Something to See.

Quaint and picturesque Salt Lake City, the beautiful Jordan and Provo valleys, Castle Gate, Book Cliffs, the Canyon of the Grande, Leadville, "the City of the Clouds," Tennessee Pass, Marshall Pass, Black Canyon of the Gunnison, Curcanti Needle and the far-famed Royal Gorge are a few of the things to be seen along the Rio Grande lines between Ogden and Denver. No railroad on the globe offers such an array of diversified and eye-pleasing attractions, and when viewed from trains equipped with every modern convenience tending to suit all classes of travel, it is no wonder that the Rio Grande route is the most popular one across the continent. Three trains daily between Ogden and Denver. For full information, rates, maps, etc., or for copy of "Crossing the Rockies," write or call on the undersigned, W. C. ACCUSE BANK OF CLEVER SWINDLE

SAY MAN ENGINEERED AN ALLEGED INSURANCE SCHEME TO GET MONEY FROM THEM.

SAY HE HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH SETTLEMENT

Andrews and Wilson, Agents, indignantly Deny That They Have Anything to Do With Bank and Then Kearney and Shaw File Complaints Against B. Bank in County Attorney's Office.

B. Bank is to be prosecuted on a charge of obtaining property under false pretenses. Bank is a money lender, and the complainants against him are J. A. Kearney and L. F. Shaw, stepfather and stepson.

Kearney and Shaw accuse Bank of a shrewd swindle in which their note and mortgage, an insurance policy for $300 and the local insurance firm of Andrews and Wilson figure.

Kearney and Shaw ran a lodging house at No. 134 West Broadway, and they told Deputy County Attorney Lynch that Bank had some kind of an interest in the chateaus in the house. At all events, the furniture was insured for $300 with the insurance agents named. The house burned, and Kearney and Shaw related that Bank came to consult with them about collecting the insurance money. They told Mr. Lynch that Bank said to them that the insurance company would be reluctant to pay their claim, and that something would have to be done to induce the agents to look upon it favorably.

"We'll have to give them some grease," Bank said to Kearney and Shaw, the latter told Lynch.

Bank's Little Scheme.

Complainants allege that, Bank then agreed to fix the matter up with Andrews and Wilson if they would secure the advance of $25, which he agreed to pay the insurance men, with a note and mortgage, bearing 3 per cent per month interest.

They declared that they gave the note and mortgage to Bank, and that he went away and returned later and told them that the insurance men demanded $50, but that he had "Jewed them down to $40." He desired that the note and mortgage be increased to $40, agreeing to advance the additional $15.

They said that they agreed to that arrangement and raised the collaterals with the 3 per cent per month interest.

Insurance Men Indignant.

They put in their claim for the $300 insurance money and then they reached the cream of the joke in their subtle transactions with Bank. The insurance men paid the money without a word of protest or reference to Bank's "grease."

That raised their suspicions, they told Mr. Lynch, and they inquired of Andrews and Wilson as to whether the latter had received the $30 of "grease."

The insurance men, according to their story, indignantly denied that they had ever seen the color of Bank's money or had anything to do with him in the matter. Kearney and Shaw then concluded that Bank had defrauded them and they repaired to the county attorney's office for the complaint.

Bank will have a chance to explain the case to Judge Shepherd, in whose court the complaint was filed today.

CANDIDATES FOR CARRIERS

Civil Service Commission to Examine the Applications in Butte June 11.

Eighteen applications for appointments to positions in the postoffice have been made to the civil service commission, which will examine the applicants in the city council chamber between 9 and 1 o'clock Wednesday, June 11. The examining board will comprise J. E. Stephenson, T. H. Hensley and W. L. Hawley.

Those who weigh 100 pounds and score 70 per cent on the questions asked them will be placed on the list from which carriers and clerks are drawn. There are to be four appointments made, one collector and three carriers. There is no collector at present and the addition of one will be of great benefit to the city. It will be his duty to make a round-up of the mail boxes of the business district with a horse and cart eight times a day. The carriers now make collections in the business district four times a day, which, added to the eight collections of the regular collector, will make a total of twelve collections per day.

BORDEAUX SECURES VERDICT

Defeats Charles L. Barnaman in Latter's Suit for Money in a Divorce Case.

Charles L. Barnaman brought suit against John R. Bordeaux to recover judgment for $190 which he claimed Bordeaux owed him for services in the Bordeaux divorce suit. The suit was tried by a jury in Justice Arnold's court with the result that Bordeaux was given a verdict yesterday.

