MORE GOLD IN DAKOTA.

Excitement at Huron Over the Recent Discoveries of the Precious Metal.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

Huron, D. T., Nov. 23.—The gold excitement here is unabated. The celebrated Lambie went out on a prospecting tour this morning, in company with a couple of old and experienced miners, and brought to town this evening a specimen of stratified bedrock conglomerated quartz, bearing silver and gold. While on the ground a part of the sample was pulverized and showed a fine color of gold. Specialists at Chicago went to examine the specimen, which are awaited with interest. About fifty claims have been staked up and down the river.

Dakota and Montana Notes.

Devil's Lake City has a post, W. A. Rice, who suggests Ella Wheeler.

The Masons of Fargo Falls will dedicate their new temple December 4, and a grand time is expected.

A lady at Lakota attempted suicide by a dose of laudanum, but recovered and now thinks better of life.

At Watponton the cornet band will have a musical soiree with pedal accompaniments Thanksgiving night.

Crookston is having very pleasant skating soirees on the river, which has been in fine condition the past week.

Chris. Engerson, a shoemaker, at Bozeman, skipped, leaving about $300 of debts. His bank was the faro kind.

A man named Dougherty while out hunting recently near Swan lake, in Turner county, was accidentally shot and killed.

M. C. Conners, somewhat known as the cat-killing king of Dakota, has taken up a new cat-killing ranch 190 miles west of Deadwood.

Bismarck opened its splendid roller skating rink this week, and the lovers of that kind of sport are having an amount of fun.

The editor of the Sun, at Redfield, H. G. Rising, is under $1,000 bonds for saying things not often put in obituaries about C. H. Myers.

About all the farmers in the vicinity of Buffalo have petitioned for the removal of the man in charge of the elevator there. They don't like his count.

The masquerade ball at the academy of music at Helena on the night of the 22d had a remarkable display of the grotesque and elegant in costuming.

The father of Dick Hansey, of Crookston, after surviving the accidents of life for over ninety years, was struck by an engine and instantly killed recently.

E. L. and J. L. Johnson, of Valley City, are charged with collecting a debt of $75 from a man's out-garney, and the justice held them in $150 bonds for trial.

The brick-laying on the university at Grand Forks is nicely completed, and now the roof is being put on. The weather has been very favorable so far for out-door work.

Major Edwards, of the penitentiary commission, visited Bismarck Wednesday and reports the penitentiary covered in and in condition to commence the work till completed regardless of weather.

The first station south of Fargo, on the Fargo Southern, is Wild Rice, nine miles distant. Mayor Yerxa is building a branch of his extensive store there, and it promises to make quite a little village.

D. H. Cuthbert has been appointed postmaster at Helena, and the selection gives much pleasure to the residents, who have for eighteen years and holds several responsible positions in the community.

A charge of seduction against one of the young men of Fargo is found on one of the local dockets and will in time come to trial and develop incidents not altogether fragrant in their character.

A reward of $200 is offered for the arrest of Rev. Frey, the absconding clergyman at Valley City. Unless they propose to take it out in prospecting, it is not surmised how he can be made to net that amount.

Devil's Lake Pioneer Press: "Nasty Days at Devil's Lake," will probably be the title of the new book with which we are threatened by one of Pinkerton's detectives. This work ought to be interesting, if sufficiently sensational.

A Miss City, a gallant one of the recent odd nights attempted to fascinate a maiden with a serenade, "Come where my love lies dreaming," and his mistake and a bucket of soap were perceived in the same hand-point of time.

Two substantial bridges over the Red river between Fargo and Moorhead are nearly completed. It has always been a surprise to strangers that such cities separated by a narrow stream had no bridge for public use.

The wife of one of the wealthiest and oldest residents of Fargo is sojourning not very far from St. Paul, and it is alleged that grounds for divorce are not wanting. The friends of the family, however, hope that unsavory publicity may be averted.

Father Flanagan, of Fargo, went to Jamestown Monday to marry G. A. Lieber and Miss Melville McCourt, both popular and interesting young people. A large company witnessed their matrimonial advent and shared the festivities attending it.

