

In Clubdom.

SO FAR things are very quiet in club circles. In fact "there ain't no club circles." Club women are enjoying a quiet, peaceful time.

The Homer club is to give a picnic at the Columbia Gardens soon. The year book of the club will soon be issued.

The Atlas German class studying with Miss Best is succeeding well. They have another member now, Mrs. John Noyes.

The house committee of the Women's club is still diligently looking for more congenial quarters than those of the past but so far have not found anything desirable. All hope to be able to devise some way to secure a permanent home for the club. Certain parties who are interested and who have both land and houses are to be interviewed next week on the subject.

The different women's clubs all over the state are getting out some very handsome year books, most of them designated as "calender."

Associated Charities Picnic.
At the monthly meeting held Thursday by the members of the Associated Charities it was decided to give the grand annual picnic for the poor children on Thursday, August 15th so the little ones will only have to wait a week and a half for the great treat. The children who are under the charge of the association find it hard to decide which is the greater fete, the picnic or the Christmas tree. Right now they think it is the picnic.

As usual Senator Clark has donated the use of Columbia Gardens and cars to the association for the picnic and manager Wharton will as usual help to make the affair a success. The Christian Endeavorers and Epworth Leagues will again this year solicit and donate most of the good things for the children to feast on. Last year they secured a bountiful supply.

Last year ice cream was donated, but as yet no one this year has offered to donate it, but probably before the time arrives some good Samaritan will do so. The delight of the children at the picnic last year centered in the ice cream first of all. They revelled in it and it did seem impossible to fill them up. The schemes they worked to get more were often funny, sometimes pathetic.

One boy came for more and the ladies were certain he had been helped several times. "No, it was me brudder," he insisted. Another boy who had ice cream smeared all over his face up to his ears, declared he "never had even one bite, honest now." "One little fellow came up with his tiny sister and asked the ladies to "please give him a big dish and put this on it with his sister's." When asked why, he answered, "She never had no ice cream in her life and I want to fill her up once." And she was filled up and so was he "for once."

Last year Mr. Oppenheimer donated a big sack of peanuts and the children were allowed to "grab" all they could. The result was not satisfactory for some were ones could hardly hold more than one or two at a time. This year if some one kindly gives peanuts the ladies will put them up in small paper sacks and give them to the children.

Every member of the association is requested to attend the picnic to help control and look after the children. Other ladies who are not members and who will help the Association take care of the children will be gladly welcomed. They are so full of joy over their outing that they are hard to manage for the most part.

As usual the children will be given tickets entitling them to the trip at the rooms of the Association. Due notice will be given of the time for them to call.

Work of Associated Charities for July.
During the month of July transportation out of Butte was furnished to twelve persons. Five families received groceries and two families were given coal. 102 garments were furnished to poor people who applied and employment was furnished for five persons. Three persons donated clothing and one person donated groceries.

Dan J. Hennessy donated nine ladies' jackets and enough flowers came to make up fifty bouquets, all from outside points. The members of Lincoln Relief Corps donated a case of canned vegetables and 100 pounds of flour.

The report from the Paul Clark Home showed that in July there were twenty-four inmates and 1,789 meals were served. George F. Barnes offer to give to poor people the bread, pies, cakes, etc., which remained on hand at the store was gratefully accepted. Certain families were picked out and they will be given tickets by Acting President Mrs. A. H. Jones, so that Mr. Barnes will know they are not imposters and every day they will call for the food.

Donations are needed, more particularly of money. Anyone who has food or clothing can call up the Associated Charities by telephone and the express company will call for packages. Everything and anything is needed in the work carried on.

People think that in summer the poor can get along all right. They ought to go and investigate some of the cases the Association has to deal with. Instead of decreasing, destitution seems to be increasing. It requires hard work on the part of the officers to personally investigate the cases of all who apply for help. It has to be a rigid investigation to prevent imposition.

Auxiliary to Ruth O. E. S.
The members of Ruth Chapter are reminded that next Thursday afternoon the auxiliary to the chapter will meet with Mrs. J. G. Hammer, 314 West Granite street. All in good standing in the chapter can join the auxiliary. The afternoon will be devoted to work on the soft cushions so all should bring needles, thread and scissors. Also any pretty bits of silk or satin they have or remnants of ribbons.

The chapter will meet next Wednesday night in regular session in Masonic temple.

Relief Corps Tonight.
Tonight will be the regular meeting night of Lincoln Relief Corps at Fidelity hall. Full details of the results of the campfire and sham battle will be learned as the committees will report. The exact amount is not known, but it is certain quite a pleasing sum will be reported.

I then opened an account in one of the many New York savings banks, and—"

Changing a Rose's Color

It was a lover who lately discovered this trick. When he was not with his lady love he was studying chemistry and experimenting, and one day recently he found an easy method of changing the natural colors of flowers.

He was in the habit of presenting his sweetheart with bouquets of beautiful roses, which grew in his garden, and a few hours after he had made the discovery he took her half a dozen of the choicest white roses and told her that she could learn through them whether he was really in love with her or not.

"If you and I are destined for each other," he said, "these white roses will become crimson within five or six hours from now. Gradually but surely they will change color and you may regard the change not only as an indication that the flowers are delighted to be worn by you, but also as an infallible sign that happiness is assured to us in the future."

