MINING MATTERS.

THE LAKES.

Into the saddle again, and leading off up the range to the southeast, a ride of six miles over a good mountain road brings us to the Crater Lakes, a cluster of beautiful lakes, on the very summit of the range, ten in number and containing an aggregate water surface of not less than fifty acres, varying in depth from five to fifty feet.

THE CHRISTENING MILL.

A mile to the south, we strike the lime and granite formation again, and winding in and out of deep ravines, plentifully timbered, over a mile of graded road, the turn of a huge projecting point brings in view the hamlet of Alpine picturesque known as Union City.

ounces of retort. Twenty-five hands are at present employed, which will be increased to forty in a few days. The Oro Cache, rock from which costs $25 per ton delivered at the mill will be abandoned for the present, and rock taken from the General Grant lode, which can be delivered at $5 per ton.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

Colorado. The Register says: Captain E. L. Berthoud, who has been appointed Chief Engineer by the Colorado Central and Pacific R. Co., proceeds at once to work on the survey from Golden City to a junction with the Union Pacific, northeast of the mouth of the Cache-a-la-Poudre, at the nearest point. He is instructed to run two lines—one striking the south fork of Coal Creek, down that stream and Boulder to St. Vrain's Fork of the South Platte to a junction with the U. P. R. Another line will be run up the Platte to the mouth of Clear Creek, thence up the Platte to Denver, thence up Clear Creek to Golden City, thence up Clear Creek to north and south forks, thence up north fork to Black Hawk and Central, thence up south fork to Idaho, Empire and Georgetown.

Samuel Backer vs G Ellison, debt; continued, and ordered for publication. Robinson's administrator vs Foster, et al. Continued, three indictments by the Grand Jury.

THIRD JUDICIAL DISTRICT—HON. L. R. MURSON.

Peter Spaulding vs James Harris, et al. This cause came on to be heard on an order to show cause. Referred to J J Williams. A Huss vs P Schenk, et al; dismissed at plaintiff's cost. First National Bank of Helena vs John H Herman, et al; judgment by default against defendant John H Herman, and cause dismissed as to the others. Angus Foller vs John Waggoner, et al; cause came on to be heard, on an order to show cause; referred to L M Burston. The following persons were sworn as the Grand Jury of the 23rd alt.: There are three Indian convicts in the penitentiary. A Congregational Church edifice is to be built at Astoria the coming summer. The Klamath Indians, about 500 strong, are now on the Klamath plain, digging their winter's supply of Camas. Mr. J. W. P. Huntington informs us that from intelligence entirely reliable he learns that the crops in Umpqua are very short, in fact never before has the prospect for so poor a crop existed in that country. The crop of oats and hay, he says, will be so short as not to pay for the cutting. We should prefer to have heard a different tale from that section. Up to June 10th the following travel has passed over the route south of Mount Hood: 650 head of cattle; 2600 sheep; 88 men on horseback; 19 horses and mules with packs; 104 loose horses and mules; two wagons and teams. A few days ago we were shown some beautiful specimens of gold bearing quartz which were obtained on the Coast Fork of the Willamette, about fifty miles southeast of Eugene City. The pieces of rock were threaded with gold to an extent which gave them the appearance of being largely composed of that metal. Several ledges have been discovered in the vicinity where these specimens were obtained, and it is believed that some of them will prove really valuable. A gentleman from Josephine county states that the copper mines there have been tested far enough to render their future development a certainty. The principal copper operator down there—Mr. Crandall—is satisfied after a thorough test of his apparatus and smelting furnace, that for every dollar he invests in taking out copper, he will get a return of two dollars worth of metal. The Enterprise learns that a new paper called the Observer has been started at Butteville. The proprietorship has not been made known to us. An agent sent out for subscribers, worked hard for two days, at the end of which time he wrote to the publisher, sending but one name, and the following account of his stewardship: "This comprises the sum total of my canvassing in the classic shades of Pudding river among the 'opulent' land owners of Marion county. The result was so discouraging that I stopped at two days and lent my horse to a lady to ride to see a sick baby, and took up my pen to notify you of the result of my efforts. I did not find a man who appeared to be guilty of owning a ten cent piece, and those who are good generally take the papers and do not want yours at present."

