PIONEER IS BORNE TO GRAVE

LAST TRIBUTES ARE PAID TO THE MEMORY OF JOHN NOYES.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY AT FAMILY RESIDENCE

Home Is Crowded With Men and Women Who Were Associated With Dead Pioneer in the Old Days—Many Beautiful Floral Tributes—Largest Cortege Ever Seen in City.

The tribute paid to the memory of one of Butte's most respected pioneers today when the sorrowing friends and family of the late John Noyes laid his body tenderly away in Mount Moriah cemetery, was an eloquent testimony to the love and esteem in which he was held by the people of the city, with whose growth and progress he was so prominently identified.

All morning as the body lay in the quiet room at the residence on Granite street, friends of the dead man came in to take a last look on the face of the one they loved so well.

Beautiful Floral Offerings.
 Massed around the room were vast piles of floral tributes, the choicest of the conservatories; many of them of the most exquisite and beautiful design.

Immense Easter lilies, vast masses of violets barked of many varieties, lilies of the valley, and crosses and columns of flowers, verdant moss and fern almost filled the room in the center of which, on a raised catafalque, was the casket with the remains of the honored pioneer.

Funeral Obsequies.
 At 2 o'clock this afternoon Bishop Brewer read the beautiful and impressive service of the Episcopal church, in which the large assemblage of friends that filled the spacious rooms and hallway participated. Among those who were present were many men and women who had been associated with the dead pioneer when Butte was in its infancy, and as the bishop referred feelingly to the kindly charity and benevolent disposition of the dead man many could not restrain their emotion.

At the conclusion of the services the pallbearers, John W. Forbis, Lee Mantle, F. Augustus Heinze, James W. Forbis, General Charles S. Warren, R. D. Leggat, David N. Upton and George H. Casey advanced to the bier and tenderly bore the remains through the living wall of friends and down the pathway of his home to the hearse which stood in waiting to convey the body to its last resting place. The cortege which followed the remains to the cemetery was one of the largest ever seen in this city, and was a fitting tribute to the esteem in which the dead man was held.

Some Floral Tributes.
 The floral offerings, which were conveyed to the cemetery in two carriages piled in vast pyramids, were beautiful and elaborate.

The most conspicuous was the magnificent casket cover of violets and Easter lilies, the gift of the wife and children. Pursuant to their request, this was lowered into the grave with the casket which it covered completely with its wealth of flowers and foliage.

Among the other floral offerings were the following: Crosses of violets and roses from Mrs. Thomas C. Noyes and Mrs. John Noyes, Jr., a cross from Mrs. John Cotter, a wreath from the Silver Bow club, a floral harp from John MacGinniss, a wreath of roses from George Casey, and an exquisite floral piece from Mrs. Largey.

Others who sent flowers and floral tributes were: Lee Mantle, Gen. C. S. Warren, F. A. Heinze, D. N. Upton, Alex Johnston, Rod Leggat, John and James Forbis, Mrs. Otto Heinze and David Melklejohn.

Pioneer of Two States.
 Mr. Noyes came to Montana in 1865 from Idaho, where he had mined for several years. He was one of the pioneers in McClellan gulch, and worked the placer ground there for several years. After coming to Butte he acquired considerable placer and quartz property, extracting many thousands of dollars in placer gold from the ground south of the city.

He was one of the old landmarks of the city whose taking away removes one of the historic characters not only of Montana, but of the West.

PORTER IS POPULAR IN SIXTH WARD

GEORGE F. PORTER
 Of the Sixth Ward, Republican Candidate for Orator.

Any old-time resident of the Sixth ward who is not personally acquainted with George F. Porter, the republican candidate for alderman of that balliwick, is looked upon as a curiosity. They all know him and they like him, and trouble is in store for any husbands who go home on election day and it comes to the knowledge of their wives that they have not voted for Porter.