Sure enough, before the eyes of the wondering maiden the roses changed color and were crimson at sunset that evening. Marvelous indeed the change seemed to her, for how could she know that the roses were originally red and that her lover had simply bleached them white by holding them for some time over a pan filled with smoking sulphur before he handed them to her?

Wrong Kind of Conductor.
Mr. Sousa, the march king, wears his uniform at all times and seasons. He compels his men to do likewise. The fact that he does so leads to experiences that are very laughable to him. Mr. Sousa was standing in a large building in Philadelphia, waiting for the elevator. A man came up to him rapidly and said: "What is the number of Mr. Blank's office?"
"I don't know," said the short man in the blue uniform.
"Well, isn't he in this building?" asked the man.
"I don't know," answered Mr. Sousa.
"Well, don't you know anything?" said the man. "If I knew anyone here I would report you."
At which Mr. Sousa shouted with laughter, and the man, catching sight of the genuine elevator boy, saw he had somehow made a mistake.

Again Mr. Sousa was standing in a railway station, on the platform, waiting for a train. A belated traveler ran up to him and shouted. "Has the 9:03 train pulled out?"
"I really don't know," answered the man with the blue uniform.
"Well, why don't you know?" shouted the irate traveler. "What are you standing here for like a log of wood? Aren't you a conductor?"
"Yes," said Mr. Sousa, "I am a conductor."
"A nice sort of a conductor you are," exclaimed the traveler.
"Well, you see," said Mr. Sousa, "I am not the conductor of a train; I am the conductor of a brass band."—Saturday Evening Post.

Ante-Mortem Levity.
Perceiving now that the block was inevitable the noble prisoner bethought him of suicide.

Anaconda Society

Extreme heat and stifling dust storms have made life in Anaconda more or less of a burden for the last week. The heat and dust compel people to stay in-doors during the day and the exclusive pastime is horseback riding in the cool of the evening. The number of equestrians is steadily increasing, and nearly every evening a new convert to the sport can be seen, holding firmly to the saddle with both hands and with a companion of more experience on either side, ready to catch the novice should the horse make a false step. With the younger society women of Anaconda this healthful outdoor exercise is exceedingly popular.

The annual game of baseball between the Fats and Leans excited considerable interest, and the Epworth League picnic at Mountain View park Tuesday was well attended.

Miss Pearl Carrhier entertained a few friends Tuesday evening in honor of G. A. Heater of Ohio and Miss Brown of San Francisco.

ALTHOUGH it is warm enough to give music and everything else that requires work a rest, musicians are planning on a busy fall and winter. Musicians have been almost entirely discontinued until cooler weather.

Vernon E. Matlack, director of the Oratorio society, has been entreated to keep his singers together and repeat the magnificent performance of "The Creation" this fall. He will probably do so although it is enough to discourage a musical enthusiast like Mr. Matlack when such a rendition as his singers gave was so poorly attended. But that was owing to a multiplicity of causes, warm weather, races and the exodus then beginning.

Mrs. G. Oral McFarland is in the east with her children having a good time and leaving a substitute in her place as choir leader of the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Charlotte Best is in California visiting her brother and seeing the sights of San Francisco and the points of interest. She will return in another month.

Miss Ida Scott is also in California, her headquarters at San Jose, and a look at the musical and society columns of the papers issued in that favored locality show that Miss Scott is as popular there as in Butte.

Miss Skelly's Musicals.
All musicians and music lovers of Butte who have heard Miss Skelly play once are anxious to hear her again, for she is a most accomplished pianist. She played a number of times before the Woman's club last season.

Miss Skelly has decided to give a musical at the First Presbyterian church on Thursday evening, August 15th. In addition to herself she has secured the best musical ability in Butte to assist her.

Among the artists are: Mrs. J. W. Thomas, voice soloist; Mr. Ballard, cello; Justin Butler, baritone; Harry Doering, basso; Miss Olive Whitney, Miss Drea Johnston, voice soloist; Miss Marguerite Skelly, pianist; Miss Blanche Skelly, harpist, and Miss Helen Skelly.

The affair will be not only a musical event, but a brilliant social affair also.

Mrs. Silas Neuberger, who is already a brilliant pianist is now receiving instructions from Professor Herschfield of Helena.

The many friends of Mrs. Richard F. Pearce declare she is the finest violinist in Butte, in the ranks of the amateurs. She will be heard soon at a musical to be given by society leaders.

Miss Rose Fosberg will give a musical next Tuesday evening at her home in Walkerville.

One Pair of Gloves for Two Men.
A. E. Randle of Congress Heights, visited the district commissioners yesterday, escorting Gen. Charles E. Hooker of Mississippi.

"General Hooker," remarked Mr. Randle, "was a gallant Confederate officer. At Vicksburg a cannon ball cut off his left arm and at the same time blew off the head of his servant, who was kneeling by his side. A Union officer in the same battle, who shall be nameless, lost his right arm during the same siege. In after years the two officers became close friends. As one of them lost the right arm and the other the left one, they send each other the odd glove every time either purchases a pair of gloves."—Washington Post.

Breezy Chaff.
"Our church is to have a conundrum supper tomorrow night," said Mrs. Frisbe.
"Hash will be served, I suppose," added Mr. Frisbe.—Detroit Free Press.
