

PEN AND SCISSORS.

California. A portion of the testimony in the late trial of the Irish laboring men against the Chinese, says the San Francisco Times, tends to show that after the rioters had collected from different quarters and formed into an irregular column, they marched to the scene of disturbance with the American flag unfurled above their ranks. It was also in testimony shown that several of the rioters had on their faces recently arrived in the country from Europe, and thus signified their derelict and a disgraceful violation of the laws of the country which they came to seek homes and protection. In addition to this, it was in proof that not a single American citizen by birth was found among the rioters; but, on the other hand, the persons, next to the Chinese workmen, sought to be most injured, were native-born. Captain H. B. Shalleross, United States Marshal, and the late late Governor Dana, has gone to Nevada Valley to make arrangements for carrying a line of coaches between Calistoga Springs and Clear Lake. This will open a new field to tourists. William Jones was recently so badly injured at Deadwood, Siskiyou County, by a rock falling on him while sluicing, that he died in a few hours. An extensive coal mine has been discovered by C. F. Ellsworth and others, near South Fork Shasta county, Cal. The coal is said to be of excellent quality. C. T. Houston, a well-known dealer in live stock, died at St. Mary's hospital, San Francisco, on Monday, February 25th, from an attack of paralysis. Green peas, raised in the open air, have made their appearance in San Francisco. The mill of Lathiers & Alexander, seven miles from Mendocino, Cal., was destroyed by fire on the night of March 24th. There are now seven hundred convicts incarcerated in San Quentin. The blasting down of Blossom Rock in San Francisco harbor is going on successfully. In San Francisco the French Republicans celebrated lately the anniversary of the Revolution, of 1848, by a banquet at Turn Verein Hall. Three of the rioters in San Francisco were sentenced to three months imprisonment and fined five hundred dollars each. The Dispatch says: A boulder, containing 210 pounds of quartz and 36 pounds of pure gold was found ten days ago at Pilot Hill, Eldorado county. San Francisco papers of the 12th say: The Miner's Foundry has completed the manufacture of a large quantity of amalgamating machinery for the St. Louis and Montana Mining Company, and it will be shipped to Montana, via Virginia, Austin and Salt Lake. Judge Sawyer rendered the decision, on the 11th inst., that a newspaper article intending to ensure a class of persons, and not an individual, is not libellous. The suit was brought by Eban Johnson against the Bulletin. Meetings of those who are opposed to the employment of Chinese in the State, were held on the 9th inst., in several wards in San Francisco, for the purpose of organizing district and coöperative associations. One hundred and forty-two persons were reduced to half that number in San Francisco, during the month of February, by each couple making common stock of their homes and flesh. The Marysville Appeal, of yesterday, says the main channel of the Yuba river is now running directly through the Quintay Ranch. Rev. J. J. Moore, (colored) in writing to the African paper in San Francisco, indulges thusly: "We have again mingled with the tributaries of the populace of those regions where the Pacific's winged lips kiss the feet of the golden Sierras, whose princely chain forms part of our continental verge, where nature's waning shadows bathe their last forms in the yellow tinge of the sun's departing rays as he sinks upon his golden wings beneath twilight's brow." Prof. Stillman arrived in San Francisco by one of the last steamers.

Nevada.