Mr. Porter is a native Montanan. He was born in Helena in 1869. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Porter, are old-time residents of the state, coming to this city in 1876. The aldermanic candidate attended the first school that was opened in this city. It was taught by Patrick Tallent and J. F. Saville. In 1881 he left school to become a cash boy in the mercantile establishment of E. L. Bonner & Co., and held a position of responsibility when he left that institution to become cashier of the Case, Gravelle & Irvin company. He was a resident of what is now the Sixth ward long before the city was incorporated. He has seen that section grow up into a part of a great city, and no man lives in the ward who is better acquainted with its needs or its people than he.

He is a member of the Clerks' Protective assembly and has always taken a lively interest in the growth of that organization. He helped to organize it and shares the honor of being one of the two active members whose names appear on the charter rolls.

Republicans Jubilant.

After today there will remain but two more days of registration, and any republican who fails to have his name inscribed on the great register in order to qualify to vote at the forthcoming city election is simply putting a stumbling block in the way of republican success. In every ward a large proportion of the republicans have registered, and there is jubilation at the committee headquarters in consequence, but there are some who have neglected to perform this important duty. It should be attended to today.

"Party men all over the city take consolation because of the fact that in this contest the factions are together," said a prominent republican this morning. "Apparently the old feeling has been dropped, and because of this it looks as though there should be a splendid showing of success."

"Never in recent years has the party been in such splendid shape." The central committee is advised that in certain quarters the police have made an attempt to induce voters to look upon the democratic campaign with favor. Interested republicans have called at headquarters and stated that they had been approached and told that unless they voted right they might expect trouble in the future. The intimation came from officers working on beats, and whether it was authorized or not is a matter of conjecture. Possibly some over-zealous democratic policemen have exceeded their instructions, but the story came to the republican headquarters from several different sources.

OFF COMES PARINI'S HEAD

MAYOR DAVEY ACTS ON SUPPORT OF REYNOLDS

Order of Suspension Is Made by the Executive and Is Recognized by Parini Who Will Be Hauled Before the Police Committee for Trial.

Emanuel Parini isn't a policeman at present. Emanuel gave up the fight today when the chief of police bundled the obstreperous officer into his buggy and drove him over to the mayor's home to hear what the head of the municipality had to say.

Ever since the chief ordered the suspension, Parini ignored the orders and has traveled his beat just the same. He has also signed the police register every morning, placing his name over that of Officer Ed Hamilton, who was detailed to that beat.

There was some question as to what would be done with Parini after his action. At first it was understood that he would be arrested and taken to the station on a charge of impersonating an officer, but there happened to be some doubt about the custom, which has always been in use, of the chief or captain suspending the officers.

In order to make it legal, Chief Reynolds this morning sent out Officer McGilllock of the flying squadron for Parini, who was brought to the police headquarters.

Chief Reynolds took Parini in his buggy to the mayor's house, where the formal suspension order was made. Parini announced himself as willing to take the order of suspension from the mayor, though declaring he would not recognize the chief's authority.

It was finally agreed that Parini should leave the beat to Officer Hamilton and quit working until a meeting of the police committee could be had to investigate the charges which the chief and mayor will prefer.

The settlement of the trouble in this manner has cut short the insubordinate action of Parini, and has also served as an endorsement of Chief Reynolds' action by the mayor.

Judge McClernan today committed to the insane asylum Tallario Fortunati, a German-Italian from the mountains of the Austrian Tyrol. Fortunati was an inmate of the county poor house, and he could hear the people of Butte talking about him from his ward window. The acuteness of his hearing was the marvel of the institution.

HERR BANDMANN IS COMING

Herr Daniel E. Bandmann, the eminent tragedian, and a splendid company, will arrive in the city tomorrow and will open for a season at Maguire's Grand Opera house Sunday night.

Butte knows Bandmann. The old-time actor has a legion of friends here. Of his ability as an artist it is unnecessary to make mention. His recent triumphs in the big theatrical world of New York are fresh in the minds of the public.

This company will remain as a stock company at the Grand under Mr. Bandmann's stage management. The new policy of the house is to give a rotation of the very best plays with a superior company at popular prices. There will be no more dark nights at Maguire's after this week.
