A small audience gathered at Penoc's Opera house last night to witness a satisfactory entertainment. Matinee at Penoc Opera house this afternoon.

The bottom has fallen out of the agreement between the boss cooper to advance the price of barrels, and consequently the old rates have been re-established.

On May 1 the water works department sent out bills for water rent. Yesterday one of the patrons of the system received one of those bills, it having laid in the postoffice since May 1.

The park appraisers were in session yesterday afternoon to hear complaints from parties whose property is to be condemned for park purposes. The report will be given this afternoon.

Oscar Davis, the horse thief, had his preliminary examination before Judge Bailey yesterday, resulting in his being held to the grand jury in bonds in the sum of $500. He was remanded to the county jail in default of bail.

J. D. Mahoney & Co., the clothiers at 29 Washington avenue south, have made an assignment to Felix Trainor for the benefit of creditors, after the serving of a writ of attachment at the instance of Reed, Dalley & Beaman to recover $969.40.

The second presentation of Daly's "7-20-8" drew a light audience last evening. The play is a success, and the people generally good. Mrs. Heron being exceptionally so. A matinee will be given this afternoon and the engagement closes to-night.

Yesterday afternoon the fire department responded to an alarm from box 16, and on reaching Washington and Sixteenth avenues south, discovered there was nothing on fire but a baby blanket. The blanket was somewhat injured but the baby was O. K.

Officers of Humboldt Lodge, No. 4, O. D. H. S., have been installed as follows: President, T. Schultz; vice president, J. Fetting; financial secretary, S. Miller; treasurer, Charles Malchow; representatives, grand lodge, A. Norenberg, Charles Malchow and E. Stein.

Agnes, the beloved daughter of Mr. Peter O'Connor, formerly of this city, died of consumption in the twentieth year of her age at her father's residence in San Jose, California. The young lady possessed many amiable qualities, and her death will be regretted by all who knew her.

Morgan Robinson, who is charged with shooting P. J. McCormick, on Hoag's lake a few weeks ago, and who is out on bonds for an examination, appeared in the municipal court yesterday but owing to McCormick's still being unable to appear the examination was continued until January 16.

Last Friday two checks, with the signature of H. F. Brown, the lumberman, forged, were used by a stranger. Daniel Harbach, a Fourteenth avenue south grocery man, cashed one for $13.60, and one for $18 was used in the purchase of a suit of clothes at 1303 North Washington avenue. The checks were made payable to the order of Sylvester Terry. The forger is at large.

Susan Fuller, fifty years of age, has commenced a suit for divorce from James A. Fuller, who is fifty-four years old. The complaint states that she has been treated by her husband with cruelty, indifference and neglect; that in the month of December, 1878, he abandoned her and that for five years previous to that date he had refused to contribute toward the support of plaintiff and the children. They were married in Indiana thirty-two years ago.

George M. Frey filed an action yesterday praying for a divorce from Etta A. Frey who he married in this city on the 17th of July, 1882. They lived together as husband and wife until the 10th of November last, when they separated, in consequence of repeated acts of adultery by the defendant with various men in this city. Since the 15th of March, 1883, defendant is accused of conducting an active correspondence with C. E. Dimoon and on the 30th of last November she is charged with committing adultery with one George Gienn. Plaintiff is forty-three years old and defendant thirty-seven.

Rev. Geo. A. Hood, who has served as pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church for the last seven years, resigned the pastorate last Thursday evening.

Decidedly Tax.

By virtue of the new municipal court act, the work of prosecuting felons in Hennepin county devolves upon the county attorney, who is paid a competent salary for the work. To say that our county attorney is lax in the discharge of the duties of his office in this particular is drawing it mild. A short time since the Globe chronicled a case where one Thos. Miller was examined upon the charge of stealing a diamond pin of the value of $125. When he was arrested he virtually confessed his guilt and furthermore agreed to deliver up the stolen property. This fact was testified to by Sergeant of Police McKernan, and corroborated by other witnesses. Yet through awkward management of the case by an employee of the county attorney's office, the defendant was discharged.

