

FENCING THE LAND

MILLIONS OF ACRES HELD BY THE CAT-LEMEN.

NOTICE SERVED ON OFFENDERS

Predicted by Commissioner of the General Land Office That This Year Will Surpass the Record For Entries.

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, April 23.—The commissioner of the general land office, Binger Hermann, is having a hot time with the big cattle outfits all over the Western country.

The cattle barons, judging from the reckless manner in which they have fenced the public domain, believe that it was created for their especial benefit, and that the insignificant homesteader has no rights which they are bound to consider.

The commissioner has a number of special agents looking after the illegal fencing and one of them, Colonel John Mosby, the old confederate war-horse, is now engaged in this work. In Nebraska he found more than 6,000,000 acres, valued at more than $9,000,000, illegally fenced.

As to department action it can be said that 436 cases of unlawful fencing were reported by special agents and notice to remove served upon the offenders. Eighty-three removals were voluntarily made after such notice. Three hundred and twenty-four suits were recommended and cases reported to the United States attorneys based upon special agents' reports. In one case, known as the Bealer and Rayella grant in New Mexico, about 1,079,000 acres of the public domain are alleged to be unlawfully occupied.

The time for the removal of the illegal fences has been extended by the president to July 1, 1902, when they must come down. One of the most notable cases is that of Jesse D. Carr, before the United States court for the district of Oregon for unlawful enclosure of 84,000 acres of the public domain in Oregon and California (mostly in Oregon), the fence being of stone, wood and wire, which the court decreed should be removed and which was subsequently torn down by the United States marshal.

Fences Ordered Removed.

An act of congress approved in 1886 authorizes the president to take such measures as shall be necessary to remove and destroy any unlawful enclosures. Following the enactment of this law President Cleveland on August 7, 1885, issued a proclamation ordering the removal of unlawful enclosures and declared that the public domain should be reserved for actual settlers who should be entitled to free entry thereof. In view of the above described condition the law and proclamation referred to is particularly applicable at this time.

There were never so many entries made by actual settlers of agricultural lands as in the past year and it is predicted by Commissioner Hermann that the present year will surpass the record. These entries are all made on land in the localities where the alleged illegal fencing has been done.

WORSE THAN FIRST REPORTED.

Western Part of Guatemala About All Destroyed.

(By Associated Press.)
New York, April 23.—News of the widespread desolation and ruin spread by the recent earthquake is slowly coming in, says a Guatemala City dispatch.

Almost all the towns, villages and plantations in the rich western part of the republic have been destroyed.

The volcano of Chingo, on the border of Guatemala and Salvador, has become active again.

The volcano of Santa Maria, in the western part of the republic, which is also in a state of eruption, has not been as active since the earliest Spanish settlement. It appears to have been the center of earthquakes.

Laughed Herself to Death.

(By Associated Press.)
Louisville, Ky., April 23.—Miss Catherine Maude Rice, a pretty girl, laughed herself to death. She was visiting some friends when one of them told a funny story. The physician said lesion of the brain was produced by her laughter.

ENGLISH PAPERS PROTEST.

Says Shipping Concerns the Safety of the Nation.

(By Associated Press.)
London, April 23.—The Standard, in an editorial, protests loudly against the shipping combine. While regretting that the Americans are out-distancing the British in industrial competition, the paper says:

"So long as American enterprise is limited to what our laws and customs regard as legitimate industry, and so long as American capital is employed in undertakings of public utility in Great Britain, we have no occasion to complain, but the shipping combine is quite another matter and concerns the public safety."

Then the Standard demands guarantees that British subsidized steamers shall not be transferred to the American flag, and urges parliament to see that the proposed arrangements do not exceed the limits of legitimate enterprise.

STARTLING DEATH RECORD.

Two Families Which Have Lost One Member a Month.

(By Associated Press.)
Flora, Ind., April 23.—A startling death record is reported in the families of Homer Zinn and John McCloskey, two prominent families near the city. In the last 22 months 22 deaths have occurred in these families, an average of one a month for nearly two years.

The Zinns and McCloskeys are closely related and the diseases which carried them off were smallpox, typhoid fever and heart failure. The last to succumb was Homer Zinn, aged 60, who has just died of heart failure.

