M'DONALD JAILED

CHARGED WITH McMAHON OF STEALING HORSES.

CONCERNED IN RED COW CASE

In Latter Controversy McMahon Was One of His Principal Witnesses—Two Others Implicated With Them.

Another interesting feature was added today to the horse stealing case which the authorities at the courthouse are now investigating. George A. McDonald, one of the defendants in the celebrated red cow case, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Fitzsimmons at noon and charged with grand larceny as an accessory of Jerry McMahon, accused by John Peterson of Melrose with stealing four of his horses.

Grand larceny was the charge preferred by Peterson against McMahon three or four days ago, and the latter was arrested at Chinook, 400 miles east of here, and brought to this city by Sheriff Furey last night. There are two other men charged with grand larceny as being implicated in the theft of the horses, but they have not been taken into custody as yet.

McMahon turned the horses out on the range at Melrose last fall, and they strayed up the Divide. They were put in a field on Joe Silver's ranch by Silver. Peterson believes that they were stolen from the field by the men charged with grand larceny.

Stories in the Case.

Silver told Peterson that the horses spent the winter browsing against his field fences, and that he put them in the field about a month ago. Peterson believes Silver innocent of any wrong doing in connection with the taking of the horses. Silver said that the animals disappeared from the field one dark night.

Peterson thinks the defendants rustled them on that night. He found they were gone, and discovered that McMahon had brought them to Butte and shipped them by train to a ranch at Chinook owned by himself and McDonald. He swore to a warrant and McMahon was arrested.

Sheriff Furey stated this morning that all four horses are on the ranch named. McMahon told the sheriff that he had taken the horses to the ranch for McDonald. It was discovered by Deputy Sheriff Lynch, who issued the complaint for McDonald and the other two men this morning, that 11 horses had been shipped to the ranch.

If the other two men, who are at Divide, or in that region, are arrested, it is believed that evidence will be secured that will convict some of the defendants.

Introductions Follow.

Peterson and McMahon met in the sheriff's office this morning in an unusual way. The sheriff said:

"Mr. Peterson, do you know Mr. McMahon?"

"No, sir," replied Peterson, and both men rose to receive an introduction. Furey introduced them, and then said: "There's the man who owns the horses, and there's the man who was brought back."

McMahon said: "The horses are all right. They're down there on good feed."

"Yes," said Peterson, non-committally. Then there was silence.

McDonald, who has been tried twice without a verdict on the charge of grand larceny in connection with the mysterious vanishing of Mrs. Ludger Michaud's red cow, was out on bail in that case when arrested today. McMahon was one of the most officious witnesses in the case.

SAY STEVE HUGHES SENT AN OBSCENE VALENTINE

Steve Hughes, a young man living in the eastern part of the city, was arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Metkelejohn yesterday on a charge of sending through the mail a valentine on which there was some obscene writing. The warrant for the arrest was sworn out by M. J. Donahue, miner at the Pennsylvania mine, to whose young daughter the valentine was sent.

The offense was committed about the middle of February. Since then the matter has been in the hands of an attorney to whom Mr. Donahue referred it.

Hughes is not in custody; he was released on his own recognizance on assurance from his parents that he would appear before United States Commissioner Naughton tomorrow.

WEST PRONOUNCED FREE FROM CONSUMPTION GERM

"It is remarkable that West, who died the other day at Las Vegas, N. M., was examined only a few months ago by a physician and passed a successful examination for life insurance," said a druggist today.

"It only goes to show the insidiousness of the disease and how it is not always possible for a physician to tell whether a man is sound. I happen to know the physician in this case, and feel satisfied that he conducted as rigid an examination as is usually made in such cases, but poor West must have been half gone then."

The drug stores will close tomorrow during the funeral hour, and the members of the Silver Bow Druggists' association and of the United Commercial Travelers will attend the funeral in a body.

SUIT BROUGHT AGAINST FOUR MEN ON MORTGAGE

Emma Trerise brought suit in the district court against Mary H. Bottego, John B. Bottego, Fred M. Ferrell and John J. Ferrell to foreclose a mortgage and collect a note for $1,200.

The plaintiff says that she bought the note from J. H. Trerise and that nothing has been paid upon it. She asks that it be declared a lien on the property mortgaged and that the property be sold to satisfy the claim.

POSTPONED AGAIN

resumed their usual relations to all appearances and acted as if nothing had happened.

Judge Lindsay Present.

Judge Lindsay, who represented Judge Harney in the upper court and unsuccessfully strove to convince that body that the contempt order of the latter was just, was also present.

Just before the Minnie Healy matter was broached, Attorney Cotter addressed the court on some other business. When he was through, he turned to leave the courtroom, and the court called to him, saying:

"Mr. Cotter, I require your presence for a moment."

"Sit?" the attorney said, and turned back to the bar.

"I wish to say," continued the court, "that in that matter which I expected to pass upon this morning, I have not been able to satisfy myself concerning it. I expected to pass upon it this morning, but it will be continued till tomorrow morning."

Mr. Cotter listened to the court's remarks, and when the latter had finished said:

"Very well, sir."

The lawyers for the plaintiff listened also, and at the close of the court's statement they quickly filed out of court, not a word being said by any of them.

SLY STOCK TRICKS CAUGHT NO BUTTE SUCKLERS THIS DAY

Foxy! That one word refers to the Butte speculator in stocks.

Several of the Butte plungerers in eastern stocks were in yesterday on a sensational rise in Northwestern and American Ice. They reaped a neat sum on the increase in values. This morning both stocks took a drop, but not one of the speculators was in.

Notwithstanding that there was every indication that both Ice and Northwestern would continue upward, the Butte speculators thought otherwise. That their thoughts were wise was disclosed by the downward movements of both stocks.

