

Coast Writers Roast Base Ball Played by the Sluggers

Surely there's something incendiary about baseball games nowadays. It is certain that some sort of influence is working against the teams and umpires in the Pacific-Northwest league.

Up in Spokane there were plenty of kicks on Tony Mullane as a "home umpire"—kicks coming from the visiting teams. In Tacoma Mullane is denounced as incompetent and "roasted" to a turn for giving close decisions against the home team.

When the seating capacity of the ball grounds is taxed to witness a game, and among the spectators are many ladies, the fact is clear that there is a general interest in the sport.

Those Passionate Pilgrims. "It is an undeniable fact that the passionate pilgrims from Butte have turned the eyes of local fans to some of the disagreeable possibilities of baseball.

MANAGER McCLOSKEY IS SUSPENDED BY W. H. LUCAS

Every one of the teams in the Pacific Northwest league which was making a record by winning last week went down to defeat yesterday and the details Saturday and Sunday made a big difference in the standing of the clubs.

President Lucas came in on Manager McCloskey at Tacoma yesterday and issued an order of suspension for five days on the grounds that he had been fined three times. Zearfoss is handling the team on the field until the boss is permitted back on the bench.

Glendon is wild in the box for Spokane yesterday, and the infield errors of the parrots left in Seattle for a big bunch of runs. When Glendon was knocked out of the box Elsey, the big captain and first baseman went on the slab and held the Seattle men down to five hits and two runs in the seven innings he pitched. Elsey was a surprise to the fans, who have been on the verge several times of hooting the much-advertised first baseman off the grounds.

WIGGS WINS FOR HELENA. Helena's one star pitcher, Wiggs, was in good form yesterday in Portland, and the result was a victory for Helena, with a score of 7 to 1. Wiggs tried to repeat his performance of a week ago, but struck out nine men instead of eleven.

have to be modified. Manager McCloskey will have to call his buddies down and get down with them or the aggression will come to grief. Portland plays here and wins. There is never a hint of trouble, no wrangling, no exchange of insults. Helena comes and loses, and the cordial feeling among the players and between the spectators and the teams is not marred. Butte sends over an aggregation of beefy Mary MaLanes, each with a chip precariously on the shoulder and all determined to win if rancorous turmoil, rosy cheeks and the aforementioned "dirty" ball can do it. Butte is welcome to all the victories that can be secured by superior work. The protest of the bleachers and the grandstand is that the work it has exhibited has been detrimental to the interests of baseball in general.

It is good, rich reading for an editorial page and will certainly be enjoyed by the game sports here even if it does wholly misrepresent the clean players of the Butte team.

Read the Other Side. Just to show where the difference of opinion exists there are given herewith extracts from a letter to the sporting editor written by one of the Butte players. He says:

"You have probably read that little snub by some unknown poet entitled 'Baseball,' and recall where it starts off: 'There is consolation for a candidate defeated—but the only consolation for a ball game lost is the umpire cheated.' 'That sounds about like the people of this town. Because they have a rotten team and are losing the 'holler' because the umpire is not able to win the games for them. You have seen Tony Mullane work and know that if he's left alone he is inclined to be fair and impartial. They have tried to scare him into doing things that would be against his own judgment—things that he can't do conscientiously. They actually wanted a decision at standing yesterday when McIntyre was second waiting for the runner to come to the base.

"They even sent a deputy sheriff out to the grounds to warn McCloskey and Zearfoss that if they said another word they would be arrested for—I don't know just what."

"Well, McCloskey was as meek as Moses yesterday, but the rest of the boys made up for his being quiet. 'The management wants Bert Cunningham here to officiate in the games. He is one of those 'home umpires' that will stand for the crowd probably as long as the crowd don't show any inclination to censure him. He is also a friend of Jay Andrews and the Hon. Mr. W. H. Lucas. That is saying a lot, is it not?'"

GLENDON IS KNOCKED OUT

Glendon was wild in the box for Spokane yesterday, and the infield errors of the parrots left in Seattle for a big bunch of runs. When Glendon was knocked out of the box Elsey, the big captain and first baseman went on the slab and held the Seattle men down to five hits and two runs in the seven innings he pitched. Elsey was a surprise to the fans, who have been on the verge several times of hooting the much-advertised first baseman off the grounds.

There was a drizzling rain during the greater part of the game, but some 200 fans stayed with the home team until the last inning was played. This was the score:

Trap Work BUTTE BUMPED BY RIVAL SHOOTERS

CRACK TRAP WORKERS LEAVE ALL THE MEDALS WITH THE BOYS IN ANACONDA TOWN.

It was Anaconda's day at the traps yesterday and the Butte experts came home without any one of the three medals shot for.

D. T. Twohy of Anaconda won the Bronzine medal with a score of 24 out of a possible 25. Sheriff Benner of Great Falls came next with 23 and C. H. Smith of Butte and F. R. Smith of Anaconda scored 22 each. These were the scores: Butte—Zearfoss, 19; Benner, 21; Great Falls, 23; C. H. Smith, 23; Kimball, 21; Walker, 20; Wright, 20; Cowan, 18; Goddard, 20; Morley, 19.

Another carload of good ones got in this morning. L. B. Wood brought four, Perry Hildreth, a brother of Sam, brought two, and Pinto Cleary has eight. The Burns stable got in Saturday, and Fitzgerald's big string is daily expected. It is expected that by Wednesday the officials of the club will get together and decide whether to put on special races for Decoration day.

