LIQUOR DEALERS MEET IN HELENA

TO DISCUSS WAYS AND MEANS FOR INCREASING THE CONSUMPTION OF THEIR GOODS.

EVERY SALOONMAN IS INVITED TO CONVENTION

Each to Be Given an Opportunity to Tell His Idea of Advancing the Sale of Liquor in This State—Say No Rupture Is Imminent With the New Brewers Association.

Twenty representatives of one of Butte's thriving industries will leave tomorrow for their annual convention in Helena.

Ultra-strenuous temperance workers would call the delegates rum-traders; the general public call them saloon men, and they are known to the world of organization as the Montana Retail Liquor Dealers' Protective Association.

Major W. E. Deney of this city is president of the association and Gustave Nissen is secretary.

Among the many important affairs which will come before the association will be receiving the reports of officers, discussing ways and means for the betterment of the trade, the amending of the constitution and by-laws and the election of officers.

All Are Invited. Invitations have been sent out to all the retail liquor dealers of the state, who are assured that whether they are members of the association or not they will be given a seat in the convention and accorded the floor when they feel like voicing their kicks or plaudits.

In behalf of the Lewis and Clarke county branch of the association, a cordial invitation has been issued to the members of the association. The committee which has the entertainment of visitors in charge is composed of Emil Schmidt, Charles Colbath, L. C. Steinbremer and Frank Kenck.

A. S. WHITEWAY HAS GOOD TIME IN HIS OLD HOME

Tells of a Banquet for Him in St. Johns and Democratic Spirit in Newfoundland.

A. S. Whiteway, of the firm of Shackleton & Whiteway, is back from a trip to his old home at St. Johns, N. F.

"We have a great little island back there," said Mr. Whiteway this morning. "You can talk about your democratic spirit in this country, but Newfoundland is far from being monarchical in its real political life."

In exemplification, Mr. Whiteway told a story of a banquet which was given in his honor by a number of old friends, and at which the speaker of the house, the leader of the opposition, the department minister of justice and a number of the high and mighty in official circles, sat down with the commoners and hobnobbed with the rest of the old cronies of the honored guest.

"We had songs and speeches," said Mr. Whiteway. "Matters grave and gay were discussed. The toasts ranged from such subjects as trade and commerce to the favorite brand of cigars. President Roosevelt shared with King Edward in the felicitations. The press was not forgotten, and when we all joined hands at 1 o'clock in the morning and sang 'Auld Lang Syne' we were without doubt in a true democratic spirit."

New Idol Christened.

New York, May 26.—Smouldering joss sticks and offerings of pigs and chickens, brought by half the population of Chinatown, have christened the elegant home of Quong Gung, a new idol, fresh from China, of the Nin Yung clan.

The new joss is in Matt street, and is magnificently furnished in honor of the new god. The Chinese that will bow low before the new god comprises half of Chinatown in New York, and is said to be the strongest in the United States.

COOPER'S MILEAGE CUT

"By surveying a line County Auditor Jack Hyde has made the discovery that County Commissioner Frank Cooper is making $2.50 more than he should in mileage," remarked a man from Great Falls this morning.

"Cooper has a ranch near Cascade, and he's been going into Great Falls by the long road, it is alleged. It is asserted that Mr. Cooper has not sought the straight path, and that he hasn't had any objection to being a long while on the road. You see, the longer the road the more money he copped out of the county treasurer's office, for commissioners are allowed mileage in coming from their home to the meeting of the board of county commissioners in Great Falls."

"Hyde has been on the trail of Cooper for so long over these expense accounts, that the fight between them has reached the dignity of a feud. Cooper has maintained that his route was the best. It was for him. By his route it was just like getting money from his aunt. He rode serenely in from his ranch, every turn of the wheel meaning so many cents to his bank account. He whistled a merry round-elay, of course.

"Now, however, Cooper hasn't any whistling coming. He has a large and vigorous kick.

"Hyde got a surveyor the other day and ran an air line from the Cooper ranch to the courthouse in Great Falls. He took this measurement and turned it over to an expert in figures, and the result was that the auditor has notified the commissioner that the latter will be paid per the surveyor's line. This means that the county commissioner loses $2.50 every trip into town for a meeting of the board. In other words, by taking the long road into town Mr. Cooper has added $2.50 to his bank roll with great and cheerful regularity.

"Cooper maintains that the road he travels is the recognized county road, and therefore the one he should travel and the one he should be paid for. He says that he ought not to be expected to chase himself over the prairie nor fly like a bird to save the county money.

