

Dr. Moore, Morley, Drennen, Maloney, Kunkel, Mallory, McBride, Morgan, Epping, M. M. Miller, Paxon, Rockefeller, Braddock, Matlock, Bickford, Roots, Weimescary, Wild, Irvin, Berry, Burns, Foster, Shaw, Shively, Dutton, Davis, Dawson, Joe Dawson, Driscoll, James Forbis, John Forbis, Ryan, J. R. Russell, Alexander, Heineke, Hodgins, Hennessy, Fyfe, Ferrell, Porter, Adam, Kellogg, Ellithorpe, Fair, Spear, Talbot, Neidenhoffen, Waisworth, Gible, Dr. Campbell, McHutton, C. W. Clark, Welcomes, Blackiston, Alexander, Hammond, Hight, Lavelle, W. C. Lewis, Evans, Harrington, Long, Darch, Leonard, Collins, Rowlands, De Witt, J. K. Clark, Tilton, Busch, Tuohy, Kremer, Pearce, Boucher, Lauzier, F. Ferrell, Turner, Charles Leonard, Thomas Campbell, Fenton, Gilie, Emerson, Platt, Crowley, T. M. Hodgins, Hand, Smith, Johnstone, Lowery, Gus Smith, Cockrane, Hamilton, Charles Smith, Patten, Leggart, Teiler, William Thompson, J. M. White, Barker, Moulthrop, R. Reed, Fraser, Gillette, chocolate cup and saucer. Dainty refreshments were served. Those in attendance were: Mesdames Suesser, Reynolds, Derosier, Mueller, Gilbert, Curtis, Goss, Switzer, Robinson, Collins, Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Eschle, assisted by their daughter Miss Cora, gave a very pleasant evening at what on New Year's eve, in honor of their friend, J. J. McCloske. Mrs. F. Breen came off with the honor of first prize, a beautiful china bread plate, while Mr. Henry Turner won the gentleman's prize, a silver-mounted whist broom. Mrs. Jubenville secured the booboo prize, a jewel case, and Prof. A. F. Rice, a card case. Just as the guests were doing ample justice to the elaborate supper prepared, the whistles commenced blowing the Old Year out and the New Year in. After doing justice to the lunch the remainder of the evening was spent with music. Mrs. Rice and Miss Gladys Bowen and Mrs. Eschle rendering some of their choice but very enjoyable dinner last week. The table looked lovely, laden with mistletoe covered by a shower of diamond dust. The guests were Mrs. Busch, Mrs. Williams, Mr. Mueller, Mr. West and Mr. Collins.

Mrs. John Forbis gave a most charming and enjoyable dancing party Friday evening in honor of the O. W. L. S., who feel very much complimented at being so honored. The house was trimmed with holly, smilax, red carnations and looked entrancing. Those who enjoyed this lovely party were Margaret Blackiston, Hattie and Julia Sanders, Edyth Bickford, Ellis Rickards, Allie and Anne Lowery, Nell Lloyd, Margaret Hanson, Daisy Dawson, Lulah, Eliza and Theo Russell, Mrs. A. T. Morgan, Miss Elanore and Viola Horgan, Miss Mae and Helen Pfouts, Lola Brooke, Miss Maxey and Eva Maxey of Roseman, Eloise Knowles of Missoula, Miss Sullivan, Miss Strassburg, Mamie Walker, Oser, Bowie, Sims, Hattie Young, Florence Tuttle, Goodall, Le Beau, Beaumont, Adell Parthen of Helena, Miss Rumley Stokes, Cotton, Laura Durston of Anaconda, Mesaps, Lynsey, T. Bailey, Lee, Homer Rickards, Arthur Dorland, Gormley, Drs. Ray and Jed Freund, Dr. Hall, Dr. Piggot, Liguell, Dolman, Con Kelly, D'Gay Stivers, Bacon, John Dixon, Coe, Campbell, Merriman, Will Thornton, L. O. Evans, Corrett, C. W. Goodall, Judge Clark, Bob Carnacian, Nipgen, Beaumen, Holt, Turner, Mac O'Brien, Buchnell, Dunchee, Mort White, Adams, Bouey, Guy Stapleton, Guy Davidson, Rob. McArthur, Frank Haskins, Dr. Corner of Bozeman, Dr. Knapton, Alex. Johnston, Harrington, Cosby, Siemens, Sicolas, Ring, Inch, Carton, Elmore Pfouts, Earnest Eichel, Horace Durston, John Maxey, Dan Lewis, Harry, Oaks, Case, Curt Holland.