Valley City proposes to put in a bid for the residence of the new Episcopal bishop and the literary and church institutions that go with him. A block of lots in the heart of the city and forty acres in the suburbs are proposed as an inducement.

Echelon had a little sensation recently. W. D. Luther attempted to vomit with the alleged better half of Martin Draper, leaving some debts unsettled. Martin got hold of the scheme and captured the woman, but Luther escaped. It is a puzzle why Draper wanted to stop her.

Sunday as J. H. Gilbert, a prominent business man of Grand Forks, was out riding with his wife and children, they were thrown out at a rough crossing and Mrs. G. was stunned and badly hurt in the neck and right limb. She suffers greatly, but no permanent injury is apprehended.

Two brothers named Messinger, who had been at work during the summer at Echelon, ran up a small bill and bought a farougeout of Corey & Brown and skipped. Pursuit was made and a deputy sheriff overtook one of them at Fargo and he liquidated the bills when he found he couldn't get out of it.

The home talent dramatic club at Crookston, on the night of the 22d, played the popular society drama, "Above the Clouds," the amateurs doing so well that all were surprised and delighted. Mr. H. Griffin was immense as the guardian, and Elsie Jennings and Lizzie Malone deserve special mention.

The house warming and dance at the handsome residence of Marion Grant in the thirty-first ward of St. Paul on the Southwestern railroad, on the evening of the 19th, was participated in by some fifty couples, who pronounced it one of the most sociable events ever had there. The house was well warmed.

The Reporter, in Day county, says that almost every day some one in that section falls a victim to the snake-bite. Last week Col. Simpson, on the Garfield farm, lost his barn, grain, hay, a separator and four self-binders by one of those sweeping epidemics of fire. Erick Fosha had his barn cleaned out again like lightning.

Rev. E. S. Peake, the Episcopal clergyman at Valley City, has resigned, but will continue to officiate during Christmas and Lent. He is the only clergyman of that denomination between Fargo and Bismarck, and the only resident English-speaking preacher at Valley City. There is evidently a field there for missionary labor.

CHARLEY FORD TRIED FOR ROBBERY AT LEBANON, MISSOURI.

Frank James Dying of Consumption—Zora Burns' Father on the War Path—Paroled by Being Under Age—Minor Crimes.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

LEXINGTON, Mo., Nov. 23.—The trial of Chas. Ford, charged with robbery, comes up at his home in Richmond, Mo., tomorrow. This charge is preferred against him by Mrs. Jesse James and Mrs. Zerelda Samuels, the outlaw's mother. Soon after the killing of James by the Ford boys, Mrs. James and Mrs. Samuels visited Richmond, and while there gave testimony to the grand jury against the indictment was found. During the stay of these females at Richmond the son of the lamented Jesse dispensed pebbles from his father's grave at 10c each. The little fellow derived considerable revenue from this source. The robbery with which Ford is charged occurred Thursday evening about 8 o'clock August 25, 1881, on the north side of the river immediately opposite this city. The 'bus which transferred the passengers here to the depot at North Lexington and this city was stopped by several masked men when half way between the depot and the river. The depot is about 200 yards from the river, and the 'bus was on its way home with several passengers, six of them gentlemen and one lady. Just before the 'bus was halted a mover on his way to this city lost his way, and leaving the 'bus began to walk on the right-hand side of the road. He fell into the hands of the robbers and was relieved of $30. He was then securely bound and in his presence the robbers discussed their plan of operations. One of the men was to command the driver to halt, and if he did not obey another was to shoot down one of the lead horses. While the mover was a prisoner, his wagon, driven by his brother, passed within a few yards of where the party was concealed, but the driver was not permitted to move or speak, and the driver was not halted. Taking their prisoner with them the outlaws proceeded to the roadside, and as the 'bus came along one of them called out, "All of you hold your hands and get out of there." Mr. Gibson, the driver, stopped the 'bus, and in a conversation to-day with the Globe representative said he was reminded of the robbery of the 'bus at nearly the same spot seven years earlier when he was also driver, and that he hardly knew whether he would be robbed or not, for in that robbery his money and watch were returned to him for having so promptly obeyed the order to halt. Except the lady, who was permitted to keep her seat, all the passengers were ordered to leave the 'bus and were placed side by side, with their hands above their heads, while the robbers robbed them. As the alarm was given, passengers started in pursuit. A search on the scene showed that the robbers were not mounted, which created the impression that they lived in the neighborhood. It is thought Ford will endeavor to secure a change of venue, claiming that prejudice against him is too great in Ray county to give him a fair trial.