"Hyde, on the other side, says that congressmen are paid direct mileage. He says that no congressman from west of the Missouri river would have the nerve to go to Washington by way of New Orleans and expect to collect mileage.

"Meanwhile, people in Great Falls are in putting expectancy of the result."

SUN INSPIRES OUR POET

"Nothing so rare as a day in June," some inspired writer dallying with the muse once remarked, and yesterday, the most beautiful day yet produced by the year, 1902, illustrated the fact, though it was a June day about a week ahead of the schedule.

Everybody was drawn out into the open and it is not an exaggeration to declare that the residents of Butte were favored with as fine a day as could be found anywhere in the world, not omitting the sapphire-skyed Italy or the orange-groved glades of Florida or Southern California.

Every lively stable in the city emptied its stalls of horses and its carriage room of vehicles for the use and pleasure of the people who were impelled to drive over the roads to the beckoning hills in the opal-tinted horizon.

Streets were crowded with church people in the morning and evening, coming and going between the many places of worship, and the congregations at all the churches were large. In the afternoon the town turned out to breathe the fine mountain air and bask in the golden sunshine.

Yesterday was the balmiest of days, and a walk or a drive on the streets or roadways of Butte, notwithstanding the absence of flowers and verdure, was exhilarating to a degree. The day made the young skip like lambs, the middle-aged rejoice in their strength and the old feel renewal of the youth long departed.

Columbia Gardens, the playground of the city, bubbled with life. Thousands of people sought its grassy meads and flower-grown plots. The merry-go-round and swings swarmed with children, the pavilion was jammed with dancers and pleasure seekers, all the benches under the young sapplings of the picnic grounds were filled, and the hills above the gardens as well, and the walks and paths resounded with the joyous cries of the children and the merry laughs of the happy swain and his Sunday girl.

POLICE JUDGE BOYLE A BUSY MAN THESE DAYS

Monday Morning in Court Shows the Usual Number of Sunday Celebrants With Tales of Woo.

"We break the record today," remarked Jailer Sol Levy, as the police court was about to open.

John Doe, J. J. Miller, John Bartlett, W. S. Comings, Andrew Wallace and John Eddy all plead to a Sunday drunk. "Five and costs was written opposite each of their names and they were returned to their cells to have one of the city," as Sol expresses it.

William Kane pleaded not guilty to cruelty to animals and his case was set for tomorrow afternoon. Kane was arrested yesterday by Policeman Auerbach for beating his horse. Several witnesses will appear at the trial to testify that the policeman acted in a manner "unbecoming an officer" when he made the arrest and a lively time is promised when the case is called.

James Rutledge, Patrick Mullen and James Joyce pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbing the quiet of the Sabbath day and were allowed the privilege of adding $10 each to the city treasury.

Chris Fisher, Michael Maguire and Hannah Day were charged with fighting and judging from their appearance the charge was not misapplied. Their countenance plainly showed the effects of a combat. They were sent to jail to serve 30 days' sentences.

FRED SKIFF TO COME HERE

Director of St. Louis Exposition Art Department to Attend Mining Congress.

Secretary Mahon of the mining congress is a busy man these days. He is acquainting everybody in the United States with the fact that the congress will meet in Butte the first week in September.

Today Mr. Mahon received several letters of inquiry in reference to the meeting, one of which was from E. J. V. Skiff, director of the art exhibit of the St. Louis exposition, whom Mr. Mahon has invited to the Butte meeting. Mr. Skiff says he may be present and suggested that an invitation be sent Prof. J. A. Holmes, chief of the department of mines and metallurgy at the St. Louis exposition, state geologist of North Carolina and a valuable member of the United States geological survey.

Mr. Skiff has had vast experience in the work to be covered by the mining congress. He was formerly in charge of Fields' museum in Chicago and represented the United States at the Paris exposition. He was at one time connected with the Denver Tribune as an editorial writer.

Ole Hanson was given a severe beating this morning about 2 o'clock in North Montana street. He was taken to Murray and Freund's hospital.

BOOK PUBLISHED ABOUT SPIONKOP

IT IS SUPPOSED TO EXPRESS THE VIEWS OF SIR CHARLES WARREN REGARDING THAT BATTLE.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, May 26.—An important book is published today on Sir Charles Warren's action at Spionkop.

The author conceals his identity under the pseudonym of "Defender" but it is understood he expresses Sir Charles Warren's views with regard to that battle.

It will be remembered that about a month ago, Sir Charles Warren publicly complained that the government was still withholding some documents bearing on his operations and that those which were published, if considered by themselves gave a very incorrect view of the matter and one which reflected seriously on his military reputation.

