

TAKES HIS OWN DOPE

SALOONKEEPER CALDWELL DOES BUSINESS WITH HIMSELF.

SMITH AND JONES GET MIXED

Police Court Attaches Receive Fine From One But Don't Know Which Man Pleaded Guilty—One Is Bank Clerk.

Bert Caldwell, a saloon man, was arraigned before Judge Boyle this morning on a lengthy charge of charges resulting from too free patronage of his own and other bars.

Caldwell was in the Lone Star saloon at 54 East Park street last night looking for trouble. He was indulging his bump of destructiveness by hammering the bar and trying to put the supporter of liquid merchandise out of business.

He is a Grecian Puglist.

Officer Radmilovich happened in and took the belligerent dealer to the station. There he was found to have a pair of iron knuckles and was charged with carrying concealed weapons as well as disturbance and malicious mischief.

Caldwell pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbance and was fined $10. At the recommendation of the assistant city attorney he pleaded not guilty to the charge of carrying concealed weapons and the charge of malicious mischief was held back until the arresting officer could testify.

Took the Gold Cure.

Carl Johnson, Clarence Tennis and Tom Jones were fined $5 each for being drunk. Albert Maule and William Burke were fined $10 each for disturbance.

John Smith and John Jones were the names given by two well known young men about town, one of whom is a bank clerk. The pair got into a fistful altercation at Park and Main streets yesterday afternoon and were arrested by Officer Sullivan. This morning the court attaches tried to figure out whether Smith or Jones pleaded guilty and paid $10 fine. One paid and the other pleaded not guilty and the identity of the two under the aliases became mixed.

DOES GOOD THINGS.

Street Commissioner Orders Sidewalk at Broadway and Main.

Street Commissioner John McLaughlin has earned the gratitude of the pedestrians who are obliged to use the north side of Broadway at Main street.

For months past the corner has been dangerous and almost impassable by the piles of building material.

When the debris was removed after the accident in which one man lost an arm, no sidewalk was put down and the citizens were obliged to walk through the mud or slip along on the ice.

The street commissioner chased after the contractors, Charles Smith and Charles Goddard, for two days, and finally succeeded in giving them notice that they would be compelled to put down a sidewalk and protect it for the benefit of passersby.

The work was put down last evening, and enables people using that side of the street to walk along without risking collision with street cars or death by drowning in the mud.

BURKE A TOUGH ONE

PLAYED A LONG CRIMINAL ENGAGEMENT IN SALT LAKE.

ROBBED TWO WOMEN OF $2000

Arrested and Convicted, But Escaped Punishment—Now Wanted for the Murder of Steve Wells in This City.

James Burke, one of two men supposed to have murdered "Missouri" Steve Wells in this city last February, and for whose arrest the county commissioners have offered a reward of $150, is one of the most desperate and daring men that ever entered the West, if stories related of him are true.

The fact that the murder of Wells was accomplished within 25 yards of the city hall has a tendency to confirm the truthfulness of the stories of his daring.

Associated with Burke in that crime was one O'Connor, who is almost as desperate.

His Salt Lake Record.

Before coming to Butte Burke made Salt Lake his headquarters for a number of years.

According to the stories, about 10 years ago Burke gained quite a reputation as a Utah highwayman, some of the boldest crimes ever committed in the state being credited to him.

In 1890 he was arrested in Ogden on a charge of housebreaking, and being found guilty was sent to the penitentiary for two years.

He served his time, and after his release located in Salt Lake, where he became a noted criminal.

Soon after his advent in Salt Lake he was arrested for the alleged holdup of two women, who were robbed of $2000 worth of diamonds.

The deed was a bold one. Burke, it is alleged, started to accompany the women home from a social function, but when near the goal the women became unconscious either from the effects of blows or knockout drops administered to them before starting.

They had with them when they started about $2000 worth of jewels, but when they recovered consciousness the valuables were gone, and so was Burke, who was then known as Fred Small.

Burke was arrested and convicted of the crime, but in some manner succeeded in escaping the penalty.

He Stops at Nothing.

It is alleged that Burke differs from other criminals in one particular—he is bolder and stops at nothing in order to accomplish his object.