MADAME LA BELLE

The Celebrated European Complexion Specialist and Dermatologist's

Remarkable Success in Butte

Mme. La Belle, at Age of 30

Has compelled her to move into larger apartments within less than two months. She has therefore taken

Four Rooms in the Owsley

On the third floor, one floor below where she has been. The new apartments are Rooms Nos. 45, 46, 47 and 48. Separate rooms are used for the treatment of ladies and gentlemen. The Madame is a graduate physician who practised for years, studying always the science of Dermatology.

Madame La Belle's Specialties

Beautifying the complexion; improving expression of the face; erasing wrinkles; developing and reducing the bust; making plump arms; removing freckles permanently and painlessly; sure cure of pimples and blackheads; removing superfluous hair by the latest electrical process; curing dandruff; scalp treatment for stopping falling hair and making abundant growth, and

Manicuring and Chiropody for Men and Women

The most magnificent Dermatological apartments in the west are now ready, where the most successful and scientific treatment may be had. Thousands of Butte customers testify to

Madame La Belle's Unfailing Success

Tickets issued for a course of treatment in Manicuring, Face Massage, Scalp Treatment, etc.

Ladies out of town may consult Madame La Belle by mail, without charge, as to how to have both health and beauty. Good opportunity with Madame La Belle for young lady desiring to learn the business.

Parlors 45, 46, 47 and 48, Owsley Block, Butte.

MISS ISABELL CORY, Of Helena, Who was Married New Year's Day to Dr. Albert W. Connor of This City.

Terise, Laughlin, Cunningham, Renick, Christie, Heslet, Buzzo, Rueger, Atwater, Lloyd, Richards, Silverman, Jesse Silverman, Sanders, Pfouts, J. R. Thompson, Brownfield, Patten; Misses McKechie, Strasburger, Tuttle, Hanson, Baldwin, Bickford, Driscoll, Russell, Brooke, Dawson, Goodale, Ellithorpe, Talbot, Blackiston, Leonard, Rumley, Le Beau, Lowery, Lloyd, Sanders, Pfouts, Patten, Oppenheimer.

selections, while Miss Cora Eschle favored the guests with songs. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Jubenville, Mr. and Mrs. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Breen, Mr. Henry Turner, Mr. Frank Sutton, Miss Gladys Bowen, Miss Abbie Turner and Mrs. Chase.

The N. H. club met on Friday with Mrs. A. B. Elliott in South Butte and an enjoyable afternoon was spent at cards, Mrs. Morrison winning first prize, a beautiful Haviland bread-tray; Mrs. Gilbert the second, a china cake plate. During the afternoon choice refreshments were served. There were present Mesdames Genevieve, W. F. Noyes, C. C. Willis, R. Williams, F. Gray, C. Morrison, B. L. Hopper, D. J. Charles, S. W. Davis, L. Ehrick, Gilbert, A. B. Elliott.

A party was given New Year's eve in honor of Misses Bessie German and Hattie Davis, who are attending school in Salt Lake City by Miss Helen Martin at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. E. Carroll. Music and dancing were the features of the evening. Jollity and good-cheer reigned supreme, and the young folks voted their hostess a queen among entertainers. Those present, in addition to the guests and hostess were Dr. E. B. German, Mr. and Mrs. Sewall Davis, James A. Pennell, W. F. Jackson, R. C. Ballingham, Frank Mullins, Frank German, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schatzlein, Mrs. Margaret Whitman, Miss Helen Carroll and Master David Whitman.

Mrs. Frank Haskins entertained the Merry Twelve Whist club on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Spencer. Mrs. Switzer won the first prize, a china sugar creamer and teapot; Mrs. Gris carried off the second prize, a hand-painted plate; the consolation went to Mrs. C. C. Curtis, a

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Hopper of South Butte entertained very prettily at a New Year's dinner Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gilbert, Mr. Earl Gilbert and Master Roy Hopper.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Best gave a small

The little Misses Nan and Lillian Vivian gave a matinee box party to a number of their friends Wednesday to see "At Valley Forge." The play was thoroughly enjoyed by all. After the play the young people were taken to the Misses Vivians' home, where refreshments were served. Those in the party were Mercy Lewis, Nan Vivian, Carrie Wharton, Geraldine Forbis, Agnes Lavelle, Drea Johnston, Marjory Forbis, Elizabeth Hodgins, Francis Turner, Julia Horgan, Jessie Wharton, Lillian Vivian, Florence Tuohy, Bertha Walsworth, Jeannette Gilie, Carrie Lowery, Hattie Boucher, Dollie Smith.

