Gamblers Said to Have Caused Closing of Butte Pool Rooms

Claimed That Men Who Conducted Gaming Houses That Were Closed Were After Revenge—Argued That There Shall Be No Discrimination—All Were Ready to Close on Friday.

Butte is today without a pool room in fact. The old stands are still where they were yesterday, but the tick of the instrument is still. No longer does one hear the stentorian tones of the man who calls "they're off," and who then keeps you posted as they run, to the quarter, the half, the three quarters, the stretch, the finish, the winner and who finally verifies.

The edict has gone forth. It is like the old poem of "Curfew shall not ring tonight," only this time it is "There shall be no more pools in Butte." And then the question arises, who did it?

The wise guys shake their heads and say nothing. The touts get in with their "knocks," and the mayor is home nursing can not, today, place a bet in Butte on a horse unless some one you know real well, is making a hand book.

What the pool room proprietors are going to do is or course only a matter of conjecture. There are only four days intervening between the closing of the rooms and the opening of the race track and as the pool room operators are more or less interested in the racing, in a financial way too, it is safe to say that nothing will be done for the present.

It is also safe to say that nothing will be done at all by the pool room people. They will wait, it is said, until the racing closes and will then reopen without opposition. It is argued that pools will be sold in Butte during the race meet at Anaconda.

The gamblers are understood as having declared themselves to be perfectly willing that pool selling should be continued, but they are also understood to have said that pool selling can not go on unless other gambling is allowed. As one well known sport put it today, "It is a case of dog eat dog. The gamblers blame the pool rooms for their closing and the gamblers naturally wanted to get back. They are like a dog in the manger. They can not get a graft themselves and they will not let anyone else have it, particularly the grafters who spoiled their graft. The poolrooms were ordered closed by Chief Reynolds because Mayor Davey ordered him to do so. Everybody understands that but what puzzles them all is, why was it done? Well, you can just bet your bottom dollar that if the gambling houses had not been closed the pool rooms would still be open."

THE POOL ROOM SPORTS WILL HAVE TO GO TO WORK.

his rheumatism. Then there is Chief of Police Reynolds, but he is busy; so busy that he cannot be found, so that an idea can be gained from him.

But what of that. The pool rooms are closed and Butte sports, today, are without a place where they can put a lone, case note, to back an opinion on a horse that might be a winner; or perhaps a loser. And a crafty fellow they are and will be, until the Montana Jockey Club inaugurates its spring meeting at the local race track Saturday.

Nobody was willing to express an opinion today as to why the pool rooms were closed. That is, one of those interested in the pool rooms were hustling to write any dope about the closing. They all looked askance at any suggestion of a statement. At the Butte particularly was that the case. There they simply said, "We would have had to close because of the opening of the local track. We do not care to say why we think we were closed today."

But there are those who say there was a season and a good one for the premature closing. They say that the gamblers or rather those who conducted gambling houses, recently closed, are at the bottom of it all. The contention is that since the gambling house proprietors were forced to lock doors, they have been sore because the pool rooms were allowed to continue. The gamblers felt that they had been discriminated against and they determined to find out what kind of a law it was, that prohibited one kind of gambling and permitted another. And they went to work. At least that is what those in a position to know claim. The result is that you

CONSTITUTION AND COLUMBIA.

Postponed Trials of the Yachts Scheduled for July 1 and 3 at Newport.

(Special to Inter Mountain.) New York, June 25.—The first opportunity afforded the public to judge the relative speed of the new cup defender Constitution against the Columbia, champion of two years ago, will be on July 1 and 3, at Newport, under the auspices of the New York Yacht Club.

These races are the postponed trials of June 15 and 17. The alteration of dates was made by reason of the carrying away of the steel mast of the Constitution. She is now in thorough condition, her entire rigging having been overhauled and the steel mast repaired.

The Columbia, her rival, has been tuning up on the Sound and shows great improvement. Charlie Barr, her skipper, says he expects to see the old boat give a good account of herself in the trial races, as she is thoroughly tuned and her crew well drilled for the contest.

WILL TACKLE BUTTE SUNDAY.

Livingston Team to Try Conclusions With Locals on the Home Diamond Sunday.

(By Associated Press.) Livingston, June 25.—The Livingston ball team is practicing steadily for the game at Butte next Sunday. The defeat of the Helena team, so easily accomplished by the Livingston team yesterday, has served to strengthen the confidence of the fans that Butte will be up against the real thing when the Windjammers come to the Smoky City.

It is understood, here, that Butte will have Schills and Knox of the Anaconda team and perhaps some more outside men. McLeod, Livingston's crack shortstop will be back from St. Paul in time for the Sunday game. Burton of Helena will play third base for the Windjammers.

PENNSYLVANIANS SHOW SPEED

American Oarsmen Row Fast Mile at Henley and Make Good Impression.

(By Associated Press.) Henley, England, June 25.—Some fast trials were accomplished yesterday afternoon, the Pennsylvania crew doing the best, covering the full course in 7 minutes 3 1-5 seconds, and half the course in 3 minutes and 25 seconds.

Starting at 40 to the minute the Americans never got below 37, and some times spurted to 42, a number of British oarsmen who accompanied the Americans consider the trial a remarkable one. The Pennsylvanians were by no means rowed out. They proceeded to their boat house, half a mile further on, before stopping.

