JOHN CHARGED WITH STEALING TAMER'S WIFE AND MONEY

Trouble in the Arabian Colony of Butte—Disconsolate Mr. Tamer Lost His Helpmeet, His Family and His Hard Earned Gold at One Fell Swoop.

"The Arabian came down like a wolf on the fold and eloped with the wife of a man who had gold."

The Arabian colony in East Mercury street was thrown into a state of chaos last evening by the announcement that Joseph John, a member of the swell end of the colony, had quietly eloped with the wife of Peter Tamer, another member of the colony, and started south. Tamer made the discovery about 6 o'clock and promptly reported it to the sheriff. He said his wife had not only skipped with John, but before starting she had broken open his trunk and taken $175 in gold belonging to him and then smashed the trunk of one of their boarders and extracted $75 from it. To this he added that the elopement had taken place at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The elopers, he said, had ridden to Silver Bow Junction in a hack and caught the Oregon Short Line train for the south. Tamer was considerably excited over the affair, but whether it was the result of the loss of the woman or the money is not known.

Sheriff Furey at once telegraphed Sheriff Rice at Pocatello to arrest the couple, and shortly after the arrival of the train at that point word was received here that Joseph John and Mrs. Peter Tamer and the latter's children were occupying quarters in the jail there. Sheriff Furey left this afternoon for Pocatello to bring the alleged offenders back to Butte.

MARSHAL OF WALKERVILLE

Mayor and Aldermen Clash Over Kennedy's Appointment—Muzzles and Nosebags for Officers.

The celebrated municipal government of Walkerville held a session of the city council last evening and transacted business of considerable importance to the residents of the community over which its jurisdiction extends. There has been friction in the machinery of Walkerville, and last evening's meeting of the council was well attended by a crowd of spectators anxious to see the opposing factions in the city government come together. All who came to the council meeting were well repaid for the waste of shoe leather.

Mayor Murray announced that he was again ready to appoint William Kennedy as city marshal, and the council promptly intimated that Willam was not the man it wanted for the place. Then the mayor waxed wrathful.

"I am getting tired of this kind of business," said he, "I submit appointments to this council and have them turned down; now I'll try you on something new."

The mayor then read a proposed ordinance which prohibited employees of the city, who served in an official capacity, from drinking while on duty. "I think that will hold them for awhile," said the mayor.

"Why not make all the city officials wear a muzzle or a nose bag?" asked Alderman Annear. The mayor feigned not to hear this remark, and then Alderman Hamilton chipped in.

"When is a city employe supposed to be on duty?" he inquired.

"When he is engaged in business for the city," answered the mayor promptly, with the air of a man who had it all figured out.

"Oh, that's all right," said Hamilton, "a committee of one can easily adjourn while on duty long enough to take a drink, eh?" The mayor had not thought of this phase of the situation, and he kept up a hard spell of thinking for several minutes.

"Now, it's like this," he said at last. "Butte is getting to be a moral place and Walkerville can't be too far behind. We have to keep up our end." None of the aldermen appeared to be greatly impressed with the contrast between Butte and the Hill City, and this remark was regarded as a joke.

Then Alderman Elliott trotted out the anti-spitting ordinance. He said Manager Wharton, of the street car line, could not stop his passengers from spitting on the car floors until the Walkerville council passed an ordinance making it a lawless act to expectorate in the street cars. None of the aldermen appeared to take this seriously, and the matter was allowed to go over until the next meeting.

The council settled down to the steady grind of legislating for the good of the city, and nothing more of a freak nature interrupted the proceedings during the evening.

Visitors at the council room said last evening's meeting was one of the most gingersome that had been held in Walkerville for many a moon.

JUDGE BOYLE'S IRE ROUSED

City Police Judge Strongly Objects to Having His High Judicial Functions Usurped.

Somewhat of a shock was given the attaches of the police court this morning when Judge Boyle made the decided announcement that in the future he would be police judge of Butte city in name and in fact. It took some minutes before the usual quiet, peaceful harmony prevailed throughout the city hall.

The announcement made by the city's magistrate was occasioned by the conclusion of the night jailor accepting the pleas of two women from the bad lands and permitting them to go on bonds until the next trial day without first having them appear in court to plead to the charges.

The women, Mamie Wilson and Annie Jenkins was arrested on a charge of residing in a house of ill repute last evening. The jailor accepted their bail money and entered a plea beside their names of not guilty. When they were called for in the police court this morning the women were not present but the words "plead not guilty" were entered on the jailor's report. Judge Boyle stated that although he had permitted defendants to enter a plea of guilty with the jailor, if they so desired after furnishing a bond and then declaring their bonds forfeited he did not propose to have the business of the court carried on outside of the court room, and that hereafter all will have to appear at the regular time and enter their pleas accordingly.

The city's magistrate was apparently very decided about his future intention regarding the usurpation of his prerogatives and notwithstanding the police judge has heretofore been lenient in permitting his subordinates to occasionally overstep their authority it was extremely evident this morning that Judge Boyle will hold them down to the proper place in matters of this kind in the future.

ANOTHER STRONG MINING COMPANY OPERATING IN BUTTE.

The Butte Mining & Development company is sinking a shaft in the compartment shaft at the corner of Silver and Colorado streets. The shaft is down 350 feet and the indications for a great mine are very encouraging. The vein on which the company is sinking is the largest in Butte. It has always been known as the Mother Lode of the camp. The plant consists of three eighty horse power boilers, a five drill air compressor, which does away with hand drilling, an engine capable of hoisting from a depth of 1,500 feet, powerful pumps, tanks, cars, blacksmith shop, shaft house, lumber yard, etc. A force of twenty-five experienced miners is putting the shaft down at the rate of 80 feet per month. They expect to strike fine ore at a depth of 650 feet. You do not find a copper mine in Butte except with depth. The company thinks that in securing the "Emma" they got one of the best claims in Butte. About $40,000 has already been spent on the mine and its magnificent plant. There is now about $65,000 cash in the treasury.

The following list of officers, not one of whom receives any salary, absolutely guarantees the honesty and legitimacy of the proposition:

President, former U. S. Senator, Lee Mantle, vice president, former Postmaster J. H. Lynch; treasurer, Fayette Harrington, cashier of the Silver Bow National bank, of Butte; secretary W. W. McDowell, former owner of the Copperopolis mines.

Directors: Hon. Lee Mantle, J. H. Lynch, Fayette Harrington, Geo. H. Robinson, consulting engineer and expert for the Montana Ore Purchasing company; Jas. A. Talbot, vice president of the First National bank of Butte; W. L. Moyer, vice president of the Western National bank of New York City; A. E. Spriggs, former lieutenant-gov. of Montana; Jay Anderson, merchant, White Sulphur Springs, and other well-known gentlemen.

The par value of the stock is $5.00 per share, but the company has decided to place 25,000 shares of its treasury stock on the market at $1.50 per share. Prospectus mailed free. For further information write or call on the agents of the company, Reynolds & McDowell, 46 East Broadway, Butte.
