D., of Chicago, who has just returned from a trip across the continent; by Rev. M. McG. Dana, D. D., and by F. G. Eusign, superintendent of the American Sunday School work in the northwest.

Grand Concert.

The "St. Paul orchestra," under the direction of Prof. D. Muehlenbruch, the well known violinist, will give the first of the series of concerts announced for the season, Thursday evening, October 25, 1883, at Sherman hall, assisted by Miss Etta Hawkins, soprano; Mr. Arthur Holdt, cellist; and Mr. Duke E. Smith, pianist, with twenty-five well drilled performers in the orchestra. The accompanying local talent and the very low prices of admission (fifty cents throughout the whole house), we can reasonably bespeak for them a full house and a grand success. The enterprise of this organization in presenting a series of chamber concerts, in which will be given selections from both modern and classical style of compositions, merits the support of all music lovers and it is to be hoped they will meet with the encouragement they so well deserve. Tickets can be had at the music stores. Following is the programme in full:

PART I.

1. Overture....Barrittentraiche....Suppe. Orchestra.
2. Soprano Solo....."Die Lorelei".....Hayden.
3. Quartette....Adagio from Kaiserquartette.....Hayden.
4. Cello Solo....."Die Lorelei".....Hayden.
5. Selection....."Il Trovatore".....Verdi. Orchestra.

PART II.

9. a) Xylophone Solo....."Die Lorelei".....Hayden.
- b) Surprises Medley.....Brham. Orchestra.

The St. Paul Ideals.

Late rehearsals of the Ideals give rich promise of the excellence and novelty of their coming performance, and the gentleman interested are straining every nerve to make their entertainment one of sweet charity's pleasures. Musical Director Titcomb is authority for the statement that the double octette is made up of the choicest voices in the city, and of gentlemen of such character that training them is a pleasure.

Everything points to a rarely enjoyable show with the crudeness which perhaps was the one blot on last year's performance entirely wiped out by that experience.

St. Paul Ladies in Grand Forks.

The Grand Forks Plaindealer of the 6th Inst. thus speaks of several young ladies from St. Paul: Last evening quite a number of the amusement loving people of Grand Forks assembled at the residence of Mayor McCormack. The party was given in honor of and was a surprise upon Miss Maggie King and Miss Lizzie Robert, two popular society young ladies of St. Paul, who are at present visiting at the residence of our popular Mayor. The party was received and entertained with true Grand Forks hospitality by Captain and Mrs. McCormack, and in the elegant parlors of this fine residence the guests enjoyed themselves in various ways. Good music was in attendance and tripping in the light fantastic formed one of the chief features of the evening's pleasure. The company was delighted by some beautiful songs and instrumental pieces by Miss King, who possesses a rich, deep and well trained voice, and plays the piano with rare skill. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the evening and the spirit of gaiety which prevailed admonished all to "On with the dance, let joy be unconfined where youth and pleasure meet." The guests assembled were Mr. and Mrs. McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. Lyons, Miss Maggie Cooley, Miss Anna and Stella Murphy, Misses Lizzie and Kate O'Riley, Misses Karoher, Bell, Manafe, Terry, Spaulding, Miller, Hill, Casey and Thompson, Messrs. Armstrong, Bray, Fink, Murphy, McManus, Dunn, Webster and Wilson. Although the night was quite disagreeable, the guests came in backs and laughed to scorn the elements. No matter if the rain fell outside, the inside was mirth and gaiety, and everybody enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent, and departed for their homes thinking that each successive social party in Grand Forks surpasses the previous one in point of pleasure.

Deutsche Vereines Notizen.

THE AMUSEMENT SEASON OF 1883-84.—"UNCLE BRAESIG."

The German society will, on this evening, open its regular season at the Athenaeum, on which occasion the dramatic division, cast to its full strength, will produce the celebrated five-act comedy entitled "In-spector Braesig," being a splendid dramatization of an episode of Fritz Reuter's "Ramblings," a work of fiction formed on truthful characteristics of North German rural life and abounding in wit, humor, scenes and incidents of the high and lowly, all of which is depicted in a manner so fresh and so original that Reuter's "Uncle Braesig" has become a household word wherever the German language is read or spoken, and which with other writings has placed its author in the front rank of popular writers and prominently so as a master of dialect. The entertainment of this evening will be made particularly interesting by the fact that a number of old favorites will assist the regular membership of the division and that Dr. H. P. Gabrielson, one of our oldest citizens, has consented before his contemplated visit to the fatherland, to assume the title role in which he has on several former occasions gained a most enviable reputation as a specialty artist and wherein he achieved a decided success of which any professional artist might be proud. Every attention will be paid to a proper production of this splendid play and the management is determined to spare neither time nor expense in arranging all details pertaining to scenery costumes and properties. That nothing may be wanted to ensure pleasurable evenings to its many members and general patrons, the secretary has, in conformity with its old established rule requiring the best obtainable in all things, made an engagement with Seibert's orchestra who will furnish the instrumental music between or during acts. It goes without saying that the instrumental numbers of this, the opening night, will be especially choice thus ensuring a rich treat in every way, shape and manner.