SPEAKING OF INJURED PRIDE IN INTEREST OF GEN. MILES

Not in Favor of Americanizing the World and Says That Americanism Is Merely a Reckless Striving for Wealth.

(By Associated Press.)

Berlin, April 23.—The long press dispatch describing the exultation in New York over the formation of the shipping combine is commented on here gloomily and with dismay.

The Tageblatt asks the government to interfere because the companies obtained subsidies on American lines and the fast auxiliary cruisers of the trans-Atlantic lines.

The paper asserts the policy of the new combination to be cheap freight rates from here to the United States, and that the combination is formed as an adjunct to American railways.

The combination will eventually discriminate against German industries, says the Staats Zeitung.

One note in the widespread newspaper comment on this project is that of injured pride, in that the two greatest steamship lines of the world, built up by genius and capital, should pass under American control.

The Staats Zeitung, discussing the idea for Americanizing the world, defines Americanism as incessant, exclusive and reckless striving for wealth.

The paper expresses its dread of the materialization of German society if the American view of life prevails. It concludes half a page of moralizing with the words, "Germany is without antipathy to the United States. It may learn something from American technical progress, but it does not need to be Americanized."

Scholars Gathered at Birthplace Commemorating Birth of Shakespeare.

(By Associated Press.)
London, April 23.—Stratford-on-Avon is celebrating the occasion of the festival commemorative of Shakespeare's birth with such thorough-going enthusiasm that it almost amounts to an orgiastic celebration.

The celebration began a week ago, and the festival is not going to end for another week and a half.

The feature of the celebration is the unusual elaborate series of Shakespearean performances. These take place nightly in the theater which is in part a memorial building and is placed so prettily in the meadows by the riverside.

UNDERTAKER AND HIS ASSISTANT ARE HORRIFIED.

Family Pronounced Her Dead But She Came to Life in Time to Stop Proceedings—Lingered for Some Hours.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, April 23.—Pronounced dead by the family physician, a certificate of suicide by carbolic acid poisoning given by the county physician, the customary mourning crepe hung at the front door, and undertakers about to embalm her body and prepare it for cremation—these were the conditions when Mrs. Amelia Hummel, 63 years old, heaved a sigh, breathed slightly and partly turned over on her side at her home in Newark.

Horried by the sudden returning to life of the woman, the undertaker and his assistant hurriedly left the house. Physicians were again summoned.

Although there previously had been every indication of death, they found that a spark of life had developed. The aged woman's vitality was remarkable. She lingered, unconscious, for several hours and then really died.

Mrs. Hummel, who was a large property holder in Newark, was a cripple, and for years had suffered much. Finally she drank the poison.

BIG PROFITS REDUCED.

Shipping Trade Is Getting Dull on the Pacific Coast.

(By Associated Press.)
Portland, April 23.—The Oregonian says the big dividends which have been going into the coffers of owners of coasting schooners and sailing vessels for the past four years are in a fair way to be materially reduced.

Business is declining in sympathy with the decline in deep-water shipping, and rates are beginning to tumble.

While there has been no open cut in lumber rates along the Columbia river, there has been a decline on lumber from Coos bay to San Francisco.

With the deep-water ships tonnage is also about 50 per cent higher than it was about two months ago, but there has been little or no improvement in the situation.

The steamship Quito, which has been undergoing repairs, has been ready for business for the past 10 days, but thus far has been unable to secure any thing.

The final transfer will be made during the coming week when the particulars of the deal will be given out.

COURSE IS LAID OUT.

Experts in Air Ships Yesterday Planned the Track.

(By Associated Press.)
St. Louis, April 23.—The conference of air ship experts yesterday decided upon a figure 8 course as the aerial speedway over which all flights in competition for the world's fair capital prize of $100,000 shall be winged.

The course has been laid out by the experts with its focus marked by a huge captive balloon above the Washington university tract of the exposition site and its elliptical orbits sweep outward over the open country to the southeast and northwest.

Captive balloons will denote the measurement of 10 miles in the air, over which distance the airships must fly in the shortest average time of a series of trials to capture the fortune that has been hung up in the midheavens by the world's fair management.