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

From Captain Nelson, just from the front, we learn some particulars in regard to Indian affairs, that are interesting. He learned them from Charley Smith, who was left by the militia at Fort Smith, with Richard, who, in company with two friendly Indians, made a night trip to Fort Phil Kearney and back. On reaching Blackfoot's, (Crow) camp on the Yellowstone they found camped with him Bear Tooth's tribe of Crows, and with Bear Tooth, Mountain Chief, his two sons and two nephews, renegades from the Blackfeet, who were expelled from their tribe for killing Little Dog and have been accepted into Bear Tooth's tribe of Crows. These are the five Indians who killed Col. Bozeman. They boast of it, and have his horses. They say they ate dinner with Bozeman and Cover; that they intended to kill them, and steal the horses; that Cover was suspended, left them eating and went to saddle the horses; that while he was doing this, the same one who killed Little Dog, their own chief, shot Bozeman twice and killed him. The remainder of their account tallies with Cover's. Passing down the river they stole a horse from Smith, who had a trading post below, and returned to Bear Tooth's camp. Through the intercession of Blackfoot, they gave Smith his horse. In their herd, he and Richard saw and counted thirteen head of horses, brand-ed M. M., recently stole from the militia. These they refused to give up, and said if the soldiers wanted them, let them come and try to take them. Blackfoot has seventy or seventy-five lodges; Bear Tooth has eighty lodges. Smith reports Blackfoot friendly and sensible. He deprecates war, and is doing what he can to prevent his band from engaging in it, as he says they will be exterminated if they do. Bear Tooth has all the worst Indians, the most influence and the largest band. They have been tampered with by Sioux; are influenced by Mountain Chief and his renegade band, who declare they will murder and steal whenever they have an opportunity and Blackfoot says they will take the war path. Blackfoot gave them to understand that if Bear Tooth induces his band to join the league, he will abandon them altogether. The Sioux were having a sun dance down on some of the rivers, and are ready for war.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Hostetter's Celebrated STOMACH BITTERS. PROTECTIVE MEDICATION. GREAT TRUTHS IN SMALL COMPASS.

WHAT THE BITTERS ARE

A pure delightful Vegetable Balm. To cheer the spirits and the nerves to calm, Protect the system from Miasma's ban, Baffle torpid Nature, and the strength sustain.

THEIR INGREDIENTS.

Juices of plants, roots, barks, of virtuous rare, By chemic art expressed with patient care, And the mild spirits of the soundest rye— Purest of all diffusive stimuli.

RESULTS OF THEIR USE.

Digestion rallies, appetite revives, The food assimilates, the patient thrives, Dyspepsia vanishes with all its throng, And peaceful sleep succeeds disturbed repose.

EFFECTS ON THE LIVER.

The bilious sufferer languid, listless, pale, Physicked for years, perhaps, without avail, Finds in the BITTERS all he asks or needs, And lives to smile at sickness and disease.

OPERATION ON THE BOWELS.

Relaxed, constricted, or the seat of pain, These organs should not, for one day, remain, The cause of each extreme you can expel— The Bitters tone and regulate so well.

EFFECT ON THE DEBILITATED.

The flaccid muscles firmness soon acquire, The frame gains flesh, the eye resumes its fire; Strength to the limbs, hope to the heart returns Till staid and crutch the convalescent spurns.

BROKEN CONSTITUTIONS.

The constitution tried by pain or care, Or wild indulgence, is not past repair; This genial tonic, as the healthful dew, Quickens parched herbs, its wasted power renews.

CHILLS AND FEVER.

Damp, cold, exposure to malarious fog, Bring on of ill a fearful catalogue; But intermittents what'er their kind, Hostetter's Bitters scatter to the wind.

SICK HEADACHE.

This torment dire, that all enjoyment kills, Yields not to pungent scents or drastic pills, 'Tis from the stomach that it takes its rise; Tone with the Bitters and the anguish flies.

WANT OF APPETITE.

Without due nourishment life's pulses wane, The blood grows thin and dullness clouds the brain; But this Elixir sets the system right, A Good Digestion waits on Appetite.

THE BITTERS AFTER SICKNESS.

Exhausting fever leaves its victims low, And, unassisted, Health's return is slow; Then the Bitters with weakened Nature aid, For in each drop vitality's conveyed.

AS A GENERAL PREVENTIVE.

By night and day, on river, sea or land, In instant peril of disease we stand; But its dried arrows harmless seem to glide Past all with this invigorant fortified.

IMPURE WATER, ETC.

Roam through the world, through every climate range, Here is the antidote 'gainst every change; Water impure it tempers, and inures Man to all hardships in all temperatures.

AN UNADULTERATED TONIC.

Of all the liquors borne across the sea, Not one—mark that—from acrid poisons free; These Bitters stand 'mid stimulants alone, Powerless to irritate, though prompt to tone.

A MILD APERIENT.

Remember, too, aperient root and herb Are blent with those that relax the curb, In this rare mixture, give this fact due weight That while the Bitters tone, they regulate.

A GENTLE CORRECTIVE.

If on the stomach food to acid turns, And pungent gas the inner membrane burns, This grand corrective soon removes the ban, And from the heartburn frees the inner man.

A SAFE AND GENTLE ANODYNE.

Why not with all the opiates dispense, That shake the nerves and paralyze the sense, When these rare Bitters soothe both mind and frame, Inviting both to yield to slumber's claim?

THE WORLD'S OPINION.

Touching the BITTERS this grand fact is clear Their fame fills all the Western Hemisphere, Known in all lands, washed by its ocean twin HEALTH, HOPE AND VIGOR follow in their train.