THE THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY of the German society, which is the oldest German association in the state, will be celebrated on next Saturday, the 20th inst. The attendance on this occasion will be limited to the members, their families and invited friends for all of whom very tasty and handsome invitation card, programme, have been prepared which will be delivered by mail and special messenger. The programme of the festival is in three parts containing pleasing features enough to satisfy the tastes of all who may be invited to participate and is as follows:

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE GERMAN SOCIETY.

PART I.

Director.....Prof. J. P. Kerker.

Overture....."Jubilee".....Kolar Bela Seibert's Orchestra.

Male Chorus....."Enchantment".....Krenger Maenncher.

Tenor Solo....."Dreams of Youth".....Abt.

Selection....."Opereatic Pearls".....Heincke Orchestra.

Soprano Solo....."Das Erste Lied".....Gumbert Miss Annie Schonard.

Duo Humoresque....."Dentist and Peasant".....F. Werner and P. J. Gieson.

Male Chorus....."Rheinfahrt".....Beschoett Maenncher and Baritone solo.

PART II.—Theatre.

THE NEW ROMEO.

Or, The Stage Struck Copyist.

Dramatis personae, by members of the dramatic division. After this, a social "Kraenzchen" will conclude the evening's entertainment, which cannot fail of being a most delightful treat to the members and their guests.

FUTURE EVENTS.

It is the intention of the German society to give a regular dramatic or operatic entertainment semi-monthly during the season inaugurated to-day. The repertoire of the dramatic division has been arranged for a long time ahead, and the musical division, under the able direction of Prof. Kerker, is also in splendid trim for any call that may be made upon it. Thus, Benedict's "Relegated Students" will follow the anniversary entertainment, while on November 11th, being Schiller's anniversary, Laube's magnificent play of "Die Karlsruher" will be produced in honor of the occasion. This well known classic production introduces in its cast the character of the immortal Schiller himself, as well as all of those revolutionary and rebellious students of the "Duke Charles Institute," who afterwards banded together under the leadership of the renowned Carl Moor, the history and adventures of whom furnished Schiller the material for his "Robbers." Shakespeare, Schiller and Goethe will each be drawn upon during the season, but the definite selections from these sources have not been fully made, while it is probable, however, that "Julius Caesar" or "The Merchant of Venice" will fill the Shakespearean night. "The Magic Slippers," a new grand comedy-farce, "Oh, These Men," a new society play, and other novelties, are on the tapis, while several favorites will possibly experience a revival.

REPAIRS AND RENOVATIONS

That have for some time been contemplated will shortly improve the atheneum hall and basement, while the public improvements being hurried forward will soon make all the approaches safe and pleasant.

GERMAN OPERA.

Impressario Ienstein, of St. Louis and Chicago, will shortly favor us with "Der Freischuetz" and "Merry War." His company is large and talented, the costuming superb, the soloists first-class, the chorus well drilled and the orchestra up to every requirement. The public and the press have expressed themselves in terms of unqualified praise of this opera company wherever they have appeared. Their probable dates for St. Paul will be November 17 and 18.

The Turner Hall Concerts.

The citizens of St. Paul will remember with pleasure the charming concerts given last winter at Turner hall by Seibert's orchestra. It is not saying too much, nor is it flattering Mr. Seibert to say that these concerts present the best instrumental music we have in St. Paul. Recognizing the requirements of the public in this respect, Mr. Seibert has considerably enlarged his orchestra, and will present a higher grade of music than he has ever before placed before the public. This he will be able to do partly by the enlargement of the orchestra and partly by the introduction of additional and different instruments from those heretofore used. The orchestra will be much stronger in strings, and will also be greatly strengthened by the fagotto. This instrument we have never before had. Mr. Angelroth, who plays it, comes from Bach's celebrated orchestra of Milwaukee, and is an accomplished musician. Mr. Seibert's organization, as he will present it this season at Turner hall, will be the only organization in the city that is able to interpret the higher grade of music, such as the public taste in St. Paul demands. If the concerts given by his orchestra last season were pleasing, those to be given this season will be very much superior in all respects. The first concert of the season will be given next Sunday evening at Turner hall.

Kitchen Gardening.