The Carson Appeal says: The State breathes free, the Third Nevada Legislature having expired by the grace of God, and a provision of the Constitution. The great Sutro tunnel stock company is receiving large subscriptions. The Empire, Savage, Hale & Norcross and Gould & Curry companies subscribed $265,000 toward the enterprise. It will be a necessity in two or three years, and the prosecution of the work now, will avoid years of business stagnation, should it be neglected until the companies have worked out all they can from the surface. The Spanish mill at Empire city, is now unemployed. It demands a huge monument of the rockless expenditure that characterized milling and mining operations in early days. A single lode in Nevada is turning out more silver and gold annually than did the famous mines of Potosi, in their palmy days, and which at one time built up a city of 160,000 inhabitants. Missouri Democrat. The calico ball given for the benefit of the poor, yielded the handsome sum of $1,000. The Enterprise says: During the past two weeks Theall & Co. have assayed bullion to the amount of $84,416 95, and Kuhl, $5,908 75; a total of $90,325 70. Of this bullion, about three tons still remains in the city and is but a very small portion of that awaiting transportation to California. Eastman, who was shot in the head a night or two since, by his former wife, will be all right in a few days. Town lots are selling in the new town of Belmont at $500 to $1,000. Notwithstanding the season, building is brisk. Lumber costs $200 per thousand. It will be a lively place this summer. The Empire-Imperial shaft has attained a depth of 800 feet. The largest letter mail ever received in Virginia, arrived on the 7th inst., from California. The men recently injured by the bursting of the boiler, at the Gold Hill Foundry will all recover.

Idaho.

The World of the 2d says: By notice of meeting of our city merchants, elsewhere given in this paper, it will be seen that the agreement entered into Jan. 7th to regulate the price of gold dust, has been set aside, and all are left free to take dust at whatever rates they severally please. The old rate of $16 per ounce will generally prevail. The Lewiston Journal of the 23d ult., says Messrs. Grostine and Alexander's pack train left here on Sunday last for Wallula, having been engaged to pack to Montana, for Mr. McNamee, at twenty-five cents per pound. Geo. F. Thomas contemplates the establishment of a stage line between Walla Walla, in Washington Territory, and Brown's Mountain House, or Mount Idaho, in this Territory. Coaches are to be put on the line early in the spring. Waggoner's bridge on the Palouse is finished and ready for travel. One hundred and thirty-three and one-third feet in the discovery claims of the Empire quartz lode, on War Eagle, have been sold recently for fifteen dollars per foot, and the money paid. This indicates "business." It is reported that the Sherman ledge, in Flint district, has been sold to Chicago parties.

Colorado.

The Times says: Mr. Maynard, Commissioner elect to the World's Fair, went as far as New York, and "weakened" on the remainder of the trip—for want of funds being furnished by you all of Colorado. The specimens, etc., he will have to go through per Mr. Whitney, of Boston, who is "going anyhow." This is the second best thing that he could do, seeing that no representative to the Paris Exposition could wisely venture on that mission, on his own hook, without "purse or scrip" from his constituents. In an editorial in the News, Dr. Wharton, who has just returned from the East, expresses his belief that it is not fully decided to build the U. P. R. over the Lodge Pole route, heretofore announced. The Transcript is responsible for the following: In a certain Good Templar Lodge of Colorado, no matter now where, but not a hundred miles off, a discussion came up a few weeks ago as to whether or not cider should be tabooed. A young lady who got thoroughly warmed up in the affirmative, after a spirited (y) prelude, glowingly described the goodness and usefulness of that beverage, closed with this significant declaration: "Brethren, cider in the States was a necessity to me, and is still. I must have it—shall have it whenever I can get it. If you rule it out, I shall have to eat apples and 'get some of the boys to squeeze you!' exclaimed one of the boys. Late New York mining journals quote Colorado stocks: Smith & Parmelee at $7.25; Sensenderfer, $26 to $27; Quartz Hill, $5.50; Gunnell, $1.10; Corydon, $10; Con. Gregory, $12.50; Bates & Baxter, $2.00.

Utah.