COMING WARRIORS' WORK

One of the fastest battles between canine warriors came off last night between the lower ranges of the mountains on the hitherward side. The winning dog is of course from Butte. The loser is from Anaconda—but if he ever fights another battle against another dog in Butte, the home money will certainly be placed on him.

Among the Amateurs.

There was a game of baseball on the old baseball grounds yesterday between the Connell and Centerville teams. The Connells were defeated. The score stood 17 to 4 in favor of the Centervilles.

MANY OWNERS SHIP TO BUTTE EARLY TO REST WINNERS AND INSURE GOOD TRAINING.

Each day letters are received by the Montana Jockey club giving notice of additional carloads of the fast runners ready to ship to Butte. So many have been received that the greatest difficulty now experienced by Assistant Secretary Curran is to plan ahead for the accommodations.

There are a number of favorites at the track now and many more are to come. Few of the owners are working out as most of the shipments arriving to date are of horses that raced during the winter and the chief desire just now is to give them a good rest. It is for this reason that so many of the stables are being shipped early to the track. The inclement weather is doing good to the track and the track officials are jubilating over the promises of a well conditioned fast course.

RUNNERS OUT AT BRIGHIUN

New York, May 19.—Six horses have been declared out of the Brighton Cup—King Ambulo, Garry Hermann, Port Royal, Auto-Light, Elkhorn and Endurance-by-River. This leaves 21 thoroughbreds for the stake which is worth $8,000. All the best long-distance horses in training are engaged for it, and it is expected to be the best race of the season. The list includes Watercolor, Gold Heel, Yankee, Goldsmith, Baron Pepper, Lynchel, Sam Showers, Ems, Bonnhert, Roy Hampton, Aggregor, Dr. Barlow, Hermando, The Rhymer, Surmise, Watercure, Maid of Harlem, Taps and Dixieline.

COAST HORSEMEN LOOKING OVER NEW CLARK VENTURE

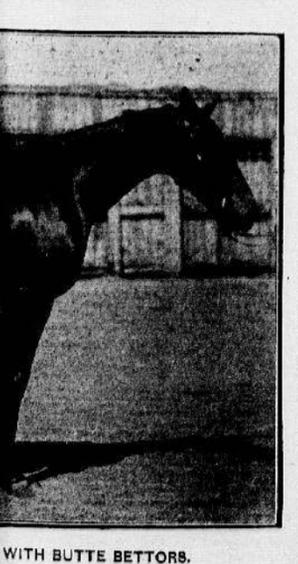

George Miller will train some horses for Charles Clark, the son of the millionaire senator, in Montana this summer. Clark has already bought a few, but before racing begins in that county it would not be surprising if he had collected a large stable. Horsemen are wondering if he will make Montana as famous in the turf as the late Marcus Daly, whose colors were seen in front in many a great equine battle. The latter's horses were sold after his death, and his great breeding farm broken up. Then Montana, from a racing point of view, dropped out of the map. Clark is a native of California, but says which it will be the death of Daly? There are horsemen who believe he will. Clark has the means to race on a large scale, and he is fond of the sport. In securing George Miller for trainer he has chosen well. Miller was one of the cleverest riders of his time, but of late years has given his undivided attention to training and racing and met with success.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Weather Spoils Opening

ONE THOUSAND PEOPLE SHIVER WHILE PRELIMINARIES ARE RUN WITHOUT DECISIONS.

Because of the bad weather the opening day of coursing was not so successful as expected at the West Side Park. The cold prevented many from attending, but even then there were something like 1,000 people to inaugurate the new season of the dogs and hares.

None of the runs was long, or fast owing to the chill affecting the rabbits and dogs. The semi-finals and finals were not run because of the scarcity of hares. Twenty-one courses were run in the 24 dog stake. The runs will be finished next Sunday prior to the open stake now being arranged for. The betting was fairly good and the work of James Smith, who was in the saddle as judge, and of A. G. Kellet, who did the slipping, was satisfactory. These were the results of the first three rounds: First round—Harry Corbe's Dartmoor Dan beat J. E. Hosking's King Cashier; J. E. Hosking's Liquid Air beat J. Treloar's Gypsy Boy; R. M. Campbell's Pheasant beat O. N. Old's Thistle; George Macdonald's Lethbridge beat A. W. Jones' Soapdy Hill; Smith & Wilkinson's Duster Mill beat H. Smith's Chambrlain; Rowe & Noalle's Court Beauty beat Dave Lewis' Rodger; K. M. Campbell's Sara beat W. H. Smith's Silver Smith (late Silver Bow, Jr.); Jerry Slattery's Rainbow beat C. Saunders' Slippery Dick; A. W. Jones' Montana Jack beat W. H. Smith's Baraway; Rowe & Noalle's Charlie Prince beat H. C. Grammes' Currier G. (late Currier Nation); J. E. Hosking's The Raider beat B. Corin's Flashlight; Dick Thomas' Gold Standard beat Bennett & Wesson's Big Dutch.

Second round—Liquid Air beat Dartmoor Dan; Lethbridge beat Pheasant; Court Beauty beat Duster Mill; Chambrlain beat Sara; Charlie Prince beat Montana Jack; The Raider beat Gold Standard. Third round—Lethbridge beat Liquid Air; Rainbow beat Court Beauty; The Raider beat Charlie Prince.
