JACK LEAVES BUTTE

DOES NOT CARE TO REMAIN FOR THANKSGIVING.

JUDGE BOYLE'S PROPOSITION.

Tells Defendant He Must Pay a Fine or He Himself Into the Country—Court Scene.

When the roll was called in the police court before Judge Boyle this morning one man was found whom neither the prospect of a jail Thanksgiving dinner nor the promise of a warm place to sleep on cold nights would tempt to remain in Butte.

Jack McDonald was the name of the individual who announced himself as willing to take his chances on walking out of the town rather than stay here and go behind the bars.

Jack was charged with being a vagrant, and when his name was called as the prisoners lined up before the bench he seemed to have no sufficient reason to give why he should not be adjudged guilty as charged, and the judge decided to tax him $50.

Offered His Freedom.

"But," added the court, as he looked at the man before him, "if you want to fly the town, if you want to forego the pleasure of partaking of the elegant dinner which is being prepared for those who chance to be in jail on Thanksgiving, I will let you go, Jack."

"I am aware, your honor, that this is rather a cold season of the year for a man to start out over the ties. Methinks that many of my friends who have done brave service in the hay fields and along the rural free lunch routes when the weather was warm are even now hitting the trail toward this city for winter quarters."

Dialikes to Leave.

"I dislike to leave this comfortable town just as the snows are beginning to fall, but life in jail hath no charms for Jack. I enjoy the biscuit that is handed me without price, but I don't like to receive it while I am behind bars."

"I feel that your honor hath handed it to me according to the requirements of the position which you hold, and I am not unappreciative of the fact that a second job might be coming to me even if I should spend the ensuing few weeks in jail. As I go out from this lovely city I expect to meet many of my brothers coming into it."

Will Lose Much Business.

"I will inform them of your honor's disposition toward them, and, perchance, they will turn into paths that will take them around this city. Should this be the case, your honor will lose much of the business that in the natural run of things is coming to you."

"However, I take it that your honor makes this proposition to me with a full knowledge of the consequences that may follow."

"That being true, I accept your proposition, and on this day, with visions of roasted turkeys in my mind, I will walk out upon the highways and take my departure from your city."

"Should we ever chance to meet again, your honor, I hope you will consider that upon a former occasion Jack did the proper thing, and not press the limit on me as you say into the game of justice."

Having completed this speech, Jack left the courtroom, and late this afternoon he was reported sailing by Silver Bow under reefed canvas.

WITNESSED THE FIRING.

American Saw Gunboat Pinzon Bombard Porto Bello.

(By Associated Press.)
Colon, Nov. 27.—An American named Murphy relates the following story corroborating the report that the Columbian gunboat General Pinzon fired on Porto Bello.

On Monday morning Murphy was in an open boat bound for Playadonna on a mining excursion. Besides himself there were three Chinese and a Columbian negro in the boat, which was commanded by the colored man. When they were passing Porto Bello, a boat containing soldiers from the Pinzon, then at anchor off Porto Bello, captured Murphy and his companions.

After they had been made prisoners, and while on their way to the gunboat, the General Pinzon fired many shots at Porto Bello. On arriving on board the gunboat Murphy learned that no less than 50 shots had been fired at Porto Bello. He also says that from the gunboat one or two of the largest houses of the place could be plainly seen to have been wrecked.

The Town Evacuated.

Men from the Pinzon who went ashore at Porto Rico said the town was evacuated. Not a single liberal was to be seen anywhere. Murphy asserts that explosive bullets were used by the liberals, as one bullet brought on board the Pinzon was subsequently exploded.

Murphy was handed over to the officers of the United States gunboat Marietta when the Pinzon returned to Colon. The report that the government troops had been driven back over the Barbacoa bridge turns out to be incorrect.

In a skirmish at Buena Vista last night the government troops lost ground somewhat and retreated to Tabernilla, losing 6000 cartridges. The government forces now occupy Tabernilla, which is on the Colon side of Barbacoa.

Decoy Liberal General.

General Solamayo, with 250 men, commanded the liberal forces at Barbacoa bridge. Good authorities hold that 29 men should have been able to prevent the government troops from crossing the bridge. Solamayo's conduct is everywhere derided.

He seems to have sheltered himself and to have supervised nothing personally, hence the reckless waste of ammunition, which caused the eventual retreat of the liberals who lost less than a dozen men yesterday.

General Domingo Diaz and General Lugo have not yet arrived here with their troops.

OUT A LONG WHILE

McCLELLAN FRAUDULENT REPRESENTATION CASE GOES TO JURY.

JURY DELIBERATES FOR HOURS.

No Verdict at Late Hour This Afternoon—Arguments by Prosecuting Attorney and Lawyer for Defense.

The case of H. A. McClellan, a young man who was tried yesterday in Judge McClellan's court on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, went to the jury at 11 o'clock this morning, and at a late hour this afternoon there was no prospect of a verdict being rendered very soon.

McClellan was accused of representing that he was a commission firm, and by reason of the representation, alleged to be false, induced Harris & Co. of Rexburg, Idaho, to send him a carload of potatoes, which he sold and did not pay for.

The names of the 12 men who tried the case are as follows: John Kelsey, Henry Northey, Pat Walsh, A. Linquist, W. T. Allen, John Hosking, Morris Neer, J. J. Marks, M. Brown, P. J. Sullivan, J. W. Wilson and B. S. Strick.

The penalty for the crime alleged against McClellan is from one to 14 years in state prison.

Funeral Notice.

Christopher Nissler, aged 65 years, died early this morning at his late residence in Silver Bow. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

John K. Pomeroy, aged 42 years, died last night at the family residence, No. 835 East Park street. The deceased was a member of Victoria lodge No. 332, Sons of St. George, and the order of Red Men. Funeral notice later.

John Hancock, aged 65 years, died this morning. The remains are at Richards' Undertaking Parlor, awaiting instructions from his son-in-law in Wisconsin.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

Few Offenders Appear Before Judge Boyle Today.

Among the people who came before Judge Boyle this morning charged with having fractured some of the ordinances of Butte were Grace Gordon, Annie Scott, James Coulter and Lilly Gallagher.

In each case the officers who made the arrests seem to have had their evidence well enough fixed so that the defendants could not get away from it, and an assessment was levied against all the defendants.

The grist before the judge was not especially heavy, and an officer remarked that those who might be expected to come under the ban of the law were on their good behavior just before Thanksgiving.

John Maguire's Benet.

That is a handsome and deserved compliment the Press club is paying John Maguire tomorrow night, a complimentary benefit. John grows in favor the more you know him, the same as Centennial beer. "A million glasses a day!" Somebody must like it.

Patent Victor Dining Table

Victor dining tables carry all the extra leaves in the frame of the table itself. They are so constructed that the leaves cannot warp. The table can be extended at either or both ends in a moment, by a child, without moving a single dish or disarranging the table cloth. By this arrangement the unexpected guest is provided a place without the usual delay of resetting the table. We are the sole Butte agents for these famous diners, and guarantee that those who own them will not be called on to ask the aid of their neighbors in hammering the leaves in place (a common occurrence with the old style). They come in three sizes, 6, 8 and 10 feet long. They are made from quarter sawed oak, superbly finished in hand-polished golden oak, and fitted with nickel casters. Prices, $27.50, $17.50 and