He was known to the police of Salt Lake as one of the toughest men with whom they had to deal. The majority of his offenses there, it is claimed, were confined to matters pertaining to gambling, but many other more serious crimes were committed by him.

Wells Killed in a Speak-Easy.

It was in a gambling house that Wells was killed, but it was a "speak easy," a cabin at the rear of the city hall.

Wells had an interest in a game of faro conducted there, and Burke and O'Connor put up a job to hold him up and take the bank roll.

When they appeared for business, some time after midnight, they found Wells standing with his hands in his hip pockets, an attitude common to him when not otherwise engaged, and without ceremony they shot and killed him. They then escaped.

WHEN THE SHEARS GET GAY

(Clippings from the State Press.)

Pacific slope members of congress have agreed upon a Chinese exclusion bill that there should be no difficulty in passing. It excludes Chinese for all time, excepting, of course, those who have become citizens by birth and naturalization, officials of the Chinese government, teachers, students, merchants, travelers and returning laborers, says the Missoulian. This last proviso should be stricken from the bill and probably will be when it comes up for passage. Every Chinese laborer who leaves the United States for a trip to his native country is instrumental in opening the gates for a dozen of his countrymen. Descriptions, photographs, marks of identification of all kinds are useless. The fellow described will find some way to beat the game.

In every place in the West where Chinese are allowed some smooth, sly Chinese merchant or laundryman who takes care of his countryman's money and makes remittances for them to the old country and retains the greater part for himself, is engaged in smuggling Chinese to this country and uses business men and officials in his nefarious schemes with a cunning that is admirable because so colossal. When he is informed that a gang of heathens are ready to come into the country he finds some "good boy" who wants to go home and sends him back with certificates, etc., in abundance. The fellow remains a year or so at home and returns with the same identification papers, but in the meantime they have been utilized in some manner impossible to detect for the admission of many of his countrymen. There are enough of Chinese in the country. Statistics show that the number is diminishing, but statistics, as some one wittily remarks in congress, are used to prove anything but the truth.

The Chinese not only should not be allowed to come, but they should be required to go. A small number of them fill useful places as servants, etc., but as a rule they fill places that could be filled by whites, by men who are citizens and voters, men who are called upon to fight our battles and are therefore imbued with the spirit of patriotism which preserves the nation.

Notice has been received in Billings from the passenger department of the Northern Pacific, that beginning January 1, there was a slight change in the excursion rates from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Superior to several points in Montana, says the Billings Times. The rate to Hunter's Hot Springs has been increased from $47.50 to $50.80 and to Bozeman (Ferris' Hot Springs) from $52 to $53.50. The rate to Livingston has been raised from $47.50 to $51.90. The return trip may be made over the same road or by way of Billings to the Missouri river. Rates for next year's Yellowstone park season, from June 1 to September 15, have also been announced.

From St. Paul to the Mammoth Hot Springs and return, tickets good for 30 days going and 10 days returning, a rate of $56.90 is made. For the same trip last year the rate was $47.50. For a trip from St. Paul and through the park, together with five and a half days' board and lodging at the park hotels, the rate will be $92.

The sportsmen of Butte have inaugurated a movement to have all the forest reserves in the northwest converted into game preserves. In this state is located the Flathead, Lewis and Clarke, Gallatin and the Bitter Root reserves, says the Silver State. A greater portion of the Idaho. Then in Wyoming there is located the Yellowstone National park, the Teton and the Big Horn forest reserves. With all these converted into game reserves this Northwestern country would soon abound with game again and become the hunters' paradise as in the days gone by.

According to dispatches from St. Paul, the Great Northern railway is making great efforts to secure settlers for the states through which it runs, and has begun an extensive campaign among the farmers of Indiana, Illinois and other states of the Central West. These states having been flooded with circulars setting forth the advantages of these Northwestern states, and lecturers having been provided with stereopticon views showing what can be done upon farms in these sections, says the Great Falls Leader. In addition, low rates of fare have been made for homeseekers, and every facility is to be afforded people who wish to change from the farms of the great East to the new, and to a great extent unimproved farms of the great Northwest.

