

CRIME RECORD.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE LYCHING OF THE BARBER BOYS.

A Graphic Description of the Tragic Scene—They Meet Their Fate Without Flinching—The Day's Record of Criminal Events.

THE WAVERLY LYCHING.

WAVERLY, La., June 9.—The mob which besieged the jail here last night and succeeded in lynching the Barber desperadoes, numbered about 200. They first appeared at the jail at about 9 o'clock, and were preceded by a man carrying a rope, who demanded the surrender of the bandits. The sheriff was obdurate and the crowd then proceeding to the court house, smashed it in. They were soon inside. There were now two doors between the outlaws and the mob, who immediately procured a crow bar and sledge and commenced operations upon the doors. It required over two hours before they reached the cell containing the Barbers. When the latter were reached they were taken through the hall to the stairs and then dragged part way down the long stairway. After getting on to the street the Barber were allowed to make a confession. Bill Barber said he had never killed a man till last fall. He Barber said he had no hand in killing Shepherd last fall; that he had never killed a man or assisted in doing so until within the past week. The desperadoes appeared to have plenty of grain, although Bill shed a few tears. They conversed in a strong voice, and did not ask or expect mercy. The leader of the mob was captured by the sheriff. The county officers did the best they could to protect the prisoners but it was of no avail. The hanging occurred just before midnight.

Dubuque, June 9.—A reporter sent to Waverly returned this evening with details of the hanging of the Barber boys at 11:30 last night. After they had been brought back from Independence and lodged in the jail at 1 o'clock yesterday, word was rapidly sent through the town outside and by 6 o'clock the streets began to fill with people from the outside. They continued to arrive on foot and in all kinds of conveyances, until 9, when the town was full. About 8:30 in a large crowd who had collected in the vicinity of the jail were spectators who had gathered to witness the lynching. Those who did the work met some distance away and appeared to hold a consultation. Soon they were seen approaching and the man who took charge was Shepard, a brother of the man killed by the Barbers last fall in Fayette county. He did none of the work, did not lay his hands either on breaking into the jail, or taking the men out, or hanging them. None of the lynchers were masked or made any effort to conceal their identity, nor did they make any noise or talk, but simply kept steadily at work with coolness and determination. When the sheriff heard the mob coming he took the woman Cronin out of her cell and concealed her in his house. She shot her par amour at the first of the week and was the only other occupant of the jail. The man demanded the keys of the Sheriff Adair, but he refused. He made no effort to protect the Barbers at any time during the evening. The outer doors were easily broken in but the inside door was strongly barred, and required an hour and a half of hard work with picks and sledge hammers to break it down. Finally, shortly after 11 o'clock, it gave away and access was gained to the cell where the two men were confined. The first man who put his hand in was knocked senseless, but they were at once overwhelmed with numbers, ropes thrown over their necks, and they were dragged out. Mayor Shepard and others expostulated with the mob, but it availed nothing to save the desperadoes. In taking them out of the jail, Bill Barber stumbled and fell, and was thus dragged out of the door. On the steps he was let up, when as soon as he could get his breath, he said: "Kill us if you wish, but don't hurt us so bad. They were the told to talk if they had anything to say. Bill, the larger one, the most talkative and the least nery, said they had been accused of many crimes they had never committed. He killed Shepard in self-defense. The smaller one, Ike, the quiet and desperate man of the two, then said he had never killed a man until within the past week and then in self-defense and to save the life of Bill. He had no hand in the killing last fall. Short as the speeches were the crowd became impatient and called out to get on with the hanging. It was first proposed to hang them in the jail yard, but the sheriff begged it not to be done on account of his family. The victims were then taken across the street, where there are some trees, but here the city marshal interfered and asked they should go outside the corporation limits. The accommodating mob thought this a reasonable request and then went up Main street a half mile east, where just outside of the limits there is a grove. The Barbers, with the ropes around their necks, went along sullenly, and without a word. When the grove was reached, the man who was knocked down in the cell climbed the tree, and while doing so the murderers were told to say their prayers. Bill muttered something, but Ike was dumb. The rope, which was no more than six or eight feet long, was tied to a limb. Bill being held up by four men while it was done. As soon as it was tied he was dropped and left swinging in the air, his brother looking on defiantly and without flinching. Another man climbed a tree close by and Ike was in like manner held up, the rope tied and he was dropped and thus died. It was just before 12 o'clock midnight when they were finally hung.

The bodies were left hanging until 11 o'clock in the morning before they were cut down by the coroner. The bodies were placed in rude coffins, just as they have gone for a week, without coats, hats or boots and will be delivered to their sister and other relatives, who live in the eastern part of the county. An inquest will be held.