The spacious apartments of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Carroll were beautifully decorated New Year's eve, the event being a party which was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Trish, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. James Atterton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Glasser, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Glasser, Messrs. D. Gifford and John Hordale. Singing and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

Mrs. W. L. Renick gave a very charming luncheon this afternoon in honor of Miss Florence Tuttle and Miss Helen McKechie. The luncheon was in pink and white, a very dainty affair. Those present were Miss Daisy Dawson, Miss Eleanor Horgan, Miss Viola Horgan, Miss Bell Le Beau, Mrs. W. A. Clark, Jr., Mrs. Charles Clark, Miss Hattie Young.

New Year's eve Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mueller gave one of the most elaborate dinners this season. The diningroom was trimmed in American beauty roses, and from the chandelier to each corner of the room radiated garlands of evergreen.

Miss Mae Nowlin, Who was Married on Christmas Morning to Mr. A. Cameron.

dotted with red carnations and tiny incandescent lights.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holbrook, Dr. and Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Mary Busch, Mr. and Mrs. William West, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mueller; Misses Lottie Best, Kit Sutton, Kittle O'Donald, Arthur Mueller, Mr. Rochester, Louis Bert, George Busch, William Mueller, West, Collins.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gilbert of 901 South Utah street gave a New Year's eve party to a number of their friends, and the merriest kind of an evening was spent in cardplaying and dominoes. A fine supper was served at midnight and the new year found them feasting at a bountifully filled table. There were present Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Elliott, Miss Smith and Master Roy Hopper.

This afternoon Miss Ellis Rickards entertained the O. W. L. S. club at a bowling party. After a couple of games were bowled the club went to the Rickard's home where refreshments were served.

Those present were Misses Daisy Dawson, Margaret Hanson, Margaret Blackiston, Lowery, Sanders, Russell, Nell Lloyd, Helena McKechie, Edyth Bickford and Mrs. A. L. Morgan. A most delightful time was had by all.

Mrs. John Noyes received New Year's night and was assisted by Mrs. McC. White, Mrs. Arthur P. Helme, Mrs. Jack Noyes, Mrs. James Forbis and Mrs. William Tuohy. The drawingroom was a bower of American beauty roses, while carnations added to the charm of the library.

The Ethical Culture club will meet at Miss Mullin's office in the courthouse next Tuesday night. Miss O'Neill is on the program to deliver a talk on "Desire, and Its Relation to Growth." The following Tuesday night Miss Corbin will continue the physical culture instructions.

Mrs. P. J. Brophy gave a dinner Sunday to the employees of Mr. Brophy's store. Pink carnations were used to decorate the table.

Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Macdonald spent a few days in Butte from Anaconda.

Miss Beaumont of Deer Lodge is visiting Mrs. J. W. Alexander.

Saturday Night Club.

After a short holiday the Saturday Night club resumes active work tonight. The club meets with Miss Robins and Miss Brown, in 517 West Galena street, at 8 p. m.

The program for the present month is as follows:

January 4—"The Literary Pitfalls of Youth," Mr. Renger.

January 11—"Life From a Physiological and Chemical Standpoint," Miss Cahoon.

January 18—"The Dark Side of Life Among the Wage-Earners," Miss O'Neill.

January 25—"Description of Works Connected With Butte's Additional Water Supply," C. W. Payne.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

A clever woman has devised a new use for old magazines. She doesn't bind them, for one reason, because of the bother in keeping all of the numbers together; somebody's always borrowing a magazine and forgetting to return it, and, for another reason, because, as she says, while bound volumes of magazines look well on a library shelf, nobody wants to read them, says the Philadelphia Press.

Her plan is this: As fast as a magazine number has been read by all of the family and is ready to be consigned to the oblivion of the closet shelf, she takes possession of it. The wire that holds the leaves together is removed and the various articles are separated according to subjects.

She has heavy manila envelopes marked "Art," "Music," "History," "Fiction," "Verse," etc. Every article is put into the envelope where it belongs, according to its classification. And in one envelope will be articles from four or five or more magazines, according to the number available. When a sufficient number of articles, say 1000, have accumulated in any one envelope, she arranges them in the order in which she wishes to have them, numbers the pages anew with a pen, makes out a complete index for the front of the volume, and sends it to the bindery. When it returns she has a valuable book on art or music or something else, as the case may be.

