Toll of the Mountains.

[Paris Cosmos.]
The mountains end a greater number of lives every year than is generally supposed. An official report states that in 1901 in Switzerland alone, accidents on mountains amounted to 119, and that death occurred in all of these. This figure is double that of 1900, and represents the highest total that has hitherto been recorded. The majority of these accidents took place in the neighborhood of Chamounix.

FAMOUS DANIEL O'LEARY, THE WALKER, NOW LIVING IN BUTTE

At one time a world's champion, the maker of several fortunes and the most famous athlete of his day.

This is the record of Dan O'Leary. Now, in his old age, he is an agent for a Butte wholesale whisky firm, working for a meager monthly salary. Formerly $10,000 in a single week was the income of the famous and successful athlete.

Dan O'Leary is an Irishman and was born in 1844.

The first years of his life were spent in Dublin, but when still a young man he emigrated to America.

It was while walking the streets of New York one night that the sturdy youth first realized that he could walk faster than the average man.

Learned of His Speed.

It was the occasion of a large fire in Lower Broadway, and O'Leary with sev-heel-and-toe walker," he said, "in November of the year 1876.

"Sir John D. Astley of England, who by the way was a prince among sportsmen, had offered a handsome belt for the man winning the great walking match at Manchester, England, in '76.

"The real contest was between Peter Crossland and myself.

"Crossland was, up to that time, the champion, and my chief ambition was to beat him.

"I out-distanced Crossland in the 72-hour race that followed, and the championship belt was awarded to me.

Won Fame in London.

"I next made my appearance in London at the great Agricultural hall.

"On that occasion I defeated E. P. Weston for a bet of £1,000, in a six-day walking contest.

"I covered a distance of 520 miles while Weston made 510.

"My victory in London attracted the eral of his friends was hastening to the spot.

The party had run until all were too tired to continue at that point.

As soon as they began to walk O'Leary rapidly pulled away from his companions, and so fast was his pace that he soon out-distanced them.

Some one who had learned of the speed of the young Irishman offered to back him in public walking contests, and from that time the reputation of Dan O'Leary was made.

Became the Champion.

He took part in all the world's championship walking contests when that sport was at the height of popularity, and from 1874 to 1881 was the champion square heel-and-toe walker of the world. O'Leary was seen today by an Inter Mountain reporter.

He does not seek publicity, but agreed to tell of some of his great contests.

He is a medium-sized, gray-haired man, with bright blue eyes, and there is nothing in his general appearance to suggest the athlete.

O'Leary's Story.

"I won the world's championship as a attention of Lord Rosebery and several other Englishmen of sporting proclivities."

"They backed me heavily in all my contests, and frequently I received as my share of their wagers as high as $14,000 in a single match.

His First Defeat.

"My first defeat came in March, 1879, when at Madison Square Garden, New York, I entered a six-day contest, go-as-you-please, with Charley Rowell, John Innis and Charley Harriman. I was taken ill early in the contest and quit.

"Rowell won the match.
"Those were palmy days for successful walkers. It was then the most popular form of sport.

"I gave a great walking match at Madison Square Garden in October, 1879, paying $10,000 for the rent of the Garden for a single week and offering $10,000 in prizes.

"Forty thousand people paid admission at the gate that week and I netted $28,000.

"Luck turned against me later in life.

"I played the races and speculated heavily in Wall street stocks, and here I am in Butte, a poor man."

FACED DEATH DOWN ON THE SEVEN HUNDRED FOOT LEVEL

RICHARD TRYTHALL,
Who Was Injured in the Farrell No. 2 Last Evening.

NEIL GILLES,
Who Was Injured Yesterday in the Farrell No. 2.

Richard Trythall was not as badly scalded by the escaping steam in the Farrell shaft No. 2, as was Neil Gilles, but his injuries are none the less painful. His shoulders, neck and arms are scalded to a crisp and his right leg was also burned.

Trythall has a wife and four small children living at No. 11 Lincoln avenue, who were delighted this morning to hear of his encouraging condition.

Neil Gilles, who was so badly scalded by the bursting of a steam pipe at the Farrell No. 2 shaft yesterday afternoon and who is now at St. James' hospital, is believed to be out of danger today.

His injuries were at first considered serious and last night it was announced amputation of his right hand would be necessary, but so sure are the physicians of his recovery that this will not be done.

Gilles was terribly scalded about the arms and hands and suffered excruciating pain.

JURY PANEL IS DISCHARGED

Judge Harney this afternoon discharged his jury panel from further service and the jurymen visited the clerk's office to draw their pay after their release.

The jurymen were trying civil suits in the Judge's court, having been impanelled some time ago.

The court will draw another panel and try another set of civil cases.

FUNERAL OF LORENZ WINWOOD

Thomas Winwood, the father of Lorenz Winwood, the boy killed by the freight train on the crossing on West Granite street yesterday, has not yet arrived in the city from Madison county, but is expected this evening. Should he come the funeral of Lorenz Winwood will probably take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Winwood home at No. 1201 West Granite street. The services will be held at the Catholic church and the remains will be interred in the Catholic cemetery.

BOMBASTIC CHARGES TO COME

There will be a special meeting of the city council Monday evening for the purpose of canvassing the vote of the recent election.

No attempt will be made to attend to any routine business at the regular meeting of the council, which will be held the Wednesday night following.

It is understood that the committee on police will at that time report upon the complaint filed against Detective Jerry Murphy. It is the general opinion of those who are familiar with the matter that the committee will exonerate Mr. Murphy.

MAKES SURE OF CITIZENSHIP

Thomas McArdle was so anxious to enter the United States navy that he today began to get himself naturalized the second time.