The Telegraph says: Tuesday night, March 12, was by some 10° the coldest night of the winter. The sky was cloudless and the thermometer fell to 3° below zero, in the open air. The Vedette says: We learn from a passenger on the Eastern coach which arrived on Thursday night, that seven men who were employed by Wells, Fargo & Co. to haul grain on the road, were overtaken by the last snow storm, and had been badly frozen. Our informant says that he met them at Bromley's, at the head of Echo Canyon; they had left their wagons on the road, and were barely able to crawl to a place of shelter. All were more or less frost-bitten, and their ears and toes were frozen so severely as to render amputation in several instances almost absolutely necessary. The Standish train of 20 wagons, started yesterday for the Salmon river mines. They are laden with flour, groceries, and an assortment of goods required by the miners of that country. Mr. Standish expects to arrive at his point of destination in about twenty-five days. He has bet a suit of clothes on it, and if the trip can be made he is the man to make it. Mr. J. S. Woods started with his train for California on Sunday last; the party consisted of six. Among the number was Mr. Louis A. Scott, who has for a long time been engaged in the store of Messrs. Gilbert & Sons, Mr. Woods, we learn, intends to drive a large stock of cattle to California.

FROM BLACKFOOT.

Mining Prospects—Arrivals and Departures—Oliver's Express, etc.

(From our own Correspondent.)

EDITOR POST: Blackfoot is at last beginning to get over the effects of the severe winter, and miners who have been wintering in Deer Lodge, Helena, and other pleasant places, are returning daily and beginning to make preparations for work.

A great deal of snow has fallen here this winter, and the high winds that have prevailed made it very unpleasant, yet the weather was not extremely cold until the tenth of the present month. On the mornings of the 11th, 12th and 13th, the mercury stood at 26, 30 and 34 degrees below zero. Before that 18° below was the coldest.

There has been a little work going on all winter in three claims, and some prospecting done on quartz leads. As soon as the weather will permit, work will be commenced in earnest, and the bar below town will be swarming with men. They expect to take out more money this season than last. The only drawback apprehended is a scarcity of laboring men, as all who were not owners of pretty good ground have gone to the Salmon mines. Extensive preparations are being made to work the rich gulches west of this; Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson, McClellan, California and Nevada, and companies are putting up hydraulic works on many bars in the foot hills. Local items are very scarce. Not a murder, fire or marriage has taken place this winter, and but one death. Under the head of arrivals, there are four; all boys, and "bouncers" too. Taking into consideration the fact that there are but seven or eight families here, I consider that doing pretty well. The scarcity of ladies has prevented many dances, and as that ancient and honorable order, the "Gander Club," has never been established here, the boys are necessarily thrown upon their own resources for enjoyment. Sixteen stores and taverns have been open all winter and doing a driving business. The mail and express has been running with great regularity, every other day, all winter, from Helena to this place and on through to Hell Gate, for which great favors we are deeply indebted to Oliver & Co. On the coldest day this winter their driver crossed the summit of the mountains, making his regular time. Private letters from Walla Walla report large amounts of merchandise already on the way to this place. If they ever reach here I will give you some more ITEMS.

Blackfoot, March 20, 1867.

FROM ATLANTIC CITY.

After the Storm—Eagle Gulch—Quartz Prospecting, etc.

EDITOR POST: Since my last, but very little progress has been made toward mining around our little city. The weather has been so severe as to render out-door labor impossible, and we were obliged to remain close in our cabins, or run the risk of freezing. The exact state of the thermometer I cannot tell, as we are not possessed of the article; yet, as Paddy remarked, "It must have been at the lowest stage of discovery." But, at this writing, the sun is shedding his warmth and splendor around us, filling the hearts of the anxious and impatient with cheer, and all are again applying their strength, after their rest, with renewed vigor. The more they work the more confident are they of success. They are nearly all old and experienced miners. The snow here is about three feet on the level.

That new camp—Eagle gulch—of which I spoke in my last, is, according to reliable persons from there, turning out finely, and is prospecting even better than at first reported. Several parties from this gulch, who were not possessed of ground, have gone there and are taking out pay dirt, and getting ready for sluicing as soon as water can be obtained. There is a party of men from this gulch prospecting in the vicinity of Eagle gulch, and last reports were confident of a strike; but it requires much labor in prospecting, as the bed-rock is wet and a drain ditch is necessary, which they are now at work upon. I will report the result at the earliest opportunity. Your paper is received quite regularly and is always perused with interest, and, among our people, stands ahead.