Ice opened at 2½ this morning, wavered a few minutes then began going down, closing at 18½. Northwestern opened at 27½ and struggled to maintain this figure, but gradually dropped, recovering a point now and then but continued down and stopped at 26½.

To the initiated there was a beautiful opportunity here for the local speculators to have dumped their windings of yesterday and something beside, and have given a correct imitation of so many plungers holding the sack.

However, the general market was good today in the east, and the day was comparatively free from rumors. Nearly all of the stocks were steady.

There were rumors current that the coal companies intended to dispense with middlemen and sell direct to the consumer and this caused some activity in some of the leading coal stocks, but it was not sufficient to start a bull movement.

Crop indications show no change. Kansas has clouds, but no rain and none of the farming states reported rain.

CRIPPLE CREEK SENDS A DOG OR TWO TO COURSE

The Butte coursing park is preparing for the coming season, and a large number of new dogs—stake winners most of them—will go after the jack.

Jerry Leatherly, already arrived from Cripple Creek, will put Ralston and Pacemaker in the game. They are by N. Van Ness, out of Ribbon.

W. H. Smith has two new dogs and G. H. MacDougall has a number, among them being Sweetness, by Twister, out of Sweetlip, a California stake winner; Jewess, by Imperial; Shylock, out of Minneapolis; Pabita, by Imperial, and Waratah, out of Carmen, both stake winners.

The coursing park will be under the management of D. B. O'Connor.

There will be dogs from Colorado and other places. R. M. Campbell and Jack Wesson will put dogs in the field. The season will open Sunday, May 18.

STRIKE SCARE MAKES A HARVEST FOR COAL MEN

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good.

It's a mighty bad strike too that blows nobody good.

That's what the coal dealers are thinking these days as they joyously fill up the cellars of men whom the threatened teamsters' strike has scared into laying in a supply.

"I just put coal enough in one fellow's cellar to last all through next winter," said one of the teamsters this morning.

"People who usually order a ton of coal are ordering five or six and some of them ten tons and the chances are about the time they get their cellars filled up the whole business will be amicably settled."

Notice to Public.

JEW'S FEAST ENDS

ANNUAL OBSERVANCE OF THE PASSOVER IS CONCLUDED.

MEANING OF THE CELEBRATION

Commemorates the Deliverance of the Jewish People From Bondage in Egypt—Impressive Services Mark the Final Ending.

At midnight last night the Jewish Feast of the Passover ended and for the first time in eight days the people of the Jewish faith are having an opportunity to taste leavened bread.

The Feast of the Passover was instituted to celebrate the delivery of the Jews from their bondage in Egypt.

According to the story in the Old Testament, the Egyptians were visited with plague of every description to induce them to give to the Lord's chosen people their freedom and as a final and terrible punishment the first born in every Egyptian house was destroyed.

In order to make a distinction between the houses of the Egyptians and those of the Jews and that the destroying angel should make no mistake, the houses of the Egyptians were marked with blood. On the appointed night the destroying angel visited the houses of the Egyptians and slew the first born.

Driven From Egypt.

The next day, Pharaoh ranted and not only gave the Jews their freedom, after 400 years of bondage, but drove them out so hastily that they had no time to make bread in the regular manner and so they mixed the flour and water and cooked it in the sun.

For this reason as they marched along, the unleavened bread or "matzo," as it is known, is eaten by the Jews during the Feast of the Passover.

On the first two night the families gather around the festive board called the "seder" and partake of bitter herbs, which are brought as a symbol of the bondage in which they were kept in Egypt. Afterwards a piece of lamb—an animal worshiped by the Egyptians—is brought to remind them how powerless idols are and how futile is the worship of them.

Concluding Services.

Then the head of the family reads out of the book called the "Hagada," the history of the dwelling of the Israelites in Egypt and their marvellous deliverance and return to the holy land.

In accordance with the religious belief of the Jews, that some day they will have again a nation and an abiding place, they close their "seder" prayers with the following words:

"Today we celebrate our Passover here, but the next year we hope to celebrate it in our own land, the chosen land of Israel."

GENERAL McARTHUR

forces withdrawn by saying that the people of the Philippines being less prepared for self-government and administration than any of the Latin-American republics at the time of their emancipation, their unaided efforts would prove rudimentary ideas and aspirations and are therefore in an essentially plastic condition.

Even the best thinkers, he said, among the Filipinos have no conception of the mechanical efforts whereby the results they are all anxious to attain can be successfully accomplished.

American withdrawal from the islands would, in his opinion, result in the permanent failure of republican institutions in the East and a fratricidal war which would continue until suppressed by some exterior force.

The broad generalization, he said, is that the United States must retain the islands; that we must plant our institutions; that we must contend for commercial supremacy and, perhaps, combat for political supremacy to overcome the inherent difficulties of the situation, which will require the most profound efforts of statesmanship.

Eves By Patterson.

He gave it as his conscientious belief that the presence of the United States in the Philippines is an unmitigated benefaction to the Filipino people.

"Do you mean the Filipino people that are left alive after they have been subjected?" said Senator Patterson.

General MacArthur declared that he did not mean that there had been any unusual destruction of life in the Philippines.

"The destruction, he said, "is simply incident to war and, of course embraces a very small percentage of the total population, which is dense."

"Thirty-three and a third percent," asked Senator Patterson.

Replying General MacArthur informed Senator Patterson that if he preferred it believe that he (MacArthur) could not help it.

"I have as much right to believe that from an American official who is a civil governor and who is in the province, as we have to believe you?" said Senator Patterson, which brought the retort from General MacArthur:

"You can believe that; believe what you wish, and I will believe what I wish. The committee by a strict party vote refused to summon Col. Cornelius Gardner, Aguinado, Sixto Lopez and Malbin.