Preparing Costly Furs.

When a master workman in a fur manufactory is cutting up skins he is literally cutting money. Skins once passed for frontier money, but their value is now much greater than in the early days, and it would be less costly to cut a garment from $10 bills than to cut it from some skins.

The cutting is quite an interesting feature of the work. To prepare a mink or a sable, for example, the skin must be slashed into strings—narrow pieces more or less irregular in shape—which are afterward sewed together. There may be a thousand pieces in a single cloak, the new and beautiful skins being liberally cut to pieces before they are manufactured. The object of this is to lengthen the skins. The sable, for example, say two feet in length, will be drawn out to four feet, and all its markings preserved, so that it looks like

Mr. A. Cameron. He became a Benedict Christmas Morning.

Miss Carrie B. Keith, Miss Elizabeth Keith, Miss Virginia Beebe, Miss Lottie Valliant and Miss Minnie Freizer, all of Helena, with A. B. Keith of Butte, composed a box party at Sutton's Grand to see "At Valley Forge" Monday night.

Mrs. Ed Thompson and little son left Thursday for the South to spend a couple of months.

Prof. Currier of Bozeman is the guest of Mr. George Patten until the 6th of this month.

The Misses Maxey of Bozeman are visiting the Misses Russel for a week or so.

Mrs. Mary Busch gave a most enjoyable dinner at the Thornton Sunday evening.

Mrs. W. W. Wishon left Sunday for California, where she will spend the rest of the winter.

The Homer club will hold its next meeting on January 6 at the home of Mrs. D. J. Hennessy.

G. W. Gordon of Bearmouth was in town for a short time this week.

Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Macdonald spent a few days in Butte from Anaconda.

Miss Beaumont of Deer Lodge is visiting Mrs. J. W. Alexander.

Saturday Night Club.

After a short holiday the Saturday Night club resumes active work tonight. The club meets with Miss Robins and Miss Brown, in 517 West Galena street, at 8 p. m.

The program for the present month is as follows:

January 4—"The Literary Pitfalls of Youth," Mr. Renger.

January 11—"Life From a Physiological and Chemical Standpoint," Miss Cahoon.

January 18—"The Dark Side of Life Among the Wage-Earners," Miss O'Neill.

January 25—"Description of Works Connected With Butte's Additional Water Supply," C. W. Payne.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

A clever woman has devised a new use for old magazines. She doesn't bind them, for one reason, because of the bother in keeping all of the numbers together; somebody's always borrowing a magazine and forgetting to return it, and, for another reason, because, as she says, while bound volumes of magazines look well on a library shelf, nobody wants to read them, says the Philadelphia Press.

Her plan is this: As fast as a magazine number has been read by all of the family and is ready to be consigned to the oblivion of the closet shelf, she takes possession of it. The wire that holds the leaves together is removed and the various articles are separated according to subjects.

She has heavy manila envelopes marked "Art," "Music," "History," "Fiction," "Verse," etc. Every article is put into the envelope where it belongs, according to its classification. And in one envelope will be articles from four or five or more magazines, according to the number available. When a sufficient number of articles, say 1000, have accumulated in any one envelope, she arranges them in the order in which she wishes to have them, numbers the pages anew with a pen, makes out a complete index for the front of the volume, and sends it to the bindery. When it returns she has a valuable book on art or music or something else, as the case may be.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

A clever woman has devised a new use for old magazines. She doesn't bind them, for one reason, because of the bother in keeping all of the numbers together; somebody's always borrowing a magazine and forgetting to return it, and, for another reason, because, as she says, while bound volumes of magazines look well on a library shelf, nobody wants to read them, says the Philadelphia Press.

Her plan is this: As fast as a magazine number has been read by all of the family and is ready to be consigned to the oblivion of the closet shelf, she takes possession of it. The wire that holds the leaves together is removed and the various articles are separated according to subjects.

She has heavy manila envelopes marked "Art," "Music," "History," "Fiction," "Verse," etc. Every article is put into the envelope where it belongs, according to its classification. And in one envelope will be articles from four or five or more magazines, according to the number available. When a sufficient number of articles, say 1000, have accumulated in any one envelope, she arranges them in the order in which she wishes to have them, numbers the pages anew with a pen, makes out a complete index for the front of the volume, and sends it to the bindery. When it returns she has a valuable book on art or music or something else, as the case may be.

