

GREAT PAPPENHEIM

HE IS TO BE QUESTIONED AT KIEL, GERMANY.

LETTERS ROGATORY FOR HIM

Montana Civil Suit Which Requires the Services of the Secretary of State and Ambassador to Germany.

Rector Pappenheim of the University of Kiel, Germany, evidently thinks he is a tremendous fellow, and the services of the United States ambassador at Berlin must be called in before he will give testimony in a civil suit for damages brought in the state of Montana.

Steps to enlist the services of the ambassador to get the professor's testimony were taken today by Attorney Shelton in the suit brought against A. J. Schumacher by G. Leo Hagenberger. Letters rogatory directed to "any judge or court having jurisdiction of civil cases at Kiel, Germany," were issued and filed in the district court here today, and they petition any such judge or court at Kiel to fetch in the doughty schoolman and compel him to answer interrogatories for the benefit of the defendant in the case named.

Wants Damages for Wife's Death.

Hagenberger sued Schumacher, who is a physician, for $1000 damages for the death of his wife. Schumacher attended Mrs. Hagenberger in a sickness in which she died, and Hagenberger charges him with having caused the lady's death by his ignorance of the medical knowledge which he professed to possess.

The question of whether Schumacher is a doctor and received his diploma from the Kiel university has become a large factor in the case, and Professor Pappenheim is desired by Schumacher to give evidence on that point.

A commission was at first issued in the case to take Pappenheim's evidence, but the latter assumed a lofty position in the matter and made the following bombastic reply to the commissioner appointed to take his evidence:

Declined to Testify.

"I have the honor to inform you in the matter herewith returned that I am not in position to be subjected to a hearing as a witness in the legal controversy, Hagenberger vs. Schumacher, in the manner desired by the parties thereto.

It must be left to the parties concerned to get efficient information in the matter in question through diplomatic channels.

The steps taken today follows the professor's suggestion relating to diplomatic channels. The letters rogatory will reach him through a circuitous and official route.

A Red Tape Route.

They will first go to Helena, where the secretary of state of Montana will certify to the authenticity of the district court from which they were issued and the clerk of the court who issued them.

Then they will go to the secretary of state at Washington, who will transmit them to the ambassador to Germany, who will file them in one of the courts at Kiel to which they are directed.

The court at Kiel, acting in compliance with the county of nations, will summons Pappenheim to appear and be interrogated in the suit of Hagenberger against Schumacher. A set of interrogatories will accompany the letters rogatory.

These the professor will be required to reply to, and if his sense of his own dignity and what is due to it are satisfied, he will probably answer with a smile.

The letters will no doubt take some months to go round the circle of official hands and get back to Montana, and when they do the momentous question of whether Schumacher had the ineffable advantage of being schooled under Pappenheim will be answered.

ZOLA'S NEW PLAY

IT WAS LITTLE LESS THAN A RANK FAILURE.

WAS SPLENDIDLY STAGED

No Demonstration Occurred Because of the Absence of the Author, But His Name Was Alternately Hissed and Praised.

(By Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 22.—Much curiosity and interest was aroused by last night's production at the Theater Antoine of the dramatization of Zola's "La Terre," which was regarded as the official reappearance of the apostle of naturalism, who has not been prominently before the public since his championship of Captain Dreyfus rendered him so unpopular.

The play is more noteworthy as a succession of realistic pictures of French peasant life than for its dramatic interest and action.

Hence it is not surprising that it failed to secure a successful reception from the first-nighters.

As M. Zola was not present at the production, the expected demonstration did not occur, but the announcement of the author's name was greeted with some cries of "abas Zola," and counter shouts of "Vive Zola." The play was splendidly staged and acted.

The production received but faint praise from most of the morning papers, like the Figaro, while the anti-scientific journals announced the play a dismal failure.

CASTRO IS HOSTILE

HE IS SAID TO OBJECT TO FOREIGN CAPITAL.

REFUSE TO ADMIT FRENCHMAN

Venezuela President Is Endeavoring to Have Revolutionary Steamer Ban Righ Taken by the British Navy.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Jan. 22.—Despite the French government's demand the authorities have refused to allow the Frenchman, M. Serrestat, to land at LaGuayra, Venezuela, says a Willemstadt, Curacao, correspondent.

This denial of his right to go to Caracas to protect property has caused much indignation, as it is regarded as a new proof of Castro's hostility to foreign capital.

Frenchmen at Willemstadt have complained of the latest move in the Secreta difficulty to the Paris government. Castro's government now fears a new invasion of Guayra by the revolutionists.

Castro has been unable to learn the whereabouts of the expedition commanded by General Mendoza and Hernandez, and has made much trouble in the Barquisimote district. The Mochists are active.

Castro is still seeking to have the British navy seize the Libertador, formerly the Ban Righ.