Last fall Barnaman went to Seattle and while there was arrested at the instigation of E. A. Driggs, father of Mrs. Bordeaux, on a charge of having given false testimony at the trial of the divorce suit. He was brought back to Butte, given a preliminary hearing before Justice Nelson and bound over to the district court, but was subsequently released on habeas corpus proceedings instituted in Judge McClellan's court and afterwards sustained by the supreme court. Barnaman wanted Bordeaux to pay the expenses of the Seattle trip and brought suit to compel him to do it when Bordeaux refused.

LOOK FOR SUSPICIOUS MEN

Deputy Sheriffs Are Watching for Two Men Selling Razors in Silver Bow.

Two tough looking characters were at Silver Bow this morning selling razors, and they fell under the suspicious eye of Under Sheriff Morgan of Anaconda. He telephoned to the sheriff's office here to keep a look out for the men, who were coming here.

It is believed that the razors are stolen goods and Sheriff Pury's deputies are keeping a watch for the men.

MEN ENDEAVOR TO DODGE JURY DUTY

VARIOUS EXCUSES MADE BY CITIZENS TO JUDGE HARNEY IN COURT THIS MORNING.

SICKNESS, HEARING AND WORK ARE THE REASONS

Judge, However, Tells Each Man to Sit Down and Orders All Back for the Afternoon Session When He Promptly Selects His Panel—Fireman Proves the Luckiest of Men, Being Barred.

Judge Harney's court was enlivened this morning by the selection of a jury to try civil cases. One hundred jurors, summoned to appear as jurymen, were present, and after they were called Judge Harney listened to their excuses and then excused them till 2 o'clock, when he formed a panel.

Thomas Kilgallon desired to be excused because he was the foreman of the West-Stewart mine, and desired to attend his work.

"Do you think you're too good to serve as a juror?" the court inquired.

"No, sir; I don't think I'm any too good, but there is no shift boss to look after the work, and I should like to be there to watch it," the juror replied. He was asked to have a seat.

Fred Loshie, a groceryman, wanted to attend to his work also. He thought the business needed him.

His Hearing Defective.

Joe Belthemer's wife was sick and needed his care and attendance.

William Williams said: "I'm a little 'ard o' earing, yer honor."

"Are you quite hard of hearing?" the court asked.

"I didn't 'ear you, sir."

This question was repeated four times, and then Williams heard and said he could catch loud talking.

"The lawyers usually get pretty loud," said the court, and when the remark had been repeated three times, he said: "Yes, sir," solemnly, as if still in doubt.

Charles Brebner, an engineer, was told to take a seat. He left the court and the bailiff brought him back. Al. Sauer had work to do.

William Brown had to take care of the cables at the Moonlight. Nobody else would do.

Some Excuses.

H. A. Towle said he was sick, and Elrod Dodd was sure his business could not get along while he acted as a juror.

"What's the matter with you?" the court asked when Joe Martin came up.

"Well, I would like to get off, your honor. I have other things to do," Martin replied.

"Well, we want to get somebody up here to listen," the court answered with a smile. "I think you'll have to take a seat."

H. R. Anderson was a fireman, and therefore exempt.

Ed. Colligan was taking care of a sick friend.

The court refused to let anybody go till he had looked over the list, and he brought everybody back at 2 o'clock, when he selected the panel. The deaf man did not hear the order, and he came up to the court's desk to find out what it was.

"Come back at 2," the court whispered, and he nodded and went away.

CALAMITY JANE'S THIRST CAUSES ALL HER TROUBLE

Border Woman Likes Liquor and Is Now on Verge of a Trip Over the Hills to Poorhouse.

Miss Calamity Jane firmly objects to going to the poorhouse and now the county commissioners of Livingston are wondering what they will do with the gentle lady with the wild cocken.

"Calamity has been sick in her shack in Gardner and the commissioners decided to send her to the poorhouse," said a Livingston man today. "She went along peacefully enough until she got to Livingston and then she did, in the parlance of Livingston, 'balk.' She is of the opinion that the poorhouse is not the proper place for her and now the commissioners are wondering what to do with the woman."

"Calamity Jane has for so many years been a border character, so many years used to doing about as she pleased, that now in her old age she wants to continue, and the county commissioners don't want her to have her way. They know what is good for her."

"Now, the whole trouble with Calamity Jane is this: She likes her drinks regularly. Drink times with her must be frequent. She knows that once she's put in the poorhouse that her drinks will come about as regularly as hot days in Butte. She knows that and who, with a love for liquor, can blame her? As a true believer in Mr. Baneher, I say that Calamity Jane is more to be pitied than condemned; more sinned against than sinning!"

"I've heard that some of the patriotic citizens suggest that a fund be started to buy Calamity Jane her medicine regularly and then her life in the poorhouse will be one glad, sweet song."
