A daughter was born yesterday to the wife of Henry Powell, No. 109 Skieley avenue.
C. E. Goldsmith, a well-known citizen of Virginia City, is in Butte accompanied by his wife.
Dr. E. A. Irvin, of the staff of St. Ann's hospital, Anaconda, is a visitor in the city today.
W. H. Cochran left yesterday for Dillon, where he has been called as a witness in the district court.
Dennis Barudoni, who was tried in Justice Arnold's court Tuesday, charged with threatening the life of his wife, was discharged.
M. B. Hendricks, A. H. Neal, G. S. E. Wisner and Thomas McMinn were over from Anaconda yesterday to attend a Masonic meeting.
Dr. W. L. Steele, formerly mayor of Helena, was in the city last night on his way home from the meeting of the State Medical association.
Mrs. J. J. Eager has gone on a continued visit to her old home at Montreal, Canada, and will visit in Vermont before returning to Butte.
Charles E. Johnson of Denver, district passenger agent for the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad, is making a business trip to Butte.
Mrs. Levi Johnson arrived in Butte yesterday from Philipsburg with her niece, Miss Ollie Keen, who is on her way to her home in Bingham, Utah.
Owners of property along Harrison avenue, the street running from South Butte to the flat, will soon petition the city council to pave that thoroughfare.
William Kellher, chairman of the board of county commissioners of Deer Lodge county, and Martin Martin, a member of the board, were in the city last evening on official business.
Englewood Lots.—Perfect title, electric line already graded, fine soil, soft water, new school house one block away. Lots sold on $10 monthly payments. Mrs. Jessie C. Knox, Box 1034. o
W. E. Krouskon last night went to the office of Attorney Carl J. Smith and threatened to eat that offending lawyer alive. Krouskon was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Rowe and gave a bond in the sum of $50.
H. H. Kennedy of Chicago, night editor of the Chicago American, is in Butte. Kennedy is a brother-in-law of M. J. Hutchins, formerly editor of the Helena Independent, and has many friends in Montana.
Mrs. J. A. Stanley, aged 21 years, died yesterday at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Brokenshire, No. 23 West Center street, Centerville, from where the funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m.
Mary Ahlis and Gena Westgard have begun suit in the district court against the Palatine Fire Insurance company of London to recover $50. Furniture of the women in the Little Joe block was damaged by fire and $116 was paid on a policy for $175.
Rev. L. L. Tower has resigned the pastorate of the Mount Bethel M. E. church in Walkerville and the Unity M. E. church in Meaderville to take a pulpit in Minnesota. He has been in charge of the two churches here about two years. He will leave for Minnesota Tuesday.
Police Judge Boyle yesterday married A. R. Mason and Dottie Delmeyer. The woman was serving a sentence in jail for having relieved one Ole Oleson of $40. Mason is also a well-known character to the police. They left last night for Laramie, Wyoming, where they will make their future home.
Judge Harney yesterday authorized Mrs. Delia Hirshour, the guardian of Stella H. and Arthur H. G. Hirshour, to mortgage the Hirshour block for $40,000, in order to raise money to pay off the debts incurred in the construction of the building. The block will cost $200,000. Of that amount $50,000 has already been paid.
Aldermen Kroger, Manchester and Doull, the sub-committee appointed to draft a resolution to regulate the red-light district, met yesterday evening in the city hall. The committee decided to limit the red-light district to three blocks in all. These are the blocks now in use for that purpose on Galena, Mercury and Silver streets.
Lumber is now being hauled from the railroad to Senator Clark's new building in West Park street and work on the structure has been resumed. The hauling was begun yesterday afternoon and no attempt was made by the Teamsters' union to prevent it. A week ago three of the leaders of the union were enjoined by the United States court from interfering with the delivery of the lumber.
Before a large audience in Miners' Union hall last night the pretty ceremony of dedicating the new banners of the local lodges of the A. O. H. was celebrated. Many of the women of the Ladies' auxiliary were present and after the ceremony President J. J. Grogen announced a program which was ably rendered. At the conclusion of the program the floor was cleared and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.
For awhile yesterday afternoon Judge Boyle was busy. James Nugent, a tall tramp who had run amuck of the city ordinances covering the preservation of the peace, was dismissed. George Duval's bond of $50 was forfeited as he failed to appear and tell why he had beaten Frank Pardee, a piano-player. May and Annie Smith, two women who, it is claimed by the police, are constantly seen on the streets after dark, were fined $10 each. T. H. Mahoney was acquitted on the charge of disturbing the peace.

"OUR MARY" TALKATIVE

"It is with pain that I read of the dire effects of my book upon the minds of young girls," said Miss Mary MacLane, gazing out across the housetops of Butte. "I think that the book has appealed to them," continued the writer, "as HER red, real sunset glow in the West, always in the West. I think that I have written something that creeps into the barrenness of their lives and illumines the darkness that is within 'em." "I read of the Kalamazoo girl who killed herself after reading the book. I am not at all surprised. She lived in Kalamazoo, for one thing, and then she read the book." "Who should be blamed, me or Kalamazoo?" "The pale young man with aspirations of devilry hazarded the guess that it was up to the Michigan town. "Girls of strong mentality," continued Miss MacLane, "after reading the book realize that there isn't anything left for them. They are, in the coarse Butte parlance, 'dead ones' literally speaking." "Pardon me," interjected the young man; "I did not quite grasp that. How speaking?" "Miss MacLane looked her visitor over and his face was the hue of HER sunset. She continued: "There was Minnie Gugler, a 15-year-old Denver girl. She read the book and now she will read no other—" "Having once used your Unrivaled Kidney Cure I will use no other," murmured the young man. "What?" said Miss MacLane. "Oh, nothing; I was only thinking of $3 I earned once," answered the young man. "As I was saying," continued the writer, "this Denver girl read the book and then emptied into her sweet stomach a couple of ounces of carboic acid. Her mother was near by and a doctor was called. After a hard hour's work the girl was saved and my book was burned. "Now then," and Miss MacLane whirled around in her chair. "Then the young man grew nervous for he remembered something about her feet and the bureau. But his nervousness was uncalled for. "Now then," continued Miss MacLane, for not being Shakespeare she repeats, "the Gugler girl realized that none could understand her. She had read my book and she knew all that she could hope to know." "After a moment's contemplation of the housetops the writer said: "All through the East there are Mary MacLane girl clubs. They are studying my book." "Do you think the matrons of Refuge Homes are preparing for a busy season?" asked the young man. "Miss MacLane did not answer the question. "Now here is a bit from a Denver paper about one of the members of the Denver Mary MacLane club." "This was the clipping: "Ah, I so long to get out into the world and write my name on the world's high places. I am through school, nearly, and when I am free I shall take up literary work seriously; I am not sure what line I shall begin on; I can write both poetry and prose. Oh, no; I do not intend to do anything in the line of Howells or any of them. James is better but he is too wordy. Oh, I just love Zola, and I carry 'The Quick or the Dead' around with me. Oh, isn't Amelia Rives lovely! And just think, her husband went crazy because she wanted to leave him and marry the prince! And isn't Mary MacLane divine?" "Miss MacLane then arose upon her 'two stout legs' (for she uses them both) and went out into the barrenness and so did the young man.