Yesterday in the municipal court was another flagrant instance which should be made public.

John Miller (who is none other than Thos. Miller of the diamond larceny case) William Woodcock, Henry Keenan and Michael Kain were arraigned and examined upon the charge of breaking into a Northern Pacific freight car and stealing a barrel of whisky and some forty pairs of shoes. There was conclusive proof of the guilt of the prisoners. In fact one of the witnesses, Keenan, turned state's evidence and confessed the whole matter. The whisky was sold to an East Side dealer and the shoes were secreted, and afterwards recovered by the detectives. The chain of evidence was complete, but when the case was brought into court the state failed to prove jurisdiction and also failed to prove that the property was in the custody of the Northern Pacific Railway company; nor did it prove ownership. Attorney Knittle for the defense moved a dismissal and the court was compelled to accord it. So again was the end of justice defeated.

If this loose, slipshod manner of running the important office of county attorney is continued, what encouragement will the police department have for making arrests? The greater the criminal, it seems, the more certain he is of being discharged for petty thieves and defendants guilty of simple misdemeanors are usually found guilty and either pay their fines or serve their sentences.

These are not the only cases which might be cited. It is high time some measures were taken by the authorities to secure the conviction of criminals in Hennepin county.

WHERE HAS THE MONEY GONE?

A deficiency of the Moorhead Treasury amounting from $6,000 to $10,000—The Treasurer Fatally Ill.

[Special Telegram to the Globe.]

Fargo, D. T., Jan. 4.—It is stated now that Mayor Buras, of Moorhead, resigned on account of an empty city treasury, and an unaccounted for deficit of from $6,000 to $10,000. A check of $1,050 was paid interest on the city bonds drawn on the bank, where the treasurer deposits was sent to protest. The council met to-night and made provisions for the payment of the check. The treasurer is seriously, perhaps fatally ill, and this is alleged by his friends as a reason of the condition of the city funds. Peter Cizek is the treasurer.

The Gambling Act.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 4.—Judge Smith, of the superior court, rendered a decision today, declaring unconstitutional the act of the legislature, under which damages could be recovered from the owners of houses in which money had been lost by gambling. The principal reason given by the court is that the constitution provides that each act of legislature shall have a title, and that only one subject is to be embraced in any one act.

Reaching a Crisis.

CAIRO, Jan. 4.—The relations between England and Egypt are strained. Egypt sent a note to Great Britain, pointing out the present state of things in Egypt which cannot continue, and asking a final decision upon the Sudan question. If England refuses the assistance asked, the khedive and his ministry are determined to abandon to Turkey Eastern Sudan, and reduce the Egyptian tribute to the port. The Egyptian troops will then be concentrated in Egypt proper, thus giving a force of 15,000 men to protect the frontier without the aid of the English army. Evelyn Baring thinks the 15,000 men insufficient for this service.

The Iron Business Looking Up.

PRITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 4.—The number of idle men in the city at present is unusually large, owing to the glass strike and the depression of the iron and coal trade. An advertisement in the labor column of a paper on Wednesday for twenty coal miners elicited three hundred responses in twenty-four hours. A prominent labor leader claimed to-day, that if advertised for a thousand men to work on the streets

DAKOTA & MONTANA

OUR NORTHWESTERN NEIGHBORS.

Train Derailed.

The passenger train on the Southwestern branch of the Northern Pacific coming from Lisbon toward Fargo was derailed by a broken rail near Sheldon this evening, the cars being thrown on their sides in the snow. No passengers were hurt; a brakeman slightly. The passengers came through to Fargo on the snow plow. Between Lisbon and Lorraine a cut is filled with snow which will take a week to shovel through.

Dakota and Montana Notes.

Orisha has no saloon or dramatic club, and feels lonesome.

The first deed ever filed for record at Bismarck was ten years ago.

The county of McHenry, in the Mouse river country, wants to be organized.