McArdle is a full-fledged American citizen by naturalization, but he took out the first papers in a second naturalization.

The reason for this was because McArdle was particularly anxious to break into the naval service of Uncle Sam. He desired to enlist with the recruiting officer of the navy who is now here getting "rookies."

Only citizens, or those in the process of becoming citizens, are accepted as recruits to this service. McArdle was naturalized in Chicago, but lost his papers and could not wait for copies to reach here. He had no satisfactory means of proving his citizenship to the officer, so began getting out a second set of papers to show his good faith.

PURCHASING STEEL

SMALL FURNACE MEN ARE HOLDING FOR HIGHER PRICES.

MUCH CONFIDENCE IMPLIED

Consumers Want Definite Contracts—Supplying Their Wants Without an Agreement for Deliveries Later Not Satisfactory.

(By Associated Press.)

Cleveland, Ohio, April 10.—The Iron Trade Review, discussing market conditions this week, says:

The purchase by the United States Steel corporation of 225,000 tons of bessemer iron last week and 75,000 tons additional this week for delivery in the six months between October 1, 1902 and April 1, 1903, is the most significant development in the iron trade this year.

At $16.50 at the furnace this iron was sold on a basis about $2 lower than the current price of No. 2 foundry iron at central western furnaces for delivery this year.

The fact that half the capacity of merchant furnaces, producing bessemer iron is thus taken up for the six months mentioned and at such price, indicates confidence in the prolongation of the strong conditions into next year, as well as the co-operation of large interests both buying and selling, in maintaining a reasonable level of values. The buying of bessemer iron, with deliveries extending 12 months beyond the date of purchase, is without precedent apart, possibly from occasional conversion deals.

Higher Prices.

The merchant furnace men were a unit on this transaction and a number, rather than sell to the big corporation at the price named are holding their iron to be sold in smaller lots at the higher prices now prevailing and to all appearances likely to prevail later in the year.

In foundry iron, the week has only emphasized the tendency of the market to cut loose from the attempts from the more conservative elements in the trade to control prices. Consumers are not all satisfied apparently, with promises of iron sufficient to meet their wants, without accompanying definite contracts to make deliveries later in the year. The southern companies announcing the continuation of the $12 price on No. 2 foundry iron at Birmingham have not resumed selling at that figure, but other furnaces are holding steady at $14 Birmingham, and in some cases a higher price is secured.

The northern furnaces have advanced prices also, not only on prompt delivery, as high as $21 for No. 2 delivered, has been paid, but on the contract iron, which some furnaces are holding at $19 at furnaces.

Want Tax Reduced.

(By Associated Press.)
Louisville, Ky., April 10.—It is said among Kentucky whisky men that a petition with three million signers will be sent to congress by the distilled spirits' interests of the United States asking that the internal revenue tax be reduced from $1.10 to 70 cents a gallon. It is said that the organizers of this movement intend to enter politics in opposition to senators and congressmen who oppose the request for reduction of the spirits tax.

How About Ingrain Carpets?

We know we are "not the only pebbles on the beach," but when it comes to crowding the most purchasing power into a carpet-buying dollar, we are IT, and we know it. We have studied weaves, patterns and floor covering values as suited to the Butte market until we know by heart what you want, when you want it, and just how much you will be willing to pay for it. If you had not shown in the past your appreciation of our carpet judgment this business could not have grown to be the regulator of carpet values for Montana. There are many places to buy carpets, but only one place in Butte to buy Ingrain carpets at prices like these—

WANT ASSISTANCE

EXECUTORS OF CECIL RHODES WILL LEAVE A SCHEME.

THE OXFORD SCHOLARSHIPS

Great Fund Set Apart by the Diamond King for Educational Purposes to Be Handled With Care.

(By Associated Press.)

London, April 10.—One of the first intentions of Cecil Rhodes' executors, it is reported, is to invite a limited number of gentlemen, probably a dozen, to co-operate with them in drawing up a scheme for the settlement of the primary conditions which shall govern the distribution of the Oxford scholarships in pursuance with the wishes of the testator. The executors will leave no stone unturned in obtaining the best advices from home and colonial sources, which shall guide them in administering the great fund set apart for the scholarships scheme of education.

The ministers of the British colonies which are to benefit under the will may be consulted in the matter.

JUDGE HARNEY GETS A CANE

Judge Harney was presented with a gold-headed cane this afternoon by the 26 jurors who have been serving on the panel in his division.

The cane was presented by Juror Burns and will be appropriately engraved.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

The remains of William Williams is being embalmed and will be shipped to Fullerton, Neb., tomorrow afternoon for interment. The funeral will leave Richards' undertaking parlors at 2:30 o'clock. Friends and acquaintances are invited to escort the remains to the depot.

Some of the buoyant specialties again reacted sharply.

Notice of Forfeiture.

Butte, Montana, April 8, 1902.

To Thos. L. Porter, or assigns.
You are hereby notified that I have expended during the year 1901, one hundred dollars in labor and improvements upon the Julian Lode claim, situated in Summit Valley mining district, Silver Bow county, Montana, about 4½ miles southeast of Butte City, Montana, of which the declaratory statement is found of record on page 76 of book "D" of lode claims, in the office of the recorder of said county of Silver Bow, in order to hold said claim under the laws of the United States concerning annual labor upon mining claims, being the amount required to hold said lode for the period ending on the 31st day of December, 1901. And, if within ninety days after publication hereof, you fail to contribute your proportion of said expenditure, as a co-owner by payment thereof to me or to my agents, the J. E. Richards Co., at Butte, Montana, your interest in the claim will become the property of the subscriber, your co-owner, by the provisions of said laws.

MARY W. BISHOP.
