JAIL DOORS OPEN TO FUND CITY DEBT

THOMAS POOLEY, CHARGED WITH LITTLEJOHNS' MURDER, FREE.

SECURES BAIL LAST EVENING

Four Well Known Residents of the City Go Upon His Bonds as Sureties—Rejoices at Freedom—Wife Been Very Devoted.

Thomas Pooley, charged with the murder of Thomas Littlejohn, his son-in-law, and Mrs. Lydia Littlejohn, his daughter, was released from prison last night on bail. He furnished two bonds, amounting to $7,500, and was set at liberty by Sheriff Furey.

The bonds were approved by Judge McClellan, who had fixed them at a session of his court a few days ago. Pooley's bondsmen are Thomas Bryant, John Thomas, A. F. Bray and J. E. Lloyd. The bonds were presented to the court last evening and the bondsmen were required to justify by the court.

Say Bar Raised to Prosecution

As soon as Pooley's attorneys, R. F. Thresher and E. S. Booth, had secured an order from the court for Pooley's release they presented it to the sheriff and Pooley was set at liberty. He was much excited and rejoiced at receiving his freedom again, even though it is conditional. He had been a long time in jail, over a year and 11 months, the killing of the Littlejohns and the day he was taken into custody being on March 18, 1900.

Mrs. Pooley was devoted to her husband during his confinement and had visited him every day during the long period he was in jail. Her loyalty to him was the subject of much admiring comment, whatever the opinion of Pooley was.

Pooley's attorneys declare that they will take his case into the supreme court on habeas corpus just as soon as they can reach it. They profess to believe that a bar has been raised to his prosecution and that the supreme court will order his discharge from custody.

PYTHIAN KNIGHTS

ANNIVERSARY BALL LARGELY ATTENDED.

ONE HUNDRED FROM ANACONDA

Handsome Uniforms and Pretty Costumes Make a Gay Show—Companies for the National Encampment.

The Knights of Pythias of the Butte and Anaconda lodges held joint revel last evening in commemoration of the founding of the order 39 years ago.

One hundred of the knights came over from Anaconda to take part in the grand ball, which was the form of the entertainment.

Renshaw hall, where the dance was held was the scene of much gaiety and pageantry when the plumed knights, with their bright uniforms took their partners for the grand march.

Hall Was Thronged.

The hall, which was handsomely decorated for the occasion, could hardly hold the immense throng which joined in the merry time.

The local lodges are contemplating sending a company to the national encampment at San Francisco next summer to compete for the prize.

It is thought that Montana will furnish four companies, all well-trained and fit to make their competitors move lively in order to capture the prize.

In the state competitive drill last year the Butte company carried away the honors after a close contest with the company from Anaconda.

CITY HELD LIABLE

JURY AWARDS MRS. FRYOR MARTIN $385 DAMAGES.

LITTLE BOY BROKE HIS LEG

Fell Into an Excavation in a Street Which the City Had Neglected to Have Guarded—Trial in Judge Clancy's Court.

Butte must pay for allowing a hole to exist in the street in which a little boy had his leg broken. The suit was that of Mrs. Pryor Martin against the city for damages in the sum of $385.

The suit was brought some time ago, and the trial was ended in Judge Clancy's court this morning, at which time the jury in the case brought in a verdict in the woman's favor for the full amount asked.

The complaint in the case alleged that little Willie Pryor, who was only five years old, fell into the hole and broke his leg in August, 1899.

No Sidewalk or Guard.

The excavation was in the ground at the side of the street at 538 East Broadway, where there should have been a sidewalk but where there was none.

The boy fell into the cavity at 8 o'clock in the evening, and it was shown that there was neither guard, railing, light or anything else at the place to warn passers by of the danger of breaking their necks.

The injured boy was in bed two months and a half, and the mother sued to recover the value of nursing, medicine, medical care and other expenses incurred through the injury he had suffered. Judge Kehoe was counsel for Mrs. Martin, and Deputy City Attorney Bollinger and Attorney Parr defended the case for the city.