D. F. Polk, of Fargo, claims that his traffic is in articles of virtue, not virtue.

Nothing was done in the libel suit to-day owing to the absence of a juror living ten miles in the county.

The handsome new Syndicate block a New Rochford, in Foster county, will soon be turned over to the proprietors.

The Aberdeen grist mill has named one of its best barrels of flour O-day. The name is not unpopular there it seems.

It is supposed that insurance rates in north Dakota will be advanced 23 per cent. on account of the number of recent losses.

The signal service station at Moorhead gave the temperature last night at 43 he low zero, which is one below the lowest last winter.

Jamestown is not in the dumps over its $100,000 fire, but will show its wonted pluck in putting up better buildings at once in place of those burned.

Ellendale, the northern terminus of the Northwestern railroad, is trying to secure a telephone exchange with Aberdeen, Colorado, La Moure and other vicinity towns.

In a recent item the dropping of a figure 1 in a statement of the amount of building in Fargo the past year made a difference of a million dollars. The true figures were $1,100,000.

There will be no January term of court at Mitchell, as the vacancy on the bench is not filled, and Judge Edgerlon will not get through at Yankton for a month. It will hold at Mitchell in March.

The insurance on Geo. Peeples' $10,000 of property burned at Bismarck, on the 1st, would have expired in twelve days, and he would very likely have failed to renew at once and get the $7,500.

The town of Billings in Montana is in a frenzy of delight over the prospect that its godfather, Hon. Fred Billings is to be the president of the Northern Pacific railroad. He has been liberal in benefactions to the place.

Petitions are in circulation in Grand Forks in favor of the Standish timber bill over the Nelson one. Mr. Standish claims that he gives the poor man a chance to cut timber, while the Nelson one is in the interest of the Minnesota ring.

The name of Col. Morton, the wealthy real estate boomer, is used in connection with the editorship of the Democratic paper claimed to be on the docket in Fargo. The colonel is a regular blizzard with the pen, but will resist upon making the religious department a leading feature.

The grocery men at Grand Forks have been astounded at the discovery recently made that numerous parties in town have obtained their groceries in a furtive way, many boxes being found at different points with no mention of the matter on the books. They object to this method of doing business, and are trying to annoy some of the parties engaged in it.

J. J. Kissner, county commissioner and A. L. Wm. O'Neil, are at the head of the project to erect a fine, first class hotel on Broadway. They are men of enterprise and abundant capital, and if they take hold of it, its success is assured. It is not a credit to Fargo that Moorhead has two hotels superior to either of its public caravansaries. Fargo needs a first class hotel badly.

The Fargo Evening — teamed with the advertisements and reports of the remarkable cures effected by Dr. Mayemore, a reputed Egyptian physician, who inherited all the medical lore of that country in ever so many thousand years, but the Dr. did out between two days, leaving the Evening sunk in financial grief, and it now pronounces him the most notorious quack, dead beat and charlatan that ever disgraced the profession. The Dr. is said to be a German, who makes unintelligible par for occult wisdom.

The dispatch to one of the St. Paul papers announcing a duel in prospect between Prof. I. Irving Crabble and B. A. Maglone, was purely a flight of imagination. The professor had already "been started," as one of the local papers puts it, toward St. Paul, and Mr. Maglone who is private secretary of the secretary of the Fargo Southern, has interests in Iowa that would not allow him to offer his life upon a false oed of honor, at least if he is a native of the south, and has blood that heats rapidly. He has the moral courage to spit upon the duello system, and would sooner take his own life than that of another or bring discredit to the fair denizens of Barr Oak.

A Good Showing.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 4.—The Manufacturers Record publishes an article, showing the remarkable increase of the cotton manufacturing interests in the south the last three years. Figures show that now there are 314 cotton mills in the south having 1,276,422 spindles and 24,873 looms, while in 1880 there were only 180 mills with 718,590 spindles and 12,920 looms. In 1880 the value of manufactured cotton produced was a little over $21,000,000, while in 1883 it had risen to $40,000,000. During the last three and a half years, about $20,000,000 have been invested by the new and old cottonmills in machinery and western machinery manufacturers.