Truly yours, NEAL, Atlantic City, Lost Horse Gulch, March 17, '67.

Why Prince Albert was not a Mason.

The Thornhill Recollections, discoursing on the Masonic participants in the ceremonies of the bridal anniversary of Victoria, answers the question respecting Prince Albert: Some there were who questioned the propriety of any Masonic demonstration, on the ground of the Prince not being a frater, nor yet the son of one; but though this be true, the Royal Family have been so intimately connected with Freemasonry that it would have ill become the brethren to have remained quiescent amid the universal outbursts of loyalty which the nuptials of the daughter of his late Royal Highness Bro., the Duke of Kent, had called forth; for to the father of Her Majesty were the Craft laid under the deepest obligations. One of the most accomplished of British Craftsmen, he rendered signal service in the reorganization in Scotland of the degree of Knight Templar at a period in the history of the high grades when these had become so identified with illegitimate Masonry as to lead to their repudiation by all who wished to see Royal Arch and Knight Templary placed under the jurisdiction of properly constituted heads in each country; and the wise and energetic steps taken by the Duke of Kent to facilitate the erection of the Supreme Grand Encampment of Scotland, led ultimately to the formation of the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland.

It is well known that the late lamented father of the Prince of Wales declined to become a Free Mason, when on a visit with Her Majesty to this country some years ago, and was invited by the Grand Lodge of Scotland to do so, but it is not so generally known that the death of Bro., the Duke of Sussex, had an important bearing with regard to the connection of Prince Albert with Free Masonry. From the period of Victoria's accession to the throne, her uncle, the Duke of Sussex, had been her principal adviser and guide, and acting the part of a father to his youthful sovereign, he it was who gave her way to Prince Albert at the altar in the Chapel Royal, St. James Palace, six and twenty years ago. The Duke was then the Grand Master Mason of England, and holding such a prominent position among the Craft, and at the same time continuing to occupy, to some extent, the position of counselor to the young couple, it may naturally be inferred that Freemasonry would, in his frequent interviews with the Prince, form the subject of conversation. That such was really the case was placed beyond doubt, it being stated on the authority of the London Freeman's Magazine, that "prior to the last illness of the Duke of Sussex, it had been arranged to have a special meeting of a lodge at Kensington Palace for the purpose of initiating Prince Albert, but the death of his Royal Highness caused the postponement of the ceremony. Subsequently, under the advice of Sir Robert Peel, that he should not in any way connect himself with any party in the State, the Prince abstained from joining the Order—Sir Robert, who was not a Mason, evidently having formed an erroneous impression of the Craft, not being aware how studiously Freemasons, as such, keep themselves aloof from politics. Had the Duke of Sussex, then, not died at the time he did, in all probability the late Prince Consort would have joined the Fraternity, and as a Lewis the Prince of Wales might ere this have claimed the privileges belonging to one in that favored position.

AN IDEA IN BUTTONS.—Among the new inventions is a button which is fastened to the cloth without thread. It consists solely of a button with a wire to be inserted into the cloth like a cork-screw, and then pressed down flat, so as to form a ring to hold the button in its place. As this invention will enable men to keep the buttons on their shirts, it is calculated to do away with wives altogether.

PROFITS OF PATENTS.—A sewing machine, which costs the manufacturer but twenty dollars, sell for one hundred dollars; mowing machines, which cost thirty dollars, sell for one hundred and forty dollars. A small machine for sawing wood, recently invented, and which costs but eight dollars to construct, is being sold for thirty dollars. Indian rubber goods, and many fancy articles, sell for a much greater advance on the price of manufacture.

THE LAKE TUNNEL.—The lake tunnel is now completed, says the Chicago Evening Journal, the chambers have been walled up and the whole bored lined and cemented. In a day or two, the link connecting a temporary well with the tunnel will be finished, and our citizens will be furnished with pure water. The work on the new water works is progressing satisfactorily, considering the weather, but it will be some time yet before the old pumps will be dispensed with.