COUNCIL VOTES TO SUBMIT MATTER TO ELECTORS.

ANOTHER DEBATE OVER POLICE

Salary Claims Turned Down and Dissenting Aldermen Get Back at Chief Reynolds Through Blocking Expense Allowance.

There were two bills of importance introduced at the meeting of the city council last night and referred to the judicial committee.

One was the bill providing for the annexation of districts to the east and west of the city limits, the proposition for which annexation will be submitted to the people to vote on at the April election.

The other is a provision for the issuing of refunding bonds by the city and this also will be voted on in April. Proposals are made in refunding the sewer bonds to the amount of $10,000; the refunding of public improvement bonds issued in 1890 and amounting to $20,000 and for the funding of floating indebtedness to the amount of $240,000.

To Bear Five Per Cent.

The interest on the new bonds is not to exceed 5 per cent and the bonds are to be issued in denominations of $100 or $1,000, redeemable in 10 years and payable in 20 years.

There was another squabble over the suspended policemen when the report of the finance committee was received recommending the disallowance of the claims for salaries for January.

Alderman Dempsey asked that City Attorney Lamb answer his former question regarding the power of the mayor to fill vacancies.

The city attorney stated that the law gives the mayor power to fill all vacancies in non-elective offices, but that these places were only filled temporarily.

The mayor when asked his authority for putting on special policemen stated that he did so to keep the police quota filled.

Mayor Is Sustained.

A motion to reject the report was lost by a vote of 6 to 7. Alderman Dempsey was not satisfied and kept up a string of questions as to how far the power of the mayor in suspensions went.

The city attorney announced that the mayor did not have the power to suspend for the entire term of office as it would be in defiance of the law placing the power of removal with the mayor and council jointly. Mr. Lamb took exceptions to Mr. Dempsey's remarks and said:

"I wish to say, Mr. Dempsey, that if you mean anything by the term 'fair' answer, that I always have and always will give fair answers to you and every other alderman here. I shall do that to all while I am in office. I may be mistaken, but I give my best judgment."

"I am casting no aspersions on the city attorney," said Dempsey. "I value his opinions as highly as any man in this council. He has made a good and efficient attorney. You, Mr. Mayor, are the main man at the head of this administration. I do not want the city attorney to feel that I am casting reflections on him. I think he is giving the opinion which he believes to be right. I will ask him, if the policemen are not employees of the city how has the mayor the authority to suspend them for a second term?"

"They are not employees but officers," replied the attorney. "Even under the state of suspension they are suspended officers. In the army and navy and government departments generally officers are suspended. They continue to be officers, but they are unable to fulfill their functions because they are in a state of suspension."

The Aldermen Get Back.

The dissenting aldermen got a chance to retaliate on the chief of police when Alderman Mayo followed a permission granted for three weeks leave to attend the meeting of the chiefs of police in San Francisco with a motion that $200 be voted for expenses for the trip.

Dempsey and Duggan opposed the motion on the ground that the chief's term of office would expire before the date set for his return and that he might not be reappointed.

The mayor stated that the matter was not strictly legal but that it was hardly fair to vote expenses to one official and not to another. He said further that the motion would not be considered unless there was a unanimous vote. The motion was withdrawn.

A vote of thanks was tendered City Attorney Lamb for his successful conduct of the city's case in the suit of James A. Murray against the city.

J. H. TURNER SAYS J. H. MILYUS WANTS TO KILL HIM.

A complaint charging J. H. Milyus with having threatened the life of J. H. Turner was lodged in Justice Arnold's court yesterday afternoon and, later in the day, Milyus walked into the presence of the justice, pleaded not guilty and had his trial set for tomorrow.

Turner desires to have Milyus put under bonds to keep the peace.

SOL ISN'T OUR SOL

PEDDLER LEVY WAS TAKEN IN CHARGE BY JAILER LEVY.