NO ESCAPE FOR THE MURDERERS. LOUISVILLE, June 9.—The court of appeals to-day affirmed the decision of the court below, refusing to grant a new trial to Craft, one of the Ashland murderers, charged with first outraging and then murdering a girl named Gibbons and afterwards setting fire to the house in which the bodies of the girl and her comrade and brother laid, who were also murdered. Ellis, Craft and Neal were arrested, charged with the crime. Ellis confessed and was sentenced to state prison for life. Neal and Craft were sentenced to be hanged, but while being taken from Catletburg to Lexington for safe keeping a mob attacked the steamer Granite State and attempted to rescue the prisoners, firing on the guards, who returned the fire, killing several persons. Ellis was taken from jail and hanged and Craft and Neal secured new trials. The last of February Craft was tried and found guilty in the Grayson case and sentenced to death, and a motion for a new trial was over-ruled and an appeal was prayed with the result above named. The governor, under the law, will fix the day for the execution. Neal is still in jail. Lexington and will be tried next fall, and doubtless found guilty, as the testimony against him is equally as strong as against Craft. The result of the action of the court of appeals gives much satisfaction, as no doubt of guilt is felt. Neal and Craft, besides costing nearly $50,000 for guards and expense of trials, have been the direct cause of the death of nearly a dozen good people.

A SLIPPERY CUSTOMER IN LIMBO. ST. LOUIS, June 9.—John Beanceleigh, one of the most noted confidence men of the country, who has been under bonds here for some time past for plying his vocation on the Missouri Pacific trains, in this state, was delivered to the Illinois authorities this afternoon, on a requisition of the governor of that state. He will be taken to Galesburg from here, and is wanted in several other places in that and other states.

FREDERICKS STILL LIVING. KANSAS CITY, June 9.—The condition of Fredericks at midnight was not materially changed. The physician says he has a chance for recovery, but a very doubtful one. He shows great vitality and has been conscious a part of the time, although too weak to talk coherently. Stein was visited by a number of friends and acquaintances to-day. He and the woman in custody are at the station, pending the uncertainty of Frederick's condition. Stein's friends express confidence that he will be able to clear himself from his present difficulties. He is a son of Hon. John A. Stein, a prominent lawyer of Lafayette, Ind., and a nephew of the late Godlove S. Orth, and is connected with other prominent families in Indiana.

WASSON PAYS HIS SHORTAGE. SAN ANTONIO, June 9.—The Wasson prosecution has been emasculated by the payment of the full amount of the deficit. The major, prior to his arraignment, drew a check for the full shortage on the First National bank of Galveston, and the same was tendered to Chief Paymaster Tervall in satisfaction. The check was forwarded to Galveston and notification of its payment has been received. The effect of the settlement is variously estimated, but the friends of the accused hope for an acquittal.

KILLED WITH RECKLESSNESS. OZARK, Ark., June 9.—At Chismville, Logan county, on Wednesday night, as John Williams, a merchant, was turning his horse in the stable, he was fired on and killed by an unknown person, who evidently had been concealed in the stable awaiting him. Six backshot entered the left side of his body and he was not found until 4 a. m. on Friday. There is no trace of the assassin.

SHOT AND KILLED FROM AMBUSH. WILLIAMSTOWN, Ky., June 9.—John W. Green, a respected citizen of Grant county while on his way home from here, was shot from his horse and killed by persons in ambush who used a shot gun. Six members of the Jumps family to-day were arrested on suspicion.

SPORTING. The Covington Hoop Flying. COVINGTON, Ky., June 9.—The inaugural meeting at the Jockey club began to-day. The weather was clear and cool, the attendance encouraging and large and the field of horses in two of the four races made the sport interesting. Leonatus, the Derby winner, repeated his fine performance by winning the Hindoo stakes of a mile and a half. He beat Drake Carter, that beat Lord Raglan, for second place. Time, 2:40 1/4.

First race, mile, for purse of $400. Markland was winner, 1:43 1/4; Rena B second, Gleasher third. Eva S won the Clippeta stakes, Mina second, Nievana third. Time for five furlongs, 1:04 1/4. Selling race for purse of $400, all ages, mile and a quarter, had seven starters—Mattie Rapture won, Little Joe second, Manitou third. Time 2:00.

Jerome Park Races. JEROME PARK, N. Y., June 9.—Despite the very light card prepared by the American Jockey club for the last day of the spring meeting, there was a large attendance. The first race was a walk-over for Preakness; Stables, Trombone, Trafalgar, Jacobus and Inconstant not being permitted to run for a $500 purse over a mile course. Belmont stakes, mile and a half, won by George Kenney's big favorite, Trombone, in the quick time of 49 minutes, a record that is believed to be unequalled.
