All coons do not look alike in Centerville. Those who temporarily donned the burnt cork and as "The Centerville Minstrels" entertained a large audience at the Hibernia hall in Centerville last evening, are a little better than the ordinary coons—that is as entertainers. MORE FAMILIAR FACES MISSING WHEN G. A. R. ROLL CALL IS MADE

Many familiar faces will be missing from the 18th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic for the department of Montana, which opens in Helena tomorrow. So rapidly is death thinning the ranks of the veterans that even the oldest members in the state cannot, with any degree of accuracy, state how many will be at the encampment, but there will be at least 50 and in all probability 75. Many of those who journey to Helena tomorrow will be members of the Woman's Relief Corps.

There will probably be 25 to attend from Butte. They will go tomorrow morning and will remain through the two-days' encampment. As Butte is the strongest G. A. R. town in the state and judging from the attendance from this city, or using it as a ratio, it is not believed that the attendance will exceed 75.

Delegates From Butte.

Butte sends as delegates from Lincoln Post No. 2, J. W. Grant, E. H. Bruce, Henry Kemper and James Corkwell, the alternates being O. L. Farnam, W. W. Williams, John A. Hood and Thomas Boyle. Past post commanders who will attend are: P. H. Manchester, W. H. Black, Dr. L. E. Holmes, G. J. Heneberry and W. P. Rhoadbank.

Dr. Holmes is the candidate for department commander. He has the solid backing of the Butte delegation and members and he has also a strong following among the other posts in the state. His friends are today predicting that he will be practically unanimously elected commander.

Many prominent members of the Woman's Relief Corps will go from Butte. Among others will be: Mrs. Violet Gilbert, past president of Lincoln Post Relief Corps No. 6 and chairman of the executive board of the department of Montana; Mrs. Ruth A. Burton, past department president; Mrs. Sarah Hensworth, past post president; Mrs. Mary Boyle, president of Lincoln Corps, and Mrs. Margaret Lewis, past president of Lincoln Corps.

Weaker and Weaker.

There has been a noticeable diminishing in strength of the G. A. R. in Montana in recent years. Not so very long ago there were 26 posts in the state and now there are but 14 posts. Posts have been discontinued in Fort Custer, Deer Lodge, Glendive, Boulder, Miles City, White Sulphur Springs, Lewistown, Fort Benton, Phillipsburg, Hamilton and two in Billings.

This discontinuance of posts has been caused mostly by death. So rapidly have the old soldiers died that the posts have been thinned down to the point where the few survivors are unable to keep them up. Then, too, in some of the towns veterans have moved to other sections and this has caused a depletion in ranks and a consequent decrease in membership of the posts.

There was a time in the history of the G. A. R. in Montana—and it was not many years ago—when the total membership in the posts was more than 600. Today the membership is 473, or was on the last official roster.

Rollcall of the Dead.

When the veterans in Montana first joined their posts Montana, Idaho and Utah were in one department. In 1888 Montana withdrew and formed the present department. The present department commander is Frank P. Sterling.

"We can notice every year a decrease in our ranks," said Major Almon this morning, who by the way, was in the 31st Illinois, commanded by John A. Logan. "There have been many deaths in the last year in different sections of the state, but some of them have not been officially reported for, while were veterans, they were not members of the G. A. R. I suppose that in Helena a number of us will ask for some old comrade and to be told that he is dead. But those of us remaining are becoming used to that, now."

Pensions of Long Ago.

There will be something said about pensions at the Helena encampment. This recalls that few realize that the pensioning of soldiers antedates the Declaration of Independence.

The first pension law was passed August 25, 1765, but prior to that the colonies had pensioned soldiers and had means of providing for them. In 1636 the pilgrims of Plymouth provided that men who were maimed or crippled in battles should be taken care of by the colony for life. In 1676 Massachusetts bay heard applications and provided for relief and in 1691 when Massachusetts bay and Plymouth combined this relief for old soldiers was continued.

In 1644 Virginia's assembly passed a pension measure and Maryland and New York also provided for the veterans. In 1718 Rhode Island looked after the soldiers. In 1776 the government provided for half-pay for life for the maimed and crippled men and a few years later decided that widows and orphans should receive half-pay.

MAN KILLERS GONE COMES BACK FROM GRAVE

Five years ago Mike Jomposki, who conducted a barber shop in Centerville, disappeared rather mysteriously. He has just been heard from in San Francisco, where he is alive and prosperous.

The notification of his existence came in the form of a letter, a small sum of money and two tickets for his boys, Izzy and Bennie. They will leave this afternoon on the Oregon Short Line to join their father, of whom they had not heard since they were mere infants.

Another child, a little girl, will remain for the present with friends and will leave for San Francisco later.

Mrs. Emma Case was admitted to citizenship this morning. Judge Clancy made the order and the papers were issued by the clerk of the court.

The object of women in securing citizenship papers is not to vote but to enjoy the rights under the parent government of men in taking up and owning land. Mrs. Case is a middle-aged woman and a native of Switzerland.