Cold Weather.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—This has been the coldest day of the present winter, the thermometer being 14 below at 9 a. m. At 11 a. m. it rose to 12, and at 10 o'clock had fallen to 14 below. At Omaha the thermometer quoted 17 below, and at Dubuque 26 below at 9 this morning.

A Strike About Over.

TROY, N. Y., Jan. 4.—The Times is gradually increasing its force of compositors, and it appears as usual. The proprietors, editors and reporters are still setting type. There will be no inconvenience after to-day.

at a dollar and ten cents to-day he would have five thousand applicants inside of a week. The reports, however, from various iron mills show a better condition of things than was anticipated a month ago. Nearly all the iron and steel mills are now running, with fair prospects of an increase of business during the present month. The Republic Iron works, on the "outh side, shut down for some time on account of a break, will start on Monday, with plenty of business to keep them going steadily. The Black Diamond Steel works are about to lay a train of the largest rolls in the world. There are several other mills now working double time. There seems to be a growing demand for iron, and manufacturers are daily growing more hopeful, as the business is increasing and the outlook is more encouraging.

BID ME GOOD-BY.

Bid me good-by! No sweeter salutation Can I receive than "Good-bye" from you. Not yet can any language, any nation, A sweeter I receive.

It is not final; it forbodes no sorrow, As some declare, Who, born to frettings, are so prone to borrow To-morrow's share.

Good-by is but a prayer, a benediction From lips sincere; And breathed by thine it brings a sweet conviction That God will hear.

Good-by! yes, "God be with you"—prayer and blessing. In simplest phrase; Alike our need and his dear care conferring In all our ways.

However rare or frequent be our meeting, However high The last, long parting or the endless greeting, Bid me good-by!

THE PATENT CAR-COUPLER.

How the Description of the Growth of St. Paul Strikes Outsiders. [St. Cloud Times.]

The St. Paul Globe of Monday printed a sixteen page edition, giving a full exhibit of St. Paul's growth and prosperity. It is a glorious showing well described. It shows that St. Paul has 8,000 miles of trade railroad; that her jobbing trade for 1883 was $81,000,000, an increase over the previous year of $12,000,000; that her building improvements amounted to nearly $11,000,000; that she is securing some of the finest public and private structures in the west, and that she is one of the most active and energetic cities in the United States. [Gleason Register.]

The St. Paul Globe of last Monday morning was a boomer. It presented in a sixteen page issue a review of the improvements made and the business done in St. Paul during the past twelve months, contains fine illustrations of some of the principal public buildings and business houses built during the past year. The grand aggregate of money expended on buildings and other improvements during the year is shown to have been $10,865,447. The wholesale trade of the city foots $81,352,000, showing an increase over the business of 1882, of $11,671,000. The grocery trade has led all other departments. These figures tell a marvellous story of the growth and prosperity of the capital city. [St. Cloud Times.]

The St. Paul Daily Globe came out with a double number on Monday last, giving a full history and record of all the improvements made in that city during the past year. Many of the most notable buildings were finely illustrated, thus showing the enterprise of that wide awake printing establishment.

A Boom for Davis. [St. James Journal.]

Ex-Governor C. K. Davis is having quite a "boom" for member of congress to succeed Mr. Washburn from the Fourth district. The "boom" is not one of fulsome flattery, but comes from sincere liking and a knowledge of the worth of the man. No man stands higher in the estimation of the people in this state than Mr. Davis. He would make a good congressman; and even a seat in the United States senate would not be too much for his abilities.

Dark Hints. [Gleason Enterprise.]

It is hinted that the state inspector of oils, H. A. Castle, is not paying as much attention to oils as they need. As evidence, it is brought forward that the oils are poorer than ever before. Other hints are given, and it is from which one might infer that considerable money was being made by some one.