AN ALDERMAN HORSEWHIPPED.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Three of four intoxicated young men got out of a hack in front of a respectable house on Fourth avenue in the dense fog that brooded over that unruly quarter of the city at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. As they struggled up the steps a very pretty girl, who was in the hack, was seized by the hand and thrown out of the hack. She landed with a thud on the sidewalk, and the young men, who were in the hack, were ordered to get out. The girl, who was in the hack, was seized by the hand and thrown out of the hack. She landed with a thud on the sidewalk, and the young men, who were in the hack, were ordered to get out.

IMMENSE FOREST FIRES DESTROYING MUCH PROPERTY.

RAILWAY TRAFFIC STOPPED BY FLOODS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—White river is still rising at noon, and the water was within two feet five inches of the highest mark reached last winter. The low grounds in Indiana, west side of the river, is covered and all railroads have suffered loss from overflows and small bridges being washed away. No trains over the Indianapolis & Vincennes to-day. Trains on the Vandavia are running over the Indianapolis & Bloomington track between this city and Greensboro. The Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Hamilton track to Cincinnati. No trains have gone out on the Bee line to-day.

DISASTROUS FOREST FIRE.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., Nov. 23.—A disastrous forest fire is now raging at Jackson mountain, in the vicinity of Mill Creek and extends almost to Alleenville, a distance of nine miles. About five thousand cords of wood and a like number of cords of bark, belonging to the Hon. R. R. Foster and Mr. A. R. McCarty, are destroyed. The fire extends over an area of several thousand acres of valuable timber land and is supposed to have been started by straight campers on the mountains. Jos. Straught, who had built a house on the mountain, preparatory to making a clearing, had his home destroyed, the family barely escaping with their lives.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

TERRE HAUTE, Nov. 23.—Early this forenoon John A. Martin, of West Union, Clark county, Ill., was run over and killed by a Vandalia train in this city. He had shipped a box of lumber over an engine from Marshall to Indianapolis, and in getting on the train here, after looking after his stock, fell and was run over. He was thirty-two years old and married.

RATAL FIRE.

UNIONVILLE, Mo., Nov. 23.—The house of W. H. Huston, a well-to-do farmer two miles from here, was destroyed by fire. Mrs. Huston and two children perished in the flames.

DAMAGES BY FLOODS.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23.—Latest advices regarding the recent storm in southeast Missouri put the loss in the vicinity of Piedmont at $20,000 to $30,000. It is now said that no lives were lost. The St. Francis and Black river all small streams in that section, are very high, the banks overflowed, and in numerous places much damage has been done to crops and farm property. The waters are subsiding, however, and it is hoped no further harm will be done. The railroads in this vicinity and southern Illinois are in pretty good shape again and nearly all trains are running regularly.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE REBELLION IN EGYPT.

The War Between France and China Causes Uneasiness—The British Must Occupy Egypt—France Jubilant Over Disaster in Egypt.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—The Egyptian government favors sending a strong force to Khartoum for the purpose of opening a road between Sonakem and Berber, and thus maintaining communication with Khartoum. Edmund O'Donovan, correspondent of the Daily News, recently wrote a private letter saying that he has misgivings as to the result of the Sudan expeditions.

CAIRO, Nov. 23.—Orders have been sent to the British admiral on the East Indian station to support Egyptian interests on the Red sea. He will be reinforced by gunboats from the Mediterranean squadron.