FAILED TO TAKE OUT LICENSE

Women, Apparently Respectable, Are Found Drunk by Policemen and Are Fined in Police Court—Court Happenings.

"What time do you want your case set for, Sol?" inquired Judge Boyle this morning as the name of Sol Levy was called in connection with an arrest for peddling without a license.

"Any old time will do me, judge," laughed the jailer, "but I don't know how'll you suit the other fellow."

Sol Levy isn't Sol Levy. That is the man under arrest isn't "Our Sol" of the jail. He's another Sol who failed to contribute to the municipal support and was taken in on a warrant sworn out by J. D. Knowlton, license inspector.

Luck of a Native Son.

"He's a foreigner," said Jailer Sol. "I'm an American born citizen, one of the native sons of California. That's the difference. That's why he gets arrested and I take charge of him. See?"

The peddler took 24 hours to plead, in which time he expects to dig up the price of a license.

"Miss Grey" and "Anna Vassey" are the names given on the police docket. Two women of apparent respectability were the ones to plead guilty to being found drunk by policemen last night. One was held in the detention room and the other was locked up in the jail. Both pleaded guilty this morning and were fined $5 each.

Minor Offenders.

Patrick Harrington once more pleaded guilty to drunkenness and made his usual dash for the jail to spend two days and a half.

Hans Becker, who was arrested Tuesday night on a charge of disturbance, failed to appear this morning and his bond of $10 was declared forfeited.

James Reid, arraigned on a charge of stealing a coat from Mrs. Matthews in the Ogden block, Galena and Renshaw streets, pleaded not guilty and will be tried February 26.

Ernest Dunlap and Henry King, arrested on a charge of vagrancy, will be tried next Wednesday.

THEY HAD TO EAT

TROUPE OF KID MINSTRELS IN HARD LUCK.

WILL PLAY IN BUTTE TONIGHT

This City Should Have a Home for Stranded Actors, Many of Whom Remain in Butte Perforce.

If the members of the theatrical profession in the United States want to accomplish something for the benefit of the profession at large, they would do well to establish a home for stranded actors in this city.

Butte has had more bankrupt actors during the past winter than she is entitled to, for it is not because of poor houses in the city that the players find themselves in such straightened circumstances. In fact they all speak of Butte as a good theater town.

It Is a Kangaroo Jump.

The trouble is the long jump which they must make before reaching any other town of importance and the fact that no actor has ever been accused of carrying the amount of a lengthy railroad fare recklessly around with him, so that when the time comes for many of them to move, they find that the move is beyond their resources.

The latest addition to the Impenunious society of moneyless actors is the organization known as "Wilson's Juvenile Minstrels," which is composed of about 30 children, who are purported to give a very fair show.

Ate Manager Out of Funds.

In Spokane their troubles began; they found their effects tied up because their manager couldn't settle a restaurant bill of $64.

A speculative gentleman, who evidently had faith in the ability of the juveniles, secured an interest in the concern by paying the bill and starting the company on the road again.

Last night the company played at Missoula, and will open a brief engagement at Sutton's Family theater tonight.

Hindquarter Orders.

(Detroit Free Press.)

The colonel was entertaining some of his friends with stories of army life, and his talk turned to the inflexibility of orders. That reminded the colonel of Tim Murphy's case.

Murphy had enlisted in the cavalry service, although he had never been on a horse in his life. He was taken out for drill with other raw recruits under command of a sergeant, and, as luck would have it, secured one of the worst buckers in the whole troop.

"Now, my men," said the sergeant in addressing them, "no one is allowed to dismount without orders from a superior officer. Remember that."

Tim was no sooner in the saddle than he was hurled head over heels, through the air, and came down so hard that the breath was almost knocked out of him.

"Murphy" shouted the sergeant, when he discovered the man spread out on the ground, "you dismounted!"

"I did."

"Did you have orders?"

"From headquarters I suppose?" with a sneer.

"No, from headquarters."

"Take him to the guardhouse!" ordered the sergeant.