In Paraguang and neighborhood the insurgents have been defeated by government troops, but it is now confirmed the government troops have been defeated in the neighborhood of Carupano and Barquisimote.

Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Helena, Montana, December 30, 1901.

N. P. R. R. Co., vs. Mineral Classification of w 1/2 section 25, township 4 north, range 11 west.

During the month of April, 1901, Mineral Land Commissioner W. H. Williams, appointed under the act of January 6, 1895, as amended by the act of June 6, 1900, to examine and classify certain mineral lands in the states of Montana and Idaho, classified with other lands, the w 1/2 of section 25, township 4 north, range 11 west, as mineral.

On December 30, 1901, the N. P. R. R. Co. filed its duly verified protest against said classification in which it is alleged, that each and every part of said tract are essentially non-mineral in character and more valuable for non-mineral purposes than for mining.

A hearing is therefore hereby ordered and all parties in interest are hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence touching said allegation before John R. Eardley, a United States commissioner, at his office at Anaconda, Montana, at 10 o'clock a. m., on February 6, 1902, and that final hearing be held before the Register and Receiver of the United States Land Office at Helena, Montana, at 10 o'clock a. m., on February 12, 1902.

WHEN THE SHEARS GET GAY

(Clippings from the State Press.)

Surrounded With Halo.

[Red Lodge Picket.] Last week Billings "enjoyed" the novelty of witnessing the celebration of Christian rites over the bier of a full-blood member of the Crow Indian tribe.

The victim of the ceremony was the wife of Crow Cooper, a pioneer squaw man, who several years ago crowned a somewhat eccentric career by joining the Salvation Army and attuning his melodious voice to sing hilarious hallogans intended to pierce the skies and reach the gates of high heaven.

The ceremonies incident to the obsequies were conducted by a Baptist clergyman of Anglo-Saxon extraction, and among the mourners were a number of Indians in native costume.

Thus does the Salvation Army carry its Christian influences alike into the homes of the pale faces and the teepees of the aborigines, surrounding all with its halo of gilt and gold and everlasting glory.

Public Water Works.

[Yellowstone Leader.] The people of Dillon are out to provide themselves with a system of public water works.

Last week the city council voted unanimously to bond the city for $25,000 to be used for this purpose.

The question will soon be submitted to a vote of the people and it is confidently expected that it will carry at the polls.

From careful investigation it has been ascertained that the above amount will be ample to provide the city with a water works system to be owned and operated by the people.

In this manner the city will be provided with water for public purposes such as fire protection and street sprinkling free of cost, while it is assured that the water rentals for private purposes will amount to enough to pay the five per cent interest on the bonds, as well as provide a fund for the ultimate payment of the bonds themselves.

There can be no comparison between the advantages of such a system and a system of private water works with its exorbitant water rentals for both public and private purposes.

Both Milk and Honey.

[Missoulian.] Ten years ago there were not half a dozen stands of bees in Missoula county.

Farmers who believed that a land flowing with milk also ought to have a little honey were laughed at for suggesting such a thing.

The bees would be winter killed. There was no buckwheat and the idea of attempting to raise bees without buckwheat was absurd.

Various other objections were offered.

Her Aim in Life.

(Chicago News.) "Are you going to marry when you grow up?" asked a visitor of 5-year-old Bessie.

"No," was the reply, "I'm going to be a widow, because they always have such pretty black clothes and look so happy."

Not Intentional.

(Washington Star.) "Do you mean to say that you have not read all of Shakespeare's plays?"

"No," answered Miss Cayenne. "To tell the truth I did not mean to say it. As in the case of most people, they must be told the truth, the confession slipped out quite by accident."

Her Chances Good.

(Judge.) Benham—Do you remember that before we were married you said you could never be a poor man's wife?

Mrs. Benham—Well, I wasn't, was I? Benham—No, but you will be soon if you keep on at the rate you are going now.

Not the Right Color.

(Philadelphia Press.) "John," said Mrs. Newlind, "that corner grocer is dishonest."

"Tried to cheat you, did he?" replied her husband.

"He just did. I asked for salmon and he offered me a can with a blue label. As if I don't know salmon color when I see it."

Love Laughs at Dogs.

(Judge.) The Damsel—Oh, Harold! I've been as frightened for you. Papa has bought a great big savage bulldog, and—

The Swain—That's all right, darling! I've bought a dog, too. He will endeavor to keep your father's dog busy while you and I saunter down to the parsonage.

Waiting His Turn.

(Washington Star.) "You seem very cheerful in the face of defeat," said one citizen of a South American republic.

"Oh, yes," replied the other. "The governing power is sure to be deposed sooner or later, and my turn is sure to come. So I am enjoying myself on the theory that anticipation is better than realization."
