SAVINGS BANK STORY CROOKED

There Will Be No Change in Management or Ownership of State Savings Bank.

The Helena Herald of last evening contained the following article: A man just over from Butte today states that the report is current there that F. Augustus Heinze is to become president of the State Savings bank, the largest banking institution in Montana.

The Helena Herald of last evening contained the following article: A man just over from Butte today states that the report is current there that F. Augustus Heinze is to become president of the State Savings bank, the largest banking institution in Montana.

The State Savings bank is one of the strongest institutions in the west. Its assets aggregate more than $3,500,000. In February its individual deposits amounted to $1,462,438, while its savings deposits aggregated $1,211,568, with certificates of deposit aggregating more than $500,000.

At noon today a reporter called on Mr. T. M. Hodgson, manager of the bank, to inquire as to the truth or falsity of the above article.

"You may state, as coming from me," said that gentleman, "and make it plain, that the Herald article is false in every particular except as to the figures and the enlargement of the bank. Mr. F. Augustus Heinze does not own or control a share of stock in the State Savings bank. Mr. John A. Creighton, who has been president of the institution since the death of Mr. Largey, will continue in that capacity, I have no doubt, to the entire satisfaction of our patrons, our stockholders and the public. Nor will there be any change in the directory, management or policy of the institution. We have not even contemplated any change, nor has anybody suggested a change. I am wholly at a loss to account for the origin of the Herald article, and I want it contradicted promptly and emphatically."

THINKS IDAHO A PARADISE

George H. Casey Returns From Boise and Talks of the Opportunities for Fruit.

Mr. George H. Casey, proprietor of the Butte Sampling works, returned yesterday from a business trip to Boise. He is enthusiastic about the wonderful variety and resources of the region contiguous to the Idaho capital. The Payette valley, he says, is one of the garden spots of the earth, greatly resembling in the southern part the Bitter Root valley of Montana, but being much larger in area.

"In the upper part of the valley are the finest timber lands in the state," said Mr. Casey, "and I have taken an interest in a number of claims there. 'Are you concerned to any extent in the cases now under investigation by the government?' Mr. Casey was asked. 'Not at all. As to those cases which have made so much talk a good idea may be obtained from an article printed last week in the Boise Bulletin. It gives the facts with very few errors and will be of general interest to Inter Mountain readers.'"

The article reads as follows: A representative of this paper interviewed the officials of the local United States land office this morning. They stated they had received instruction from Commissioner Hermann in line with the statements made in the dispatch. No timber and stone proofs, they said, would be finally passed on until the investigation had been completed. This, they said, would tie up all pending applications for about six months.

It was further stated that the land district, of which Boise is the official headquarters, embraced not in excess of 12,000 to 15,000 acres of the class of land referred to that had not been taken under the scrip act or through other means.

Asked whether the order of Commissioner Hermann affected the timber locations made and being made on the Payette river and around the Payette lakes by Montana parties, notably the big lumber concern of Cobban Bros. & Casey, the land office officials said a great deal of timber lands taken up by that firm was secured by the use of scrip, which conveys title immediately. It is thought, however, proofs on considerable timber land taken up in the section named will be held up under the sweeping order referred to, although there is no known evidence of fraud.

The investigation will include in its scope all cases where individual locations have been made for corporations, as alleged. The section of the timber and stone act bearing on this matter contains the following provision as part of the section detailing the manner of taking advantage of the act: "That he does not apply to purchase the same on speculation, but in good faith to appropriate it to his own exclusive use and benefit; and that he has not, directly or indirectly, made any agreement or contract, in any way or manner, with any person or persons whatsoever, by which the title which he might acquire from the government of the United States should inure, in whole or in part, in the benefit of any person except himself, which statement must be verified by the oath of the applicant before the register or receiver of the Warrants for Gamblers.

Two warrants charging John Enright and J. Strong with violating the gambling ordinance were sworn out today and placed in the possession of Constable Shea of Walkerville for service. Warrants charging Enright and Strong with resisting an officer were also issued. At last accounts this afternoon the officers had not served the papers, but was seeking the men. An attempt was made by him to arrest Enright and Strong last night in rooms over the California brewery, on a John Doe warrant. Shea stated today that the men refused to be arrested under such a warrant, hence the issuance of the papers above named. The presence of Attorney General Donovan, who is antagonistic to gambling in Butte yesterday is said to be at the basis of the movement against the defendants in these charges.

WILLIAMS LANDS BEHIND BARS

Run Away With a Girl of Tender Years and Is Captured by Officers.

Sheriff Furey returned from Missoula at 3:30 o'clock today with a young man who calls himself Ormer Williams and Angie Cummings, a 13-year-old girl, who ran away from this city together a few days ago and were arrested in Missoula yesterday. Williams was at once consigned to quarters in the jail while the girl was ushered into the sheriff's office for future consideration. Her father and mother were at the court house to meet them. After the girl was taken into the office she burst into tears, but whether they were of the repentance or separation brand is not known.

The couple will be either compelled to marry or Williams will be tried for his offense and sent to keep Frank Stone company at Deer Lodge. He is a dapper looking youth on the tot style of architecture.

TOP NOTCH OF WOOL MARKET

Wool Sales Aggregating Nearly a Million Pounds Went Through the Market Today.

(Special to Inter Mountain.) Great Falls, Aug. 2.—Today's wool sales amounted to almost a million pounds, the exact figures being 998,000 pounds. The top price was 15c, while the lowest was 11 cents. Fifteen clips were disposed of in all. The average was 13 4/5.

As the season draws to a close, the daily sales are increasing, though the wool will in all probability soon be all marketed. All of the Fort Benton product is already sold. There will be a considerable quantity at some of the smaller towns, which will doubtless be disposed of by private sale, rather than ship it to Great Falls.

Some of the buyers have already filled their orders, and departed for the east. Twenty-six, however, took part in today's bidding.

NO CHARGE FOR EXAMINATION.