The Young Ladies' Christian Temperance union, connected with the House of Hope, will devote the afternoons of this week to studies in kitchen gardening. Miss Mary McClees, of New York city, superintendent of kitchen garden studies at Minneapolis, will organize a normal class, and deliver a preliminary lecture at the House of Hope parlors, Fifth street, corner of Exchange street, at 3 p. m. Monday. All ladies, and especially young ladies, are invited to attend and to join in the work undertaken by the union. Early in November the young ladies of the union will hold their contemplated fair. The managers of the society for the relief of the poor have tendered them the use of a hall, and Nathan Ford has kindly placed at their service a piano.

After this Fair is over the union will make Kitchen Gardening their winter work with a view of being able thereafter to afford instruction and benefit to the children of poor families. There should be a wide interest in this laudable undertaking.

The Advent of a Musician.

Some weeks ago it was announced in the Globe that Mr. Seibert had secured the services of Mr. Henry Angelroth, the fagotto player of Bach's orchestra, of Milwaukee, and that he would soon become a resident of St. Paul. Mr. Angelroth will leave Milwaukee to-day for St. Paul, and will assist in furnishing the music for the Emma Abbott opera troupe. The fagotto is an instrument that we have wanted for a long time in St. Paul, and it is a source of great satisfaction to know that we are at last to have one, and especially that we are to have such an accomplished performer upon that instrument. Mr. Angelroth will in every sense be an addition to the musical circles of St. Paul. He was here last winter and played in Mr. Seibert's orchestra for the last concert of the choral society. Our citizens then had an opportunity to see what an important instrument the fagotto is. The Stabat Mater that was then presented could not have been given with any kind of effect or success without it.

Marriage Certificates Issued.

The following marriage certificates were issued by Clerk R. W. Bell, of the district court, for the week ending October 13:

Christian Gottlieb Geiger and Frederika Fremulle; Paul Paezold and Sophia Muer; Frank Mackovich and Mary Roxwa; Bernhard Cullen and Henry Roy; Chas. Munnik and Myr Cyllo; John R. Sullivan and Katie Cokely; Edward H. Rotterman and Annie Olesin; Timothy Woods and Honora Davis; Otto Thorworth and Anna Kuechler; Egarrth Maritz Richter and Augusta E. Nugst; Patrick Cahill and Maria Flemming; Christ Peterson and Matilda Holmquist; William H. Drake and Ella Newburgh; Russell Baker and Louisa P. Hendricks; M. G. Yungling and Lizzie Paper; W. A. ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE.

S. Blackford, proprietor of Dr. Halliday's Blood Purifier and other remedies, 274 East Seventh street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:—For the benefit of all, and especially the young men who are or will be similarly afflicted, I hereby make the following letter public: During the last two years I was afflicted with a severe case of syphilis and scrofula. No one can describe the pains and sufferings I endured. I tried nearly all advertised remedies and doctors of all schools and grades, but of no avail. I got discouraged and despaired of ever being cured, and became disgusted and tired with the continual use of medicines. I kept on growing worse and worse, until my throat became ulcerated and was a mass of sores. Finally a friend who had been cured of a severe case of scrofula through the use of your Dr. Halliday's Blood Purifier, Wash and Throat Gargle, asked me if I had ever used those remedies, and I replied "No." He then told me not to delay but to call on you at once, and he was most positive that if any thing could cure my remedies would, I had doctored with so many and used so many remedies that I did not have much faith in anything or anybody. But as a last resort I thought I would make one more attempt. I did so. After using one bottle of your Blood Purifier, Wash and Throat Gargle, I was surprised at the effect it produced on me. I kept on using the same and after I had used four bottles I was nearly fully relieved, and after three months treatment I was entirely cured and was once more a healthy man. I never felt better in my life than I do at the present date, (Oct. 6th, 1883). If anyone will call on me personally at my place of business I will tell more than I do in this letter. Thanking you most heartily, I remain, yours truly, ALBERT SMITH, No. 87 East Seventh street, St. Paul, Minn., Dealer in confectionary and fruits.

Daily for the Seventh Street Improvement

The question of the Seventh street improvement will come up before the chamber of commerce for discussion Monday (to-morrow) morning at 9:30 o'clock. Business men affected by the closing of Seventh street to travel, and tax-payers interested, are requested to be present at that time. Do prepared to demand your rights. DAYTON'S BLUFF COMMITTEE.

A Card From John J. Williams.

To the Editor of the Globe.

On August 14th I announced myself as a candidate for the office of register of deeds. While never expecting to be elected to said office, I had the object of beating C. H. Lienau out of a re-election. The nomination of R. C. Wiley by the Republicans induces me to withdraw from the contest. Old and life long Democrat (as I am well known to be), I repudiate Mr. Lienau and ask my friends to support R. C. Wiley, one of the original members of Hope Engine company and one who in the positions he has held as alderman, representative and county commissioner, has always been found an excellent, honest and industrious man. Please omit my name, Yours respectfully, JOHN J. WILLIAMS.
