year, and for the first four years will be paid in stock. Among the American directors of the railroad are Frederick O. Prince, Windom's predecessor in the presidency of the road, Josiah G. Abbott and Gov. Benjamin F. Butler.

Among the stockholders, beside the gentlemen named, are George W. Simmons of Boston; U. S. Grant, Jr., of New York; A. K. Owen, of Pennsylvania; Joseph E. Brown and John B. Gordon of Georgia and William Windom of Minnesota. The Mexican directors are prominent men closely connected with the government.

They are Dr. Ponsbo, Dr. Ramon Fernandez, Senor Francisco M. de Trida, Senor George Hameken y Media, Senor Francisco Baines, Senor Manuel Romero Rubio, Senor Edward S. Herrera. This company has recently secured several concessions from Mexico. They are as follows: First, extension of time for completion of surveys and construction for about three years; second, grant of subsidy of $8,000 a mile to the branch line, from the main stem to Presidio del Norte; third, the right to construct branch lines from either side of the main line, and branches not to exceed 100 miles in length, with like subsidy per mile; fourth, the payment of such subsidies direct from the national treasury or by assignment of percentages on duties collected by the customs authorities of Mexico, Sirolos, Chihuahua and Comarca; fifth, the right of lands, islands, rocks and flats in the bay of Topolovemp, adjacent to and for the benefit of Gonzales City; sixth, a change of the security for the construction of the road, on the withdrawal of the $100,000 deposit already made by the company in the Monte Piedad from a mortgage on the first section of the completed road to a deposit of $100,000 in the company's bonds on a mortgage on its cable, when completed, across the gulf of California to La Paz.

The company is organized under a general law of the state, and is authorized to construct and operate railroads in foreign countries. The whole amount of capital stock is only $20,000, all of which has been sold at par for cash, except about $30,000 worth remaining in the treasury. It is proposed to increase the stock to $400,000 in all. The purpose of keeping the stock at this low figure is to facilitate management. It is the purpose of Mr. Windom to construct the road without the intervention of a construction company, and without giving out contracts at an expensive rate. It is proposed to commence at an early date the construction of the road from Mazatlan to Alamos, and from Topolovemp to the Rio Grande, and its east line surveys have been made and approved by the government of Mexico of a portion of these lines. It is believed by the directors that, with the deposit in the Monte Piedad, which comes back to the company on the completion of the first thirty-one miles of the road, and the amount accruing from the interest and dividends on the stock, together with the amounts remaining in the treasury of the company, the first fifty miles of road may be completed without resort to sale of bonds.

A PERSIAN LOVE TALE.

An Eastern Fable Which Retains Biblical Romance and Shakespearean Poetry.

(Gentleman's Magazine.)

The story of Joseph and Zuleykha is the ideal love tale of the East. The loves of Khusr and Shirin, and of Leyla and Mejnun, are indeed famous in Persian romance, and the poets of the sweetest of Eastern tongues never weary of recounting the sorrows and joys of these heroic lovers.

But even the moving history cannot compete with the love of Zuleykha in the affection of the multitude. She and Joseph are the ideals of woman's love and manly beauty to the Persian; they are, with a difference, the Juliet and Romeo of the East. More than this, with the mystical poets of the Sufis, who were ever seeking for analogies between the passions of this life and the holier emotions of the soul, Zuleykha is the type of the yearning of the human heart for the ineffable beauty of the Creator, and the vicarious vicinities of the Egyptian princess are emblematic of the weary struggle of the soul in its search for that union with the Universal Spirit which is the end and aim of Persian mysticism. The ardor of the supplicating Zuleykha and the cold purity of Joseph represent the eagerness of the soul and the inexorable demands of God, who will have naught but a perfect service.

This double character has given the romance a universal hold upon Persian passions, or as the symbol of the yearning of the soul for the infinite beauty, the story of Joseph and Zuleykha was equally attractive to the half sensual, half mystical spirit of the Persian poet, and there is no theme that has received so many tributes from singers of the most diverse orders. To the present day "a second Joseph" is the highest title by which a beautiful youth can be praised, and the love of Zuleykha is the Eastern ideal of woman's passionate devotion. The romance has the additional merit of religious authority, for it is recounted at great length in the Koran, and Mohammed "does not fear to call it 'a most excellent story.' As told in the Koran, however, Zuleykha is merely what we know by the name of Potiphar's wife; in Persian poetry she is idealized into something very different. The character of this Eastern heroine, as drawn by Jami in the beautiful poem which Mr. Griffith has lately translated into charming English verse, is purified from the coarser elements which the Bible narrative contains. By subtle indications of motives and arrangement of the circumstances, the purity of Zuleykha is upheld in the face of apparently conflicting facts, and the final impression of the whole character which is left upon the mind is entirely noble and womanly. It is strange that so beautiful a poem has never been translated, as a whole, into English.