Thus the Great Northern company is carrying out the promises made to Western people, and undoubtedly among the sections of country exploited are those lands included in Cascade county and in Northern Montana. It now remains for the people of Great Falls and Cascade county to carry out their part of the proposition and to make preparations for receiving these people who will come with the expectation of being shown properties which they may secure control of and may be able to develop into farms which will add to the wealth of the county and of the city.

A great many of these homeseekers are not, as is generally supposed, poor people, who have no places in the East and who come out to Montana with no money, with the idea of growing up with the country and of making their fortunes. Many of them are people who have had farms in the past for years and have been doing farming on a small scale; they are not discontented where they are, but think they can make more money by coming West; they find that they can sell their old farms for a large price per acre, can come to Montana, buy new properties with the money and have enough left over to allow them to develop their new properties and still be in excellent circumstances.

- President Harper's Rest.
(By Associated Press.)
Chicago, Jan. 10.—During the winter quarter of the University of Chicago, President Harper, who has been prevented by arduous labors from taking a vacation for 18 months, will, with Mrs. Harper, retire to Morgan Park. Only on Fridays and Saturdays will he be at the university to meet professors, conduct his classes and look after any matters that may require his attention. In this way he expects to be able to give his interrupted attention to important questions connected with the university.
- CRIPPLED FOR LIFE.
Young Crocker in Sad Flight—His Broken Limbs Will Not Knit.
(By Associated Press.)
New York, Jan. 10.—Charles Templeton Crocker, only son of the late C. F. Crocker, 15 years old, and owner of $7,000,000, has arrived here from San Francisco in such a state that few poor boys would want to change places with him. Both his legs are so badly fractured from an accident last September that the bones will not knit, although he has had, of course, the highest surgical skill.
Now he has come East to see if Dr. Charles F. McBurney can do some magic in osteology that will enable him to walk again. He was thrown out of a dog cart in a runaway and fell against a telegraph post with such force that both thigh bones were shattered.
The journey from San Francisco was made in a special car and several stopovers were made to avoid fatiguing him. He had with him his personal physician and several nurses and attendants.

The Skin AN INDEX TO THE BLOOD

Millions of little glands or tubes connect the blood with the skin, and through these small drain pipes perspiration passes out, carrying with it the impurities that are thrown off by the blood. Should the pores of the skin be entirely closed for even a brief space of time, and the poisonous matter forced back into the circulation, instant death would result. In addition to the sweat glands, the skin is provided with certain others which pour out upon it an oily substance, keeping the skin pliable and soft and protecting it from heat and cold. The blood and skin are so closely related that whatever affects one seriously interferes with the functions of the other. Not only health, but life itself, depends upon perfect harmony between the blood and skin. When, therefore, the blood becomes poisoned from any cause, it quickly Internal and External Poisons manifests itself upon the skin in the form of sores and ulcers, pimples and various eruptive diseases. By the character of the sores we are enabled to determine the nature of the poison or humor in the blood, as every disease originating in the blood has its own peculiar sore or pimple. The skin is not only affected by the poisons generated in the system, but poisons from without enter through the open glands or pores and quickly into the blood. Mercury rubbed upon the skin will produce Rheumatism, and Poison Oak and Ivy and other wild plants gain easy access to the blood through the skin. As so-called skin diseases originate in the blood, the application of powders, soaps and washes can do no permanent good but often do immense damage by closing up the outlet to these little tubes and interfering with the natural action of the skin. The treatment must begin with the blood, and the acid or other poisons antidoted or neutralized. S. S. S. does this and purifies the circulation, builds up the blood and flushes the little glands or pores with pure, new blood, and restores healthy action to the skin. The use of cosmetics never yet brought health and beauty to a rough, red, pimply skin or sallow complexion. What is needed is a rich, pure blood, such as S. S. S. makes. It not only relieves you of all disgusting blackheads, blotches and irritating, itching eruptions, but improves your general health. S. S. S. contains no mercury, potash, arsenic or other mineral, but is a purely vegetable remedy and the safest and best in all blood and skin troubles. Write our physicians for advice or information; they have made a study of blood and skin diseases, and you can have the best medical advice without cost.