Preparing Costly Furs.

When a master workman in a fur manufactory is cutting up skins he is literally cutting money. Skins once passed for frontier money, but their value is now much greater than in the early days, and it would be less costly to cut a garment from $10 bills than to cut it from some skins.

The cutting is quite an interesting feature of the work. To prepare a mink or a sable, for example, the skin must be slashed into strings—narrow pieces more or less irregular in shape—which are afterward sewed together. There may be a thousand pieces in a single cloak, the new and beautiful skins being liberally cut to pieces before they are manufactured. The object of this is to lengthen the skins. The sable, for example, say two feet in length, will be drawn out to four feet, and all its markings preserved, so that it looks like

Dangers of the Telephone.

The dangers of the telephone and the treacherous of it is capable of many a mischief. I have lately heard men and women conversing over the lines with a freedom that was little short of terrible, when the fact was to be considered that the lines are frequently crossed, and other people hear the voices besides those to whom the conversation is addressed. This story about King Edward is told and vouched for, and illustrates the further danger of not always knowing to whom one is speaking:

One evening the Prince of Wales, the king, was at a public dinner at which he was to speak. During the meal he told an equerry to send for a book, to which he wished to refer for a fact, from Marlborough house. The equerry gave the necessary instructions, and the hotel manager rang the royal residence up on the telephone. After he had made himself understood there was a pause of many minutes. He rang again and again, until at last, losing all patience, he literally shouted: "Are you there?" What the — do you mean by keeping his royal highness waiting? Can you find the book or not?" To his angry expostulations came the quiet answer: "We are very sorry to keep you waiting; we are doing our best to find the book, which shall be sent on at once. Please tell my father this because he is so particular." It was the first, and doubtless he hopes it will be the last, time that the manager had ever rated a princess through a telephone.

a very long, but well-proportioned skin. The original skin is so cut to pieces that it may all be "matched" again in the elongated shape.—The World's Fair.

The Poor Things.

The married Druse women of Mt. Lebanon, in Asia Minor, labor under a distinct species of torture endured under their peculiar head veil. It is attached to a long horn, or tambour, usually made of metal, which is fastened to the head by means of a cushion. These habaras are of an infinite variety of colors, embellished with tassels, bands of embroidery and fringes. Underneath this again is worn a face veil of coarse thick net so heavily embroidered that one can scarcely see or breathe through it. This is fastened close to the face, and the habara drawn tightly over it. They are so muffled in the folds of these clumsy stuffs that the stranger has to look twice before he can decide whether they are advancing or retreating, and the poor wretches suffer acutely under the weight of their veils.

A Restaurant Gown.

If you have not planned for a "restaurant gown," in your winter wardrobe, go at once to your modiste and order one, for taking one's dinner in cafes and restaurants is to be one of the favorite diversions of the smart set during the season. It is considered quite the swell thing to wine and dine your friends in these public places instead of in the privacy of your own home, as you must have a suitable gown for the purpose. There is a nicely about selecting this eventful costume, so it must not be elaborate enough to attract undue attention, yet it must have a more dressy air than the average street gown possesses.

Dangers of the Telephone.

The dangers of the telephone and the treacherous of it is capable of many a mischief. I have lately heard men and women conversing over the lines with a freedom that was little short of terrible, when the fact was to be considered that the lines are frequently crossed, and other people hear the voices besides those to whom the conversation is addressed. This story about King Edward is told and vouched for, and illustrates the further danger of not always knowing to whom one is speaking:

One evening the Prince of Wales, the king, was at a public dinner at which he was to speak. During the meal he told an equerry to send for a book, to which he wished to refer for a fact, from Marlborough house. The equerry gave the necessary instructions, and the hotel manager rang the royal residence up on the telephone. After he had made himself understood there was a pause of many minutes. He rang again and again, until at last, losing all patience, he literally shouted: "Are you there?" What the — do you mean by keeping his royal highness waiting? Can you find the book or not?" To his angry expostulations came the quiet answer: "We are very sorry to keep you waiting; we are doing our best to find the book, which shall be sent on at once. Please tell my father this because he is so particular." It was the first, and doubtless he hopes it will be the last, time that the manager had ever rated a princess through a telephone.

MRS. JESSE B. ROOTE, Prominent in the Week's Functions.