The condition of the wind and water were not favorable to the oarsmen. The leaders did the course in 7 minutes and 25 seconds, so the Americans' chances are regarded as good.

New Amateur, Unpaced, Mile Record.

(By Associated Press.) Hartford, Conn., June 25.—At the velodrome last night in the mile handicap amateur bicycle race the time of the scratch man, Daniel Sullivan of New York, was 2:01, which breaks the world's amateur record for a mile in competition without a race.

Bicycle Rider Will Recover.

(By Associated Press.) New York, June 25.—Floyd McFarland, the bicycle rider, who was injured in the bicycle races at Madison Square Garden, and who was removed to the hospital, was pronounced better by the physicians early today. They assert that he will soon recover.

Baseball Catcher Injured.

(Special to Inter Mountain.) Missoula, June 25.—The injury sustained by Catcher Mitchell in the game a week ago is much more serious than was thought at the time. It will be a long time before he is able to use his left arm. In addition to a severe sprain of the shoulder, his shoulder blade was broken and he is swathed so tightly in splints and bandages that he can hardly move. This is why Mitchell was not able to play at Butte Sunday.

STARTER RIC HARD HAVEY

Richard, better known as "Dick" Havey, whose fame as a starter is well known will wield the flag at the local and Anaconda tracks during the meets of the Montana Jockey club. Havey is now in Denver, where his is giving entire satisfaction. He went to Denver from Oakland where he was considered "all the money."

Havey will leave Denver Wednesday night and will arrive in Butte Friday afternoon. He is too well known to necessitate saying anything more about him. Suffice it to say, that his reputation as a strater and a starter, who is honest have made him a man to be admired and respected everywhere.

Bodies Coming From Alaska.

Dawson City, June 14, via Seattle, Wash., June 25.—Bodies of several people who died in Dawson last winter are to start for the outside within a few weeks. They are all to be taken to their old homes for interment.

Freddie Bogan, among his many good qualities, has an eye to business. Manager King of the Butte Athletic Association had the clever little fighter as his guest at the new saucer yesterday afternoon. Freddie was amazed when he realized what the scheme really was. He never lost his head for a minute, however, and interrupted King's talk about what was going to be pulled off, by exclaiming: "Say, did it ever strike you that this would be the best place for a prizefight?" That set King to thinking and he is still at it, seriously, too.

A Miss Fannie Kilgore, the daughter of the postmaster at Wildwood, Fla., is certainly appropriately named. The other day she called at the home of Mrs. James Hatfield of Tampa. Mrs. Hatfield was not in a humor for entertaining visitors, because of the presence of death in her home. What she did or said is unwritten but the scribes have it, that Miss Kilgore put aside all prize ring rules and proceeded to plant both feet on several portions of the anatomy of Mrs. Hatfield. Now Miss Kilgore is in jail and the Tampa population is indignant. Miss Kilgore came to Florida from Texas. She is what is known as a Texas bear.

Something like a dull and sickening thud struck the National League at Boston yesterday. The "Bean Eaters" game with the Pittsburg aggregation attracted exactly 100 fans. That speaks well for the National League, when the century figures are compared with an attendance of 3,013 at the American League game in the same town, between the other bean eaters and the boys from Cleveland. Looks as though there was something doing in the American League ranks despite the prediction that the organization would be a failure.

Steve Crosby, the colored lightweight, of Louisville, announces that he is in receipt of a letter from Joe Ganz' manager, in which the latter says the Baltimore boy is willing to meet Crosby under certain conditions, to be arranged later. Crosby says he is anxious for a fight and adds that he thinks his forty-five fights entitle him to a go with Ganz for the colored lightweight championship. Crosby should take advantage of "certain conditions" and stipulate that Ganz is to do no punching, for if Ganz fights on the level the coroner will have a chance at Crosby.

One Francis Erne, who styles himself champion lightweight of the world, makes a grandstand play to the effect that he is tired chasing Terry McGovern for a match. Erne is not the only one who is tired. What could be more wearying than to watch a 133-pound man going the hot foot after a little fellow at 124 pounds? There are others, such as Ganz, or McFadden, whom Erne might tackle, if he really meant fight, but when the name of the colored fighter is mentioned Erne declares that he has retired. He would do well to remain so or give up his bluffing at McGovern.

Now that the match between Tim Heggarty, the Australian, and Tim Callahan is off, it is up to Joe Bernstein to determine what kind of stuff there is in the Antipodean, who wants a go at McGovern. Had Callahan not broken his hand and been able to go against the latest aspirant for championship honors, it is probable he would have had to crawl in his hole; but that is all over. Now it remains for Bernstein to show Heggarty, that he has a long hard row to hoe before he gets into the championship class. Should Bernstein defeat Heggarty, Friday night, the new comer will not have a leg to stand on.

Heggarty-Callahan Match Off.
San Francisco, June 25.—Tim Heggarty, the Australian boxer, will not be able to keep his engagement with Tim Callahan Friday evening, because of breaking his right hand on his boxing partner's head. The club has engaged Joe Bernstein to take Heggarty's place.

Canoe Races at the Exposition.
