Missoula.

(Special to Inter Mountain.) Missoula, April 25.—Last week saw the revival of a club which has been in existence for ten years. In May of 1892 a number of ladies, musically endowed, met and united in a plan to assist and bring out the abundance of talent which blest the Garden City of Montana. Mrs. S. G. Murray was elected president of the club which was finally named the "Trebble Clef," and numbered 30 members for the first two years or more. The society has always been satisfied with this title and today several of the charter members are still active members. Others have gone away, death has claimed some but the society, as it stands, still has the power of holding interest and giving to its members a pride which will not allow arid to flag. The "Trebble Clef," reorganized, elected the following officers: Mrs. Hiram Knowles, president; Mrs. S. G. Murray, vice-president; Mrs. H. O. Collins, secretary; Mrs. H. M. Meyers, treasurer. The first meeting of the reorganized society took place in Elks' hall Thursday afternoon. "Needlecraft" was entertained by Mrs. S. A. Leach at her home on East Pine street Wednesday. A more jolly group of ladies could not be found and when the attendance is large there is more merriment and good natured wit than one might expect from the staid matrons of the city. Present at Mrs. Leach's were: Mrs. Durfee, Mrs. M. B. McBride, Mrs. Sanders, Mrs. X. R. Feighner, Mrs. Molinelli, Mrs. F. L. Darbee, Mrs. H. O. Collins, Mrs. S. A. Leach, Mrs. Frank L. Thomas, Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Frank McHaffie. The guests of the afternoon were Mrs. Leach and Mrs. H. J. Riley. The next meeting is with Mrs. Herman Kohn, East Front street.

Thursday was "ladies day" at the Business Men's club and a number of them improved the opportunity to inspect the comfort and luxury of the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Crayser returned from the West Tuesday evening.

California is calling several residents

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Burns, Livingston.

Anaconda.

(Special to Inter Mountain.) Anaconda, April 25.—Unsettled weather for the past week has played havoc with all the plans of the tennis club and those who thought to indulge in outdoor amusements. As a result there has been a lull in the social circle that will not be broken until the May day party of the Ladies' Guild of St. Mark's Episcopal church, to be given the evening of May 1, at the Montana hotel. The local Elks lodge have arranged to give a concert and dance at the A. O. H. hall on the evening of May 5. The music will be furnished by Cosgrove's orchestra of Detroit, Mich.

A social dance was given by the members of Trask Lodge, No. 52, Degree of Honor, at Turner hall, Wednesday evening. While dancing was the feature of the evening, it was by no means the only enjoyable manner in which the time was passed. During the early part of the evening Mrs. Frank Gore delivered an address on woman's rights that won for her not only much applause, but had the effect of giving those present some entirely new ideas on the subject. At 11 o'clock refreshments were served, after which dancing was resumed until a late hour.

Of Interest to Women.

The "Weepy" Woman.

Tears do not weaken the sight, but improve it. They act as a tonic on the muscular vision, keeping the eye soft and limpid, and it will be noticed that women in whose eyes sympathetic tears gather quickly have brighter, tenderer orbs than others. When the pupils are hard and cold the world attributes it to one's disposition, which is a mere figure of speech, implying the lack of balmy tears that are to the corner what salve is to the skin or nourishment to the blood.

The reason some women weep more easily than others, and still more readily than the sterner sex, has not its difference in the strength of the tear gland, but in the possession of a more delicate nerve system. The nerve fibres about the glands vibrate more easily, causing a downpour from the watery sac. Men are not nearly so sensitive to emotion; their sympathetic nature—the term is used in a medical sense—is less developed, and the eye is therefore protected from shocks. Consequently, a man should thank the formation of his nerve nature when he contemptuously scorns tears as a woman's practice.

Effect of Hats on the Health.

From a medical contemporary comes the suggestion that the feminine temper is regulated by the milliner. Large hats, it is hinted, overweight woman's delicate cranium and impose a dangerous pressure on the brain, while the nerves are further edged by the incessant strain of having to keep large hats at the right angle. It is to be feared that while the headgear in question is such a thing of beauty, the feminine temper would suffer more by cutting off of the supply! It would be interesting to learn if the cumbersome "topper" is conducive to the same result of man.

Good Gloves an Economy.

Never buy a cheap glove. It is false economy, as a pair of good ones easily outlasts two pairs of cheap ones. In buying gloves see that they are elastic in texture, as they will fit much better so. Select a size which fits snugly—neither too tight nor too loose—as the one impedes proper circulation and the other gives the wearer a look of extreme shabbiness.

If every button can be fastened without too much effort, it is a good indication to correct size.

In repairing gloves when the seams give way use cotton, as silk is more likely to cut the kid. In case of asphalt work the ragged edges with buttonhole stitches, then sew the looped edges together.

Hand-Made Lingerie.

The exquisite delicacy of material and work in hand-made lingerie reach their highest point in ball chemises, which are made so as to go round the body under the arms, and are tied on the shoulders with narrow satin ribbons, which are united and tucked in when the ball dress has been donned. These are so thin and hazy that the finest embroidery contrasts in bold white lines against the transparent background. In lingerie, the correct marking consists of a charming artistic monogram, surrounded by a tiny wreath. On night dresses the marking is on the left side of the front, and on corset covers and chemises, in the center. Morning jackets of cambric, the material disappearing under a wealth of lace frills and waterfalls, embroidery and ribbon; and of silk in pale blue, pink and white, as elaborately trimmed as those of cambric.

Marriage Superstitions.

It is a superstition in some parts of England that after a young couple have departed for their honeymoon hot water should be poured on the threshold in order that other marriages may follow. With this end in view the bride's girl friends will sometimes drench the doorstep