CAIRO, Nov. 23.—Colonel Cortogian, who was with Hicks Pasha, sent a telegram from Khartoum to General Sir Evelyn Wood, confirming the previous reports of the disaster to Hicks Pasha's army. He says the whole country has risen. The government asked Baker Pasha to send 1,000 genl' armies to Suakin to help clear the desert, but Baker Pasha refused to send them, thinking they were required in Upper Egypt. He stated that Tuesday offered to send 20,000 troops to re-establish the Mussulman authority in Sudan. Intense excitement prevails everywhere in Egypt and the country is not safe above the second cataract of the Nile. The Khedive ordered the evacuation of the military posts on the Blue and White Nile. The troops from the posts on the former river will be massed at Khartoum. The three principal officers at Khartoum have been ordered to consult and adopt defensive measures. If necessary Senaar will be abandoned and the troops massed at Khartoum. All recognize the necessity of immediately reopening the road between Suakin and Berber.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—The French press now expresses delight at the defeat of Hicks Pasha, because it said the Sultan and the Mussulman barbarians in Egypt will threaten Egypt's Indian empire, and France by the force of arms will be called upon to assume her old position in Egypt.

CAIRO, Nov. 23.—A telegram from Mr. Powel, the European artist who was with Hicks Pasha's expedition at Khartoum, reports the first attack by the Egyptian army successful, and he said the enemy was believed to be routed that Hicks' men accepted the guidance of an emissary of Mahdi, who led the army into a waterless d'filie and where it was annihilated.

CAIRO, Nov. 23.—DeLesseps is of the opinion that the uprising of Mahdi and his followers is not dangerous if left alone. He does not think the Mahdi can get far enough north to trouble the Suez canal. Assouman, he says, is strongly for Mahdi, and he is of the opinion that the most important point at this juncture. He thinks it to be very unwise to send English troops to Sudan as they cannot stand the climate.

BERLIN, Nov. 23.—The defeat of Hicks Pasha, by the Egyptian rebels, caused a painful sensation here, as eight German officers were with the Egyptian expedition. It is the unanimous opinion that England cannot withdraw her forces from Egypt, and that the Egyptian rebellion is a serious matter. The Egyptian rebellion is a serious matter. The Egyptian rebellion is a serious matter.

VIENNA, Nov. 23.—The Presse publishes a report from Major Seckendorf, with Hicks Pasha. Major Seckendorf depicts the misery of the troops, owing to the scarcity of water. Mahdi, he wrote, possessed 15,000 breeding brood rifles, fourteen guns and numerous excellent soldiers. He had his own personal fancies and would fearlessly ride to death. Hicks Pasha had 10,000 men, 6,000 camels and many pack horses and mules, baggage proved a great impediment. The letter concludes: "If our cavalry suffices for outpost duty, success is possible otherwise the issue will be very disastrous. If we are defeated not a soul will return and the entire Sudan will be irretrievably lost, since all natives will believe Mahdi is the Messiah."

ALL AROUND THE GLOBE.

No further tidings of the lost steamer Manistowic. The negotiations between France and China seem again to have become friendly. At the close of the third night's billiard party at Brussels, carner had 1,800 and Daly 1,777. An express train on the Pennsylvania railroad struck a wagon killing two persons and seriously injuring a third. By the collision of the steamers Evian and Onych on Lake Geneva, Switzerland, twenty persons were drowned. The Will of the People, nihilist organ, gives a harrowing description of those arrested for political offenses in Russia. The details are revolting. The father of Zora Burns arrived at Lincoln, Ill., but had no mob with him. He said he came to bring letters, as he did not wish to trust the mails. It is said that his mind is unbalanced.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—The Milwaukee & St. Paul and Central Iowa roads gave notice of their intention to withdraw from the agreement made November 10 to maintain passenger rates from Des Moines to the expiration of thirty days from November 20. Both assert they have no intention to inaugurate a passenger war.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—A verdict for $50,000 was given in the United States circuit court to-day against Albert B. Sionaker, of this city, formerly collector of internal revenue, Philadelphia, in a suit brought by the government to recover the amount of the bond of Benj. B. Emery, the defaulting collector of internal revenue of the Third district, Mississippi.