The Greasy Dispatch. [St. Cloud Times.]

The St. Paul Dispatch, in its worthy war with the Globe is becoming positively intense. This may be attributed to the enforcement of ordinance No. 10.

ALBERT LEA.

The county commissioners are in session at the auditor's office.

For the sum of $500, Andrew J. Luther, of Bancroft, has bought Hyden's stallion, Pat. Gilmore.

Capt. Schlander and L. E. Dunn, both of this city, are building a roller skating rink at Fairbank.

The State Normal School board have examined County Supt. Levens chairman of the examining committee, who visit the different normal schools of the state.

The other night while strongly blew the cutting wind most keenly, of adamant must that heart have been that stole an overcoat from the back of a poor helpless dummy, who was standing in the front of the One Price Clothing store.

Mayor Hall and C. H. Farnsworth, American Express agent, have bought the right to introduce in this city the Bell telephone, and will soon begin to set up at low rates. Mayor Hall was induced to go into the business for the accommodation of his many guests. It is no adage but a well conceded fact that Mr. Hall sleeps with an eye open to his own personal business and general welfare of the city.

Senator W. P. Sergeant and J. A. Fuller intended next spring to build on Mr. Sergeant's lots north of the postoffice, where Mr. Sergeant's lumber yard now is, a roller skating rink. The hall for skating will be 60x100 with additional rooms for dressing, smoking and refreshment of all kinds. It is not necessary to say that they intend to make this in every respect a first class institution.

Lake Superior Mining.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 4.—A gentleman from Cleveland who is in the city says the Lake Superior ore trade is in worse condition for two or three months than it has been for ten years. Several of the best mines in the region are idle, and those running are owned by the largest and wealthiest corporations who are restricting the output at least half. The ore of best quality is selling at Cleveland at $6 a ton, which is lower than for many years. At this price there is only a profit of 50 cents a ton, which is recognized to be the royalty or worth at the mines.

with a heavy set, with prominent features, his motions are slow, languid and awkward. His head is thick, and anything but imposing. He wears a full beard, crooked short. Forehead and eyes are meaningless, and special characteristics are wanting entirely. Never should I suspect this man, who neglects his outward appearance in an almost execrable manner, to be the statesman who conducted the affairs of one of the greatest nations of the world, never the general who has won brilliant victories. Gen. Grant was with us on almost the entire journey. I have traveled with him for thousands of miles and had more chance to look at him closely. But the more searchingly I looked into his face the less remarkable it appeared to me. He looks exactly like a harmless brewer from a medium-sized country town who has got along in the world.

"Very interesting, however, is the head of a third of the honored guests, of Mr. Everts, formerly secretary of state, who is considered one of the greatest orators and wittiest after-dinner talkers in the United States. This he knows, of course, very well, and the minute he opens his mouth his whole face is lit up by a feeling of sovereign superiority, of self-contentment and imperturbable assurance. This month has been created, and about this time it is easily seen. It possesses the agility, the vivacious and its dimensions are of the proudest. The mouth is the ruling feature of this face. No mustache is permitted to hide the strong lips, their wrinkled surroundings and the cheering apparatus. The face is a small one, cut sharp, and has a shrewd expression, which is anything but winsome. Everts looks like an actor who is strong in low comedy and in character parts."

End of a Dueling Society. [Alta California.]

Early in the nineteenth century there was a dueling society in Charleston (S. C.), where each member took precedence according to the number of persons he had killed or wounded in duels, and about this time an Englishman, who had just returned from a tour of duty in the army, arrived at Charleston to look after some property which had devolved upon him by right of marriage with a lady of that city, and soon after got into an altercation with the president of the dueling club, who challenged the stranger, and was accepted. Early the following morning eight or ten gentlemen called upon the Englishman and informed him that they had a duel with him, and he declined, and added that, although the members of the society were generally of the wealthy class, the organization was held in disrepute by the more respectable citizens, and that he would