The writer points out that the Boers considered Spionkop the key to the situation in Natal.

His contention is that the blame for the failure should not be cast on Sir Charles Warren who ordered the position to be taken, but on Colonel Thorneycroft, who abandoned it without sufficient reason and without consulting him.

The writer says the general result of all the information is to make it clear that Spionkop was the key to the position dominating the country and that no one was more astonished at its unauthorized abandonment than General Warren except the Boers themselves.

CHAFFEE DISAPPROVES WALLER COURT MARTIAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Manila, May 26.—The official findings of the court-martial that tried Major L. W. T. Waller and Lieut. John A. Day of the marine corps for executing natives on the island of Samar without trial, have been made public.

The reviewing authority of the court, Major-General Adna R. Chaffee, commander-in-chief of the American forces in the Philippines, has expressed its disapproval of the court's findings in both cases. Referring to the case of Major Waller, the reviewing authority says: "The sending of the natives in question to their deaths partook more of unlawful retaliation than a justifiable act of war. In justice to the American military service, the findings of acquittal demand that they shall not meet with unqualified approval."

"The marines in Samar underwent great suffering before their rescue, and their officers from their sick beds voiced the revengeful anger of the men, who telephoned to Major Waller advising that the stevedores be killed. Major Waller received this message while he was sick from a fever, suffering acute pain of body due to exposure and his exertion in behalf of his men, and mental anguish concerning their fate, which had long been in doubt. Major Waller was at the time in telephonic communication with General Smith, who commanded the American forces in Samar, but he deliberately chose not to consult General Smith regarding his contemplated action, and rather than forego the execution of his unrestrained will, he assumed the power of the laws of war and customs of the service conferred upon commanding officers only in time of war."

"Giving heed to the mental condition of Major Waller, as much of the findings of the court as are to the effect that Major Waller is not guilty of murder are approved. But the reviewing authority is at a loss to understand why the court did not find against Major Waller in the minor offense. With the exception noted the acquittal, as it appears in the record of the proceedings, is disapproved."

Referring to the case of Lieutenant Day, the reviewing authority says: "The accused knew that for three weeks Major Waller had undergone a test of his mental and physical endurance, such as few men are called upon to suffer. While fully conceding the grave responsibility assumed by a subordinate officer in willfully disobeying an order of his commanding officer, still the weighty reasons related, with which Lieutenant Day was acquainted, so tainted Major Waller's order that Lieutenant Day should have been prompted to positive disobedience.

An officer must be conscientiously regardless of the unquestioned legality of his agency in taking the lives of his fellow men. Above and beyond all personal consideration officers must guard the name and honor of the country.

Had Lieutenant Day been actuated by such consideration he would probably have prevented one of the most regrettable incidents in the annals of the military service of the United States."

END MEN'S CRACK JOKES

Butte has been roused by the prospective exhibition of glorious minstrelsy promised the city by the Overland club to deeds of emulation. It is announced on good authority that P. J. Gilligan, the popular deputy court clerk, and the genial fire chief, Peter Sanger, for the honor of the Eagles, have taken it upon themselves to organize a minstrel company out of the order named that will eclipse the Overland aggregation as the sun outshines a glass marble.

It is whispered now that Gilligan and Sanger are practicing a roaring two-part skit called the "Polish Alderman and the Yellow Goose." Gilligan does the alderman and Sanger the goose. The Polish dialect, of which Gilligan is a master, is said to be one of the richest things out. When the affable official springs a pun in it the rattle in the back seat does not die out for an hour.

Besides the farce the pair do a half a dozen ragtime songs, the buck and wing, a living picture in tights and a little ground and lofty tumbling on the side.

One of the most touching things in the show will be Chief Sanger's rendition of the pathetic ballad "Why Do Papa's Tears Fall Out?" And Mr. Gilligan's German jokes are said to be simply side-splitting. They were preserved in Rhine wine for 20 years and kept on the top shelf with the pickled pigs feet, and they are very rich.

Gilligan sprung one of his choicest on a friend the other day. He said: "Ven a door not been a door already yet?" The friend gave it up. "Ven it been a char," said Gilligan, and then he awaited the explosion.

His friend looked at him expectantly for quite awhile and finally said: "What's the rest of it?" Gilligan went away disgusted. His friend went down to the postoffice and thought the matter over and came back in about an hour and then the thing seemed to come to him, and he began to laugh and did not finish for 15 minutes.

After that he hunted Mr. Gilligan up and said: "Well, that the funniest thing I've heard in a year. When is a door not a door? When it's a chair. Ha, ha."
